HUN ATTACK IS DRIVEN BACK

LOST HEAVILY IN ANOTHER ASSAULT ON THE FRENCH LINES.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Paris, Sept. 18.—German troops, after a violent bombardment south of Miotte River last night, launched an attack and reached the French lines towards the Neufchatel Road. The French official statement issued this afternoon says that after a sharp fight the Teutons were ejected from the positions, losing heavily and leaving prisoners in the hands of the French.

The artillery was active on both sides of the Meuse River and in the region of the Fosse wood.

"FLORA BELLA"

A Musical Attraction on "The Merry Widow" Order

"Flora Bella," the season's musical comedy success, direct from a run of six months at the Casino Theatre, New York, will be the attraction at "The Grand" next Saturday, Sept 22. It sounds the keynote of something new in musical comedy. It is entirely different from anything offered by any similar attraction, "Adele" and "The Merry Widow" being the only plays that would vaguely suggest the same class of entertainment. The music is by Charles Cuvillier, with lyrics by Percy Waxon, while the book is the work of Felix Doermann, adapted and revised by Cosmo Hamilton and Dorothy Donnelly.

NORMAL SCHOOL OPENS.

The Peterborough Normal School opened this morning with 212 registrations, of which only eight were boys. Regular work in the school will commence tomorrow morning.

COAL and FENNIMORE COOPER

D. & H. Line.—Cliffs on shore of Lake Champlain.

THE great industrial wealth and the wonderful historic interest of the country served by the Delaware & Hudson Company give especial interest to the linking up of this company with the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is the country of anthracite coal, and it is the country of Fennimore Cooper, whose tales of the French and Indian wars are known to every schoolboy. In spite of Mark Twain's joke that the Indians of Fennimore Cooper were an ancient tribe that never existed, the country round Glen Falls, Lake George, Otsego Lake, and Fort William Henry is dotted with localities identified with the Last of the Mohicans and Leather Stocking. The hunting and fishing grounds of the Five Nations and the Algonquins are now famous hunting and fishing grounds for tourists, who find in this rugged lake and mountain scenery of the Adirondacks the scene of many a happy holiday. Coal is the industrial background of the D. & H. and the demand for coal in Canada today makes the value of the connection between this railway and the C. P. R. all the more apparent. It was to carry coal that the canal from Rondout on the Hudson to Honesdale, Pennsylvania, and the connecting gravity railroad from Carbondale to Honesdale were constructed. The "Stourbridge Lion," the first locomotive that ever turned a wheel on any railroad in North America was imported by the Delaware & Hudson Company for use on its railroad, making the first run on August 8, 1829, eighty eight years ago. The canal was enlarged and at one time carried 2,500,000 tons of coal annually but in 1898 the greater convenience of rail haulage was realized and the canal abandoned.

Plattsburg, Westport on Lake Champlain, Ticonderoga, Lake George, Saratoga Springs, Troy, Albany, Binghamton, Scranton and Wilkesbarre are some of the [illegible] points on this important railroad. To Montrealers it is particularly well known as an exceptionally picturesque and comfortable route to New York, connection being made with the New York Central so that passengers arrive at the Grand Central Depot in the heart of the great city.

Old Sam's Patriotism.

"Marse Tom," said old Sam to his employer, the grocer, "Marse Tom, ouah parson has been a-using a big gety word 'long o' late, and Ah don' know what it means. De word's 'patriotic.' Whut does it mean, boss?"

"Why, Sam," said the grocer, "patriotic means loyal, having love for the country. You love your country, don't you, Sam? Here we are on the verge of war with Mexico, and every man is full of patriotism. If war comes I expect to close up my store and go off to fight. I'm patriotic. And I expect each one of my employees to go to war too. I expect them to be patriotic too

"You're patriotic, aren't you, Sam? You love the country, don't you?"

Sam scratched his woolly head.

"Well, Marse Tom," said he. "Ah was bohn and raised in de country, but Ise lived in the city nigh on to twenty years now. Ah used t' love de country, but Ah guess Ah likes de city best now, Marse Tom. Yes, sir."—Louisville Times.

VOTE FOR YOUR FAVORITE

The fact that a name appears in the list of nominees does not necessarily imply that the person is an active candidate in the contest. It is the duty and purpose of the contest department to announce the nominations that have been made. In many instances people have been nominated by friends who hope to see them win the race for the Great Prizes. Many of these nominees will engage in the contest actively, while others will remain "in the hands of their friends."

It is the right of the patrons of The Review to decide who shall win. It is within the province of the subscribers to vote for anyone, and these votes will be credited as ordered, without regard to such person as an active candidate or not. The public will do the voting, and the judges will decide who are the winners at the close of the contest.

For the purposes of the contest, any person who has been voted for is a candidate in the contest. The votes will stand as credited to the end of the contest. They are not transferable and they are not subject to cancellation except for reasons of irregularity.

The vote standing today shows that many people have divided the votes up to the present. Votes have been issued on all subscription payments made at The Review office since the opening of the contest, in many instances by subscribers who paid in person. These votes have been credited in every instance according to the wishes of the subscribers, and this practice will be followed throughout the contest. Several people have been voted for in this way, although they have not sent in any subscriptions themselves.

ROOM FOR MORE CANDIDATES.

The contest is only just starting. There are mnay who would enter the race today if they realized that the chances of victory are as good as the contest office knows them to be.

You should enter the contest today. Send in your name. Send for a receipt book. Call at the contest office and talk it over.

A Big Plumber's Bill.

Thet party of tourists were watching Professor X as he exhumed the wrapped body of an ancient Egyptian.

"Judging from the utensils about him," remarked the professor, "this mummy must have been an Egyptian plumber."

"Wouldn't it be interesting," said a romantic young lady, "if we could bring him to life?

"Interesting, but a bit risky," returned Professor X. "Somebody might have to pay him for his time."

She Was Troubled.

Wood From the West.

James White, assistant chairman of the Canadian Conservation Commission, recently paid a visit to Victoria, B.C., and, after a tour of the Pacific Coast provinces, stated that he believed the pulpwood resources were in the neighborhood of 250,000,000 cords. He said that the situation was, however, serious throughout Canada, especially in the Far East, where the extent of the pulpwood had been grossly overestimated. Cruisers in Eastern Canada and the United States had, in some cases, reported that there was enough material to last fifty years. Later investigation had proved that about thirteen or fourteen years would be nearer the limit. Mr. White said that the result was that America must now look to the West for its supply of pulpwood. With the East facing exhaustion, British Columbia's pulp-making woods were destined to meet a large part of continental requirements. Soon Canada would be the world's greatest source of pulp and paper. If regulated, the forests of British Columbia could continue to give six million cords of pulpwood per annum for an almost indefinite period.

Western Game Plentiful.

Game Warden O'Neal, of Vernon, B.C., reports that during his recent trips over the Okanagan district he has found evidence that deer are unusually plentiful this season, and the same statement applies to black and brown bears, which are numerous in many parts of the district. Perhaps owing to the fact that many pre-emptors in the more thinly settled sections are away on military service the deer appear to be returning to haunts that they had deserted during the past few years. On the other hand, the game warden says that prairie chicken and grouse are likely to be scarce this fall, as he has seen few of these birds during his travels.

BRAZIL AND THE WAR.

How South American Country Can Assist Allies.

It is usually easy to tell whether a State is at war with another or not, but Brazil is neither in nor out of the war with Germany. One of her vessels, the Parana, has been sunk, and she has seized the interned German ships in her harbors. They are being hurried into condition for use in commerce in defiance of Germany's sub-sea campaign, but Brazil has not declared war. Another sinking of a Brazilian vessel might bring the matter to a head, or Germany may decide to take matters in her own hands and declare war on account of Brazil's refusal to yield to the German protest against the seizure of her ships.

At any rate, things are being put in readiness in the Republic for the event of war, if it finally comes on the initiative of either country. Congress already has preparedness measures before it and private organizations are outfitting companies for war service. Neither in army nor navy is Brazil a formidable antagonist at her peace strength. Like the United States, she is "unprepared." The potential military war strength, available in organized men of fighting age, is reported as 4,301,643. Normally this is a force four times that of Argentina and, therefore, the greatest of any South American power. Under the reorganization put through in 1907 every male citizen, from 21 to 44 years of age, is liable to military service. The peace strength of the army is reported as 33,000 in active service and 527,000 reserves, making a total war strength of 560,000. But Brazil is an example of the fact that it is not always true that numbers measure strength. That she would loyally work with her Allies we assume, but her financial weakness, her lack of trained soldiers and the scattered character of her population would make her play a minor military role in any great operations outside South America.

In comparison with the large naval forces now in battle array around Europe, also, the Brazilian strength on sea is insignificant. She is credited with two dreadnoughts, two coast defense ships, and 42 smaller craft. Evidently all these and more would be needed effectively to patrol her own extended coast line. Dangers of raids upon her would be small, but a submarine base might be established on her shores, from which serious interference could be offered to east coast trade.

But this does not mean that Brazil's entry into the war would be without significance. She would affect the outcome in two ways. In one of these she is already—though not technically at war—preparing to aid the Allies. The Government's action in seizing the 43 interned German vessels adds about 221,000 tons of shipping, valued at some $20,000,000, to the merchant marine forces that are fighting the submarine blockade. These vessels were damaged before taken over from the Germans, but they are undergoing repairs and are to be run by the Lloyd Brasileiro—which is, by the way, a Government department, not a private corporation—and by two other lines. The Germans will have an opportunity to try their torpedoes against their own ships.

The Government plans a control of all shipping and the maintenance of lines to France, Portugal, and the United States. Besides this, efforts will be made to relieve the distress caused by the withdrawal of ships from the coasting trade by establishing sailings between home ports.

But the second way in which Brazil may help the Allies may be as important as the first. Every great producing country which declares against Germany makes easier the enforcement of the international embargo. Of course, there is not now any direct trade from Brazil to Germany and Austria-Hungary. Germany was steadily growing as a market for Brazil's products before the war, but her purchases of $44,000,000 worth of goods in 1913 fell to less than half that in 1914, and went out of the calculation in 1915 and 1916. Austria-Hungary's purchases, about a third as great, have gone the same road.

The indirect trade through adjacent neutrals has now largely stopped. The Swedish purchases from Brazil, for example, chiefly coffee, which normally totalled a little over $3,000,000, took a suspicious jump in 1914 to $5,428,552, and the next year the transhipment trade pushed the purchases in Brazil up to $23,161,167. But the back door supplies for Germany are now being shut off. Permits to import are supervised by the Oversea Trust, and the new embargo will reduce the leakage still further.

Brazil's entry into the war would quiet any protest from her as to the Allies' policy by making our interests in the embargo hers. To be sure, this would affect adversely her coffee market, already seriously curtailed. The only countries which continue to buy with their former freedom, in fact, are the United States and Canada. But there are compensating advantages for Brazil. Though coffee is her greatest interest, she has important rubber, hides, cacao, and manganese exports, and the value of these has risen remarkably, due to war demands. Brazil is, in fact, in a better position today than at any time since the war started.

The assurance that those products will not pass to the Central Powers with the consent of Brazil will make the enforcement of the embargo policy easier. Every country which exports raw material and which joins the Allies in their war against the Central Powers adds its economic strength and its moral support to the forces opposing Germany. This may be the most important contribution of the possible entry of Brazil.

ARIZONA KICKLETS

The Editor Again Shows His Scorn of Gun Play.

DEFENDS GIVEADAM GULCH.

In His Capacity of Editor, Mayor, Postmaster, Etc., Routs the Squeamish Element Who Want the Town to Bear a Less Gunpowdery Name.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

WEDNESDAY afternoon last as we sat in our sanctum a stranger entered with a gun in his hand, and when we had welcomed him be began:

[illegible]

We saw he had an impediment of speech and helped him out by replying that we were Mr. Jim Hellso, owner and editor of the Kicker, mayor of the town, postmaster, deputy United States marshal, state senator, champion wingshot of Arizona and so forth.

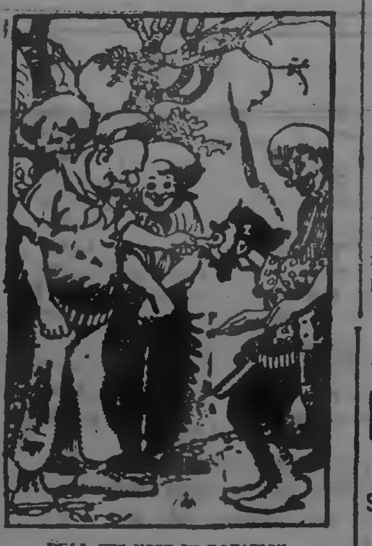
"I—I have—have c-oo-me t-t-t-oto," continued the man, but he cut it off there and sat down to rest.

We gave him ten minutes by the clock and then motioned for him to go on, and he stood up and said:

"I—I have c-o-me 200 m-m-miles to s-s-s"—

He took another rest, and then said the same thing over again. It was our busy day. We therefore begged him to excuse us and went our way and saw him no more. Later in the day he left town, but before going be got the kinks out of his tongue and explained to several citizens that his name was Barney and that he had come 200 miles on horseback to shoot us. If we stuttered as bad as Mr. Barney does we would s-s-shoot our m-a-man first and make our explanations l-l-later on.

We learn that Major Jackson of Grass Valley has been arrested for assault with intent to kill. We can't believe it. We saw nine different men pull his nose in rotation one afternoon and he did not even protest. If he has tried to kill anything it was a rabbit.



PULL HIS NOSE IN ROTATION.

For some time past a clique of citizens, headed by Joe Taylor, have been agitating the idea of changing the name of this town from Giveadam Gulch to Rose Hill. The clique went so far as to call a public meeting for Wednesday evening, which was largely attended. Taylor and others made strong speeches in favor of a change, claiming that the name of the town kept people away and that to continue to call it Giveadam Gulch was against policy, prosperity and civilization. The editor of the Kicker (who is ourself), and the mayor (who is ourself), were called upon to speak in opposition. We gave a history of the town from the day old Bill Williams didn't give a hoop for the Indians surrounding him in this gulch, and thus gave the name to a place which has grown and prospered beyond any town in the far west. There was something honest and aboveboard—something which smacked of a rough but good hearted community in the name of Giveadam Gulch.

When a vote was taken the Taylor crowd was laid on the shelf by a large majority. We are still Giveadam Gulch, and Giveadam Gulch we shall remain, and odds is the difference who gives a hang and who doesn't.

Our esteemed contemporary says in his last issue that he will shoot us on sight. He will have to do it with a club, then, as he can't tell one end of a gun from the other.

It may have been us who killed Colonel Jackson's old mule on the street Wednesday evening. As we were coming home at midnight something or somebody kicked us from out of the darkness, and we let go with six bullets. The colonel should keep his mules penned up.

The Eagle restaurant put on table napkins the other day for an experiment, and during the shooting which followed Mr. Urner, the proprietor, received a bullet in the shoulder. He will let well enough alone after this.

There are rumors flying about that we intended to run for congress. We deny nothing. We are out for office, and if we don't land in the White House some day it won't be for the want of trying. The five offices we hold sharpen our appetite for more.

HAVE WHITE SOX CINCHED FLAG?

Have the White Sox about cinched the American league flag without the team work in which Boston excels?

This is a query that followed a heated discussion of several enthusiasts in a fanning bee at Comiskey park.

This fan, who is a close student of the game, is part right and part wrong. There is team work on the White Sox. Clarence Rowland, manager, and Kid Gleason, coach, have been teaming it on the club this season. They constitute the most successful team in baseball, barring none.

Call Rowland Too Lenient

"Rowland is too lenient with his men," said a critic when the Sox were down to the Red Sox in the race. "The Sox manager, who is a two fisted person, ought to use force instead of persuasion."

It would break up the team work for Rowland to do that. Besides, the Sox wouldn't be showing the way in the American league had Rowland assumed a belligerent attitued toward his men. He doesn't need to do so. What was the purpose of President Comiskey in hiring Kid Gleason?

Rowland's middle name should be "Diplomat." It's long suit and he always wears it, whether on the diamond in a heated colloquy with Silk O'Loughlin, on Broadway chatting and strolling with friends or at Kramer's hobnobbing with the Woodland bards. He also wears his habits on the bench, in the club house, on the rattler and at the hostelries.

Rowland is a bouncer but he smears it all over with a pleasing personality that is contagious. He wins the best efforts of his men by treating them right. He is more concerned about their comfort than his own. He came into the big show riding in uppers in order to let his stars cop the lower. He hobnobbed with recruits and humored his stars.

They all said Eddie Collins and Joe Jackson, two luminaries of the big pastime, wouldn't play at their best for Rowland. That assertion was proved false long ago.

Gleason Needed on Team

Rowland needed Gleason, the disciplinarian, to make an ideal managerial staff. One is the complement of the other. Rowland pats a star on the back. The Kid comes along and kicks him on his shins and the star keeps on shining. His luster has not been dimmed by contact with these unique personalities.

The White Sox haven't acquired perfect team work. That will require more time and patience. The only perfect team work on the club is that of Rowland and Gleason, but with a conglomerate mass these two base ball men have worked wonders.

Just listen to one of these White Sox stars who has consented to speak on the subject for The Daily News:

"I have played more inside baseball since coming to the White Sox than in all the previous seasons of my career," said Joe Jackson. "The fact is I didn't know the meaning of inside baseball until I came to Comiskey's club. I've been picking up a lot of it as I go along with the Chicao team. The fans have been in the dark at times about what we were trying to pull because it didn't seen orthodox. We have fallen down sometimes, but we've pulled a lot more inside stuff this year than the fans and some of the writers imagine.

"When I was with Cleveland I just went in there and took a fling at the game in a haphazard way. I'm not allowed to do it in Chicago and I'm glad of it."

Players Like Kid Gleason

There isn't a sterner person in baseball than Kid Gleason, yet the Kid is loved by the players.

Over in Beloit the other day the White Sox were waiting for a train early in the afternoon. The big leaguers, who had been thwarted by the elements, whiled away the time being amused by Gleason, their principal source of diversion. Jackson and Leibold were taken before the Kid by Risberg and Felsch and given a mauling for certain remarks. Joe Jenkins, another offender, diplomatically kept at a distance. All of which shows that even Gleason's rough methods of handling the players makes for harmony. The Kid is a good man to have around a ball club. He is sprightly and buoyant despite his 52 years. His style is made to order for team work with Clarence Rowland.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sleepy Time Story About a Most Vain and Silly Beast.

HAD VERY BIG NOTIONS.

Although His Home Was In the Barnyard, He Imagined That Place Was Too Humble For His Talents—Goes on a Journey and Is Punished.

Well, said Uncle Ben to Little Ned, tonight I am going to tell you about

THE ARTFUL DONKEY.

Once upon a time there lived in a field near a fine jungle where many lions made their home a little gray donkey.

Now, this donkey was not satisfied with being just a donkey and drawing his master's little cart of vegetables to market and enjoying a comfortable home and nice meals.

Neddy wanted to be a lion, and he tried to imitate the air and walk of a lion he had once seen. He fancied that his bray sounded like a lion's roar. All the farmyard animals laughed at him, which made him very cross.

One day a hunter who had shot a lion stopped at his master's house with the lion skin. While the stranger was at dinner Neddy stole out to where the skin lay and slipped into it. Then he ran off toward the forest, frightening foolish hens and geese and amazing the more sensible animals.

When he reached the edge of the fields he met the old black sheep who led his master's flocks.

Near the woods he met Mr. Fox.

"Why, it's that stupid old donkey that brays whenever I come about the farmhouse at night. What's he doing running around in the skin of old Leo?" Mr. Fox said to himself.

Leo was the old lion which had been shot by the hunter. His relatives in the forest were very angry about his death.

"Ah, good evening, Mr. Leo!" the fox said slyly.

The donkey was greatly pleased. "Glad to meet you, sir," replied the donkey.

"There are some of your relations over there looking for you," the fox went on, thinking that the donkey would turn and run home.

But the foolish donkey was so sure that the lions would gladly welcome him and never suspect that he was not one of themselves that he went trotting off toward a brook where some of the animals were drinking.

"There he comes, the monster, dressed in my poor, dear husband's skin!" roared Mrs. Leo, and she made a leap that landed her on the donkey's neck.

That was all. The next day the farmer, who went out to hunt for Neddy, found the lion's skin behind the donkey's skin in the woods.

Why Water Puts Out Fire.

Water puts out fire for two good reasons. First, if a thing is covered with water, the oxygen of the air cannot get at it to burn it. But that is not nearly the most important reason why water puts out fire. It is that water has a great capacity for heat and can hold a great deal of it. It takes so much heat into itself, and so quickly, that it lowers the temperature of the burning thing that it can no longer burn.

Summer Sport.

Children who live near the Atlantic seacoast know what fun it is to play in the sand on the beach. They think about it all winter, and as soon as school is out away they go to Atlantic City or some other place on the Jersey coast, where they spend hours building cathedrals and cities, grottoes and palaces in the fine white sand. There will be thousands of them, like the pretty little girl here pictured, doing that at this summer.

The Pine Squirrel.

One calm Indian-summer morning, when the nuts were ripe, I was camped in the pinewoods, where the squirrels seemed to be about as plentiful as the ripe burrs, writes John Muir, describing a mild adventure with a Douglas or pine squirrel. In a few moments down came the Douglas. The breakfast burrs he had cut off had rolled on the gently sloping ground into a clump of ceanothus bushes, but he seemed to know exactly where they were, for he found them at once, apparently without searching for them. They were more than twice as heavy as himself, but he managed to drag them up to the foot of the tree from which he had cut them.

Breakfast done, I whistled a tune for him before he went to work, curious to see how he would be affected by it. He had not seen me all this while; but the instant I began to whistle he darted up the tree nearest to him, and came out on a small dead limb opposite me, and composed himself to listen. Other squirrels, hearing the strange sounds, came around on all sides, also chipmunks and birds.

By this time my performance must have lasted nearly half an hour. I sang or whistled "Bonnie Doon," "Lass o' Gowrie," "O'er the Water to Charlie," "Bonnie Woods o' Cragie Lee," etc., all of which seemed to be listened to with bright interest, my first Douglas sitting patiently through it all, with his telling eyes fixed upon me, until I ventured to give "Old Hundred," when he screamed his Indian name, Pillillooeet, turned tail, and darted with ludicrous haste up the tree out of sight, his voice and actions in the case leaving a somewhat profane impression.

A SUMMER ROMANCE.

An Example of the Originality Shown by Light Fiction Writers.

HE paused in the doorway, a superb figure, his Greek profile limned whitely against the dark velvet portieres. He held this for about nine feet of film.

"Julietta," he said, as he noiselessly crossed the priceless Daghestan rug, "I have bad news for you."

"Mercy, how you startled me!" pettishly cried the haughty beauty.

"I'll startle you still more," he gloomily responded. "It's about my father's failure. It was entirely unexpected. He didn't save a cent from the wreckage."

The girl gave a low cry.

"And you — what will become of you?"

"I hope to hire out," he coldly replied. "I believe I'd like to be the chauffeur of a horse car."

"But there are no horse cars in Cleveland."

"I'm going to New York," he gravely responded. He paused. "Will you wait for me?"

"I will wait until 3 o'clock," she answered, and her voice was full of hauteur.

He shook his head.

"I couldn't make a fortune in that time," he gloomily asseverated. "Let's end it now. Here is the neat silver matchbox you gave me."

"And my letters?"

"Here."

He glanced through the bundle.

"That's the bunk I want," he cried. "No breach of promise court for these." He turned in the doorway. "Father failed twenty years ago," he said. "He's richer now than ever!"

With a low cry the stricken girl slipped to the floor and buried her face in the fauteuil.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Reason.

Among the employees whose duties are supposed to be discharged in the rear of a certain shop in Baltimore while the proprietor looks after matters in front are a couple of darkies, who occasionally "take things easy."

One afternoon they were engaged in a quiet game of seven-up on a barrel, when they were startled by the sudden appearance of the boss, whom they supposed to be in his usual place in front.

The boss was angry. "How is it," he demanded, "that I find you fellows playing cards?"

"I don't know, boss," was the response of one of the darkies, "unless it's on account of dem rubber heels you is wearin'."—Lippincott's.

SOMETHING ABOUT YPRES.

The Belgian Town That Has Taken a Place in Our History.

Although Canadians pronounce the word "Ypres" so many ways that it is not always possible to identify what is meant, the town has nevertheless passed into our history. It will be remembered in thousands of Canadian families through many a generation because so many of our men suffered and fought and died there.

The little Belgian town of Ypres is sure enough of a place in history; but, in Canada, at any rate, it will always be specially sure of it under a name which no cloth worker of Flanders ever heard, and would certainly never recognize. The "Tommy," who for over two years has held up the German forces round the famous Ypres salient, insists on calling it "Wipers," and the name has "taken on," as he would say. It traveled over to England, and "Wipers" began somehow to be associated with "hot corners." The present Prime Minister, in the course of one of his speeches, some months ago, alluded to the place by this name, and "Wipers" it is likely to remain, and as "Wipers" it is likely to be discussed for many years.

Curiously enough, it is not the first entry of Ypres into the English language in this, or at any rate a similar, form; for it was in the looms of Ypres that was made, in the middle ages, the famous "toiles d'yper," the costly table linen, or diapers, which the great ladies of England admired so much, says war bulletin of the National Geographic Society. To-day, of course, the town is a battle-scarred shell of its former self. It was occupied by the Germans in the course of their forward march on October 3, 1914; but a month later the British regained it, and, since then, the buildings of the old town have been steadily crumbling before an intermittent shell fire from the German lines. Ypres, however, will rise again, and amongst the buildings to be restored will surely be the great Cloth Hall, the old, turreted, three-storey building, whose belfry at one time rose 230 feet above the street below. The great Cloth Hall of Ypres was indeed the most famous building of its kind in Belgium. Begun by Count Baldwin IX. of Flanders, it was over a hundred years in building, and, for more than three centuries after its completion, was the centre of the world's market for cloth. More than 4,000 looms were kept busy in the town in those days, and merchants from far and near attended its great cloth mart. The population then numbered over 200,00. It was, indeed, to the introduction of clothmaking, towards the end of the Eleventh Century, that Ypres owed all its subsequent prosperity.

Towards the end of the fourteenth century, however, popular uprisings and an ocean of other troubles dealt hardly with the city. The population began to dwindle, the weavers, on whom the prosperity of the town largely depended, began to migrate, and when the student of history takes note of Ypres, say towards the end of the sixteenth century, he finds it a little place of not more than 5,000 inhabitants.

One of the great events in its history was, of course, the Battle of Courtrai, "the Battle of the Spurs," which was fought under its walls. In that battle, which recorded the first important victory won by infantry since the Battle of Hastings, it was the red-coated contingent of Ypres which, joined with the men from Bruges and Courtrai, defeated the French under Count Robert of Artois. Ypres, indeed, like so many of the towns in this part of Flanders, has seen its share of fighting. During the seventeenth century it was four times captured by the French; but, many years before the present war, it had ceased to be a place of any military importance, and some thirty years ago its old fortifications were dismantled, the ramparts being converted into boulevards and promenades. In quite recent times, Ypres devoted itself chiefly to the making of Valenciennes lace, although it also carried on a large trade in butter. It is a city of the plains, the wide, sandy Flemish plains; a city, too, of wide streets and old-world buildings, past which the little River Yperlee makes its [illegible]

Necessary.

Miss Audrey had come to spend the week end with friends in a little New Jersey town and exhibited a keen interest in the much talked of "Jersey skeeter."

When the greetings were over and the party settled down the guest remarked to her host, after a careful survey of the porch:

"No," answered he, "we're using mouse traps."—Everybody's Magazine.

Mixed.

As the train was moving out of a Scotch station a man in one of the compartments noticed that the porter in whose charge he had given his luggage had not put it into the van and so shouted to him and said: "Hi, you old fool! What do you mean by not putting my luggage in the van?"

To which the porter replied: "Eh, man! Yer luggage is ne'er such a fool as yersel'. Yer i' the wrang train!"—New York Globe.

Wearying Chase.

Tommy could not understand why his teacher thought the following paragraph from his composition on "A Hunting Adventure" lacked animation and effectiveness:

"Pursued by the relentless hunter, the panting gazelle sprang from cliff to cliff. At last she could go no farther. Before her yawned the chasm and behind her the hunter."—Youth's Companion.

HIS IDEA OF POLITICS.

AN apt illustration of an alien's idea of American politics was given in the United States district court a day or two ago when Judge Thomas I. Chatfield was examining an applicant for a naturalization certificate.

"Where are the state laws made?" queried the court.

"In Albany," answered the man.

"Who makes the laws?" asked the judge.

The applicant seemed somewhat fazed by the question, and to aid him in his answer his honor asked:

"Have you ever heard of an assemblyman?"

"Oh, yes," was the reply.

"And what is the duty of an assemblyman?" was the next query.

"To take care of the office of the leader," came the quick response, at which even the dignity of the court sustained a sudden jolt, and Judge Chatfield, who possesses a keen sense of humor and a full appreciation of the eternal fitness of things, was forced to smile.—Brooklyn Eagle.

LOTS OF DANGER.

GLIDING o'er the waters blue
In his swift but frail canoe,
Billy Perkins went with Sue—
Sue was rather haughty
He besought the radiant miss
For a teeny-weeny kiss
(Some young men are just like this Though, of course, it's naughty!)

Sue refused him, please take note,
Struggled, overturned the boat
(Dangerousest craft afloat!)—
That was some disaster!
Sue, remember, couldn't swim,
And her chances seemed pretty slim,
But she got a hold on him
Like a sticking plaster.

Billy Perkins rescued her.
She said, "Thank'ee kindly, sir!"
(Still a-sticking like a burr).
Billy Perkins tarried.
"Sweetest girl I ever met,
You are now my one best bet!"
Danger? She has got him yet.
Yes, those two are married.
—Chicago News.

A Successful Quest.

"Well, Bill, how did you come out with the trust company?"

"Fine."

"They accepted your offer, did they?"

"Yes."

"What kind of a job did they give you?"

"Didn't give me any."

"Then how did they accept your proposition?"

"I offered them the refusal of my services, and they accepted it—refused 'em right off the handle."—Harper's Weekly.

Canny.

It was in a Glasgow picture theater, and the two men were agreeably surprised to find a cup of tea and a biscuit given them free by an up to date management at 4 o'clock. Half an hour later one of them broke the silence.

"We've seen a' the pictures now, John," he said. "We may as well go out." To which John, after a minute's thought, replied:

"You can go if you want to. Ah'm stayin' to dinner."—London Tit Bits.

Slight Difference.

"I didn't know you were so accomplished a linguist," he remarked as he glanced at the paper she was reading.

"I don't make any pretensions in that direction," she answered.

"But that is a Russian newspaper you have picked up."

"Why, so it is," she answered in surprise. "I thought it was a dialect story."

Discouraged.

"Don't you dance?"

"No," replied Mr. Meekton.

"Haven't you tried to learn?"

"Yes. The lady I employed was a very competent instructor. But I can't see any sense in a man's paying a woman to find fault with him."—Washington Star.

Cures.

Bill—I see a physician states that certain diseases have been cured by ultra violet rays.

Jill—But how about ultra violet wigs?

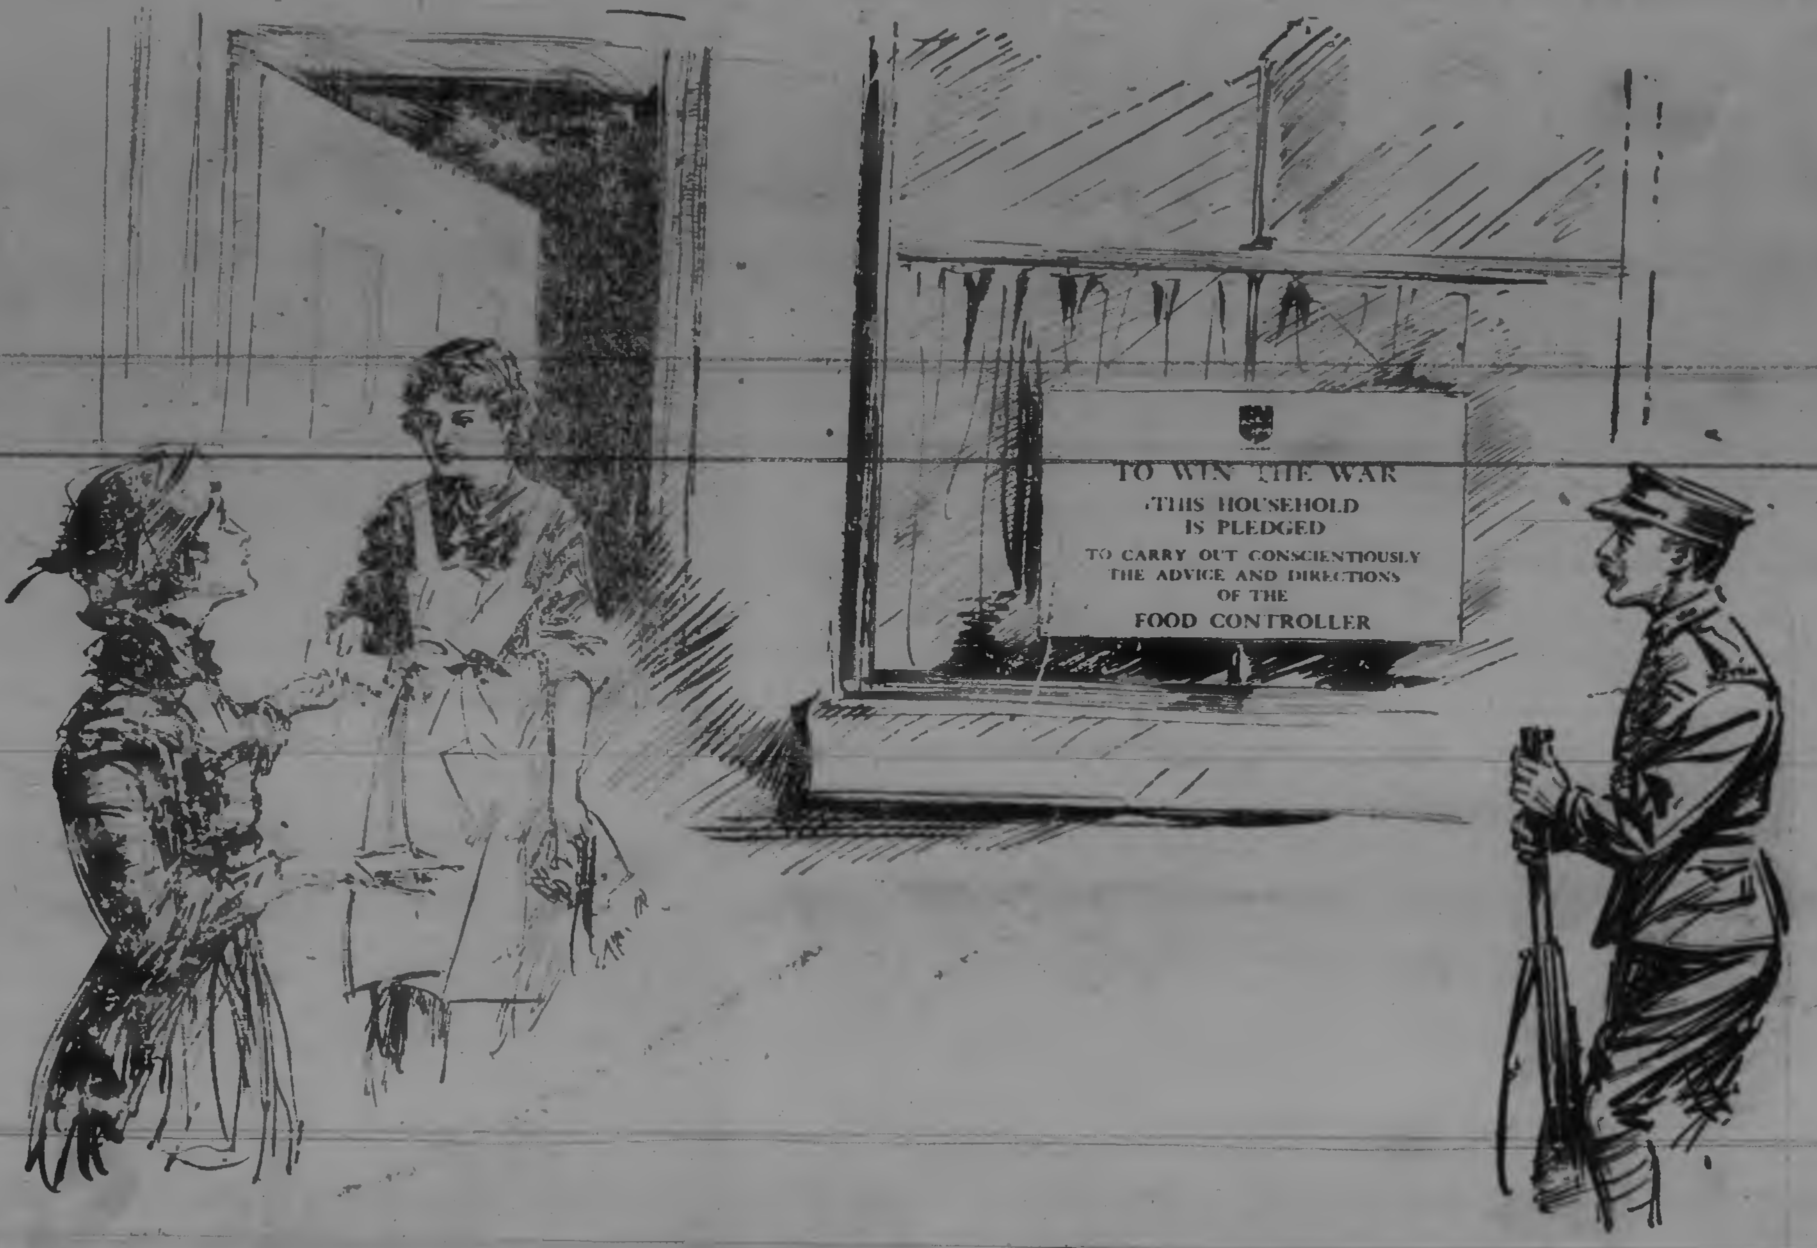
Not at Home.

"What's the matter with this elevator?" asked the nervous man. "You keep trying to run it through the roof."

"You'll have to excuse me," replied the operator. "I'm not used to one of these little twenty story buildings."



Comrades in Service!

In years to come you will recall with Pride the day you signed the Food Service Pledge.

For it is your Dedication to War Service.

Your observance of it will cause you some of the Finer Emotions of Your Life.

You will gradually realize that though your own and your family's self-denial may be small—the mighty Legion of Canadian women pledged to equal service, will mean the difference between Victory and Disaster to our soldiers.

You cannot—you must not desert them.

It is not that they want more white bread, beef, or bacon than you—it is just that these foods are less perishable and so more easily exported than others.

So, until Victory is ours, do these simple things.

When making bread, use one-third oatmeal, corn, barley or rye flour, with the white flour. Or tell your baker to bring some brown bread each day.

Substitute for beef and bacon, such foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas, etc.

Third, and this is very important—prevent the waste of any food in your home.

Be a Comrade. Dedicate yourself and your family to War Service. Display the window card.

Practical Housekeeping Hints

THE USE OF FATS AS BUTTER SUBSTITUTES

The average Canadian housewife has no conception of the value of fats as food, and as a result much fat is wasted that should be used.

Fats are one of the principal sources of energy. We buy fat in the form of butter and spread it on our bread. We use lard as shortening in bread and pastry, and as a medium in which to fry other foods. The grease which melts out of ham and bacon is sometimes made into gravies; but more often it is thrown away, because the housewife does not realize its value as a food. Beef fat is less appreciated as a food even than lard, and yet, pound for pound, its energy value is as high as butter or lard or any other fat.

When we buy a beefsteak the butcher carefully trims off the fat and throws it into a box under the counter with bones and other waste which goes to the soapmaker. This fat has both a food value and a money value. It belongs to you, and you should have it. You can render it and use it in cooking.

The fine lumps of sweet beef fat or suet which adhere to the roast are used in roasting to give flavor, but most of the fat melts away and is not served at the table. Beef suet is occasionally used in cooking, but rendered beef fat is rarely used as a table fat in this country, although in Europe it is often eaten on bread in the place of butter. Beef suet has a rather pronounced flavor and a comparatively high melting point. These are probably the reasons why it is not more commonly used as a table fat. Much of the objectionable taste may be readily removed. One household method which may be successfully followed is to mix milk with the suet when it is rendered, using one-half cupful of milk to a pound of suet. When strained and cooled, the flavor of the milk is absorbed by the beef fat and changes the characteristic flavor.

From out the night there comes a wail—

But please don't keep this bard awake.

The purchase of players by the big league teams goes merrily on. Bezdek of the Pirates has now safely stowed away Roy Sanders of the Kansas City club, and the American Association loses a sensation player. This is not Sanders' first appearance in the big circuit, for he was bought by Cincinnati last season and later sold back to Kansas City.

Some stockholders in baseball clubs think that they can "butt in" on the management of the teams, but they never get very far. It happened the other day that one of the Cubs' stockholders asked Fred Mitchell to move Kilduff up in the batting order. Mitchell didn't say much but he thought volumes that would not be passed by the censor, and all the stockholder got was a look that froze him.

The Eastern League pennant will probably go to the New Haven club, which has a big lead over its opponents and is likely to maintain it.

Chief Bender has kept his promise to take care of himself by walking the straight and narrow path. His remarkable come-back is due entirely to the fact that he has kept his word, and he is winning back the popularity which he lost earlier in the season.

Harvey Stock is another youngster who is out for big things in baseball. He was formerly with the Kosciusko team of the Lake Shore League. It is said that Stock may get a chance to play with the White Sox next season because of his excellent showing this year.

CONGRESS FAVORS CONSCRIPTION

BUSINESS MEN WILL HELP ON WORK OF MEDICAL BOARD

Members of Board of Trade and Citizens Generally to Co-operate—Just What is Required of Men Subject to Call to Service—Work of Exemption Tribunals.

Members of the Board of Trade and the citizens generally will cooperate with the military Department in facilitating the medical examination of the men from 20 to 34 years of age who will be called out for service under the terms of the new Military Service Act. A resolution to that effect was moved by Messrs. J. W. Worth and W. R. Morris at the meeting of the Board of Trade in the Council chamber last night and unanimously adopted.

Dr. Cameron, who, with Dr. Eastwood, will be a member of the local Medical Board, made an explicit statement to the meeting. There will be three members, and the divisional officer of the district will be in the city tonight, when the local board will likely be organized. All men of the first class called out will be [illegible]ired to present themselves for [illegible]mination as to physical fitness. If a man fails to pass, that ends his career as a soldier.

The rules as to physical fitness have been relaxed since the beginning of the war. A man has now only one chance in four to be declared exempt for this reason. If unfit for trench duty, there are three other branches of the service, such as camp, hospital, construction or clerical duty for which be may be declared qualified.

Whether this method will be followed under the draft system Dr. Cameron did not undertake to say, but it probably will.

This medical examination will be important, as there will be appeals from the findings of the board. A man drafted may appear before the exemption board with a certificate of exemption from his family doctor, and it will be the duty of the tribunal to decide as to the validity of this. It is likely that evening sessions will be held by the medical board to give workers a chance to apply for examination without loss of time.

To Mr. J. W. Worth, Dr. Cameron said that men passed here will not be rejected when they reach England.

Once a class is called out, every man in it must report for examination. If he does not do so, he is treated as a soldier absent without leave. Residents of Canada of alien birth and not naturalized are not subject to the draft.

Reaching the Public.

Major (Dr.) MacPherson, who has recently returned from England on leave, stated that the Imperial authorities depended on the press for getting matters of this nature before the people. He advised the employers of labor to have theiřm en examined so as to be able to supply the places of those who will be taken. Some men are indispensable to their present employers, and preparations should be made to secure the exemption of these.

The resolution referred to above was moved and adopted after a short discussion.

As soon as the Medical Board is organized ready for business the men of the first class can present themselves for examination. They may, if they choose, wait until they are called out, but they must go in any case. What the employers of the city aim at is to have their men examined without unnecessary loss of time. They may be sent up in relays to see the doctors. After that the work of the Exemption Tribunal comes in.

FUNERAL OF DR. BURNHAM IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Large Attendance in St. John's Church of Which His Father, Rev. Mark Burnham Was Rector---Schools Closed---Board of Education Attend.

The funeral of the late Dr. George Burnham was largely attended this afternoon in testimony of the high esteem and respect in which deceased was held in the community generally.

A short family service was conducted at the house, at two o'clock by Rev. Walter Archbold, after which the remains were conveyed to St. John's church, of which the deceased was past-warden and life-long member, and of which his father, Rev. Mark Burnham was rector, preceding the late Rev. Mr. Beck's incumbency.

As the funeral cortege approached St. John's the chimes played that beautiful and very appropriate hymn for such occasions, "Days and moments quickly flying."

At the Church

A fairly large gathering of prominent citizens attended the impressive Anglican funeral service in the beautiful old historic church. All the church officials and a full choir were in attendance.

The remains were met at the South entrance of the church by the Rev Walter Archbold, Rev. W. H. White, St. Luke's; Rev. James Price, South Peterborough, and the choir. The procession formed and moved up the aisle, to the opening sentences of the "Office for the burial of the dead." commencing with "I am the Resurrection and the Life." Hymn 412. "Brief life is here our portion," preceded the lesson, read by the Rev. W. H. White.

The Rev. W. H. Archbold spoke of the many activities and great unselfish work of the late Dr. Burnham, also of his life-long membership in St. John's. Many good works of the deceased gentleman would never be known, till the secrets of all hearts were revealed. Hymn 562 "Nearer My God to Thee", was sung, then the prayers and benediction said. The procession reformed, and led by the white robed choristers and clergy, singing hymn 477, "Hark, Hark My Soul," moved out of the church to accompany the body on the last stage of its earthly pilgrimage. The "Dead March" (Saul), and "O rest in the Lord" (Elijah) were played on the organ by Mr. R. J. Devey.

Schools Closed

All schools were closed in honor of deceased's memory and his services on the Board of Education, the members of which attended the funeral in a body, as also did Secretary G. H. Thompson, Inspector Mowat and Mr. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute.

The pallbearers were, Messrs Harry Rush, Robert Fair, R. B. Rogers, W. H. Hill, Dr. Halliday and Dr. Carmichael.

Interment took place in the Little Lake cemetery.

CANADIAN LABOR WILL STAND BY THE GOVERNMENT'S MILITARY ACT

Conscription in Trades Congress Wins Out in First Vote Taken Conscription is Now a Law and as Such Must be Obeyed

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Delegates favorable to conscription won out in the first division in the Trades and Labor Congress on this important question today. The question at issue was merely preliminary to the main subject, but voting on it showed which way the wind blew. After much discussion an amendment that the Congress discuss conscription and a general strike separately was lost on a vote.

This amendment had been put forward by the anti-conscriptionists. While many delegates delivered fighting speeches against Canadian labor recognizing the government's right to conscript, the majority took the view that although conscription was not in accord with the principles of organized labor it was the duty of laborites and others to obey the law in the present instance.

GERMANS AIM TO KEEP BELGIUM

RUSE TO APPEASE PEOPLE WHO KNOW THE WAR IS LOST.

London, Sept. 19.—Reports widely circulated in Berlin that Germany had abandoned dreams of stealing Belgium are quickly denied. There are so many rumors being obviously set afloat by Germany with the deliberate purpose of including that of the peace suggestions from Britain, which have already been exploded officially, that it is evident public opinion in Germany is being tested on a wide scale. It will be instructive to note the effect on Germany of General Smuts' declaration that the well-informed classes in Germany already know that Germany is beaten, and that soon all her people will realize the same.

Altogether a considerable amount of money will be spent and labour employed during the above contract.

FINISH BRIDGE BY TOMORROW

AT NOON TODAY THE CENTRE SPAN WAS UP NINETY FEET.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Quebec, Sept. 19.—Given a continuance of good weather and good luck it is expected that by tomorrow evening the centre span of the National bridge will be in its place, completing that great steel structure across the St. Lawrence. At noon today, after a good morning's work the span had been lifted ninety feet without accident leaving sixty feet still to be covered.

PREMIER STILL SET ON UNION

SIR ROBERT BORDEN WRITES TO LIBERAL IN VANCOUVER.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vancouver, Sept. 19.—That it is both his purpose and expectation to form a union government before the general election which is now imminent but if that should prove impossible he will certainly do so after the elections, if returned to power.

This is the statement of Premier Borden in a letter addressed to E. P. Davis, a prominent local Liberal, under date of Sept. 10th.

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT NO BAR TO MILITARY DUTY

Few Men Are Being Rejected by Medical Boards in Toronto---Loss of Fingers or Toes No Barrier Either.

Young men who are subject to the first call for recruits will know what to expect if they study the work that is now being done by the Medical Boards at Toronto. It is evident that a man must be in bad shape physically before he can secure exemption on this score from one or other of the branches of the services.

Defective Eyesight.

Perhaps the greatest shock of all will be that which comes to many young men who have been relying on defective vision to stand between them and Grade A. service, the latest regulations stating that any man whose eyesight can be improved with glasses to see to shoot, and who has no other physical defect sufficient in itself to debar him, shall be listed as fit for duty in the first category, that is, for infantry service. Future tests of eyesight will not be made with the naked eye alone, as any man showing a sufficient defect with the naked eye to bar him from the first grade, will be tried out by an eye specialist with a variety of lenses to see whether or not, with proper treatment, his sight could be brought up to a point where he could see to shoot. From the standpoint of eyesight, a man must be in pretty bad shape to miss Grade B., that is, overseas non-combatant service, though the old regulations stand for this grade. Even though the applicant may be totally blind in one eye, if he has fair vision with the other, with the use of glasses, he is to be put in Grade B. The only eye condition which will completely bar an applicant for some form of service is near or total blindness in one eye from a disease which already has, or threatens to affect the other eye. It may be interesting to the general public to know that a squint, though of the compound variety which affects both eyes, is not a handicap to the fighting aspirant.

Lost Finger No Barrier.

Another striking amendment shoves the man with one missing finger from Grade B up to Grade A, while the man with one or two of the lesser toes missing from either or both feet, also becomes a fighter. There was once a time when an applicant suffering from hernia was recommended for an operation at the Government expense, but now

If a contestant thinks and appreciates fully what one of these prizes will mean, even the second or third prizes are well worth trying for.

ARE BEATEN AT THEIR OWN GAME

GERMANS NOW REGRET THAT THEY EVER ADOPTED USE OF POISON GAS.

London, Sept. 19.—Percival Phillips, in a despatch from the British front, describes how the Canadians, who were first to feel the effects of poison gas at Ypres, are now paying the Germans back with interest at Lens.

"Although the Germans in deep mine chambers and galleries may be safe against the shock of the heaviest explosion," says Phillips, "they cannot be protected against the deadly vapors which drift down airshafts and stairways and ooze through barred doors. Gas shells descend on them by the ton and they are unable to sleep, eat or drink without wearing masks. A captured Prussian officer said he thought the troops in Lens would willingly crucify the man who 'invented' poison gas."

APPEAL FOR BRITISH RED CROSS TO BE MADE ON OCTOBER 18th

Mr. G. A Gillespie Attends Meeting of Organization of Resources Committee in Toronto.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., attended a meeting yesterday in Toronto of the Organization of Resources Committee of which he is a member. It was decided to hold the collections for the British Red Cross Society on October 18. The appeal of the British Red Cross Society was handled the last year by the Organisation of Resources Committee. This year the Canadian Red Cross requested that the same procedure be followed and the committee approved of taking up this work and proceeding with it at once. The committee was able to report that it had representative committees in 240 cities, towns and villages of the province, out of a total of 306, and in many of 66 municipalities in which no committee exists, representative citizens are acting as correspondents for the committee.

The steps which had been taken to secure labor for the farms were outlined and the general result reported—that 6,000 men at least, had been sent to the farms during the month of August. This practically met the demand and helped materially to save the Ontario crop.

A summary of production shows there were approximately 97,000 acres more in field crops this year than last, approximately 75,000 acres more in hay and clover in 1917, and approximately 100,000 acres more in pasture.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 19, 1917

SOLDIER VS. POLITICIAN.

POLITICAL LUST for office is the greatest obstacle to Canadian war effort in existence today. The machine politicians of the Liberal party are striving with might and main to destroy the good effect of the thousands of patriotic Liberals who are putting aside political aspirations to the end that the Dominion's war efforts may be continued and increased.

But for this blinded desire for office, the British citizens of Canada would throw party to the winds and get solidly behind the Prime Minister, who, they recognise, is the embodiment of the Dominion's desire to see the war through to victory by backing up the men at the front. The brave lads who have been there and know the needs are shaming the selfish politcal managers whose skins are safe from Hun bullets because of the sacrifice of the men they would desert in order to win a party victory. Mark this shameful contrast: While Hon. Wilfrid Gariepy, an Alberta Liberal minister, was announcing in Winniepg the other day that Sir Robert Borden must be destroyed, the War Veterans' Association of Ottawa, 100 war-scarred soldiers, were passing unanimously the following resolutions:

> "Resolved, that the Great War Veterans' Association, Ottawa branch, take this opportunity of expressing their unanimous appreciation of the untiring effort and unselfish devotion of Sir Robert Borden in his able leadership of our country during the past three years.
> "It is further the desire of this association to convey to Sir Robert Borden their continued confidence in his leadership and to express its conviction that the welfare of Canada and her continued place of honor among the great nations of the world are best assured by our continued guidance under his leadership.—

St. Thomas Times.

THE OLD AND THE YOUNG.

THERE ARE octogenarians in this city, men and women who have far exceeded the scriptural limit put on human life, sturdy pioneers who helped build up a nation and who have raised families that are following in their footsteps. The eyes of these aged residents of the city have not dimmed to speak of, and the vigor of their step shows little of abatement.

All honor to those who are in the eighth or ninth decade of their existence. The fact that they have lived so long is the best possible evidence that they have lived well. Theirs must be the clear conscience that fears no evil report. It is theirs to close their eyes at night unconcerned as to whether the next dawn for them will be the rising of the sun or the golden light of a longer day.

Should not these veterans be counted out in this campaign for the conservation of food? A restriction in their case is unthinkable. A change of diet for them would be dangerous. Let them preserve their present mode of life to the end. It is hardly possible that they have been making mistakes as to what they eat all these years. Leave them, then, to make their own choice. They have borne the burden and the heat of the day long enough. Every consideration should be extended to them.

Care must be taken, too, that in this campaign the rising generation are denied nothing that is required for their physical development. The men and women of the future must be given a chance to grow up into citizens as sturdy as the octogenarians whose places they are to take later on.

The aged should be considered for what they have done, the children for the tasks that lie ahead, so that they may grow up with strength to perform them."

GERMANY AND PEACE.

THE FIRST CLASH in the terms of peace offered by Germany comes with the announcement that the Kaiser will make the retention of Belgium one of the conditions of his laying down his arms. No such proposition will be listened to for a moment. The independence of Belgium must be preserved as a matter of safety to the nations that surround it. The Kaiser's proposal is a patent plan to place himself in a position to be able to strike again at his present foes without the necessity of tearingu p as a scrap of paper an international treaty and without the opposition from Belgium's army which was the first obstacle he encountered in his campaign of world conquest. Germany is not to be trusted as a neighbor. The possession of Belgium would place her next door to France and closer to England, making the way easy for aggression in the future.

It is stated, too, that the Kaiser rejects the idea of his being compelled to pay indemnity for the damage he has wrought. That again makes peace as remote a possibility as ever. It is, however, significant that Germany even suggests that the war be brought to an end. If it is not a confession of defeat, it is at least an admission that the game on hand is not worth the candle.

It is characteristic of the Kaiser that he should ask to retain territory that he invaded in the first place in violation of all international law and from which he is now being driven out.

WHEN MEN ARE DRAFTED.

EVERY MAN in the army now being raised in the United States for overseas has been secured by the selective draft. There is no odium in such a system, no reflection on any man so secured, for the simple reason that the plan is general and was put into effect at the outset. There is no distinction there between the so-called conscript and the volunteer.

There would be no such distinction in Canada if the same policy had been adopted here when the war broke out and men had been selected according to a well-devised system instead of the hit-and-miss style that is the main characteristic of the voluntary system, when the load is laid upon the willing horse.

Ninety per cent. at least of the men of military age who refused to enlist probably did so for reasons that were perfectly satisfactory to themselves. Of two boys in a family one joins the service and the other remains at home. There can be no objection to such an arrangement, case of a young man who is the any more than there can be in the sole support of his invalid parents.

Under the new Military Service Act, everything will be different. The burden will be adjusted fairly. If a man is not physically fit, that settles it and he can remain at home without beinng regarded as a slacker. If the medical board pass him, he has still eight chances to be exempted, the final decision resting with the tribunals before whom he must appear if he wishes to still remain in civil life.

The man who presents himself for examination before or after his class is called out, without hesitation or coercion, and who does not attempt to hold out on technicalities before the exemption board, is to all intents and purposes a volunteer and is entitled to be regarde as such. The man drafted for military duty should be considered in the same class as the citizen who is called upon to serve as a juror or to quell a riot on the streets. The deciding factor in his case, the opinion of the public, is the willingness with which he responds when the State asks for his assistance.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

TO THE CLASS of men who are organized and alert belong the fruits of victory.

• • •

• • •

LET THE EX-CZAR and the janitor of the flat in which he is living fight it out between themselves.

• • •

THE COUNTRY at war is in extra danger so long as the alien born in an enemy country is allowed to vote.

"WHAT THE KAISER is like," says a headline. Those versed in the biography of the Prince of Evil need no further information.

• • •

GERMANS SAY they want lasting peace, that is one that will last long enough to give them a chance to pull themselves together for another war.

• • •

WHY DISCRIMINATE? Why fix the price of the farmer's wheat while the butcher, the baker and the rest of them, are allowed to carry on as usual?

• • •

TAXATION without representation may be unjust in principle, but when a war is on there is no time to haggle over fine points in national ethics.

• • •

THE REVELATIONS with regard to Swedish diplomacy should convince the world that Germany has no monopoly of the supply of ivory-domed statesmen.

WAR TRENCHES are no novelty in the Southern States. There is hardly a county in that section of the American Union that is not still scarred by the defences thrown up during the Civil War.

THE TRADES CONGRESS recommend that alien enemies be required to pay a war tax on their earnings. As the late Henry the Eighth would put it, the delegates seem to have got the right pig by the ear.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

The Ubiquitous British.

(New York Times.)

"Where are the British?" asks the German agent of the gullible American. They are everywhere. They are holding their own line in France and Belgium, rendering aid to the French line wherever needed, helping Italy batter her way to Trieste, cleaning Germany out of Africa, furnishing the bulk of Sarrail's army in Macedonia, fighting their way through Mesopotamia, aiding the Russians in Galicia, battling with the Germans and Turks in Palestine. There is no nation among the Allies whose troops are so ubiquitous.

Diplomatic Retorts.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The American ambassador's conversations with the Kaiser recall the anecdote of the encounter between a British ambassador and Napoleon Bonaparte, during a short truce—a peace it was called at the time—between England and the Corsican fire-eater. In an angry conversation Napoleon said to the ambassador: "I will make war on England." "That is your affair, sir," replied the ambassador. "I will annihilate her," added the emperor. "That, sir, is our affair," observed the ambassador, with a fine courtly bow.

Duty Means Full Duty.

(Toronto News.)

Canadians have no right to assume that the war can be won without our aid. What if France were to sit back with the plea that its full duty has been done? Every nation in the Alliance of Freedom must realize that the might of the Central Empires is not to be wished away. It must be broken. Money, munitions and men are needs. Failure to provide any one of the three is merely an evidence of half-heartedness, and half-heartedness will not win the war.

The Name of the Chancellor.

(Boston Globe.)

The name of the new German chancellor, it appears, is pronounced Mich-ah-ay-lis — with the "Mich" like "Mich" in "Michael," not like "Mich" in "Michigan." There's a good chance, however, that before long the pronunciation of the name of the chancellor will be "Mud."

Wit and Wisdom

No Call For Thanks

The teacher sought by every known means to stimulate her small pupil's somewhat undeveloped sense of gratitude.

"Now Charley," she said, "ought you not to be very much obliged to the cow for the milk she gives you every morning?"

"Oh, I don't know," said Charley. "She has no use for it herself."

Wrong Member

Ting-a-ling-a-ling!

"Is that the Dickel Liquor company?" a woman asked.

Mr. Abbitt recognized the voice as that of one of his parishioners.

"No," he replied in stern reproof, "It is your rector."

Was there a dull thud? No.

"Indeed," said the lady, quick as a flash, "and pray what are you doing there?"

OPPORTUNINY FOR VETERANS

There are millionaires in the world, but the average man has never seen one, a few score of us pull down $100,000 a year, and more of us $10,000, but most of us worry along on jobs that net us an annual income of three figures, squeezing pleasure out of life by the pennysworth because we hadn't the chance or didn't take it when we were young.

The Military Hospitals Commission, whose business is the healing and re-education of returned soldiers, is giving a man a chance to profit by his experience, and there are hundreds of returned soldiers at this present moment enrolled in the classes of the vocational training departments who are preparing themselves during their convalescence, even in spite of a handicap, to earn bigger money than they did before they enlisted.

Laborers Become Craftsmen

The Commission, building on the eagerness of the men, is lifting scores out of the class of unskilled labor into the ranks of expert craftsmen, and returning them to their families better able to care for them than when they went away.

In the great Central Technical High School in Toronto the finest building of its kind in Canada, the equipment which cost thousands of dollars is being used for the training of the returned men, and classes in all trades are now under way, from world-old carpentry to movie operating.

Travel Has Broadened Men

Travel has educated men who without the war would have run the whole span of their lives with the closely circumscribed vision of a small town. Experience has made them ambitious.

Spurred by this ambition they are learning trades during their convalescence that will assure them good livings, when they have finished. There is no long period of apprenticeship ahead, but days full of solid learning in theory and practice with no one's welfare but his in consideration prepare him quickly.

Electricians From Farms

There are men in the electrical department, who are already competent workmen after only a few months of training, so apt are they, and so intent on learning. One of these boys was a farmer's son tied to the land before he enlisted but all the time hankering for electricity.

His dream was to run an electric car, because it seemed, sort of possible, but with a few months' training they call him "Edison" around the electrical shop. He lost a leg in France, but that isn't going to prevent him when his course is finished from becoming a crack installation electrician, with a salary well on to $30 a week when he starts.

Other men are learning plumbing, steam fitting, sheet metal work, printing, automobile engineering, motor mechanics, acetylene welding, carpentry, the machinist's trade and cabinet making.

GEN. CURRIE AND THE BLOODY KEY

From Canadian Headquarters in France, General Sir Arthur Currie writes as follows to Captain Burnham, M.P."

"From here I cannot make head or tail of the political situation in Canada. It seems to me that our country is about to be divided as never before. Such a thing is very deplorable, and those who are encouraging the breach are assuming very grave responsibility. Surely wiser counsels will prevail, and such action taken as will ensure that our country plays its part unto the end."

Not least of the sins against Canada for which Sir Wilfrid Laurier must answer is that at a time when national unity was sorely needed, he launched into the public arena the strife and the discord of a general election. Had Sir Wilfrid remained true to his own words uttered hardly more than a year ago, there would have been no need for a general election with its enfeebling distractions from the one great goal ahead. Speaking in Parliament on the 1916 extension of Parliament bill, Sir Wilfrid declared that if Germany won, nothing else on God's earth mattered and in a burst of charcteristic eloquence, went on:

"The issue is still pending, and so long as it is pending, so long as Belgium is not restored, so long as France has not recovered her lost territory, so long as the enemy has not been thrown back beyond the Rhine, for my part, and I speak again as I have spoken always—my supreme thought will be to give all assistance in my power to Britain in the struggle which she has undertaken against the common enemy of mankind."

The issue is still pending. Belgium has not been restored; France has not regained her lost territory; the Allies are still far from the Rhine. But, apparently, assistance to Britain is no longer Sir Wilfrid's supreme thought. Something else "on God's earth" now matters; Canada is being plunged into electioneering strife.

So far as the Government is concerned, it goes into the election with clean hands and a clear conscience. Sir Robert Borden sought by all means in his power to avoid a contest. He offered union Government; and he offered extension. If Sir Arthur Currie and his gallant Canadians in France and Flanders deplore division and strife at home, they at least have the means of knowing and punishing the men who brought it about.

PUTTING SOLDIERS ON THE LAND

Lt.-Col. George McLaren Brown, the European manager of the C.P.R., writes to the "Tariff Reformer and Empire Monthly," in England, urging a comprehensive scheme by which the returned soldiers could be placed on the land insofar as they desired it—a scheme by which lands closed to the public would be fully opened up—not a few parcels of land such as were noticed in the press and which would not give a square foot to all who might seek this means of settlement, but a plan by which large numbers could be accommodated on the lands in the Mother Country. Mr. Brown refers to the plan of the C. P. R., which offers improved farms, in selected colonies, with distinctive military names, improved by the company; and assisted colonization farms of 320 acres each, selected by the intending settler, and then improved by him with assistance from the company. Easy terms of payment are offered, carried over 20 years; but the point thatMr. Brown insists on is that it is not people out of the workhouse that Canada wants, because such are not desired in the Dominion, but people who are likely to succeed. He urges that the whole question of reconstruction be tackled with vigor on the other side.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Editor Review: One of the ladies distributing the food pledge called at my home yesterday and asked us to make sacrifice and east less food. To me this appears unnecessary labor on the part of the ladies.

With the present high cost of food the workingman with a family can scarcely get enough to eat as it is. There is little danger of extravagance in such homes. In my place we are denying ourselves and going without provisions that we should have. We are making sacrifices every day.

Canada is becoming the dearest country on earth in which to live, and if conditions become any worse, we may be compelled to move out and reside in Russia.

WORKINGMAN.

Working on Sunday

19 Sept., 1917

Editor Review:—In reply to the query in your editorial yesterday, I might say that Rev. Mr. Pogue and I were appointed a committee to look into the matter of Sunday work at the Quaker Oats plant. The superintendent received us most cordially and satisfied us that no unnecessary work was being done on Sunday.

A few years ago the Government made specific provision for the continuance of concrete work every day until completion, it being found necessary in government bridge work to continue the work of concrete building every day from start to finish.

The superintendent also assured us that it was not the practice of the Leonard construction Co. to do unnecessary work on the Sabbath either in Canada or the United States. Yours truly,

VOTE FOR YOUR FAVORITE

The fact that a name appears in the list of nominees does not necessarily imply that the person is an active candidate in the contest. It is the duty and purpose of the contest department to announce the nominations that have been made. In many instances people have been nominated by friends who hope to see them win the race for the Great Prizes. Many of these nominees will engage in the contest actively, while others will remain "in the hands of their friends."

It is the right of the patrons of The Review to decide who shall win. It is within the province of the subscribers to vote for anyone, and these votes will be credited as ordered, without regard to such person as an active candidate or not. The public will do the voting, and the judges will decide who are the winners at the close of the contest.

For the purposes of the contest, any person who has been voted for is a candidate in the contest. The votes will stand as credited to the end of the contest. They are not transferable and they are not subject to cancellation except for reasons of irregularity.

The vote standing today shows that many people have divided the votes up to the present. Votes have been issued on all subscription payments made at The Review office since the opening of the contest, in many instances by subscribers who paid in person. These votes have been credited in every instance according to the wishes of the subscribers, and this practice will be followed throughout the contest. Several people have been voted for in this way, although they have not sent in any subscriptions themselves.

ROOM FOR MORE CANDIDATES.

The contest is only just starting. There are many who would enter the race today if they realized that the chances of victory are as good as the contest office knows them to be.

You should enter the contest today. Send in your name. Send for a receipt book. Call at the contest office and talk it over.

TEN AND COSTS FOR ASSAULT

RUSSIAN LABORER STRUCK A FELLOW WORKMAN WITH A SHOVEL.

At the police court this morning a Russian Jew named Peter Grouski, was charged with assaulting A. Coffein, an Austrian Jew, on Monday last.

Mr. A. Lowe acted as interpreter as neither plaintiff nor defendant can speak English very well. Defendant pleaded guilty.

Evidence showed that the assault took place at the Quaker Oats construction works, where the men got into an altercation over the war. Grouski struck Coffein on the head with a shovel. The man was not seriously hurt, as he returned to work in fifteen minutes, after complaining to the forman of the works. Both men were in an excited condition at the time.

Grouski was fined $10 and costs or $14.75, which was paid.

The police magistrate advised Mr. Lowe to explain to the foreigners that when in Canada they must not setle their disputes with shovels or

"RED FLAG SONG" DRIVES DELEGATES FROM DANCE

All of Those Attending Labor Congress at Ottawa Are Not Socialists Although There Are More This Year Than Ever Before.

Ottawa, Sept. 19. — Taking the word of "Jimmy" Simpson, vice-president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, that there are more socialists in atetndance at the convention this year than ever attended any such gathering in the country's history, it is easy to believe that unprecedented bitterness will characterize the discussions on the resolutions dealing with war topics.

The genral expectations are that the convention will begin tow arm up when it reaches the resolution of the Transcona council strongly urging the delegates, in the event of the government conscripting manpower without taking more wealth and nationalising al industries, to formulate plans for ag enral strike of organized labor from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the strike to continue until wealth is conscripted and the country's industries nationalized.

Not only is the convention "red with socialists," as Mr. Simpson expresses it, but there are also fifty delegates from Montreal, so that it will be surprising if some heated anti-conscription utterances are not forthcoming.

Object to "Red Flag."

According to Mr. Simpson, there are three classes that go to make up the convention: the extreme socialists, the moderate socialists and the non-socialists. He would not go so far as to say there were anti-socialists present, but that among the delegates there are some opposed to socialism was made evident when at a dance in Britannia two delegates, with four women friends, left the hall as a group started singing "The Red Flag."

"When they start singing that it is time for us to go," said one of the men, and the party at once went out.

Some of the leading labor men regrettedt he incident, but Mr. Simpson was undisturbed.

"The Red Flag," he said, "is one of the best songs in the world and he saw no reason why it should not be sung.

Mr. Simpson is looking forward, too, to a lively time, as he is of the opinion that there will be sharp criticism of the executive for not having one far enough in its opposition to conscription. It was noticeable at the Britannia entertainment that, although the "Marseillaise" and "O Canada" were both sung in French by groups throughout the hall, as well as numerous popular melodies, no one struck up a patriotic British air.

WAS COLLECTED IN A BOX AT THE MODEL TRENCH AT THE EXHIBITION.

Secretary Dearle reports that the amount of money collected in the overseas tobacco fund box at the model trench on the Exhibition grounds last week was $109.82. WOULD HAVE SIGNED

The request that George Grange be appointed Fire Chief was signed as stated yesterday, by every member of the Brigade except Assistant Chief Jamieson and Fireman Studdards. The reason their names do not appear on the document is that the paper was circulated on their day off, otherwise they would have affixed their signatures. This makes unaminous among the men the petition for the appointment of Mr. Grange.

R. H. MUIR CANDIDATE FOR CARETAKER OF ARMORIES

Is Nominee of Great War Veterans, Who Are Instructed by Capt. Burnham to Forward Name of Their Candidate For Position to Ottawa.

Although on the retirement of George Grange as caretaker of the Armouries to accept the position of Fire Chief, Sergt. Cooper, a returned soldier, was the military authorities' choice as Grange's successor, it now apears that the appointment rests with the government and needs the recommendation of the Federal member for West Peterborough. This was revealed at the semi-monthly meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association in the Barrie building last evening, when a letter was read from Capt. Burnham, notifying the members to nominate their man for the post, and forward his name to Mr. Frank Dawson, secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Association, for transmission to Ottawa.

Acting on this advice, the meeting at once proceeded to select their nominee by ballot, and their choice fell on Comrade R. H. Muir.

One object of the Great War Veterans' Association is to see to it that returned soldiers are not overlooked when government patronage is to be distributed and their recommendations for any position vacant are always reached in a true spirit of comradeship, worthy of the organization. Capt. Burnham also evidently recognizes the Association's claim in this respect.

As the mater now stands the local Veterans, as a united body, are asking that Comrade Muir be appointed caretaker of the Armouries, and his appointment is all but assured.

Office of President

A vote of thanks was also tendered Mr. Peters for cleaning the outside of the club rooms' windows free of charge.

When You Eat Dinner To-day

Give thanks, please, to those valiant men who, on the fields of France and Flanders, hold back the Hordes of Destruction, and make possible the peaceful enjoyment of your meal.

Some of those men have not had a sight of a home meal for three years. Home to them is a vision—a hope a prayer. Will you let them suffer still further for want of food?

You cannot—will not—must not.

Resolve then, to sign and live up to the letter of the Food Service Pledge.

Eat less Beef, Bacon and White Bread so that we may have sufficient of these foods for export.

Instead of buying so much white flour (if you do your own baking), use one-third oatmeal, corn, barley or rye flour. If you get bread from a baker, order some brown bread each day.

Second, substitute for beef and bacon such equally nutritious foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas, etc.

Third,—prevent the waste of a single ounce of food in your household.

Practical Housekeeping Hints

HOW BEST TO USE CEREALS

Cereals rank first among vegetable foods. They contain in varying proportions all the elements necessary to support life. They contain a great deal of starch, which is needed to keep the body warm and to make it do its work. A bowl of oatmeal, eaten for breakfast, will furnish the average man with all the strength, heat and energy he will need. Cereals with cooked fruits are particularly appetizing.

It is best not to buy cereals in very large quantities, because if they are kept too long insects are apt to develop in them. Cereals should always be kept in glass-covered jars.

Cereals are improved by long cooking. Therefore, oatmeal, hominy and other cereals which are left over can be added next day to the fresh-cooked cereals.

All cereals should be cooked at first for ten minutes directly over the fire, and then put into a double boiler. If you haven't a double boiler, place the saucepan containing the cereal in a larger saucepan that contains hot water. By using a fireless cooker you can prepare your cereal at night, cook it on the stove for about ten minutes, put it in the fireless cooker, and when you get up in the morning you will find it all cooked and ready to be eaten In this way you save both time and fuel.

Cereals requiring more than one hour to cook should be cooked the day before they are to be eaten and reheated in the morning.

Coarse, flaky cereals should be stirred as little as possible. Fine granular cereals may be beaten.

TOO MANY FARMERS' AUTOS

The London Street Railway announces that its Fair week receipts were $1,000 less than last year. This is in spite of the fact that the outside attendance at the Western Fair was larger than ever before. The reason is that so many farmers have purchased automobiles when within the past year the railways and the street railways have all been affected.

MILLERS FIXED PRICE OF FLOUR

IT IS TO BE KEPT AS NEARLY AS POSSIBLE AT THE AMERICAN RATE.

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—All the big milling companies have agreed on a price for flour, and also on certain changes in the matter of delivery. The millers state that as no fixed price for flour has been made in Canada, and as the price for wheat is identical in both Canada and the United States, they have made their prices as nearly in accord with the American prices as possible. That is, the American law limits the profit on flour to 25 cents a barrel, and on feed to 50 cents per ton.

The cash price in car lots, for Royal Household, Five Roses and Purity, basis per barrel of 196 pounds in 98-pound sacks, is as follows, according to territory:

Ontario, west of an and including Fort William and Port Arthur. The Pas, Manitoba, east of and including Portage la Prairie, $11.

Manitoba, west of Portage la Prairie. 10.90.

Saskatchewan, Alberta, and Britain Columbia, east of and including Golden, Cranbrook, also Kootenay Central Railway, 10.80.

Revelstoke, Nelson and common places, $10.90.

Vaccinate Cattle To Prevent Blackleg

A great many farmers of this county have lost valuable cattle this last week from blackleg. A disease which is very prevalent at this season of the year.

If cattle contract this disease there appears to be no efficient remedy, and it cannot be cured. When cattle die the carcass of the victim should be promptly burned or burried deep and covered with lime. Burning is much to be prefered as a protection to surviving cattle. There is only one sure way to prevent this disease and that is to vaccinate the cattle, and this dreaded disease can be prevented in animals just as sure as you can prevent smallpox in people. Under no circumstances should farmers neglect their cattle.

If you wish to prevent blackleg either write or go to Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street and you will be furnished with literature and full particulars how to prevent this dreaded disease.

PLACING THE CENTRE SPAN OF THE QUEBEC BRIDGE

Quebec, Sept. 19.—Tonight the central span of the Quebec cantilever bridge which has furnished two of the most tragic chapters in the history of bridge building, swings above the St. Lawrence River at a point beyond that at which it fell last year with a loss of fourteen lives. Work ceased at 5 o'clock and will be resumed in the morning, the task being to elevate the massive steel link that will connect with shore projections on either side.

For days the announcement that all was in readiness to complete the restoration of the bridge has been a subject of interest not only to the local populace but also to structural steel and other experts, who are gathered here from all over the country. Thousands of spectators were on hand today long before the hour at which work was scheduled to start, and bets were laid freely on the success or failure of the undertaking.

The span is 640 feet long and is to be raised to a final position 150 feet above the river. It was brought down the river on pontoons at high tide this morning and then was left suspended from the shore piers by four chains of tremendous size, said to be the largest chains ever constructed. The weight of the span equals that of a large ocean liner. The structure on the landward sides of the two piers is supposed to balance it.

The four chains run to short steel arms built out from the piers. Jacks of unsurpassed lifting power will wind up the metal links. Already they have raised the long steel section more than ten feet and so far there has been no sign of mishap.

The throngs cheered when the pontoons first floated free of their burden, but remained until nightfall as the structure by imperceptible degrees rose slowly in midair. It is expected it will require two more days to complete the work, of which the most difficult part still is ahead, the engineers say, as the increasing tension upon the chains is certain to weaken them somewhat.

It was the breaking of one of four similar but smaller chains last year that caused the bridge to collapse, killing fourteen workmen and causing a loss of more than $500,000. This was on September 11, 1916. Just a little more than ten years before, on August 29, 1906, the structure went down with a loss of seventy lives and more than $8,000,000.

The bridge will shorten the railway journey from Halifax to Winnipeg by more than half a day. It is being rebuilt by the St. Lawrence Bridge Company, to which the contract was let by the Dominion Government.

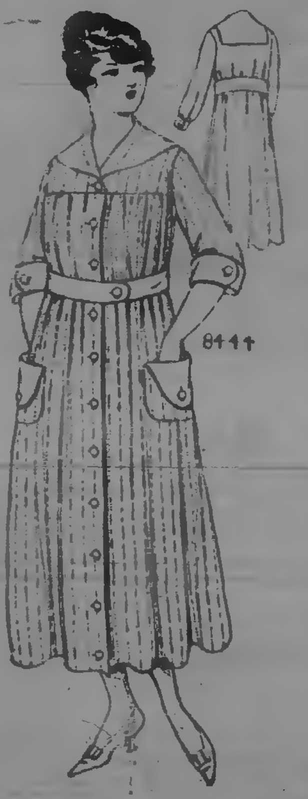
LADY'S HOUSE DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.



A little out of the ordinary is this house dress, with the yoke front. It is a style which is particularly becoming to slender figures. It may be opened all the way down the front for convenience in ironing. The back is perfectly plain, and a narrow belt of the trimming material is the only indication of a waist line. Whether long sleeves gathered into cuffs or the shorter ones with strap cuffs are used is a matter to be decided by the wearer. No house dress would be complete without pockets, so this has two generously big ones. Gingham, percale, chambray or cotton crepe is suitable for this dress.

The dress pattern, No. 8444, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires 4½ yards of 36 inch material, with ¾ yard of 36 inch contrasting goods.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

ENVY

Whene'er I see a baseball star
  Cavorting o'er the lot,
I cannot help but envy him—
  Gee, what a cinch he's got!

He travels round the country,
  For which he gets good pay;
His working hours they are a joke.
  And all his work is play.

You can't blame me for thinking
  How glorious it would be
If I could be a player, too.
  With a great big salaree.

Instead of sitting here like this,
  And working every day,
A-grinding out these verses
  For very little pay.

The fans are heartily in accord with the desire of President Johnson of the American League to see the games speeded up. Since President Ban has issued his instructions to umpires to avoid unnecessary delays, the games have seemed to acquire increased pep.

Johnny Evers on the coaching line is trying to help the Phillies along as much as if he were still playing second base. And he's succeeding, too.

Eppe Rixey, southpaw twirler for the Phillies, is a southerner, and don't you make any mistake about it. He was born in Virginia, and memories of the Confederacy are still dear to him, despite the fact that the civil war ended many years before he saw the light of day. Rixey still regards northerners as "Yanks," and his quaint observations are cause for much merriment among his team mates. Not long ago he confided to another Philadelphia player: "I don't like that fellow Raridan." "Why not?" asked his team mate. "Bill's a fine fellow, and everybody seems to like him." "That may be true," replied Eppe, "but he always wears his cap in a way that makes him look like a Union soldier."

Grouchy Gus says: "This is the time of year when summer romances, like pennant hopes, go a-glimmering. And those involved are murmuring, 'Better luck next year.'"

BILLY PAPKE'S BIRTHDAY

William Papke, dealer in biffs, slams, punches and staple and fancy knockouts, has just passed his thirty-first milestone. Billy made his mundane debut at Spring Valley, Ill. His father was a coal miner and Billy followed in his footprints, spending his leisure time above ground in boxing and playing baseball with the village boys. His first "money" fight was pulled off at LaSalle, Ill., and Billy, who was nineteen, received $5 for licking a Mexican. A little later he was matched with Milt Kenny at Poria, and got the winner's end, $125. This looked like big money to the country boy, and he determined to stick to the game. He fought his way to the top of the middleweight heap, but lost his title to Stanley Ketchel. Billy has saved a large part of the money he received from his battles, and owns considerable real estate. He married a Hamilton girl, and was visiting in this city for some time recently.

PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1901—Jim Jeffries defeated Hank Griffin in four rounds at Los Angeles Hank was a negro. But, unlike the big smoke who later whipped Jeff, he was a gentleman. Although Jeff was declared the victor in that four-round affair, honors were pretty even and Hank won a thousand dollars offered by the champion to any man who could stand before him for four rounds. During the course of the fight Jeff was knocked down by the negro. That made Jeffries somewhat peevish, and for the remainder of the bout Hank chased about the ring, deftly avoiding the big man's wild blows. Griffin tried in vain to get a match with Johnson, after the latter won the title, but Jack wisely avoided the mulatto boxer. Griffin died about five years ago.

Shortest Nine-Innings Game

A baseball record that is likely to remain permanently in the dope books was established seven years ago today on the Southern League lot in Atlanta, Ga., when Atlanta defeated Mobile, playing full nine innings, in exactly thirty-two minutes. This is the briefest game on record by a full ten minutes. The nearest approach to it was made in 1912 at Binghamton, when the local club of the New York State League and the Albany team rushed through a contest in forty-two minutes. In September, 1904, Atlanta was the scene of another hurry-up contest, when the Crackers and Shreveport pulled off a full game in forty-seven minutes, which then constituted a record, tieing the one set up in 1834 by the Dayton Ironton (Ohio) clubs. It is a coincidence that all but one of these exceptionally rapid games were played during the month of September. The time record for a double-header of two full games was hung up in 1905, when the Oakland and Los Angeles clubs of the Coast League tore off the first game in forty-seven and a-half minutes, and the second in fifty-one minutes, the two contests requiring an hour and thirty-eight and a-half minutes.

KAISER PREPARING SUBJECTS FOR NEW OFFER OF PEACE TERMS

Believed in London That He Will Send Out New Terms Before Winter Sets In.

London, Sept. 19.—The flood of so-called peace rumors which the German censor is permitting to sprout in leading German newspapers convinces the London press and public that Berlin is preparing home opinion for another adroit peace manoeuvre, which probably will take definite shape before the snow flies.

First came the alleged British peace offer, which despite official denial, is still being commented upon excitedly in Germany. Now much fuel has been added to the agiation by the report that the German Government has abandoned claims of supremacy and control over the territory and population of Belgium. In addition there are all sorts of rumors regarding the German answer to the Pope.

A strange thing about the whole affair, is that the German censor appears to be permitting the newspapers to discuss the matter freely, but so far as is known none of the discussions are founded on more substantial authority than the indefinite "We understand," or "We have received information." The fact remains, however, that the German Government, as represented by the censor, does not object to these statements.

the regulations state that if the hernia can be securely held by a truss, the man shall be put in Grade A, otherwise he becomes a total reject as there are no intervening stages for this trouble. Suspected cases of pulmonary tuberculosis are to be carefully investigated, and already this order has resulted in a number of applicants being instructed to return later. In cases of acute colds the medical men find it impossible to determine whether or not the lungs or bronchial tubes have been permanently affected. The question of poor hearing promises to bar a few but the man with little or no hearing in one ear will be put in Grade A, provided he can hear the ordinary voice with the other ear at a distance of twenty-one feet, while he qualifies for Grade B if he has lost the hearing of one ear and understands the ordinary voice with the other at fifteen feet. Enlarged tonsils are no longer a barrier to service, the regulations stating that where the removal of chronically inflamed tonsils will fit a man for Grade A, an operation should be performed. On the whole, the medical regulations are gradually tightening down, and perhaps a study of the above will enable the average applicant to form some idea as to just what will be his fate before the medical board.

AIRMEN KILLED IN COLLISION

LIEUT. WILLIAMS AND CADET LUDFORD FALL TO THEIR DEATH.

Camp Borden, Sept. 19. — The worst accident to be reported from the training camp of the Royal Flying Corps at Camp Hoare occurred when two machines collided at several hundred feet in the air, resulting in the death of Second Lieut. Art Williams, of Toronto, and Cadet Ludford, of New York.

The accident happened near the Pine River, in the western part of Camp Borden, during the military manoeuvres of the infantry forces, and was witnessed by several thousand men. Several aeroplanes were in the air, hovering over the line of parade, and evidently were taking advantage of their opportunity to advance their training my making observations on troops in the line of march, when a machine tried to cross behind that of Lieut. Williams, but crashed into it instead.

Both machines dropped to the ground, that containing Lieut. Williams and a cadet catching fire in the descent, with the result that both were killed. The occupant of the other machine was not injured. Cadet Ludford's father is in South America, but his mother is in New York.

RAISE SPAN 44 FEET IN ONE DAY

DAY AND A HALF REQUIRED TO COMPLETE WORK ON BIG BRIDGE.

Quebec, Sept. 19.—The central span of the Quebec cantilever bridge was last night dangling 80 feet from its destination. It was raised 44 feet during the day. Another day and a half must elapse, the engineers announced, before it could be made a permanent part of the bridge.

The work of the day was not as successful as had been anticipated owing to the snapping off of a bracket in connection with the gear for the removal of the raised links of the hoisting chains. A falling bolt from the bracket hit one of the workmen and inflicted a deep flesh wound by his nose. This accident happened directly after lunch and between 1 o'clock and 3.30, when a new bracket was made and fitted, no lifting took place.

The best lifting of the day for the cycle of the jacks was the last, when the 5,000-ton span was lifted and the jacks returned in 11 minutes.

Yesterday river craft began to venture under the cantilever arms, though no ocean-going vessels were allowed to pass.

BACON DEALERS COULD NOT LOSE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Toronto, Sept. 19.—That the William Davies Company were guaranteed the cost price for pork supplied to the British war office and the prevailing market price paid at the time of delivery no matter how much it was above cost was admitted by General Manager Fox in the cold storage enquiry today. He further admitted that these circumstances tended to increase hog prices in Canada owing to the buying activities of the company. The Company could not possibly lose and the advancing prices enabled them to buy in large quantities. That accounted for the profits that were made on the rising market.

It can place his widow beyond the need of marrying for support.
It can add to a man's years by freeing him from anxiety.
It can enhance the respect and esteem of the public and of his wife and children for him.

BRITISH BEGIN NEW DRIVE ALONG A FRONT OF 15 MILES AND FOE IS PRESSED BACK

Object is to Drive Germans From Belgian Coast Where They Have Submarine and Aerial Bases---Casualties Are Heavy on Both Side.---Crushing British Gun Fire.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 20.—Early this morning the British infantry went "over the top" on a wide front east of Ypres, and the Flanders offensive was on agin. The rush was successful at the outset, for the capture of positions of value was reported by Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig during the afternoon, and the progress made was described as satisfactory.

The renewal of the offensive came after a long pause, in which intensive preparatory work had been carried on unceasingly. The fighting in this period, indeed, was such as to pile up heavy casualties on both sides while a crushing drumfire from the British guns has been admitted by the Germans to have had a destructive effect upon their positions.

Early reports did not outline definitely the extent of the front attacked, but a clue seems to have been furnished by Berlin, which yesterday reported a drumfire to be pounding the line from Houtholst wood, some five miles south of Dixmude, to the river Lys, a distance of about 15 miles.

This would indicate that the main force of the drive was directed toward Roulers and Courtrai, with the probable object of driving the wedge further into the German Flanders front and eventually compelling the German abandonment of the Belgian coast with its valuable submarine and aerial bases.

The civilian population is recently reported to have been removed from towns in the German rear along a wide stretch of this front, including two of the cities named.

THE BATTLE OF MENIN ROAD.

(By The Associated Press.)

Field Marshal Haig's offensive, which was begun at dawn this morning on the Belgian battlefront, is proceeding with marked success, especially in the crucial sector between the Ypres-Roulers railway and Hollebeke. A bitter fight is in progress in the neighborhood of Inverness Copse, Nuns Wood and Glencorse Wood. If the attacking forces maintain the positions to which they have advanced in this section they have accomplished one of the most remarkable and most important achievements in recent months.

German infantry is making a most determined resistance to retain this vital ground, and Teuton artillery is retaliating heavily against the British big guns. Today's offensive will be known as the battle of Menin Road. Fair weather had improved the ground, but the mud still was deep, and the whole territory covered with water-filled shell holes, tangled barbed wire and shattered trees.

The German defences were composed largely of concrete redoubts, from which the enemy poured a wicked stream of bullets into the ranks of the advancing troops. Every little elevation in the woods was choked with rapid-fire guns.

The British encountered hard fighting at many places, but their magnificent artillery work had done much to make the first stage of their drive easier. The British barrage swept the country like a broom. The Germans knew the attack was coming, but were unaware of its exact location.

There was a light rain last night, but the weather cleared this morning, and the visibility is improving.

Attack Begins.

London, Sept. 20.—British forces on the Belgian front attacked German positions at 5:40 a.m. today to the east of Ypres. Field Marshal Haig reports that satisfactory progress was made and that the British already have captured some valuable positions.

Sweden Protests.

Reuters says that the Swedish Minister at Berlin has been instructed to protest to Germany against the Luxburg incident, it being confirmed that the German official seriously abused the confidence of Sweden.

Germany Feeling for Peace.

The attempt by the German press and officials to create an atmosphere of what is believed here to be another peace manoeuvre is again given prominence in the morning newspapers, which are of the unanimous opinion that there can be no peace until Prussian militarism is crushed.

Quiet on French Front.

Paris, Sept. 20.—Except for artillery activity, which was lively at various parts of the battle front in France last night, the official statement issued this afternoon by the French war office says there was nothing of importance to report.

WIND DELAYED WORK ON BRIDGE

BUT IT IS EXPECTED THAT THE STRUCTURE WILL BE FINISHED TODAY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

The last span of the bridge was placed in position at 3:28 this afternoon.

At 2 p.m. the final lift was practically completed. After this the pins which will bolt the span to the cantilever arms to be inserted to complete the work.

Wind Interferes

Quebec, Sept. 20.—A 25 Mile an hour wind held up the operations in connection with the raising of the central span of the Quebec bridge which had only 30 more feet to travel when the engineers took their places at the raising jackets this morning. For several hours a careful watch was kept on the span to see if the wind caused it to swing which would make it dangerous to continue lifting. It was decided to go ahead and at ten thirty the span only had twenty feet more to travel.

Quebec, Sept. 20.—It is expected that the centre span will be in position and the St. Lawrence bridged at 2:30 p.m. today.

TO GIVE WOMEN FEDERAL VOTE

IS PREMIER BORDEN'S PROMISE IF HE IS RETURNED TO POWER.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 20.—In the event of Premier Borden's return to power it is his intention to confer the franchise upon women generally, and to make important amendments to the naturalisation act, relieving women from discrimination as compared with men. In a letter to Mrs. J. O. Perry of Vancouver the Premier says:

"In case I am returned to power it is my purpose to place upon the statute book a measure granting the franchise to all women of British birth, and conferring upon women of foreign birth the right to seek and obtain naturalisation on their own behalf, so that they may thus become endowed with the same privilege after suitable residence in this country, and perhaps after suitable educational tests. The same measure should provide that a woman of British citizenship should not lose that citizenship upon her marriage except with her own consent."

TRADES COUNCIL TRUSTEES ARE CALLED ON TO RESIGN

Trouble Arose Over Question of Sending G. L. Myland as Delegate to Trades Congress—Secretary W. Stevens Also Gives up Position—Stormy Session Last Night.

The trustees of the Trades and Labor Council, after a stormy discussion last night, were requested to resign office. William Stevens, the efficient secretary, who has done so much for the labor movement in this city, gave up his position, and C. W. Sweet, a member of the Machinists' Union, was elected to fill the vacancy.

The dispute in the Council arose over the sending of a delegate to the Trades Congress at Ottawa. When George L. Myland was elected to represent the organization at that gathering, the sum of $60 was voted him for expenses. The trustees are the financial guardians of the money received as rent from the hall. They have a little over $300 on hand now, but they claim that this is not more than sufficient to meet ordinary current expenses. At all events, they will not be able to strike a balance until the end of the financial year and find out just where they stand Two members of the Board of Trustees, who are property owners, are bonded for the rent of the hall. If there is a deficit at the end of the year, they are personally liable for the amount.

Citing the above facts as their reasons, the trustees declined to hand over the money voted to pay the delegate's expenses to Ottawa, and as a result the Trades Council is not represented at the Dominion Congress. The Machinists' Union sent a man and allowed him $80 for the trip, this including expenses and his wages while away.

At a special meeting held last week, the Trades Council received from the trustees their mandate that there was to be no money for an Ottawa delegate. A stirring discussion was held on that occasion, the majority of the delegates being opposed to the action of the trustees. At the regular meeting last night the discussion was revived. The trustees pleaded justification for their action and the constitution was quoted by them in support of their contention.

The decision of the meeting was no surprise to the trustees or any of the delegates, as nothing else was expected. The members of the board had announced that they would resign rather than surrender and pay over the money required for expenses, as they had no desire to render themselves personally responsible for any debts that might be contracted during the year.

One of the delgates who had attended the meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday evening when the matter of medical inspection of men called out under the Military Service Act was discussed made a brief report of what had been done.

It was announced that G. T. R. trains in the south end are still violating the speed limit within the city limits.

The Coal Question.

One of the delegates wanted to know why the aldermen were talking of raising the price of civic coal, when the cost had been reduced at the mines and also for transportation to the Canadian border, the American authorities having taken action. The general opinion seemed to be that he price in this city should be reduced instead of raised.

It was openly asserted that the managers of the civic coal yard appear to be working hand in hand with the private dealers and that the new institution under such circumstances will prove of no real benefit to the general public. The fact that the aldermen and the dealers meet in conference to discuss prices and to ways and means has had a tendency to make the workingmen regard with suspicion the good faith of the former.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1917

A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR.

> "The majority of Quakers are good and successful farmers, and good farmers never think of killing a blacksnake, but when it comes to rattlers and copperheads, we 'remove' them 'without leaving a trace.'
>
> "The writer is a member of the Society of Friends by birth, believes in and tries hard—and it is quite difficult—to live up to the principles of the Quakers.
>
> "If necessary, it is easy for a Quaker to remove his coat, put it under a tree, and say, 'Lie there, Quaker, I must kill a few copperheads and rattlers.'
>
> "While I admit I did not raise my two sons to be soldiers, they were so raised and imbued with a spirit of Americanism that both—one is exempt by age—have replaced their Quaker coats with Uncle Sam's uniforms, and if they should pass on in the contest to kill the coperheads and rattlers, their daddy stands ready to take their place. That is the kind of a conscientious objector I am.
>
> "No person of intelligence ever questions the loyalty or the patriotism of Quakers."

CONCERNING VEAL.

FOOD CONTROLLER HANNA has issued the following statement in reply toe the criticism of his action in failing to put a ban on the use of veal as a food:

The questions have frequently ben asked:

Why has not the Food Controller prohibited the use of veal?

Is it not an economic waste to kill the young animals?

These queries bring up several very debatable points. There is no doubt that it is good business to bring to maturity such calves as give promise of converting their feed into profitable beef or into profitable dairy products. But it lessens the farmers' output of milk and butter, and his supply of feed, to no purpose, when poor calves are kept. Very often calves give no promise of rendering returns either in beef or in milk. Thus, male calves of dairy strain that cannot by any chance be pected to yield economical beef as steers, bring net profits only when slaughtered as prime veal.

To get best results from any herd a certain amount of weeding out, particularly among the females, is essential. Only thus can the beef possibilities and the milking qualities, respectively, be maintained and improved. It may be remarked here that the majority of veals slaughtered are males from dairy herds. It is evident, then, that the consumption of veal could not be prohibited without entailing present loss, unprofitable feeding and future deterioration of the herds.

Strange to say, although nearly everybody has eaten veal, and Canadian householders have bought and handled it for generations, few, very few people know, even approximately, how to define it.

A calf, to be classed as prime veal, should not be younger than four weeks nor older than eight weeks. Also, although the beef veal calves are of beef breed, yet, when well fed and well prepared, the dairy-bred calf makes excellent veal. As a matter of fact, the greater part of Canadian veal is from dairy stock.

A prime dressed veal carcass weighs 65 to 75 per cent. of the live weight, whereas, incidentally, a good beef carcass runs only 55 to 59 per cent. Ordinarily the weight of a veal calf ranges between 100 to 200 pounds; but the choicest weight lies between 120 and 160 pounds.

Veal should be eaten fresh. The best cuts come from the hindquarters. The brains, tongue, heart, liver and lights are valuable and delicate foods. Sweetbreads, two glands, one near the base of the throat and the other near the heart, are found only in calves that have been fed exclusively on the mother's milk. They begin to disappear as soon as the calf is put on grass or solid food.

Summed up briefly, it is good business to cull out and "veal" calves of either beef-breed or dairy-breed, when it is clear that they will add nothing to the total wealth of the country.

FOR ENGLAND'S SAKE.

THERE MAY BE a suspicion of the legendary about the story, although some historians have advanced it as a cold fact. It is to the effect that an heir-apparent to the British throne exercised the right of every man to marry according to the promptings of his nature, and he formed an honorable marriage with one of his future subjects, thus smashing all precedents firmly established for years. The union was kept a secret, but the fact of the marriage leaked out when he ascended the throne, and there was trouble among the men high in the councils of the nation.

The affair threatened to precipitate a civil war in England. The usurper of the House of the deposed Stuarts, at that time in exile on the continent, was likely to be called back by his followers to make another effort to regain the throne upon which a commoner was about to sit as queen.

When these facts were presented to the King's consort she gave up what a woman prizes most highly—forfeited all her rights as a married woman, and, burning her certificate of marriage, spent the rest of her life in exile. The marriage was annulled and England was saved.

None but a British woman would have been equal to such a sacrifice. The example still stands, the test is again being made. Shall women today forego without a murmur the right to vote when the salvation of the Empire is the goal that is aimed at?

NOTES AND COMMENT.

LET THERE BE more food conservation, less conversation on the subject.

GERMANY does occasionally express regret for her wickedness, but never until she is caught in the act.

• • •

A SURE SIGN that cold weather is approaching — the public school pupils are beginning to organize football teams.

• • •

THE OPPONENTS of the new Franchise Bill claim to be as good patriots as the best of them. Then it must be a question of intelligence.

SWEDEN says it cannot be wrong because it has been doing the same thing for a long time. Come to think of it, Sweden pleads the same excuse as the average mortal.

THE SENATE should introduce something like system into the Red Chamber. Why not set Monday for receiving bills from the House, Wednesday for mutilating them, and Saturday for putting them through the final stage?

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

A Question of Location.

(Hamilton Herald.)

Soap-box seditionists are getting prompt justice in American cities now. So that Montreal seditionist who said that the American flag is to be preferred to the Union Jack would be a sad seditionist if he were to transfer his oratorical activities to the other side of the line.

What Military Training Does.

(Buffalo News.)

If one needs ocular demonstration of what military training does for a youth, let him look at the boys in khaki who have been transformed from weaklings to vigorous, healthy men in a few short months, and compare them with the boys he knows who have not had the same training.

The Irish Convention.

(Montreal Herald.)

No news as to the progress being made by the Irish Convention is coming over the wires, and at the time of writing all that we know about it on this side is that the Convention is following the itinerary laid down for it as regards moving from one city to another. It is evident, however, from the way in which the matter is being discussed in the Irish papers and by representative Irishmen, that the people feel that the issue as to their future form of government now rests with the Irish people themselves, and that if they cannot agree theb lame can hardly be laid across the Irish Channel. As Charles O'Connor Irwin writes in the New York Times: "The question of Home Rule at the present stage is not an English question: it is an Irish question. hen the Irish concede Home Rule to the Irish, the Irish will have Home Rule."

Millbrook Soldier Writes to Friends

GIVES ACCOUNT OF INTERESTING EXPERIENCES IN ENGLAND AND IRELAND.

Letter From Pte. J. W. Sootheran
England, Aug. 30, 1917

Dear Friend:—How is everything around Millbrook this year. I saw Sloin this morning; he is looking fine. He gave me a Millbrook Mirror and I enjoyed reading it very much. It was very interesting to me, being from my native town. I support the Toronto Ex. will be over by the time you get this and it will soon be time for the big Millbrook Central Exhibition. I was in hospital at Ottawa at the time of Millbrook fair last year and this year I am in England. I came across with the 235th battalion, but am in a reserve batt. We had a grand trip. It took eleven days to come. We were all glad when wo landed. I thought the cars queer after riding in the Canadian trains. They travel faster here, though. We were in quarantine for some time. Twenty German planes dropped bombs, but they were wide of the mark. We just laughed at them wasting their bombs. A couple of bumble bees scared me worse. I ran from them. I am a great soldier to let a couple of B. B's chase me. I am mail orderly here, getting along fine and feeling fine.

On Tuesday night we had a very strong wind and rain storm. About 12.30. mid-night, we were all awake and talking. One lad said he would like to see some of the others tents blow down. A few minutes later a strong whiff of wind came and blew our tent down on top of us and we stayed under it till morning as there was no use trying to put it up that night. We got wet of course and were plastered with mud and we laughed every time we thought of it. Fifteen tents blew down that night. It was a great jojke.

I have seen a lot of pretty scenery since coming to England. I had my landing leave and a chum and I went to Belfast, Ireland. It is a very pretty and live city. We were used tip top. We were "guests" at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club. We were 3 days there and then went to Dublin. We had to watch ourselves there. We passed some of the places where the riots were. You could tell as soon as you saw it that there had been a disturbance, seeing the bricks, glass, etc., lying about, and much glass was broken in the houses and walls knocked down. The General P.O. was destroyed by the rioters. On some streets we saw a lot of women in their bare feet, sitting on edge of walks with shawls over their shoulders with baskets of fish to sell. The streets smelt fishy. Were followed on one street by five old women. We soon got away from them. If we hadn't made a quick get-away, we would have had to fight our way through the people. Dublin is against those in khaki, so that is why we had to keep our eyes open and ears alert. It was a common thing to see boys leading goats up the streets in Dublin and Belfast, and to see old women and children driving donkeys hitched to carts. We were in Holyhead, Wales. it is a very pretty part of the country, too. The Irish Channel was fine when we crossed it.

I was down to the big Canadian races at Seaford. I was in the walking race. I made the fastest quarter mile walk in the Canadian Army, making the quarter mile in 1½ min. I was up against twenty-five walkers. MacDonald of Toronto was one of the walkers. I have beaten him twice over here. When at Seaford I saw Tom Miller. He was Acting Brigade Sergt.-Major. I also saw Norm Mitchell and Fred Deyell. All were well and looking fine. Remember me to the Millbrook boys and girls.

HOW CHEESE IS TO BE SHIPPED

RAILWAY SPECIFICATIONS MUST BE FOLLOWED, OR SHIPMENTS REFUSED.

A year ago last Spring railway freight men issued an order that cheese boxes must be made to certain specifications. In some localities shippers of cheese are closely following these instructions, while in others they are careless of doing so with the result that many claims are presented the railways for damage to cheese, which investigation shows is due to defective boxes. In view of this, effective September 15th, 1917, station agents are now instructed that they must not accept shipments for carriage unless the wooden boxes or wood pulpboard containers are entirely in accordance with specifications issued, or subsequent re-issues. The boxes must show absolutely no sign of breakage; and the cheese must fit the box or container snugly, and must be neither too large nor too small for the box.

Ring Off

She was a telephone girl, he a telegraph clerk, and they were contemplating matrimony. They were sitting by the fire discussing the blissful time when they would have a little home of their own. The conversation drifted to the topic of fire lighting, and he ventured the opinion that no man should get up and light fires in the morning. He should lie in bed and rest for the day's work.

The girl stared at him in silence for a minute, and then very sweetly, but with great firmness, said:

"Dear man, ring off, please! You're on the wrong number!"

Lost Control

"Mercy on us!" said the old woman, as her strapping son came in all bruised and muddy, "what's come to ye?"

"Coming down Walley's hill I lost control of me bike," said the man.

In the early hours of the next morning a neighboring farmer driving to the fair saw the dear old lady searching diligently for something on Walley's hill.

"What's up?" he called. "What might you be looking for, mother.

"Oh," said the old lady, "lend us a hand, Farmer Gibbs! My boy lost the control o' his bike comin' down here yesterday, an' I'm trying to find it for him!"

Valid Reason

"I like to have vacation," said Tony.

"We can't get along very well without you," said the boss. "You don't need a vacation. You'll only blow in your money and come back broke."

"I like to have vacation," persisted Tony. "I get married, and I kinda like to be there."

And millions of munitions,
To help you rout the Hun.

We fight for the same object,
A safe democracy,
That all the world, from Kaisers
May be forever free.

We've long admired your courage,
Efficiency, and skill,
In driving back the monster,
Who would swat babies kill.

And we've desired to help you
Soon as we could prepare,
Now cheerily we're coming,
Equipped to bear our share.

We've men upon the ocean,
And some in camp in France,
And millions more preparing,
Hoping to have a chance

To strike the German savage,
And stop his bloody fight,
And teach him what is moral,
Benevolent, and right.

HOME LIFE SAFEGUARDED.

If We Took a Leaf From Our Father's and Mother's Diary, We Would Spend More Evenings At Home With Plenty of Music.

The strength of a nation is reflected in the character of the home life of its people. Consequently anything that exercises a good influence on home life should have the ear of every thinking person. For some few years there have been those who have sincerely regretted the multiplying influences that they thought were weakening the influence of the home. These people have looked askance at the way automobiling, attendance at the moving picture theatres, social activities of a semi-public nature and such, all of which are quite proper in their places, most essential indeed, have combined to take people away from their homes so much.

Again, for a considerable time, the growth of our cities at the expense of the rural communities has become alarming, and the burning question has become—how can, not only the boys, but the girls be kept on the farms. If home life is to be safeguarded and maintained, one of the strongest answers to these questions is, more music in the home. Our forefathers set us a worthy precedent in this as in other respects, although we are showing a disposition to rather shun our fathers' examples. How did they spend their evenings? A good illustration comes to mind from Marian Keith's delightful story of pioneer days in the township of Oro. She pictures this scene in "The Silver Maple."

"Rory crossed the room and with elaborate care took down a box from a shelf above the bed. From it he tenderly took out a violin and after much strumming and tuning up he seated himself upon a chair in the middle of the room and struck up the lively air of "The MacDonalds' Reel." Scotty leaped to the floor; Rory's fiddle could do anything with him, make him dance with mad joy until he was exhausted, stir him up to a wild longing to go away and do deeds of impossible prowess, or even make him creep into the shadows behind Granny's chair and weep heart-broken tears into her ample skirts.

"Tonight the tune was gay, and Callum came out into the ring of light, and sitting astride a chair with his arms crossed over his back, put his nephew through the intricacies of the Highland Fling until he was gasping for breath. Granny saw and stopped the dance by a nod and smile to Rory; the music instantly changed to a slow, wailing melody, and the boy dropped into a chair and sat gazing into the fire, dreaming dreams of mystery and wonder.

"Then they all sang old-fashioned Scottish songs; songs that were old before Burns came to give Scotland a new voice. And Old Farquhar struck in, during a short pause, with one of Ossian's songs of warlike doings and glorious deaths. He sang in a cracked weird voice to a wild Gaelic air that had neither melody or rhythm, but somehow contained the poetic fire of the impromptu songs of the old bards. Rory followed putting in a note here and there; but as the song wavered on and showed no signs of coming to an end, he struck up, "The Hundred Pipers an' a' an' a'," and drowned out the old man's wail." Then Burns was not forgotten, and they all had "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon," a song that always made Scotty's heart ache as though it would burst, he knew not why.

For evenings at home now-a-days we have those same advantages of the fiddle, and of being able to sing as our grandparents had, and in addition through the player piano and the talking machine, the world's very finest selections are at our [illegible] and within the reach of all.

A nation of music-loving people will be a long step toward becoming a nation of home-loving people. Home-loving people make a nation strong.

ANTONIO STRADIVARIUS.

Stradivarius, who is reputed the greatest of violin-makers, was born in 1644. As a pupil of Nicholas Amati he made a few violins from the time he was 23, though he produced few in the next twenty years. It is thought that during that time he did more by way of experimenting than in making violins to sell. During that period those he did make were but little different from those produced by Amati.

But in 1690 there began to appear violins of a style all his own. These models are said to have had a greater fulness, and the arching and proportions of all parts reached the greatest perfection. He regulated the thickness of his wood with the greatest exactitude. His varnish was more brilliant. At the age of 56 Stradivarius had left off experimenting, and convinced he had reached his goal he showed the ability of the great master in the production of instruments in which every detail was accomplished with the utmost care and precision. Records of Stradivarius violins of this period show that he used for the bellies only the most carefully selected and perfectly grained woods, used in such a way as to bring the narrowest of the "year-rings" to the middle of the belly.

His arching is the smallest of all the Italian makers, being only 1-8 of an inch high, on which account the table is made of just that exact thickness which will enable it to withstand the pressure of the strings without any loss of vibrating power. For the sides he used mostly willow. The sound-holes, cut with a masterly hand, remain as perfect models for his successors. Very rarely did Stradivarius depart from his fixed model, and then it was only to satisfy the fad of some artist. From between 1725 to 1730 the characteristic stamp of the master is said to vanish. This is accounted for from the fact that many of these models were made only under the direction of Stradivarius, who was now a hoary-headed old man. At his death there were found in his workshops many unfinished violins which were completed by others. Hence the uncertainty regarding the productions of his final period.

He only made a few violas, all of large size. His 'cellos were more numerous. In all the number of his works is estimated at 1,000. The large number is doubtless due to his living to a ripe old age of 93, and working pretty well to the last. He is reported to have gained considerable wealth. Two of his three sons followed the father's calling.

"Miracle Girl" Gives Army Edison to 3rd Regiment, N. G. N. J., Ashbury Park, N. J.

Anna Case, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., who sings exclusively for the New Edison Recording Laboratories, on Saturday presented an Army and Navy Model to the Third New Jersey Regiment, of which Colonel Thomas D. Landon is head. Miss Case motored down to Sea Girt, where the regiment is in camp, and surprised the "boys of the Third" with a "war phonograph" and a number of records. She sang "Our America," a song of her own composition, arranged for by the band, by Bandmaster Stark of the Edison Storage Battery Band, and the "Star Spangled Banner." She also sang in direct comparison with her own voice as re-created on the New Edison. The soldiers made it the big day of the year at Sea Girt. Colonel Landon showered praises upon Miss Case for her gift, and particularly dwelt upon her career. Being a New Jersey girl, the gift was considered more appropriate for a New Jersey regiment, said the Colonel. Then he told them of the plucky fight Miss Case made and of her being proud of her humble origin. She is the daughter of a blacksmith, and he said she is not afraid to let it be known. Governor Edge introduced Miss Case to the camp. She was taken on a tour of inspection by Colonel Landon, who pointed out the camp kitchen and other interesting sights. Thursday she was the guest of Governor Edge at dinner. Call in and hear some of the records by Miss Case on the NEW EDISON.

Bombed German Towns.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—The French aerial squadrons on Sunday bombarded several German cities in Wurttemburg, Rhenish Prussia, and Upper Alsace according to an official statement issued today by the German war office. The text of the announcement reads: Our enemies on Sunday undertook several bombing raids against South German territory. Stutgart, Tuebingen, Freudenstadt, Oberndorf, St. Ingbert, Saarbruecken and Colmar were attacked. The war office said one soldier was wounded but otherwise there were neither losses nor material damage as result of the raids.

Has Put Him Back In Old Time Form

HAMILTON MAN SAYS HE WOULD NEARLY FALL ON ACCOUNT OF WEAKNESS.

"Honestly, this Tanlac has built me up to where I was before my health began to fail, and I am feeling so good I want to tell everybody about it," said W. H. Dyson, an expert cabinetmaker in the employ of the National Car Company, and residing at 527 Barton street, Hamilton, the other day.

"I had been going down hill for the last twelve months," he explained, "and was steadily getting worse, in spite of all the medicines I was taking. I didn't have a bit of appetite, and just had to force down enough to keep me alive, and many a morning I left home without eating a bite for breakfast, and would get along on as little as I could all day. I was troubled with a fluttering of the heart that alarmed me, and whenever I stooped down my head got to swimming so I would nearly fall. I couldn't even lie down to rest without becoming so dizzy I had to get right up again to keep from fainting. I was weak and tired and all run down, and was on the road to a complete nervous breakdown, when I began reading the statements in the papers about Tanlac and decided to give it a trial.

"The way it took hold of my trouble and began straightening me out right from the start was a complete surprise. Tanlac gave my appetite such a boost that I can eat like a regular farm hand; in fact, I get away with five good meals evry day, and am hardly satisfied at that. I am stronger and heavier than I have been in over a year, my nerves are as steady as a clock, I sleep like a log, and get up in the mornings with plenty of vim and energy for the day's work. I always speak a good word for Tanlac whenever I can, for it is such a splendid medicine that I want all the fellows in my shop to get acquainted with it."

These Men Will Help You Decide

Are you liable to be selected for service under the Military Service Act?

The answer to this question is being made readily available for you. Remember that the first class to be called includes only men between the ages of 20 and 34, both inclusive, who are unmarried or widowers without children, those married after July 6, 1917, being deemed single for the purposes of the Act.

Medical Boards are now being established throughout Canada. These Boards will examine, free of charge and obligation, all men who wish to be examined as to their physical fitness for military service. They will tell you in a very short time whether your physical condition absolves you from the call or makes you liable for selection.

It is important that you obtain this information as soon as possible. A certificate of unfitness from a Medical Board will secure for you freedom from responsibility under the Military Service Act from any Exemption Tribunal. A certificate of fitness will not preclude an appeal for exemption on any ground.

In order that you may be able to plan your future with certainty, visit a Medical Board as soon as possible and find out if you are liable to be selected. Your family and your employer are interested as well as yourself.

Issued by The Military Service Council.

For All We Have and Are—

To-night — under the wide canopy of Heaven, trenched in a line from the North Sea to Switzerland, pacing decks of ships, peering into darkness, that holds perils such as God's omnipotence never formed, millions of men are braving death for us.

Not one among whom but holds some woman dear (even though she be only the Dream Woman of his finer moments).

And with thoughts of "her" comes that other thought of the German Michael loosed upon the earth.

Do you wonder why our men fight hard?

Think, then, of what a privilege it is for us women to help send sufficient of the right kinds of food for the bodies of such great souls.

Think of this and then ask yourself whether you will forbear to substitute other foods for the white bread, beef and bacon you and your family now consume; and, in addition, prevent the waste of a single ounce of food in your home.

Your service of sacrifice is so small. The result will be so great—you surely cannot refuse.

Woman's Auxiliary, Organization of Resources Committee, in Co-operation with The Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller.

HOW TO USE LEFT-OVERS

European housewives are noted for knowing how to combine left-overs in such a way as to make most savory and nourishing dishes; indeed, it is a common saying that a European family can live on what the average family in this country throws away.

If possible, buy for more than just one meal at a time; in other words, when buying plan to have something left over for another meal, particularly where the cooking takes a long time or where the food can be reheated to advantage. This will save you time, labour, fuel and money.

LEFT-OVER MEAT—Left-over beef, lamb, mutton and veal are excellent for hash, scalloped dishes, croquettes, a loaf, and salads. Left-over beef, lamb or mutton makes excellent stews, with the addition of any left-over vegetables. Any left-over meat, vegetables and gravy can be used to make a meat pie. A left-over ham bone will greatly improve the flavour of pea or bean soup. Any kind of cold meat can be chopped and used in an omelet, or combined with rice and tomatoes, used for scalloped dishes.

LEFT-OVER VEGETABLES—Vegetables are not hurt by reheating. Left-over vegetables can be used for flavouring in soups, for making cream soups, scalloped dishes, vegetable hash, filling for an omelet, and for salads. The leaves of celery and any left-over parsley are valuable in the soup pot for flavouring. They can be dried out in a lukewarm oven and kept in a covered jar until needed. The celery roots can be saved for soup stock, and the water in which stewed celery has been cooked can be saved and used for cream of celery soup. The tops of summer beets and turnips, and the outer leaves of lettuce can each be cooked as spinach. They make excellent greens.

STALE BREAD—Small bits of stale bread can be slowly dried in the oven until crisp and brittle, then ground in a meat chopper and rolled. These bread crumbs should be kept in a covered jar, and can be used for frying croquettes, etc. Larger pieces of stale bread may be eaten with soup in place of crackers, or used to make croutons for soup. (Croutons are little squares of bread fried in fat. They are usually served with pea, bean and cream soups.) Small pieces and broken slices of stale bread may be used for stuffing, for griddle cakes, bread omelet and puddings.

SOUR MILK OR CREAM—No sour milk or cream should be wasted. Put it into an earthen or glass jar, little by little, until you have half a cup or a cupful. As soon as it thickens, use it for cottage cheese, griddle cakes, or biscuits, cornbread or gingerbread.

CROWD AT THE LAKEFIELD FAIR BEATS THE RECORD

Receipts Yesterday Exceeded Those of Previous Year—Directors Entitled to Congratulations For Their Success—Some of the Prizes.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Lakefield, Sept. 20. — Thanks to the enterprise and energy of the board of directors, Lakefield has just held the best Fair in its history. The attendance yesterday broke the record by over one hundred, and the recipts exceeded those of any since the first Fair was held by over $25. The entries were complete, and, although competition was close, the awards were satisfactory in every case. Mr. H. Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of [illegible] I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

HORSES AT TORONTO.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—There was very little moving in the horse trade in Toronto during the past week. Comparatively few horses were shipped to the city for sale, and the fact that farmers are pretty busy these days renders business a bit dull. A few loads of heavy horses for work in the lumber camps were shipped to the north country from the repository. They weighed from 1,600 to 1,700 pounds, and cost from $220 to $235. At the auction sales on Tuesday and Friday, a number of city horses, including a few light delivery horses, were disposed of, the latter selling at from $120 to $140.

A great deal of interest is being taken this week in the auction sale that is being held at the horse exchange at the Union Stock Yards. The horses, harness, wagons and sleighs that were used in the construction of the aviation schools, are being sold. The horses, 200 in all, comprise 100 draught mares and geldings from 1,450 to 1,700 pounds, sixty good mares and geldings from 1,350 to 1,450 pounds, and 40 splendid drivers and delivery horses.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Among the many great little boxers who have claimed San Francisco as their native city—including Abe Atteil. Frankie Neil. Jimmie Britt and Willie Ritchie—not the least in batting prowess was Dal Hawkins. For fifteen years Dal was one of the best little fellows in the ring, and he came near to copping the featherweight championship. It was just fifteen years ago on Sept. 18, 1902, that Hawkins fought his last regular battle. His ring career ended at Butte. Mont., but hardly in a blaze of glory, for he was knocked out in the seventh round by Jack Clifford. That convinced Dal that he was through as a ring performer, and he opened a road house and training camp near New York, where many of the best boxers of the last decade have trained for their metropolitan bouts.

Hawkins was born in 1871, and began scrapping professionally when he was seventeen. In 1898 he broke into the limelight by outpointing Joe Gans in a fifteen-round bout in New York. Jim Corbett acted as second for the native son and "Honest John" Kelly was the referee. Corbett was confident that Hawkins would become the lightweight champion, but he fell down on the prediction. The bout. which was staged at the old Bohemian Sporting club, was a remarkable exhibition, and the Californian won over the Baltimore darkey by a very narrow margin. In the same year Hawkins lost to Owen Zeigler in eight rounds at San Francisco. It was in 1897, at Carson City that Dal broke a record by knocking out Martin Flaherty in four seconds. This record stood until 1902, when Bat Nelson put away Bill Rossier in four seconds at Harvey, Ill. By a strange coincidence, Malachy Hogan was referee of both bouts, and he made an affidavit that Nelson's knockout was made in the quickest time. The Hawkins-Flaherty bout was a preliminary to the heavyweight championship scrap between Fitzsimmons and Corbett. In 1897 Hawkins fought a twenty-round draw with George Dixon, the featherweight champion. The next year he knocked out Kid McParland, but lost to Spike Sullivan the Irish lightweight. In 1899 he fought Frank Erne in San Francisco, and was knocked out by the Swiss boy in the seventh round. Erne becoming lightweight champion by defeating Kid Lavigne at Buffalo a few months later. Martin Flaherty the victim of the speedy knockout, fought Dal again in 1900, at Hartford and stayed twenty rounds to a draw. Later that year Dal fought two battles with Joe Gans, and was knocked out by the negro in two and three rounds respectively. His last appearance as a topnotcher was when he fought Charles McFadden in San Francisco in 1901. "Elbows" winning on a foul in the seventh round.

Pugilistic Annals

1886—John L. Sullivan knocked out Frank Herald in the second round at Allegheny, Pt. The fighter with the journalistic name had been touted as a classy proposition, and just the guy to annex the title which the "Boston Strong Boy" had won four years before. The fight was a joke. Sullivan spent the first round in feeling out his opponent, and in the second went in and polished him off thoroughly. A little later John L. went to San Francisco and took on his old enemy, Paddy Ryan, who had been champion until a certain day in 1882, when he lost his laurels to Sullivan at Mississippi. Paddy lasted nine rounds in the first bout, but at San Francisco Sullivan sent him to dreamland in the third.

FRANCHISE BILL PASSES SENATE

LIBERALS FIGHT IT TO END, BUT GOVERNMENT'S SUPPORTERS PREVAIL.

Ottawa. Sept. 20.— The War-time Elections Act was given a third reading in the senate before midnight last, night, but it was afterwards stated by Liberal members of the commons from Nova Scotia that it was not acceptable; that they had agreed to no compromise, and that they would be opposed to the house of commons concurring in the senate amendments. They asserted that they objected to any revision of the provincial lists by enumerators and said that a telegram had been received from Premier Murray of Nova Scotia objecting to such rovision.

In view of the understanding declared to have been reached and on the suggestion of Sir James Lougheed Senator Beique and Senator Ross wtihdrew their amendments.

Senator Bostock move an amendment to strike out the disfranchisement clauses of the bill. This was declared lost on division. Senator Choquette, seconded by Senator Cloran, later on moved the six months' hoist, which was also declared lost, and the bill was given the third reading.

RED CROSS DEPARTMENT

That the work of the local Red Cross Society would be successfully and energetically carried on during the winter months, was practically demonstrated in the enthusiastic meeting, which was held Monday afternoon in the Public Library. It was the regular monthly executive meeting of the Red Cross, to which the various societies and auxiliaries doing Red Cross work had been asked to send representations, that plans might be discussed for the winter's campaign. Every auxiliary in the city was represented and every member was deeply interested, so that one felt from the earnest tone, that pervaded the meeting, that in this the fourth year of the war, the needs of the boys who are serving at the front would still assuredly be well looked after.

In expressing the thankfulness of the local society for the success of the work of the past year, which had been due, in great measure, to the hearty cooperation of the various auxiliaries, and in setting forth most forcibly the need for indefatigable and continued labor in the future, the president of the local Red Cross Society, Mrs. Mathews, said in part: "We have asked representatives from the different Auxiliaries and Societies of the city, who have helped us in Red Cross work, and in providing comforts for our soldiers in the trenches, to meet with us here, so that they might realize better how much their friendliness and efforts mean to our work and also that they may understand in a very clear way, our responsibility.

The Societys represented here, are really our backbone. It is through the Auxiliaries and different Societies that our work is done. The office staff is the official channel through which the buying, planning and distribution must go in any business and that is the relation of the executive to you.

Centuralization is necessary for economic reasons. Judging from what information I picked up while in England and when visiting the Canadian Red Cross headquarters in Toronto, lately, I believe that Peterborough is making a finer concerted effort and thus really accomplishing more that materially benefits our soldiers than many other cities, equally large. I am sure we are glad that this is true—as it is good to know that we are conserving energy, while accomplishing a great deal and it also tends to advertise a greater Peterborough.

Perhaps some societies are wondering why they are asked to be represented here today, as they are not Red Cross anad are separate organizations. All of you have contributed in some way, either by contributions of work or by contributions for the Prisoners of War or through our C.W.C.A. for the men in the trenches. Perhaps some of you do not know that the C.W.C.A. is a great central supply system for relieving and supplementing the needs of the tired, nerve-strained men, right up in the trenches. It cooperates with the Y.M.C.A. in their work with the contingents overseas with, as well as with workers in the naval service.

We want you to carry back to your Auxiliaries our great appreciation for their work and to impress upon them the great need there is at the present time for more work and more sympathy. In the fourth year of war, we are apt to grow a little more callous, taking for granted that all the work will go on, even if we do not share. No one will do the share of the one, who neglects to do it. It will go undone. It seems a grave charge but these are grave times and the sick are just as sick, and the wounded are suffering just as much as when our sympathies were first enlisted, over three years ago. The fighting is more severe, the casualties at Lens were heavier far than at Langemark and the casualties at Langemark heavier than at the Somme and at St. Julien. Our responsibilities increase instead of decrease, so we beseech of you to keep up your Auxiliaries to the best effort and to be continually on the lookout for more workers. Do not think that our work is going back. It is not—we were almost jubilant because our Auxiliaries so nobly responded to our June appeal. As a result 64 cases were sent during the summer, at an estimated value of more than $4850.00.

It can not be too carefully noted that all the money received is spent on materials, supplies and Prisoners' Relief. The Canadian Red Cross Society is the only big business that I have heard of which is run with practically no expense—97 per cent of the funds received is spent directly for our soldiers. Of course the money is many times multiplied because the voluntary work is not counted."

The reports of the various committees on the work accomplished during the summer months tended to emphasise in a practical way, the note of thankfulness and hope sounded in the President's opening address. Miss F. Davidson, convenor of the packing committee, reported 11 cases, shipped in August, containing the following: 10 dressing gowns, 101 pairs pyjamas, 144 pairs socks, 191 sheets, 609 towels; while in June, July and August 64 cases had been shipped, including 53 dressing gowns, 18 bed jackets, 234 day shirts, 461 pairs pyjamas, 1824 pairs socks (378 C.W.C.A.), 545 sheets, 2694 towels, 125 M. T. bandages, 84 amputation bandages.

The report of the Supplies Committee was a cause of general satisfaction, as the convenor, Miss Munro, was able to report that the Society had now on hand a sufficient quantity of pillow-cotton, towelling, flannelette, flannel and wool for the winter's work. As it has been decided to keep open the rooms in the Public Library, every Wednesday afternoon for Red Cross work, to be supervised by Mrs. Breyfogle, it is fervently hoped that very many workers may avail themselves of this opportunity of service to the cause, so dear to the hearts of all.

The Red Cross Society wish to express their appreciation of Miss Mather's generosity in donating to the funds of the Society, $24.70, being the proceeds of her very successful recital, given Monday evening, September 17th, in the Collegiate Hall.

Pen Pictures of Peterboro M. P.'s

A writer in the Toronto Star has prepared a gallery of pen pictures of the members of Parliament and the names of the members from the two ridings of Peterborough appear in the list with the following notes:

John A. Sexsmith, of East Peterborough, is of peculiar descent, as his great grandparents emigrated from Germany to Ireland. He has a grandmother who had fourteen children who grew up and married; all but two had children, and today the old lady, who is a nonagenarian, has fifty grandchildren and sixty great-grandchildren.

The fire brigade was called out to an incipient blaze in the Empress Hotel at 11.15 this morning. SOLDIERS TO GET INCREASE

HIGHER PENSIONS ARE PROMISED FOR PRIVATES AND NON-COMS.

Ottawa Sept 20. — The commons spent most of yesterday sitting cleaning up various items of supply not yet dealt with. Subsequently the supply passed and was concurred in so that in the event of provrgation taking place on Thursday afternoon or Friday the final supply bill of the session will be ready for assent.

The vote of eight millions for pensions was productive of a lengthy debate and a renewal of the promise of the government that the whole matter would be made the subject of review and final action at the next session of the house. Meanwhile, there will be increases on a percentage basis.

Some anomalies in soldiers' pensions were indicated in the course of a discussion. For instance there was the claim of unfairness that a man with a ten per cent, disability should be paid off with a gratuity of one hundred dollars, while the man with a 20 per cent. disability got $8.50 a month for life. On both sides of the house it was fully recognised that everything possible should be done to secure an equitable system. Sir Robert Borden indicated that the coming increase in the pensions scale would be confined to privates and probably non-commissioned officers. This meets the criticism of too much difference between the pension of men in the ranks and the commissioned officers.

ALLIES SWEEP ALL BEFORE THEM

BRITISH TRIUMPH IS COMPLETE IN GREAT BATTLE OF MENIN ROAD; HUN'S LOSSES ARE HEAVY

Advance of One Mile Made Along Entire Front Engaged---Obstinate Foe Sacrifice Men in Vain Attempt to Retake Lost Ground---Greatest Victory Scored by British Army in Months.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

This afternoon's advices further announce the resumption of British attacks during this morning southwest of Cheluvelt, where a position desired by the British was still held by the Germans. This was assaulted by British forces which advanced to the attack at 9:30 a.m.

British Headquarters in France, Sept. 21.—The British offensive which began at dawn yesterday over a wide front east of the Ypres salient found the attacking forces late today holding new positions of vital importance and continuing the fight in German territory along a line which in many places represented an average gain of a mile in depth.

Such redoubtable strongholds as Nuns Wood, Glencorse Wood, Inverness Cops and Shrewsberry Forest, which have withstood numerous fierce assaults recently, were entirely overrun by the British, who reached points well beyond them. Heavy fighting was continuing at close range at various points, and the Germans were massing troops with the evident intention of delivering a counter-attack. It was a day of great success for the British arms for the possession of the wooded heights which they captured east of Ypres is unquestionably of crucial importance since these dominating positions form the keystone of the German structure of defence in this sector.

The greatest gains have been made between St. Julien and Hollebeke, which was as had been planned, for within this stretch of country lie the important defences just mentioned.

BRITISH SUCCESS COMPLETE.

London, Sept. 21.—Field Marshal Haig in later reports today regarding the British offensive on the Belgian front to the east of Ypres, when the British troops pushed through the German lines for a distance of more than a mile, says that the completeness of the British success is confirmed by the detailed account of the battle.

"During the evening local attacks delivered by us in the neighborhood of Lower Hamlets and northeast of Langemarck cleared up a number of strong points and completed the capture of our objectives in these localities.

"It is now established that in many counter-attacks delivered by considerable forces of the enemy during the afternoon and evening his casualties were unusually great. The clear light of day enabled our troops to obtain warning of impending attacks, and in every case advancing lines of German infantry were destroyed by concentrated fire from our rifles and machine guns.

GERMANS MAKE USELESS SACRIFICES.

"The obstinacy with which the enemy repeated his attacks only added to his losses without recovering for him any of the valuable ground which he had lost. Exhausted by his previous efforts the enemy made no counter-attacks during the night, and our troops were able to consolidate positions undisturbed. Our own losses in the battle were light."

GEORGE REILLY WAS WIDEAWAKE

FORMER WELL-KNOWN PETERBORO DRUGGIST CAUGHT BURGLARS IN TORONTO.

George Reilly, formerly a Peterborough druggist, conducting business at the corner of Bethune and King streets, and now of Toronto, caught thieves breaking into his premises at the corner of Elizabeth and Agnes streets, Toronto, early on the morning of Wednesday last.

Tuesday evening the store had been entered and about $5 taken from the till, and Mr. Reilly received information that another attempt would be made early Wednesday morning, and he watched his premises from a house across the road. He saw two men break open the window, and promptly secured assistance from the Police who took in charge Frank and Edward Hanna, 48 Alice street.

Kaiser at Odds With His Allies

ON HIS WAY TO BULGARIA TO STRAIGHTEN OUT SOME TROUBLE THERE.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from Berne, Sitwzerland, received today by the British Admiralty through the wireless press says: "Emperor William has passed through Budapest, Hungary, on his way to Sofia, the Bulgarian capital. It is believed to be the Emperor's intention to try to smooth over difficulties which have arisen between Bulgaria and Germany. Germany and Austria have demanded military aid which Bulgaria has refused. On the other hand Bulgaria has asked similar aid which the Central Powers have refused."

THE BIG DRIVE IS ON HELP YOUR FAVORITE

End of First Period Only a Week Away and the Ambitious Contestants Are After the Votes With Splendid Energy—Subscribers Should Help Now —Every Minute Counts.

That many candidates have made up their minds to win one of the big prizes in The Review contest, is demonstrated daily. Scarcely an hour goes by that does not find a contestant in the office asking for more receipt books, or a phone message requesting books or information regarding the dates that certain subscriptions expire, etc.

Subscribers who have promised support to their favorite candidate should bear in mind that a payment made on subscriptions now will count 10 per cent more votes than payments made after Sept. 29.

Ask Largely.

Candidates should remember that in soliciting assistance from friends that you get results according to your expectations. If you ask for a small subscription for six months or a year, your friends will think that they have helped as much as possible if they give just what you ask for.

In the Big Contest

MR. A. SKINNER
Popular and well known young man who is meeting with fine success in the Review Contest.

An Example.

A striking example of this came to the attention of the Contest Manager yesterday. A gentleman called at the office to pay for a year's subscription which he had promised one of the candidates. While the receipt was being made out he was asked: "Well, are you going to help your candidate to the extent of 20,000 votes or only 8000 votes. If you pay for two years it will give her 12000 more votes than a subscription for only one year."

"Well, you see, SHE ONLY ASKED ME FOR ONE YEAR, and I expect she knows what she wants better than I do. Very likely she has more votes than she will know what to do with."

This gentleman has taken The Review for years and will, in all probability continue to do so for years to come. Moreover, he is much interested in the candidate and if he had been made to see that a subscription for more than one year might mean the difference between success and defeat he would doubtless have shown his interest in a more decided form.

Help Yourself.

Only last week the records showed that in some instances where one candidate had collected arrears another had followed this up by obtaining the renewal. A little more effort and persistency on the part of the first candidate would have won this success which her competitor snatched in the face of apparent hopelessness. For some consider themselves defeated as soon as the person approached mentions that some other candidate has been ahead of them. Others—and these look like winners—see in this only a good omen. If he had helped others it augers well for his interest in the contest and consequently for the help he may again give.

Which class are you in—that of the easily daunted or the ever hopeful? Your friends will be aware of your attitude of mind from your zeal or lack of zeal. Show them that you are in to win and that you need all the assistance it is within their power to render you.

HUSTLE. HUSTLE. HUSTLE. Then HUSTLE SOME MORE.

BERLIN ADMITS BRITISH GAIN

OFFICIAL STATEMENT WITH REGARD TO BATTLE NOW RAGING.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The report from headquarters on the British attack says:

"The battle in Flanders, which opened at daybreak on a wide front, is still in full swing on the British front from Langemarck to Hollebeke. In the foremost part of our defensive zone bitter and fluctuating fighting has taken place since morning."

HUNS ANXIOUS TO QUIT LENS

SO HARD PRESSED BY CANADIANS, SURRENDER WOULD BE A RELIEF.

(By Stewart Lyon)

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, Sept. 21.—Pressure upon the defences of Lens is unrelenting. Posts have again been pushed out into "No man's Land" in the region south east of St. Laurent. The Germans are being literally squeezed out of Lens, and prisoners declare the garrison would welcome the order to evacuate. Enemy orders are still to hold on at all costs, but there is reason to be-lieve the cost is becoming too great, since the occupation by use of the northern suburbs permits the projection of gas into the town from the north as well as from the south and west.

GERMANY'S ATTEMPT TO BUY UP AMERICAN CONGRESS REVEALED IN LETTER SENT BY BERNSTORFF

Sec. of State Lansing Makes Astounding Disclosure--German Minister Asked for Authority to Spend $50,000 in Bribing Public Men.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Sept. 21.—Secretary of State Lansing today made public an astounding addition to the series of disclosures covering German intrigues in America and elsewhere. This is a message sent by Count Von Bernstorff in January of this year to the Berlin foreign office, requesting authority to pay out $50,000 to influence Congress through an unnamed organization, apparently known to the Berlin authorities. Bernstorff indicated in his message that money had been paid this organization on former occasions to perform the same work.

ANOTHER PEACE NOTE TO BE SENT BY POPE

Paris, Sept. 21.—A Rome despatch to the Temps says that it seems to be confirmed that Pope Benedict will send another note containing peace proposals to the belligerent powers toward the end of September. The newspaper's advice adds that the note will be more specific and enter into greater details than the recent one.

LOCAL LIBERALS ARE BUSY WITH A GUMSHOE CAMPAIGN

Spreading Misleading Reports Among the Voters as to the Manner in Which the Military Act is to be Operated---Same Old Virus Used by Workers.

The stalwarts in the Liberal party in Peterborough are not saying anything for publication, but they are up to their eyes in campaign work just the same. Every worker is equipped with a pair of gumshoes to the end that he may not alarm the forces arrayed against them. They are, as usual, attempting to blindfold the public and lead the gullible astray. If the campaign in which they are now engaged was for a charitable purpose their methods would be commendable according to the highest authority. They use neither trumpet nor distinguishing garb, but are raking the bushes and the byways for recruits.

The only hope left the Liberals lies in such methods. Open fighting is not part of their plan. What they aim at is to influence the minds of the public against the Conscription law. They are for one thing, telling the men who are to be called out for the first draft that they will be rushed to the battle line at once, without any preliminary training here or in England, such as was given the volunteers, and that they will be placed in the front line of trenches to be slaughtered by the veteran fighters in the German army.

It is possible to find young men ready to believe such buncombe as this and to create a prejudice against the Government which they hold responsible for a measure so inhuman in its aims. Every fairminded person, however, knows to the contrary that the conscripted men will be just as well trained, and, so far as the military authorities are concerned, treated in every way as the volunteers have been.

CUTTING MEN'S WAGES.

Another false report that is being spread by the Opposition partisans is to the effect that every man of fighting age is now a soldier, that the Government will call him from his present occupation and, if he is not physically fit for service, send him back to work, not at his former wages, but at the soldier's rate, $1.10 a day.

There is no such arrangement possible under the Act. Any man is a soldier subject to call, it is true, but that is contingent upon his physical condition. If he passes the doctors, he is assigned to one or other of the various branches of the service. If he fails to pass he is returned to civil life, his status being the same as it was before the call was issued.

NO INDUSTRIES TO BE CLOSED.

One prominent professional man in this city, in whose bonnet the political bee has been buzzing for months, but whose aspirations have been killed by the conditions that have recently arisen, declares that when the call comes to him he will close his office, throwing his staff out of work. This is asserted with the object of spreading a belief to the effect that under conscription industries will be closed down and helpless women and children will be left to starve at home while the men are fighting in Europe.

This is another fallacy. The gentleman in question is not likely to be reached until at least the fourth call for conscripts. Neither he nor his working staff is in immediate danger. There is little risk that under conscription industries will suffer. One of the objects of the measure is to so adjust conditions that men indispensable in their present occupations shall be left and those who can be spared will be taken.

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL DO NOTHING TO OPPOSE DRAFT

Reds Defeated in Dominion Congress by a Vote of 136 to 106—Conscription is Now a Law of the Land and as Such it Must be Obeyed.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—At the evening session of the trades and labor congress last night, after two or three amendments had been voted upon and lost, the congress finally passed the following resolution by a vote of 136 for, to 16 against, adopting the report of the executive council with the amendment of the committee on officers' reports indicating the attitude of organized labor in Canada on the conscription issue:

"In 1915 the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, at the annual convention held in Vancouver, declared an unqualified opposition to conscription as a method of military enlistment. Last year at Toronto the same resolution was reaffirmed in all its emphasis. Since then the question of conscription for Canada has agitated the public mind to an unprecedented degree. Sections of the press and numerous public bodies have argued strongly in favor of the adoption in Canada, at this juncture, of that method of securing men to fill the ranks of Canadian forces for overseas service. In fact, within the past few months the issue has been before parliament, and a most drastic measure in this connection has been debated and carried through the commons and the senate That measure is now law, and as such has provisions that impose heavy penalties upon all and sundry who make use of any form of opposition to the principle that might frustrate the carrying into effect of the act now in existence.

Will Observe Law

"While the congress cannot stultify itself to the degree of either withdrawing or contradicting this year, its firm and carefully thought-out views on the question of conscription, as embodied in the resolution of 1915 and 1916, still under our present form of government we do not deem it right, patriotic or in the interests of the labor movement or the Dominion of Canada to say or do anything that might prevent the Government of Canada from obtaining the result they anticipate in the raising of reinforcements for the C.E.F., by the enforcement of the law. This congress is opposed to any developments in the enforcement of this legislation which will make for industrial conscription or the interference with the trade union movement in the taking care of the interests of the organized workers of this Dominion."

There was some argument after thos vote had been taken, but it goes on record as being the sentiment of the 1917 congress of trades and labor movement in regard to conscription. When President Watters asked all those who were opposed to conscription to rise to their feet there were only a half a dozen or so delegates who remained seated.

BRITISH MAY BE PUT ON RATIONS

IF VOLUNTARY SAVING IS NOT FOLLOWED FOOD CONTROLLER WILL ACT.

London Sept. 21.—Inauguration of a new food economy campaign in Great Britain was announced by Baron Rhondda, the Food Controller.

"If voluntary measures fail," he said, "I shall have no compunction in putting the nation on compulsory rations."

Baron Rhondda added: "I now am able to limit the profits derived by those engaged in the food industries of the United Kingdom. We examine the books and apply a system of cost and expense. I expect to hear that Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hanna have taken similar steps, so that we will be able to assure the people that the existing high prices of imported food do not represent profiteering."—Food Controller Rhondda of Great Britain.

The danger of the situation, he added does not lie in the submarine peril, but in the world's shortage of cereals, meats and fats.

Platinum deposits recently discovered in Spain are believed to be greater and richer than those of the Ural mountains, which furnish the greater pare of the world's suply.

FELL BETWEEN TWO C.P.R. CARS

CUT FOREHEAD AND IS FOUND WANDERING IN DAZED CONDITION.

At a quarter to five yesterday evening, Donald Davidson, aged ten years, was found wandering on the market square in a dazed condition from a fall received in the C.P.R. freight yards, in which he had sustained a large cut on his forehead.

Constable Blade hurried the boy in an auto from Akey's livery to his home, 222 Rubidge street, where Dr. Harvey put four stitches in the wound.

It appears that the boy had been playing in the freight yards until late for the time for securing his monthly magazines for delivery to customers. In hurrying across the tracks he fell between two freight cars, striking his forehead on the couplings thereof.

It is expected that the first call for men under the military service act will be made in the first week of October, and that 25,000 men will be obtained in a month.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1917

FLAGGING SIR WILFRID.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier remarked in the Dominion Parliament the other day that the U. S. Congress had made more progress with war legislation in six months than Canada had in three years. In preening itself over this compliment Congress would better remember that Sir Wilfrid has been out of office for the period he names, and looks, perhaps, upon the proceedings of his political foes in Parliament with a jaundiced eye. — New York Sun.

"CONSCRIPTION APPLIED."

"CONSCRIPTION applied will help win the war," remarks The Examiner. Coming from our contemporary, this must be regarded as a benediction upon the Act. "Applied" is right, but conscription will never be applied if the leader and the party The Examiner stands for are by any chance returned to power.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

THE PARLIAMENT that has just been dissolved prior to a general election, the date of which has not yet been announced, will likely hold the record for all time in Canadian history, both for what it has accomplished and by reason of the stirring times during which it sat. It has been in existence for six years, a new mark in Canada, its life having been extended for one year by unanimous consent. That life expires by lapse of time on October 7th, but last night the business of the session was completed and the members relieved of further duty.

From its earliest days it has been a war Parliament. The shadow of the present conflict was hanging over the Empire when Sir Robert Borden and his party were placed in power, and one of the heaviest of the many onerous duties they set out to discharge was to make provision against the very conditions in which Britain finds itself today. The events are of so recent date that all can recall them. If the Opposition had listened to the counsel of Sir Robert Borden, who acted after consultation with the Imperial war officials in 1912, Canada today would have been represented by three modern dreadnoughts in the North Sea Fleet, the factor in the war which has really held Germany in control and saved the Allies from a crushing defeat. The Opposition fought the Naval Aid Bill to the end, and defeated it only when a partisan Senate, at the behest of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, so amended it as to render it of no effect.

In those days the Opposition made light of the German menace. Three years of war have surely been sufficient to convince them that they were laboring under the delusion of their lives.

The session of Parliament just closed has been the most eventful in the parliamentary annals of Canada. Two of the most drastic measures, Conscription and the Franchise Act, the one creating the necessity for the other, have been made into laws. The first was supported by a number of Liberals, but it was closure alone that prevented the latter bill from being talked to death in a debate that could easily have been prolonged by a filibustering Opposition until the life of Parliament ended next month.

No Government in Canada has ever carried such heavy burdens as the Borden Administration. No Premier in Canada has ever risen so unflinchingly to the occasion, and the appreciation of the public has been expressed in the general demand for his continuing in the national leadership.

PRAYING FOR CONSCRIPTION.

"THE CANADIAN BOYS in the trenches are praying for conscription. Are you going to help us?"

That is the question asked by the colonel of a Western Ontario regiment in a letter to a friend at home. What is the answer?

It is little wonder that the Canadian boys in the trenches pray for conscription as they see their ranks were thinned day by day after every brush with the enemy and while the end of the war remains so far from sight. Is Canada to return a substantial answer to these prayers?

Conscription is now a law of the land. It will be given practical effect only in the event of Sir Robert Borden's return to power. In the improbable event of the success of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers at the coming election, the Military Service Act will be repealed or at least become a dead letter on the statute books. More time will be lost in experimenting with the voluntary system which has been tested to the limit and proved a failure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude with regard to the war is well known. He has declared himself again and again until there can be no doubt as to his intentions. When his own followers urged him to compromise and to pledge himself to conscription if another effort under the voluntary system proved unavailing he refused to go even that length. To Sir Wilfrid and his compatriots the very idea of compulsion is repugnant. The Canadian soldiers praying for conscription might as well bend their knees before deaf and lifeless molten gods as to address their petitions for aid to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

No Liberal, so long as he takes Laurier as his leader, can appeal to the Canadian voters for support on a win-the-war platform. In West Peterborough few could be found to listen to him. His only hope would be in conducting a gum-shoe campaign of misrepresentation, but he would meet with some setbacks in his efforts to deceive a sufficient number of the voters to attain his object. The very stars in their courses are set against the man who aspires to a place of trust while following the lead of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Will Canada help the soldiers in the trenches? Yes, but the aid they are praying for will never reach them by way of Quebec.

LABOR STANDS TRUE.

CANADIAN LABOR is all right. By a majority vote the delegates to the Dominion Trades Congress decided to do nothing to interfere with the operation of the Military Service Act. The socialist element that favored a general strike as a protest against the draft were overwhelmed.

That is the extent to which organized labor was at liberty to go and live up to its principles. To pass a resolution commending conscription would have given the socialists a chance to set up the claim that politics was being introduced into the organization.

INSINCERITY OF THE LIBERALS.

WHEN THE Borden Government took up the matter of compulsory military aid, the move was something of a poser to the Liberals who had been screaming for months for the Administration to do something worth while to win the war. The critics of the war management were left stranded. Liberal members of Parliament broke with their leader and openly espoused the cause of conscription. Leading party journals in Toronto and other parts of the Dominion swallowed the bitter pellet and praised the Government for what it had done.

Just how sincere these Liberal statesmen and papers were in their change of front has been demonstrated by subsequent events. When the Franchise Bill was introduced they lapsed from grace again and became the same old partisans as of yore.

The new law to regulate the vote of the country was essential in order to give effect to the very measure to which so many Liberals rendered vocal support. Making conscription a law would avail nothing if the aliens of the country were to be permitted to array themselves against the Canadians and vote it out of existence, for that is what would be the fate of the measure if those opposed to it had their way.

The soldiers in the trenches would not receive the aid that they are calling for if they depended for it upon the support of residents of Canada who were born in countries now at war with the Empire and whose relatives they are killing every day.

Only two Liberal members of Parliament who voted with the conscriptionists remained true to their colors and supported the measure designed to give the other law effect. They are likely to be read out of the party. No Liberal candidate in the face of the record of his party can face the people at the coming election and claim that he believes in conscription. The insincerity of their professions of devotion to the cause of the soldiers has been shown up beyond all manner of doubt.

AT THEIR OLD GAME.

AN ARTICLE now running through the Liberal press makes the charge that the Borden Government is playing politics with the Military Service Act. This charge is based on the fact that J. H. Rainville wrote a letter to one of his constituents in Quebec in which he stated that the regulations of the military law exempt "the farmers, their families, and industrials of good faith."

It has always been understood that one of the main objects of conscription was to catch the slackers in Quebec and elsewhere. Mr. Rainville in his letter has placed no new interpretation on the law. It has also been understood in Ontario and elsewhere that the farmers of the country and those engaged in essential industries would be least affected by the new law. The soldiers require food, and it is the farmers who produce this essential. They are in need of clothing and munitions, and the men engaged in the manufacture of these are not likely to be disturbed in their vocations.

There is a scarcity of farm labor the country over, and many of the industries are short handed. The cry is for more men for farm and factory. It is not likely that these industries are to be further crippled by the operation of conscription. That fact has been emphasized in Ontario. Why, then, the objection to repeating the same statement in Quebec or elsewhere?

Help on the Canadian farms is so scarce that volunteers from the city were required to help save this year's crop. The rural sections have few subjects for the draft. There are workers who are indispensable, and these will be left at home. The duties of the exemption boards have been clearly defined. If there is any politics in the Military Act, it has been born and nurtured in the ranks of the Opposition.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

BUT ALL the gumshoes on earth cannot save the Liberals from the coming deluge.

• • •

AT ALL EVENTS, the Quebec bridge cannot figure in the next election, as it did six years ago.

• • •

PARLIAMENT is prorogued, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier is still the leader who will lead his party to another Waterloo.

• • •

NOT SATISFIED with the penny bank agitation, a contemporary would further lumber up the school system with a new fad.

• • •

KNITTING is to be taught in the public schools of Chicago. No one here is likely to care unless the fad furnishes The Examiner with a new idea.

• • •

THE WOMEN of Canada have the promise of Sir Robert Borden that if he is returned to power they will be given the Federal franchise. They understand why they were not given it now, and are satisfied.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Just Habit.

The Uncandid Chancellor.

Several of the Austrian newspapers are calling on the German chancellor for an unequivocal statement on the question of peace. The German chancellor wouldn't know how to write an unequivocal statement if he wanted to.

Cutting Down Expenses.

If they keep on the closure with its twenty-minute speeches and edit the blue books there surely should be a great saving in public money.

For War-time Only.

(Christian Guardian.)

As the Act is simply for a war-time election, it means merely that during this period of tremendous national feeling, when the success of the war is the chief issue in the election, we deem it prudent to withhold the vote from those whose sympathies would naturally be with our enemies.

Not Boasting of His Wealth.

(Dundurn, Sask., Enterprise.)

We are glad to state that since our coming to Dundurn we have been able to be an exception to the rule in the tradition of printers, and we have a little bank account with a credit balance most of the time. September 1st that balance in our favor in the Northern Bank was 35 cents. We do not wish to boast, but merely to show our friends and patrons that we are, financially speaking, a sound institution, and assure them that when they deposit a dollar with us they may rest contented that it is in safe hands. We pay interest 52 times a year. Let us have your deposit.

Japanese Bigness.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Japan poured into Russia all sorts of munitions at a time when those munitions were most needed. Early in the war the Japanese government returned to Russia nine thousand rifles and bayonets captured during the Russo-Japanese war. The arms, together with other war material, were sent in a battleship and two cruisers which had formed part of the ill-starred Russian fleet, and which the Japanese government intimated need not be returned.

THE HAPPINESS OF THE DEAF

"I have here a wonderful invention for the deaf," explained the stranger, talking at the top of his voice. "By its use all sounds are magnified seventeen times, and the device permits you to hear the faintest whisper."

"I don't want to hear the faintest whisper," said Peckinpaw. "I've been deaf ever since I was a young man, and every few days some misguided imbeciale comes around trying to sell me traps that will enable me to hear. It seems impossible to make him understand that I wouldn't take a million dollars for my deafness. I don't see how people with first class ears ever endure life.

"That's my wife over yonder, feeding the chickens. She's ten years younger than I am, and she looks ten years older. That's because she has hair trigger ears, and can catch the faintest whisper. She doesn't have any comfort or fun in this life because she hears so well.

"In the house next door there is a young woman who has the idea that some day she's going to make Melba look like 13 cents. She thinks she has the only voice there is, and she's always leading it out for exercise. Every evening she sings for hours at a stretch.

"Let me explain that I know all this by hearsay only. In the evening, after supper, my wife and I sit down in the living room and read books. I read right along and get the sense of what I'm perusing. I am in the midst of a profound calm. But when my wife has read for ten or twelve minutes she throws down her book and springs to her feet, and tears her hair, and shrieks: "There goes that hideous woman with her foghorn voice again! Why are such things permitted when we are taxed heavily to support a vigilant police force?"

"One of these nights my wife, driven to desperation, will go out and throw bricks through the window of the house next door, and then I suppose there will be expensive litigation, and all kinds of unplesentness. If she had ears like mine she could spend her life next door to a conservatory of music and never know it was there.

"When I go to bed at night I have no trouble getting to sleep. I don't hear the clock or the cat or the policeman on his beat. I don't hear anything but my own conscience as it registers the milage. But my wife with her acute ears is forever hearing things.

"Just when she' dropping off to sleep she'll suddenly sit upright and listen to beat the band. Then she'll [illegible] a burglar in the basement. She can hear his footsteps. He is ascending the stairs to the kitchen. He must have heard that she drew $7 out of the building and loan association, and has it hidden away in the kitchen cabinet.

"I take a lamp and go and investigate. O window has been left open, and the wind, blowing in, agitates a loose piece of wall paper and makes a noise like a burglar hunting for $7.

"And that's the way it goes.

"My wife's ears are so keen she can hear what the neighbors are saying in their own houses. Thus she's always hearing unpleasant remarks about herself, and the way she keeps house, and the way she does up her hair, and it keeps her boiling mad. She can't go over and rough house the neighbors, for then she'd give away the fact that she's been listening, and she just has to let her wrath stew and simmer in her bosom until I come home, and then she takes it out on me.

"Restore my departed hearing! Jiminy, man, bring along something that will deaden hearing, and I'll buy it for my wife, and make her a happy woman!"

HOW TO ADVERTISE A CITY

All cities want to be widely and favorably known. They want to draw to themselves new inhabitants and new business.

To this end civic advertising of many kinds is done.

They forget that for really successful advertising of a city, no less than for really successful advertising of a store, it is necessary to have goods worth advertising.

A merchant, through ingeniously worded advertisements, may be able to sell inferior merchandise for a time. Only for a time. Soon or late, patronage will drift to a rival merchant with a better stock.

The first merchant will suffer because, notwithstanding his glowing advertisements, he left it possible for people to talk about him adversely. In this way he has acquired a bad reputation.

Likewise with cities.

Money spent in civic advertising is money wasted if civic conditions are such that visitors can take away with them and spread through the land unfavorable ideas about the city.

A city that is palpably a dusty city is foolish to advertise until it cleans its streets and keeps them clean. So is a city that tolerates the smoke nuisance.

Nor does it pay to advertise in the case of a city that makes no serious effort to cope with vice and crime. Let a city get the reputation of being a paradise for wrongdoers and any desirable growth is sure to be painfully slow, no matter how it advertises.

Cities whose boards of health are inefficient, permitting insanitary conditions in residences, hotels, churches, theatres, offices, stores, factories, street cars, need never expect an inflow of eager homeseekers.

The drift will be out not in.

Repulsion, rather than attraction, will again be the result if visitors find a city niggardly in providing breathing spaces in the way of playgrounds and parks. Mediocrity of the school system, inferiority with regard to library facilities, will similarly have a blighting influence on the city's prospects of growth.

Good streets, good houses, good schools, good libraries, good stores, good parks, good playgrounds, good policing, good sanitary conditions generally—these are among the wares every ambitious city must be able to offer through the advertisements which it hopes will help it expand.

Putting Yonkers Right.

Dear Sir: Your Tuesday night Herald contained an article in regard to Albert Schroter's visit to friends residing at Van Cortlandt Park avenue. I would like you to contradict the statement. A Dry Hymn of Praise

Sure we have to fight the Kaiser,
And we have to fight the blues,
But, thank heaven, since we're wiser,
We don't have to fight the booze.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

How the Kaiser Has Condemned Himself

ADOPTED THE HARD NAMES THAT ARE NOW APPLIED TO HIM.

In Plymouth church, Brooklyn, N.Y. the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, began a series of sermons on his observations at the battlefronts of Europe during July and August, with Lawrence Chamberlain and Leon Dabo. His initial discourse was on "The Crimes and Atrocities of Germany; the Logical and Inevitable Result of the German Philosophy of Militarism." The following is an extract from his sermon.

"I do not wish to say harsh things about even those who are our enemies. Therefore I call into this pulpit a German, and ask him to say the harsh things. I will call to this witness stand the head of the German Imperial Staff. I will go further, and call to this witness stand the Kaiser himself. It is his address to the first company of soldiers at the beginning of the war.

"'When you meet your foe give him no quarter and take no prisoners. Let all be at your mercy. Make yourselves more frightful than the Huns under Attila. See that for a thousand years no enemy mentions the very name of Germany without a shudder.'

"I have received many letters from German-Americans complaining of my use of the word 'Hun' in referring to the German soldier. Who named the German soldier 'Hun'? His Kaiser! Who baptized him 'barbarian'? His Kaiser! Who put the brand on the brow of the soldier and said 'Let it stay there'? The Kaiser!

"The Kaiser, this ruler, is the son of a father who died of syphilitic cancer of the throat, of a mother who died of a syphilitic cancer of the breast, and, lifting a cancerous and withered arm with bloody fingers, the Kaiser said: 'I baptize the "Hun", I christen you "barbarian,"' This Kaiser has a syphilitic intellect and a syphilitic conscience. I say nothing hard about the German soldier. I leave that to his Kaiser.

Wit and Wisdom

"I can trace my ancestry back through nine generations."

"What else can you do?"

"Oh, obsoletely!" replied Mrs. Blunderby.

Madge—Poor Helen! Has the worst been told?

Grace—I think not. We are waiting for your version.

Customer—You told me it was the best English mutton.

Butcher — Well, mum—er—New Zealand born, but of English parents.

A keen-eyed mountaineer led his overgrown son into a country school house.

"This here boy's arter larnin'," he announced. "What's yer bill o' fare?"

"That'll do," interrupted the father. "That'll do. Load him up with triggernometry. He's the only poor shot in the family."

He had the reputation of being "a very tight old gentleman," and he was called upon by the young man who had been paying attention to his daughter.

"So you want to marry my daughter, eh?" he said.

"Yes, sir, very much, indeed."

"Can you support her in the style to which she has been accustomed?"

"I can, sir," said the young man, "but I'm not mean enough to do it."

NO PARTICULAR INDUSTRY TO BE ENTIRELY EXEMPTED

But Application From Farmers to be Allowed to Remain on Land Will Receive Special Consideration.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The formation of local tribunals created under the Military Service Act will be completed next week. Regulations governing applications to the tribunals are now under consideration by the Military Service Council, and will be published wh&en the proclamation calling out the first class of men is issued.

While the terms of the regulations have not yet been definitely determined, it is understood here that there is little likelihood of the absolute exemption of any particular industry. The experience of Great Britain in regard to preferential occupations has been specially considered. In Great Britain the practice of exempting individual trades by name and as a whole was found to be unsuccessful, and led to abuse. The idea in Canada, therefore, will rather be that of particular consideration of the individual case with, of course, full regard for the nature of the occupation. An application for exemption by a farmer, for instance would naturally receive great consideration, whereas a man not engaged in any productive capacity, or essentially useful service, would not be entitled to exemption on account of his occupation.

Correspondence has been received expressing the fear that men will be drafted wholesale into the army without consideration for business conditions. Such fears, it is pointed out, are absolutely groundless. The central idea governing the creation of the tribunals is that they shall select for military service only those who can best be spared in the national interests.

In Quebec and Ontario the following deputy registrars have been appointed: Mr. Walter E. Wissmer, London, Ont; Major Henry E. Cooke, Kingston, Ont.; Mr. Antoine Cobeil K. C. Quebec; Mr. J. A. Labelle, Hull, Que. The two Provinces are thus divided into registration areas corresponding with the military districts.

Blaze in Quaker Oats Boarding House

The fire brigade were called out at 11 40 this morning to a blaze in the kitchen of the Quaker Oats' workmen's boarding house, just across the Hunter street bridge. Chief Grange reached the scene in quick time, in the chemical motor runabout, ahead of hose wagon, and found the fire had been extinguished by the company's own hose service.

The fire originated through an overheated cook stove standing on bare boards, without zinc protection causing the flooring to ignite.

The damage done amounts to about $2.00.

The inventor of a lawn sprinkler in which the hose is directed against a revolving wheel claims that it will scatter the water farther and simulate rain better than an yother such device.

PRIVATE F. D. ALLEN

Mr. and Mrsh. H. Allen, Morrow street, have received word that their son, Pte. F. D. Allen, who went overseas with the 52nd Battery, has been awarded a medal for efficient work in laying telephone wires, having outdone all competitors in a severe test of skill. Private Allen is a signaller, having graduated from the school at Kingston with first-class honors after a short course. Another son, William Allen, who went overseas as a private and was promoted on the field, was a victim of shell shock a year ago last June and was for a long time in hospital. Recently he was preparing to return to the front, when he was stricken with appendicitis and had to undergo an operation.

BISHOP OF TORONTO CONDUCTS HARVEST FESTIVAL AT ST. GEORGE'S

Touching Tribute Paid to Memory of Late Dr. Burnham Who Left Legacy to Church.

St. George's Church, South City, was crowded to the doors last night, the occasion of its harvest festival service. The building was very tastefully decorated with an abundance of fruits of the earth, and flowers, giving it an exceedingly attractive appearance.

His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto conducted the service, and preached an eloquent sermon, based on the bountiful harvest wtih which Canada has been blessed this year. In the course of his remarks he touchingly referred to the late Dr. Geo. Burnham's bequest of $500 to the church and advised that it be applied to extension purposes.

The bishop was assisted by the rector, Rev. J. Price, S. G. A. Spence of St. Alban's, Brownton; Rev. Walter Archbold of St. John's, and Mr. J. J. Turner, lay reader of St. Luke's Ashburnham.

The work of the choir, supplemented by some choristers from St. John's, was very creditable, and the service throughout of a bright and joyous character.

FIRST DUTY IS TO SEE DOCTORS

More and more must it be impressed upon the men in class one, under the military service act, that before he reports for service (which means sending in his name on a form supplied for that purpose by the post office), or applies for exemption, he must under a medical examination before a duly qualified medical board. The reason for that is, that after his medical examination is completed, the draftee is given a copy of his medical sheet, which gives the particulars of his examination, and that copy must be attached to the report for service or the application for exemption, as the case may be.

Emphasis is laid upon this point because according to Mr. Glyn Osler, of Toronto, Registrar for the Province under the act, already applications giving detailed reasons for exemption have been forwarded to him, apparently in good faith. These applications are of no use, and no application for exemption should be made until the proclamation is issued. It is not known when the proclamation will be issued, but when it comes it will be plain enough that every person will recognize it.

The important thing for the man who is soon to be called up to remember is that he must be medically examined before he applies for exemption or reports for service, and that applications for exemption are good only on the forms provided by the postoffice, and which will not likely be available for use until after the proclamation is issued.

No Need to Raise The Price of Milk

MEETING OF DEALERS IN TORONTO HELD TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION.

Toronto, Sept. 21.—On October 1st there is every probability that the price of milk will retail at 14 cents per quart. The present price of 12 cents per quart will remain in existence only for ten days, according to the Retail Milk Dealers' Association, unless Mayor Church or Food Controller Hanna takes drastic action to prevent the milk producers from increasing the wholesale price of milk from $2 a can to $2.50.

At the conclusion of a meeting of the Retail Dealers' Association yesterday afternoon announcement was made that the dealers had almost decided to accept the increase made by the producers, effective on the first of the month. The dealers stated that while they felt the increase to be an imposition, the producers were so well organized that the association was in no position to refuse to accept the new demand of 50 cents more per can.

In the meantime, the dealers have appealed to the Mayor, the Food Controller and to Judge Coatsworth to take some steps to prevent the citizens being forced to pay more for their milk. The dealers maintain that there is no necessity for the producers raising the price of milk.

Construing Will of Bobcaygeon Woman

ONE BEQUEST OF $50,000 HELD AS VISIONARY, THEREFORE VOID.

The will made by Miss Mary Helen Orr of Bobcaygeon is giving the Appellate Court much to think about. She died in June, 1916, leaving $300,000, and she concludes her will by saying: "The whole of my estate must be used for God only." Some of her money is left to churches in Boston and in Bobcaygeon, and yesterday the will was started to be disentangled, and the churches referred to to be determined.

Mr. Justice Sutherlan heard the first hearing of the will some time ago, and later he upheld some of the clauses and considered others invalid. The will was made in 1912. Ten thousand dollars was left to the Christian Scientist mother church in Boston to be used in spreading the doctrines of that sect. Messrs. I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and E. C. Cattanach represent the mother church in Boston, and argue that all her property should go to advance the cause of Christian Science.

A bequest of $50,000, which provided for a fund for assisting such institutions as "help others to see the light, that is so real and universal for all who will receive," was held void. Mr. Justice Sutherland described this clause as "vague, visionary, chimerical and impracticable."

FEARLESS PREACHING NEED OF TIMES SAYS REV. DR. PET

The great need of the hour is men in the pulpit who dare to preach pointedly the whole counsel of God.

Some men would rather read a finished essay to a few sleepers in the pews than pronounce one word wrong before an overflowing house.

A man in London who had listened to preaching in St. Paul's for 20 years thanked God that he was still a Christian.

People need plain talk. How wonderfully plain our Lord's discourses were. His illustrations taken from daily life were windows through which the truth shone. A child could understand the greatest preached that ever trod the earth since first the Almighty sent it circling round the sun.

Christ's sermons were full of likes—'like' leaven hid in meal, 'like' a grain of mustard seed, 'like' the lily, 'like' the hen.

It is not enough to tell people what things are, they want to know what they are like.

Big words are like tombs in which small men bury their little thoughts. There are prechers who get credit for depth because their style is muddy. "Feed my lambs," not my giraffes, is the Divine injunction. Don't put the fodder too high.

The preacher is a herald. His proclamation should be like that of the horseman who galloped down the hill-side at the time of the Johnstown flood, crying: "Fly, for the dam has broken!" Everybody understood that and knew what to do.

Let the preacher study the people's speech and his sermons instead of being flat as pancakes will be round as bullets.

In times past the preachers were the leaders in the great world movements: Augustine in Africa, Chrysostom in Greeces Savonarola in Italy, Luther in Germany, Zwingle in Switzerland, Calvin in France, Knox in Scotland, Wesley in England and Beecher in America. The old-time parson often preached three times on Sunday and travelled 20 to 40 miles on horseback. The sermons were no 20-minute essays they were two and a half hour affairs! The man who can't stand more than a 20-minute sermon is not alive spiritually and still has to be raised from the dead. In those days to pull out your watch or leave before the sermon was ended was publicly to brand oneself a sinner.

The cultured laity have not given up religion, but many of them have ceased to look for it in the churches. The church, like the thinking men the world over must become alive to the social sins of the day.

Let the church make it clear that a man can't put in his tim ing from his fellows and th tle it by giving part of the to the Lord. God won't recei en goods. Justice before ity. is the Divine order.

Bishop of Toronto Says They Should be Allowed to Remain Until End of War.

At the conclusion of St. George's Harvest Festival last night, the Bishop of Toronto met members of St. John's Church vestry in the Empress Hotel parlor, and discussed business pertaining to St.John's parish in general.

During the interview his lordship quoted a returned Toronto chaplain as declaring that chaplains at the front should, like the rank and file, stay and play the game until the end. unless incapicitated, no matter how insistent the call of their parish at home for their return may be. This is the opinion also freely expressed by men in the trenches, who hold that they have an equal right with chaplains to return home to their private vocations if needed, and such privilege allowed chaplains has a tendency to damage the morale of the forces.

GREAT LAUGHING SHOW IS "PRETTY BABY"

Jimmie Hodges and Jean Tynes and their big, snappy, speedy company of singers, dancers and comedians presenting Pretty Baby, which is booked at The Grand for Wednesday next, is without a doubt, the biggest laughing show seen in recent years and it is up to you to laugh. It is the very latest model, self-starting laugh show fully equipped with fun, radiator just-c-lite, giggling meter, and all just-sories with the best singing and dancing chorus in Musical Comedy. It is absolutely the very latest laughing vehicle, speeding along at a mile-a-minute clip, stopping only now and then for a catchy son, that puts you humming, whistling to the strains of the ear-teasing number. The performance is really a bubbling geyser of good, clean entertainment, a show where mother, sister and daughter may go and feel that they are not goin to be insulted by a low slap-stick comedian. It is all good, clean, wholesome fun—the kind for the entire family, without a line to offend the most fastidious.

ARE PREPARING FOR BIG DRIVE

AMERICANS WILL SOON HAVE A LARGE FORCE OF MEN IN THE FIELD.

Washington, Sept. 21. — American troops will launch a big drive against the Germans in France some time next Summer, but American troops will be on active duty in the trenches and actually in the fighting long before that date—probably before Christmas.

While War Department officials are necessarily reticent as to discussing the prospective American offensive it is known that Major-General Pershing is preparing his army for a big drive next Summer.

Meanwhile American troops will occupy small portions of the front-line trenches for training purposes and be under fire. They will engage in trench raids and take part in repulsing German assaults.

While not even an estimate as to the number of American troops in France can with propriety be given, it is permissible to say they number more than the public suspects. When Mr. Baker, Secretary of War, sent estimates to Congress today for an additional $27,116,000 for the army this fiscal year he stated that the War Department was proceeding upon the basis of an army in the field, partly in this country and partly in France, of 2,300,000 men before next July.

Mr. John Carew, M.P.P., President Lindsay Central Fair, has kindly allowed the lady taggers to go in and out of the fair and a handsome prize will be given by the Veterans to the young lady turning in the largest amount of money.

Families of three persons constitute 19 per cent. of the total number and are the most numerous in England; families of four make up 18 per cent.

Munitions Factory Explodes in Ireland

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 21.—An explosion has occurred in a munitions factory in Ireland. Nine persons were killed and a number injured.

NATION'S TRADE IS EXPANDING

WILL BE FIVE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS MORE THAN LAST YEAR.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Canadian trade in the current fiscal year is developing at such a rate as to suggest a probable aggregate of two billion five hundred million dollars. Last year it was two billions.

Figures for August and for the five months of the fiscal year have been made public by Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Customs. For the five months the total was $1,128,274,119 as compared with [illegible] in the corresponding period in 1916. The favorable trade balance in the five months totalled $180,000,000.

In August imports totalled $91,931,000, compared with $72,331,014 in August last year. For the first five months of the fiscal year the value of imports was $474,031,859 and for the same period last year $322198,881.

Revenue has increased proportionately to trade. For August it totalled $3,075,000, and for the five months $17,540,000.

Exports in August increased to $152,563,345, compared with $96,832,161 a year ago. The total exports in the five months were $672,022,649, an increase of $217,291,385. Exports of fish increased $200,000, animals and their produce $8,000,000, agricultural products $25,000,000, and manufactures $27,000,000.

The only falling off was two millions in lumber and a small amount in mineral exports.

NO PRICE SET ON ONTARIO WHEAT

THAT $2.21 A BUSHEL APPLIES ONLY TO GRAIN IN WEST

A well known local miller stated to The Review this morning that as the matter is understood by the members of the craft in Ontario that the price of $2.21 a bushel for wheat does not apply to this province but only to the wheat raised in the West and intended for export. It is likely, however, that the price will be set here. In the meantime there is nothing to prevent an Ontario miller from paying more than $2.21 for wheat but the present condition of the market does not warrant it. The price in Peterborough for the fall wheat is $2.15 and $2.10 for Ontario spring wheat.

Canada is well entitled to its reputation as one of the greatest wheat raising countries in the world. All grades can be produced here. Ontario wheat makes the best pastry flour while that grown in the West holds the palm for bread flour.

Session Ended and House Dissolved

LONGEST PARLIAMENT IN HISTORY OF CANADA HAS REACHED FINISH.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Parliament is prorogued. The formal ceremony attendant upon the conclusion of the session's business took place in the Senate Chamber shortly before 6 o'clock last night, when his Excellency the Duke of Devonshire gave Royal assent to the many important measures passed by Parliament during the past eight months.

The Governor-General arrived at the Senate Chamber at 5.30, accompanied by his staff and honorary aides-de-camp. The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards supplied the traveling escort, while the Governor-General's Foot Guards provided the guard of honor to greet him upon his arrival. Sir Robert Borden and Sir James Lougheed, leaders of the two Houses of Parliament, met his Excellency at the entrance and escorted him to the dais. The historic ceremony of summoning the Commons was performed by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, Col. E. J. Chambers and shortly thereafter the members of the elective House arrived, headed by their Speaker.

The titles of the bills passed during the session were then read by the Clerk of the Senate, and the measures were assented to by his Excellency. The supply bill was then presented by the Speaker of the Commons.

Speech From the Throne.

Finally the Governor-General delivered the speech from the Throne,

CLEVELAND'S LOYALTY

Pennant Nobly Deserved By Loyal Fans—Sad History

Cleveland fans richly deserve a pennant as a reward for their loyalty for more than a generation. The Ohio city first secured a National League franchise back in 1879. With the exception of five years—between 1884 and 1889—it has been in one or the other of the big leagues. Yet never, over that sweep of time, has a pennant flag waved over its ball park. The Ohioans sent over 30 entries into the big league races—and none ever came back a winner. Each springtime found the Clevelanders with hopes high but in the end they have been dashed to the ground. The history of baseball in Cleveland is one long chapter of disappointments. And yet, the Cleveland fans have remained faithful. There have been times when they supported in a meagre way only because the team itself was such a joke combination, yet, on the whole, the fans there have been generous to an extreme.

Twice in modern history have Cleveland teams been within striking distance of their goal—a pennant. And on both of those occasions the baseball enthusiasm in Cleveland increased to a frenzy of excitement; swept through the town and practically engulfed it. Back in 1908 Cleveland lost the pennant by half a game. Had a great catastrophe visited the city, the sorrow and anguish could not have been greater. The city was in semi-mourning for days afterward.

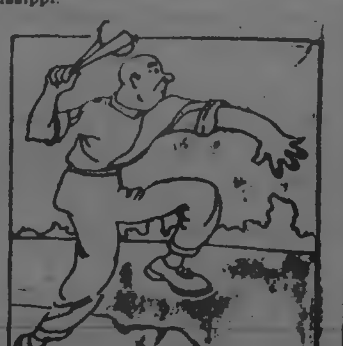
On that day in 1908 when Cleveland was scheduled to play its last two games with St. Louis in the Missouri city, practically all the offices and shops were deserted after 3 p.m. The town congregated before the newspaper score boards to watch the result. Everything else in life was forgotten save that Cleveland had two games to play and that by winning both it would win the highest honors in baseball. The details of the game were megaphoned. Wild roars of applause swept through the downtown district every time a Cleveland player performed some valiant deed. But when the final score was posted—the score that showed Cleveland lost the game and the pennant because Bill Hinchman had loafed on a drive—a moan rolled from every throat. Sorrow filled the city.

Cleveland waited five years—and then another team shot along toward the pennant goal. It was Joe Birmingham's 1913 outfit. Almost until the clubs raced into the October stretch, the Clevelandites held second position, within striking distance of the Athletics. And then they went east on the final swing along the Atlantic seaboard. The crucial games were to be played. Cleveland had unlimited faith in its team. But the Naps suffered six successive beatings in their first six games on that trip—and the pennant dreams became a third place nightmare.

TONEY'S GEOGRAPHY

Drew the Line at Heaving Rocks Across the "Pacific Ocean"

Fred Toney, the big pitcher, is a "rock thrower." When he joined the Chicago club some years ago he admitted modestly that he did not think there was a river in the world he couldn't throw a stone across. When the team reached St. Louis they led him down and showed him the Mississippi.



"Ah cayant throw across with mah hand," he said. "Ah'll have to get a sling."

He constructed a sling of two long pieces of whip cord and a square of leather, selected a huge stone and proceeded to heave it across into Illinois.

When the team reached New York the players showed him the Hudson. He gazed across it.

"Well, Fred," remarked Jimmy Sheckard, "can you throw across it?"

"Mistah," said Toney, seriously "that aint' no rivah; that is the Pacific ocean."

MR. STEVENS' MOTTO

A Man of Peace But Who Never Passes Up a Fight

William Stevens, who as secretary of the Trades Council insisted on the integrity of his minutes to the point of resigning and walking out of the hall, is secretary of the Bricklayers' Union and is recognized as one of the leaders in the labor movement in this city. He is prominent, too, in church work, being an elder in St. Andrew's church.

Mr. Stevens is a man of peace, but has never been known to run away from a fight, that has been forced upon him. His is the motto that forms part of the creed of every Scotchman. "Nemo me impune lacessit," which being somewhat freely translated means, "No man can hope to assail me with a club and get away with it."

How to Induce Sleep

The following hints may be of help to those who suffer from sleeplessness:

Anything which soothes the nerves will, as a rule, induce sleep.

It is well to have a glass of milk standing by the bed. If wakefulness comes this should be sipped very slowly.

Lack of sufficient ventilation in a room often causes sleeplessness, but the air should never be permitted to blow directly on a bed.

One of the best remedies for a nervous woman is to take a hot bath just before going to bed. The body should be immersed for fifteen minutes in water that is hot without being exhausting.

"Lady," he said "I was at the front——"

"You poor man!" she exclaimed. "One of war's victims. Wait till I get you some food and you shall tell me your story. You were in the trenches, you say?"

"Not in the trenches. I was at the front——"

"Don't try to talk with your mouth full. Take your time. What deed of heroism did you do at the front?"

"Why, I knocked, but I couldn't make nobody hear, so I came around to the back."

When you lose anything, a "Lost" Ad. in The Review will find it for you.

Francois was our waiter;
He never got things right
A fact which much discouraged him—
But my! that boy can fight.

He undid his apron-strings,
Picked up his gun and marched away
Into the thick of things.

Francois was our waiter,

And got into the right.

For when his general calls for men
For brave deeds, every day, sir,
Francois is right on the job,

Control is Alexander's great asset. The great Philadelphia National pitcher can work the corners of the plate with his remarkable curve ball, and it's a lucky batter who can "find" him.

The Cincinnati Reds are going to have a big field day at home this year. It will take place on September 30, with the New York Giants as guests and participants.

Four of the greatest players in baseball today are to be found in the Philadelphia National League club. Killifer is one of the best catchers in the game; Alexander is the leading right-hand pitcher; Whitted is a star all-round player, and Bancroft one of the best shortstops who ever planted his feet in the inner garden.

Hawaii's Annual Regatta Day.

Hawaii and Oahu and the other "Pearls of the Pacific," being islands with a great deal of very wet water in the neighborhood, it is only natural that the inhabitants should take naturally to aquatic sports and pastimes. The born Hawaiian takes to the water like a duck, and feels quite as much at home in it. Regatta day, which was celebrated yesterday (as on every third Thursday in September for nearly a quarter of a century) is the great legal holiday of the mid-Pacific isles. Men, women and children, whites, natives, Japanese and Chinese, all take a day off to witness or participate in the events of Regatta day. Nobody works on that glorious day, except newspaper men, policemen and a few other slaves. Picked crews from all the islands gather in Honolulu, and the clubhouses along the course are occupied by the social, political and financial swell mobs of the territory. To the white visitor, one of the most interesting of the events on the program is the race between the Japanese fishermen in their sampans. The yellow-skinned watermen send their clumsy barges through the water at a speed that seems incredible to any Caucasian who has ever tried to handle the big, crude sculling oar of the Japs. This contest always excites wild enthusiasm among the thousands of Japanese spectators; and the women, clad in brilliant kimonos, cheer as vociferously as the men. The inter-island canoe race between natives is another spectacular event. The Outrigger Club, of Kaikiki, composed of "Haoles," or whites, usually enters this race, and occasionally the blonde crew beats the natives at their own game. The feminine canoeists have a race of their own, and there are many Hawaiian women who can make the men hustle for the laurels. There are also sailing-canoe races and yacht races, but the big event of the day is the six-oared barge race between the Healani and Myrtle clubs. Swimming races are also included in the program, and Hawaii has many swimmers who are almost as good as the great Kahanamoku, who established the Olympic record for the 100 meters at Stockholm, and set up a new world's record for 100 yards in open water.

N.L.U. PLAYERS OF 1900

Complete List of Stars On All the Clubs

Eddie St. Pere of the National Lacrosse Union received from an old time follower of lacrosse a paper containing the line-ups of the various teams, which battled for the Eastern championship in 1900. In that year the Nationals, led by Jim Kavanagh were the winners. They had Paddy Brennan, Jimmie McKeown, Billy Wells and other Shamrock stars on their roster. Toronto, Capitals, Shamrocks and Cornwall were also in the race and it is interesting to note that of all the players who figured in the N. L. U. that summer, Fred Degan of Cornwall, Harry Westwick, of the Ottawas, and John White, Cornwall, were the only survivors who still actively engaged sixteen years later. Westwick played his first senior lacrosse when about 17 years of age. The teams of 1900 were composed as follows:

Nationals—P. Foley, Joe Valois, B. Murphy, Alphonse Valois, A. St. Aubin, C. Marcelin, Danny Brown, J. Cousineau, Pat Welsh, Billy Wells, Jimmy McKeown, Paddy Brennan, J. Kavanagh, Paddy Brophy, captain.

Torontos—Allan, McGibney, Yorke, Davies, Griffith, Tozer, Gamble, Moran, Dewar, Burns, McVey, German, Knowles, captain.

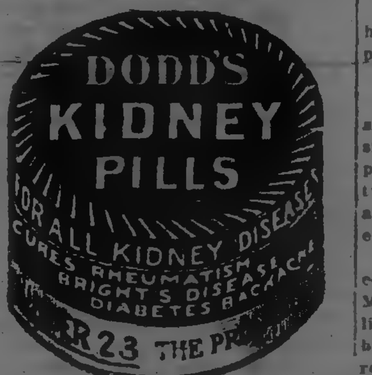
Battery Averages

A player on a tail-end team ought to hit from 10 to 20 points higher than he would if he were on a pennant batting crew," ventured a fan the other day. Well, pitchers rarely work their heads off against cellar champs. Class tells in base-ball. Usually before the fifth or sixth inning comes along the good team is so far ahead that the game is practically sewed up. Therefore, the pitcher on the top-heavy team saves his arm. He doesnt pitch his mightiest. He lobs them over, and, of course, the batsmen get more hits, thus fattening their averages.

Johnny Brennan, the Shamrock goalkeeper, is one of the pluckiest men in the game. When playing at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, one day, Brennan ran into Cy Denenny and threw his left shoulder out. He continued playing and later collided with another Ottawa home man, putting the dislocation back to its [illegible]



BASEBALL EGGSTRAORDINARY

One of the freakiest ball games ever played was staged at Portland Ore., by teams representing two men's clubs from churches. As a feature, it was worth while.

Each player was required to carry an egg in one hand and play ball with the other. Runs and hits were counted as usual, but, in addition, any player who broke his egg gave a run to the opposing team.

The final score was 4 runs to 2 runs (actual), but the total score was 15 to 11. Each first baseman broke 3 eggs in the five-inning contest; one catcher broke 3 and the other 1, and the pitchers led in number of broken eggs. The climax of the game came when the shortstop, after making a hard stop, threw his egg to first base instead of the ball, with rather disastrous results—for his own team and the baseman.

TRIFLES MAKE SLUGGERS

One Hit in Three Games Separates .250 and .350 Hitters

Do you know that the difference between a .250 and a .350 hitter is just a trifle more than one hit in every three games? Sounds astonishing—but it is true. Just about one third of a safety per game divides the Cobbs and the Speakers and the Jacksons from the hoi polloi among swatsmiths. William Chase Temple, donor of the Temple Cup, and one of the best record men on the game in its entire history, has figured it out. He has taken all the averages of both leagues to reach his conclusions.

Temple's statistics show that each player in the National League averages 3.64 times at bat per game, while the American League averages 3.6 times, making the grand average of 3.62 times at bat for ever major league player in each game. "Having reached these figures I then found that to bat .350 in 100 games, a player would have to make 120 hits," said Temple. "A .250 batter will make 91 hits in every 100 games. That shows a difference of 36 hits in every 100 games between a .250 and a .350 hitter. Therefore, it can be seen readily that the .350 hitter, making 36 more hits in each 100 games than does the .250 men, averages only about one third hits more per game than the low hitter, or 1.08 hits in every three games."

LABOR CONGRESS DECIDES IN FAVOR OF LITERACY TEST

Would Admit No Immigrants Except Those Able to Read and Write—Want $2 a Day for Soldiers.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—By an overwhelming vote after a long discussion the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress today passed a resolution favoring a Government literary test so that all immigrants shall be required to read and write in some language or tongue. Congress considered illiterate immigrants undesirable and believed that president conditions in Europe would still further increase such immigration unless checked by Canadian law.

The congress then tackled the question of soldiers pay and proceeded to discuss a resolution that the pay be increased to $2 a day with a proportionate increase in the separation allowances.

HELPING THE BOYS.

Never Dreamed of Being a Professional Musician.

Herbert L. Clarke, cornet soloist with Sousa's Band, was born and "raised" in Ontario. For a number of years lived in Toronto, teaching the young idea how to blow, and playing in concert from time to time. When the Band visited Toronto recently one of Mr. Clarke's pupils sought him out during the intermission and there was a friendly conversation. In the course of the "gabfest" the pupil referred in passing to Mr. Clarke's long period before the public. "I never dreamed of being a professional musician when I was a boy" said the cornet player. "I was fond of music, but, perhaps, a little fonder of going out with lads of my own age, particularly at nights. This was an activity that did not appeal to my parents, who had clear ideas of what was good for a growing boy. As warnings did little good, they finally put the curb on, and I was forbidden to be out of the house later than nine o'clock. I never dreamed of rebellion. It would not have been 'healthy' for me. I had to appeal to my wits to find a reasonable excuse for going out at nights, an excuse that would be accepted as thoroughly satisfying to my parents. Finally I found it. I determined to organize a band. The players were my friends, I was the leader and before long we were all interested. The Gang had something to do, something worth while; and the ban on my nocturnal activities was removed. I can say truly that the wisdom of my parents made me a musician."

There is a hint here for the Uplifters who are concerned about the Problem of Adolescence. The bad boy as generally met, is merely a good boy with nothing to do. He is idle, nothing is happening, therefore he goes out with the laudable desire to start something Too frequently he starts the wrong thing. If a group of boys get into this state the community is likely to suffer. Too much "pep" wrongly applied can cause a deal of trouble. Direct that same "pep" into musical activities and the result might be a surprise to the oldsters who frequently content themselves by a wagging of heads and a studied course of deploring. Any one can deplore. It is one of our simplest practices. The cure for the uneasy adolescent may be applied by any sympathetic leader in any community. Band or orchestra, glee club or choral society might do more good in a year than a battery of Sunday Schools could do in five.

A British naval officer is the inventor of a vertical compass that can be set level with its user's eyes and save him from the necessity for bending over to read the direction in which his ship is moving.

WHY MAGGIE WANTS HER MOUNTAIN

THERE are a good many of us who wish the war would hurry up and be over, for one reason and another. But Maggie has a reason that's unique. If somebody would just go and kill the Kaiser, she'd get her mountain.

Maggie's second name is Mountain too and her last is Goat. She lives at Banff, Alberta, together with two of her friends in a big raggedy paddock full of bushes with a stone-built house in the centre. You can generally see her up on top of it silhouetted against the sky gazing disconsolately away off to where she can see that mountain of hers, fur-trimmed and full of gloriously impossible ledges. She tries to pretend the ridge pole of her present home is one of them. But it's no go. The wretched little gophers climb up and run under her very nose and she's too mournful to care.

You see, the Parks Commission, which is the Supreme Court and the Privy Council and Santa Claus and the Board of Health to Maggie, had decreed that in 1914 the mountain goats were to be transferred to a locality more in keeping with family traditions. There is a large and indefinite number of unattached mountains around Banff inhabited only by some of Maggie's uncaught relatives, and the Commission was going to fence in one of these for its goats. The ledges would give them exercise, the big trees would enable them to run last year's disreputable coat off their backs at the season indicated by their primitive fashion magazines, and the men interested in wool problems would have better looking goat specimens to judge from when they figured as to whether it was or wasn't worth while to try breeding them for mohair plush.

And then came this confounded war! Camp Hughes, Camp Borden, Valcartier and the rest of the khaki pastures ate up a million times over the cost of wiring poor Maggie's hilly heaven, which had to be pigeon-holed until "after the war."

That's how it comes the official in charge of all the wild wards of the park at Banff will tell you apologetically that the reason the goats look like ladies in evening dress is because they can succeed in rubbing the light wool off their necks, but the heavy matted body-growth won't come away against the switchy little bushes of the paddock. So some day he'll have to catch Maggie and her two friends and pluck them like chickens. Which proceeding Maggie will resent most bitterly.

The rocky mountain sheep have the ideal range. They are trees that soar up like trumpet notes, there are meadows carpetted with wild columbines for looking at and the sweetest of sweet grass for eating. Above all there's a real, cool, compact little mountain for big horns to show off on. There are twenty-three sheep in the pasture, five of whom are scary-eyed spring lambs. If they were to die and go to the butchers' heaven, they'd bring far more than ordinary tame Mary-sorta lambs. At least they ought to, for they taste so much better.

"There are plenty of wild ones on the mountains hereabouts," our friend in the Government told us as we left the horses outside the gate and came swishing in through the long grass hoping to catch a glimpse of a big horn. "Last year I caught three in a trap I made—a hundred and twenty by eighteen feet. It works with a gate, you know. Scares 'em a bit, but doesn't hurt 'em. They're in the——"

There was a scatter of little hoof beats and the whole flock came round from behind the big barn and stood, posed for the loveliest photo with the brown tree trunks for a background. The big horn is a wonderfully picturesque beastie with a touch of the dramatic in his make up, or he could never have arranged his harem with such an oh-you-kodak effect. But the last film had been used up trying to get Maggie properly sky-lined and we could only sigh regretfully.

There's a herd of buffalo at Banff too but they're not of a hand shaking disposition. Nobody is allowed to go to call on the monarch of all the plains the C. P. R. has left, unless he goes on horseback or in a motor. Old Dad, the boss of Buffaloville, has even been known to charge an auto, when his dinner hadn't agreed with him. And when he charges, you wonder if the Imperial Limited hasn't got off into the meadow by mistake.

But the funniest animal in the park—and doubtless the most sniffed at by the native Canadians—is the yak, who is a born Tibetan, with a face that looks halfway between an Arab steed and a moo-cow, a grandly sweeping tail, and a wonderful glossy black coat which is of normal length on his shoulders and flanks, but goes into the widest and floppiest of fringes on his legs and under body. To begin with, the sixteen Tibetans were domiciled in Brandon. But however excellent the climate of Manitoba may be, as a substitute for the Himalayas it leaves a few things to be desired. So the yaks were box-carred up after a while and taken to Banff where they are doing splendidly.

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, Sept. 18.—A number of our people attended the ceremony of re-opening of St. Peter's Church at Burnley on Sunday last, and report a very large attendance.

We regret to chronicle the death of a highly respected resident of Hastings, in the person of Mr. Alfred Parsons who died on Tuesday last at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Geo. Hormel, town. Deceased was in his 51st year and had been suffering for some months from long trouble, the end being due to a hemorrhage. The funeral, which was very largely attended, was held on Thursday afternoon, the service being taken by his pastor, Rev. I. Snell, after which the remains were conveyed to Trent Valley Cemetery for interment. There remains to mourn the loss of a very affectionate father, three young sons, viz., Jack, Edwin and Arnold, who have universal sympathy in their sad bereavement. Mrs. Parsons predeceased him about 4 years ago. The floral tributes were numerous, showing to some extent, the high esteem in which he was held by all who had the pleasure of an intimacy with him. Mr. Parsons will be much missed in the Methodist Church of which he was a faithful and consistent member, ever ready to do his part for the advancement of its interests. He was also a member of the C. . Foresters, who showed their respect by attending the funeral in a body and by performing the last sad rites by the grave of a worthy departed brother.

Mr. Alex. Greenley has disposed of his livery business to Mr. R. N. Simpson, and intends moving to Toronto to reside.

It, this week, becomes our sad duty to record the death of a much respected and widely known resident of Asphodel in the person of Mrs. John Preston, who passed away at her home on Thursday last in her 66th year. Deceased lady has been in failing health for some years and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Preston is survived by her husband a grown-up family of sons and daughters who today are mourning the loss of a wise and loving mother and to whom much sympathy is extended in their sorrow. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, the cortege being a very lengthy one, all the neighbors and friends anxious to add their last token of respect to the memory of the deceased. Place of interment, Trent Valley Cemetery.

The grim reaper, "Death," has been unusually busy in our midst, taking another respected resident of Asphodel, viz., Mrs. Geo. English, relict of the late Geo. English, who died in the hospital in Toronto as the result of an attack of pneumonia. Mrs. English had gone to the city on a visit to her daughters, and was taken ill, and in spite of all that could be done, she passed away on Friday night. The remains were brought to Hastings via G.T.R. on Monday afternoon and were taken to the Presbyterian Church where a service was held, after which they were laid to rest in the Trent Valley Cemetery. A family of grown up sons and daughters remains to mourn her loss, and to them is extended universal sympathy.

n Friday morning the funeral of the late Mr. Murphy of Percy was held. Service was held in the R. C. Church here and interment made in the church cemetery.

Vaccinate Cattle To Prevent Blackleg

A great many farmers of this county have lost valuable cattle this last week from blackleg. A disease which is very prevalent at this season of the year.

If cattle contract this disease there appears to be no efficient remedy, and it cannot be cured. When cattle die the carcass of the victim should be promptly burned or burried deep and covered with lime. Burning is much to be prefered as a protection to surviving cattle. There is only one sure way to prevent this disease and that is to vaccinate the cattle, and this dreaded disease can be prevented in animals just as sure as you can prevent smallpox in people. Under no circumstances should farmers neglect their cattle.

If you wish to prevent blackleg either write or go to Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street and you will be furnished with literature and full particulars how to prevent this dreaded disease.

VALUE OF STRAW

Amount Wasted on Prairies Would Produce 22 Billion H.P. Hours

In the western prairies of Canada alone, says a writer in the Dallas News, they have 20,000,000 acres in crop and from that they have an annual yield of over 20,000,000 tons of straw. Chemically, straw is not unlike wood and is, therefore, becousined with coal. Physically it is a nuisance because of the room it takes. Like wood and coal, it may be distilled in closed retorts and the result is good, inflamable gas, 10,000 cubic feet of gas per ton of straw after it has been scrubbed and the tar and ammonia removed from it.

Its heating value is 400 British thermal units per cubic foot, so that if all the straw of western Canada could be conveniently handled and turned into gas, the 20,000,000 tons would produce, converted into power, 22,000,000,000 horsepower hours or 2,511 horsepower years. That is seven times the power obtained in Canada from Niagara.

Experience never makes fools of wise men.

THINKS BOYS ARE LAZY.

Reason for Being Pessimistic About National Game.

Joe Lally, one of the greatest lacrosse enthusiasts in Canada, recently retired from the presidency of the National Lacrosse Union. It is said that Mr. Lally fears for the future of the national game because he believes that Canadian boys are growing too lazy to play a strenuous game like lacrosse. He points out that the skill required for lacrosse can only be attained by hard practice and training, and he contends that the present generation lacks the virility that used to make their fathers play as hard as they worked. Mr. Lally has raised an important point. Is this age of ease and automobiles causing our boys to become too lazy to take part in the games that make real demands upon their manhood? It is true that there are many young Canadians too lazy to do anything in the form of athletics. Before the war, however, there were plenty of boys playing lacrosse and Rugby and rowing, three forms of sport that demand hard training. Rugby, lacrosse, and rowing have almost disappeared in the past three years. Perhaps it is because the splendid fellows who were not too lazy to go into strenuous athletics have not been too lazy to go to the war. The Canadian national game is too good a form of sport to be thrown into the discard, and perhaps, when the war is over, Joe Lally will learn with delight that the Canadian boys who cannot be accused of being lazy, are back again on the job. Lacrosse and the kindred manly games ought to flourish again.

The Buffalo's Looks.

Here is a popular Indian legend about the buffalo which accounts for his monumental ugliness of form. One finds the following, by Mr. Shelland Bradley, in an account of his experiences with buffaloes, printed in The Cornhill Magazine:

"Presumptuous man, runs the legend, eaten up with his own conceit, looked upon the lower race of brute beasts, and in the pride of his strength boasted that he could create them as easily as God, if only the secret of imparting to them the gift of life were his. Whereupon God, who hears the vain boastings of man, gave into his hands the secret of imparting life, and man set confidently to work to produce the form of a beast wherein to place it.

"For many days he labored with unwaning confidence until at last it was ready, and to crown his efforts he placed within it the breath of life. Then the buffalo arose, staggering to its feet, and after one frightened glance at its maker, lumbered heavily away, its foolish head held high, vacantly and superciliously sniffing the air.

"Then God took back the power that He had given, but the buffalo He left, to remind man of his presumption and his weakness."

WOMEN'S STOMACH TROUBLES

The Great Woman's Medicine Often Just What Is Needed.

We are so used to thinking of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy exclusively for female ills that we are apt to overlook the fact that it is one of the best remedies for disorders of the stomach.

For stomach trouble of women it is especially adapted, as it works in complete harmony with the female organism, since it contains the extracts of the best tonic roots and herbs. It tones up the digestive system, and increases the appetite and strength. Here is what one woman writes showing what this medicine does:—

Newfield, N. Y.—"I am so pleased to say I can recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as an economical and beneficial remedy in most ailments pertaining to women. At least I found it so by only taking two bottles. I had indigestion in a bad form and I am now feeling in the best of health and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BURR WILLIAMS, R. D. No. 29, Newfield, N.Y.

Many women suffer from that "all gone feeling," and "feel so faint," while doing their work. Ten chances to one their digestive system is all out of order. A tablespoonful of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after each meal should completely remedy this condition in a few days.

Housekeepers are urged to keep these two afternoons free for these important sessions, which will consist of demonstration, lecture, and discussion.

Miss Williams is highly recommended by the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture (Institutes Branch) and her demonstration will be under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Resources Committee.

The place in which the demonstrations will be held will be announced later.

If the Review is not being received regularly, kindly notify the office at once. Telephone 189.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism, like Charity, should begin at home. The man who is willing at any time to protect his country against foreign foes, should be willing AT ALL TIMES to protect his Family against such common foes as Poverty, Privation and Suffering.

It can preserve the family from want.
It can lighten their load of care.
It can build a barrier against adversity.
It can strengthen the foundation of the home.
It can certify to a man's affectionate regard for his family.
It can place his widow beyond the need of marrying for support.
It can add to a man's years by freeing him from anxiety.
It can enhance the respect and esteem of the public and of his wife and children for him.

"Will they let Famine Fight Against Us?"

To us who stay at home, good meals, eaten in comfort, are a commonplace.

But to our Sons, Husbands and Fathers "out there" food is the only thing that matters. The possible lack of food forever haunts them. For without food, how can they "carry on."

From whence shall come their bodily strength?

Realizing these things—how dare we fail to send them the foods they so sorely need?

How can we refuse to eat a little less white bread, beef and bacon so that there will be enough of these non-perishable foods for them?

Shall we let famine, also, fight against them? Or with these facts before them will the great Legion of Canadian Women live up to their Food Service Pledges?

The answer lies with each one of you.

The Judgment of Mankind will write an outcast verdict upon those who do not sign and live up to the Food Service Pledge.

Practical Housekeeping Hints

How to Care for Food

A food may contain sufficient nourishment to give it high value as a food and yet if proper care is not taken of it the food may become unfit for consumption.

Foods may be divided into three classes: Those that spoil easily; those that do not spoil so easily; those that may be kept a long time with proper care.

The foods that spoil easily are milk, cream, uncooked meat, uncooked fish, certain fruits, such as peaches and plums, and vegetables that wilt easily, such as lettuce and spinach.

Milk and Cream—Milk and cream bottles are usually dirty on the outside when delivered to you. Wash them carefully, particularly the top of the bottle, before opening, so that no dirt can possibly get into the milk or cream.

Uncooked Meat—Do not keep your meat in the paper in which it is wrapped when bought. Unwrap it as soon as you get it home and wipe it off with a clean cloth that has been wrung out in cold water. The meat will keep better and the juices will remain in it longer, if you will wrap it in wax paper until you are ready to use it.

Uncooked Fish—Never put uncooked fish into the ice box unless the fish is closely covered. You will find a tin lard pail useful for this purpose. If the fish is not covered other food in the ice-box will absorb the strong odor from it and be made unfit for use.

Fruits—All fruits should be kept in a cool, dry place, and spread out, if possible.

Vegetables—Vegetables that are to be eaten in a raw state should be washed well in clean, cold water, placed directly on the ice, or in a very cold place, to preserve their crispness. Lettuce should be carefully picked over and washed at once.

The foods that do not spoil so easily are eggs, butter, fruit such as apples, oranges and lemons, cooked meat, and cooked, salted and smoked fish.

Eggs—Care is necessary in the handling of eggs, as the spoiling is partly due to unclean handling, the shells being more or less porous. It is best to wash them as soon as you get them home. When only the yolk of an egg is used, the white may be kept in a cup or glass, covered with a damp cloth fastened with an elastic band; or, if only the white is used, the yolk can be kept in the same way.

Butter—Butter should be kept well covered and in a cool place.

Cooked Meat and Fish will keep much better if they are well covered before placed in the ice box.

The foods that can be kept a long time with proper care are flour, salt, coffee, tea, all dried groceries, spices and chocolate. All these should be kept closely covered to keep out dust and dirt. Coffee, tea and spices will lose their flavor if left uncovered.

Cheese should be kept in a cool dry place. It should be wrapped in a clean cloth moistened with vinegar. This will prevent the formation of mould

The Second Annual Rural School Fair of Belmont township was held here on Tuesday. The attendance was real large and every indication goes to show that the fair is going to be a huge success, and going to fill a big place in the community. The exhibits were of a better class than last year, and would have been better, had it not been for the fact that the children had not the time this year to devote to their exhibits, owing to their duties in helping out their parents with the farm crops. The Fair was managed by Mr. F. C. McRae of the Department of Agriculture, Norwood, and he was assisted by master Rodenck Barrie, President of the Township Fair.

MEAT AND MILK

Dual Purpose Cows, Producers From Both Ends of the Business

Meat and milk are two articles of diet which cannot well be substituted and, now the cow which is able to produce a reasonable flow of milk and to raise a reasonably suitable beef type of calf is sure to be much in demand. Notwithstanding the fact that some specialists, breeders of the dairy breeds have maintained that no cow would be bred for milk and beef, the dual-purpose animal has grown in favor. For the specialist the extreme dairy type, as it is found in our recognized dairy breeds, is the cow. We do not dispute the fact that a dairy cow bred for generations with milk and butter-fat the goal, is likely to produce more milk or more butter-fat than a dual-purpose cow, neither could anyone rightfully hold that the extreme beef animal produced after generations of breeding towards the square, blocky type, evenly and firmly covered with a mellow fleshing is the animal from which the very highest type of beef animal would come; but the average farmer is not a specialist. There are only a few men who would make successful specialists. By far the larger number of our stockmen are mixed farmers. True, many have a preference for a certain breed or class of stock, and it is well that they have, but, after all, it is a mixed-farming country. Mixed farming means live stock, and, with market conditions as they are at present, the cow which returns profits on milk produced and at the same time raises a fairly thick calf, good enough to bring top prices as finished beef, looks like a safe and sure part of the farm stock. It has been said that such cows do not breed calves like themselves. It must be remembered that it took decades upon decades to develop the best breeds of live stock we have today. So with the dual-purpose cow. It requires time, and while variations are sure to occur, the breeder must pin his faith to the old standby, "like tends to produce like," and with the requirements of the heavy milker and the beef animal firmly fixed in his mind, breed to blend the two into heavy-milking, easy-feeding type, producers from both ends of the business.—Farmers' Advocate.

THE HOUSEKEEPERS' GUIDE

HOW MUCH TO EAT AND WHEN

Infant, until 1½ years of age, from 5 to 8 ounces.

Child, from 6 to 15 years from 17 to 26 ounces.

Grown woman, 27 ounces.

The above figures are, of course, an average, and include all the foods required for sustaining life. Heavy work will require more food, while light work or comparative idleness will mean the consumption of less food. As either man or woman passes middle life, the amount of food required diminishes until less nourishment is required than for many a child of from twelve to fifteen years.

In adult life the food is required simply for the purpose of maintaining the equilibrium and replacing the waste material with new tissues, while children are busy building up entirely new structure. The full adult weight is reached in man about the age of 25 years, and in woman a little earlier. When past middle life the weight is apt to increase. There is a tendency to eat more than is required, and more than half the ills which trouble persons at that time of life are due to errors of diet and overeating.

Hunger Not Reliable Guide

Hunger is not always a reliable guide as to the need of the system for food. Take the case of some dyspeptics. They are always hungry, and often eat much more than they can digest or assimilate. It is estimated that a normal man absorbs during each 24 hours, about 7½ pounds of material, including the respiratory oxygen and water. About three-fifths of the amount of waste is water.

Sleep After Heavy Meal

Should a heavy meal be taken immediately before retiring? Many a person is in the habit of taking more or less heavy refreshments before going to sleep, and they claim they would not sleep as well without it. The weight of evidence, as far as medical testimony is concerned, however, is against them. During profound sleep the functions of all the organs of the body are retarded. The breathing is slower, as is also the beating of the heart, and the digestive action is less active. It is true that many of the lower animals eat heavily before sleeping, but it is claimed that a comparison between man and the animals in this respect is not safe or reliable. Sleep after a heavy meal is apt to be restless and disturbed by dreams and even nightmares. This is due to the fact that a large amount of blood is kept in the abdominal vessels during digestion and the amount supplied to the brain is correspondingly restricted. On the other hand, a light doze after a meal, where there is a state of great fatigue, or in the case of elderly persons, sometimes proves beneficial, but as a general rule it is held that eating heavily before sleeping is not conducive to health and a restful night.

RUMOR IS CONTRADICTED.

Residents in Hanover Stopped Canning When They Heard of Something.

Because they had heard that the Food Controller had ordered the confiscation of all canned fruit and vegetables over fifty pints jars per family, the people of Hanover, Ont., have refused to do any canning under any circumstances. One of the citizens wired Dr. A. H. Abbott, secretary of the Organization of Resources Committee, asking for confirmation or denial of the rumor. Dr. Abbott wired back that while the order-in-Council of August 24 prohibited the sale and purchase of certain canned vegetables, there had never been any suggestion of confiscation, the idea being to compel the use of fresh vegetables. The regulation does not affect the use of privately canned goods.

Principle Not Justified in Operation, Alberta Finds.

Calgary, Sept. 21.—Thtat the principle of the single tax has not justified itself in-so-far as collection of taxes in the towns of Alberta is concerned, is the text of a resolution that will be offered this afternoon before the 13th annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities, which opened its sessions here today.

MONARCH LOOKS FOR WIFE.

Marriage With Princess of an Entente Allied Country Regarded Desirable.

Athens, Sunday, Sept. 21.— The prospects of a matrimonial alliance for King Alexander are being widely discussed and have become an affair of State.

Since he ascended the throne and Greece joined the entente the view has been held that the marriage of the young King with a princess of one of the entente countries would be more in the interests of Greece than a private alliance. King Alexander has made it known, however, that he did not approve this view, his desire being to marry a young Greek woman of high character, the daughter of a court official. This desire is arousing objections for reasons of State.

NOT FREED FROM DISCIPLINE

Returned Soldiers Are Under the Authority of District Officers

Camp Borden, Sept. 21.—Slackness in matters of discipline among returned men is to be jacked up, according to an order from militia headquarters just received in camp. It serves ntoice that all members of the C.G.E. who return to Canada, whether on duty or otherwise, automatically come under the immediate control in matters of discipline, etc., of the military authorities in Canada, and are directly responsible to the general or other officers commanding the district in which they are.

War Record of C. P. R. Men.

In spite of the fact that day and night the trains and steamers of that great Imperial organization the Canadian Pacific Railway, have been occupied in the transportation of soldiers and war materials, and that the huge workshops of the company have been turning out vast supplies of munitions of war instead of engines and rolling stock, no fewer than 8,000 men in the service of the company have gone to the front. In every theatre of war they are to be found—in France, Italy, Russia, the Balkans, Mesopotamia, Africa. Of these 8,000 men (apart from 100 who are serving in the Navy) 1,300 have been killed or wounded, among the killed being Capt. the Hon. A. T. TEMPTING THE TROUT

Quick Temptation Is Too Much For Him, Says Angler

A fisherman writes: At nightfall trout frequently move from the deeper water to shallows, in order to feed, and will then take the fly more freely. A trout that has concealed himself so that he cannot see about him very well is much more apt to take the fly than a trout in open water.

The trout in the open has perhaps seen the fly, under frequent casts, slowly approaching, and has had a chance to appraise its value, or has observed to himself that it is unnatural that a natural and edible fly should continue to alight on the water and then fly up with such unvarying regularity. So by the time it reaches his striking range he is prepared to treat it with disdainful contempt.

But take this same trout concealed under a log, or a rock, or some grass, and have the fly, suddenly and without warning, fall delicately on the water within his jurisdiction—he may forget his caution and all the lessons of experience. It is hard for a trout to resist a quick temptation, one that he is not given time to reason about. For these reasons it is difficult to take trout with a fly from open spring ponds, although now and then in such a pond all the trout seem to be simultaneously attacked by a fatal credulity.

MEDICAL BOARD READY FOR BUSINESS NEXT WEEK

Men From 20 to 34, Single or Widowers to be Examined---Employers Asked to Send to Dr. Cameron List of All Their Men Subject to First Call.

A despatch from Ottawa to The Review this afternoon says that Class "A" men only will be called to the colors when the first proclamation is issued under the terms of the Military Service Act. In this class are men fit, from the medical point of view, for actual combatant service. Men in the lower medical classifications will not be required to go on active service, perhaps for some considerable time, perhaps not at all.

The Medical Board, composed of Drs. Cameron and Eastwood, and a third local physician not yet officially appointed, will be ready to begin business about the middle of next week. What they are waiting for now is the new stationery required in the work. The headquarters of the Board will be at the Armories, where all men subject to the first call will be required to present themselves for examination.

The manufacturers and other employers of the city are requested to co-operate. They can do this by taking a list of their employes who are subject to the first call. They are asked to send the number of such men in their employ to Dr. Cameron personally. Arrangements can then be made by the members of the Board to examine the men from the different factories in blocks of eight or ten at a time, so that there may be as little delay as possible and the minimum of loss to the various industries.

Dr. Cameron has already communicated this request to the employers of labor in the city, and the promises of help and co-operation which he has received indicate that this important work can be carried out with all celerity. The Board will hold both day and night sessions.

THE WORK OF THE BOARD.

There will be a force of four or five stenographers and typists required by the Board. When a man presents himself, the result of the examination must be recorded in triplicate at once.

A copy of this is given to the conscript, and two must be forwarded the same day to the Government. The Board, too, will keep on file a detailed record of all the examinations made.

IF A MAN FAILS TO PASS.

Will a man whom the members of the Board find unfit for any branch of the service be disposed of by this finding? That is a question that has been frequently asked, but no one seems able to give a satisfactory answer. The general opinion, however is that even if he is rejected he must appear before the Exemptions Board for a certificate absolving him from all further responsibility.

THE MAN WHO SEEKS EXEMPTION.

There are men who will be perfectly willing to accept the finding of the medical examiners when they are declared fit for service, and who will make no further ado about getting into the service. Others will apply to the Board higher up for exemption. Any man with that end in view can obtain at the post office, when the work begins, an exemption blank, which he is required to fill up, and to this he must paste the result of the physical examination which has been supplied by the doctors. With these documents he must appear before the Exemptions Board, in whose hands rests his fate. Every man is required to plead his own case before the Board. He cannot bring with him a lawyer to bewilder the members with legal quibbles.

THE MAN WHO TRIES TO DODGE.

The question is asked as to what penalty is imposed on the men who fails to answer the call and is subsequently detected. Every man of military age is regarded as a soldier when his class is called out. If he fails to respond he is treated in every respect as is a soldier absent without leave. Every man of military age whose class has been summoned to the colors must carry with him at all times his military papers and produce them in his own interests whenever required to do so by a military or civil officer.

The Federal Board, composed of members appointed by both parties in Parliament, will make further regulations, as Sir Robert Borden announced the other day. With them will probably be left the settlement of the question as to whether the unfit man is relieved by the finding of the doctors, or requres a certificate from the Exemptions Board.

FIRST CLASS TO BE CALLED.

It is repeated here for the benefit of those directly concerned that the first class to be called out will be single men or widowers of ages between 20 and 34 years. Any man can recognize his own status. As soon as the Medical Board here opens for business he MAY present himself for examination. He MUST present himself when the call is issued. The summons to the colors is expected about October 1.

REV. CANON CORNISH EXPECTED TO RETURN TO ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Has Been Invited by Vestry, With Approval of Bishop, to Resume Former Charge.

There is every reason to expect that Rev. Canon Cornish of Yorkton, Sask., who returned to his western home last spring after very acceptably feeling the charge of St. John's church parish for twelve months, will return to Peterboro within a short time to resume the incumbency of St. John's until the return of Rev. Canon Davidson from the front.

Bishop Sweeney of Toronto, in an interview with a number of St. John's Vestrymen, Thursday night, stated Canon Cornish had written him that after tasting the sweets of Ontario for one year in Peterborough he was anxious to be placed permanently in this province.

Acting on this advice the Wardens and Vestrymen present at once authorized the Bishop to wire Canon Cornish that his resumption of St. John's church ministerial duties until after the war would meet with the congregation's whole-hearted approval. A telegram to this effect was at once despatched to the rev. gentleman, and it is understood that an answering wire received by Bishop Sweeney encourages a confident expectation of Canon Cornish's early return to St. John's church and Peterborough.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Cornish made a host of friends while here in 1916-17 both in and without church circles, and it is safe to say that their relocation here until Canon Davidson's return home, which it is understood will not be until the great world struggle is over, unless incapacitated, will be generally welcomed.

ONLY FIVE HOURS FROM PORT OF DEPARTURE.

Many Lives Were Lost—Two Submarines Were Sunk by the Destroyers.

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 22.—The Associated Press today carries the following: Passengers who arrived from England today on an American steamship brought circumstantial reports that five British steamships and two destroyers out of a convoy fleet of six which left Lough Swilly, Ireland, September 3, were sunk by German submarines within a few hours from the port of departure. The five vessels, it was said, conveyed by destroyers, put to sea shortly after midnight and they were attacked by the massed submarines at daylight the following morning.

The news of the disaster was learned when the destroyers which escaped, put back to port bringing the survivors of the torpedoed merchantmen and war vessels.

Probably two submarines were sunk by the destroyers.

LANEGRA TORPEDOED

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 22.— The British steamer Lanegra, 8318 tons on its way from Buenos Ayres to Havre with a cargo of Argentine beef was torpedoed three times and sunk by a German sub. 45 miles off Plymouth. The survivors of the crew arrived here today. Eight were lost.

ONE WEEK MORE OF FIRST PERIOD LEFT

Contest Vote Schedule Will be Decreased 20 Per. Cent After Sept. 29---Only Six More Working Days Remain in Which to Secure the Maximum Votes---Not too Late to Enter---Join Now.

Only one week remains in which the candidates will be allowed the large number of votes prevailing under the first period schedule. After Sept. 29, all subscriptions to the Review will receive votes under the second period vote schedule. This schedule is twenty per cent less than the one now in effect.

The wise contestants will secure every subscription available before the close of the first period. It will take more subscription money to secure the same number of votes after that date.

Nominations Still Open

If you have been thinking about entering the contest, DO IT NOW. Do not delay longer. Perhaps you are the very one who will win the splendid $1235 TOURING CAR, and still you have been hesitating about entering. If you should win the grand prize you will be mighty well paid for the small amount of work you will have to do—at the rate of about $200 a week. This seems like pretty fair pay for something you can do in connection with your other work. There are nine prizes in all, any one of which will pay you handsomely for the work you do. It will pay you to get acquainted with the prize list. It is worth studying.

Vote Getting

Many inquidies come to the contest office with regard to whether or not candidates may secure subscriptions elsewhere than in Peterboro and county. CANDIDATES MAY SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS ANYWHERE IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA, GREAT BRITAIN OR THE UNITED STATES.

Candidates Working Well

The last week has been marked by earnest work on the part of a number of the active candidates who realize the importance of securing all the subscriptions they can while the first period vote schedule is in effect.

A good many votes have been received so far and many of them represent subscriptions paid at the office by the friends of some of the candidates. When payments are made at the office subscribers are asked to name the candidate for whom they wish to vote and when the favorite lady or gentleman is mentioned the votes are credited as indicated. One candidate secured 20,000 votes, from a subscriber yesterday who called and paid a past due subscription account, but most of the votes received at the office are about equally divided among the active contestants. Some subscribers have asked that their votes be issued to them in blank. These people say they will give the votes to some contestant who is working hard and has a good chance to win one of the big prizes.

One week more of the First period left. All subscritpions received after one week from tonight will receive twenty per cent less votes. HUSTLE, HUSTLE, HUSTLE.

OPERATORS MAY GO ON STRIKE

A strike is probable of the operators of the Great North Western Telegraph Company and if it is called the local office will be affected. At a conference held in Toronto yesterday between the management and the men's committee, the company rejected the award of the Board of Conciliation, made last Wednesday, and in consequence the employes, including the linemen, will probably go on strike within forty-eight hours. The stand taken by the company, which refuses to change from the position it held before the board, is regarded by the committee acting for the men as a signal that all negotiations for a pacific settlement of the dispute must cease. A. A. Cadwallader, chairman of the men's committee, has called a general meeting, to be held in Toronto on Sunday afternoon, when a strike vote will be taken. The general committee has also called meetings to be held simultaneously at various points all over the system from Campbellton to Calgary. E. J. Young, representative of the Eastern district on the general committee, left Toronto last night for a conference today at Ottawa with the Minister of Labor.

ALIENS IN WEST PLANNED COUP

ARRANGEMENT HAD BEEN MADE TO ELECT GERMANS TO PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Citizens of German origin residing in Western Canada planned a campaign to elect German members to the next Parliament at the war-time election soon to take place. This is indicated by a circular letter recently put forth by the German-Canadian Provincial Union campaign fund for attaining their end in Saskatchewan. That letter is of considerable interest in view of the provision of the War-Time Election Act passed at the session of Parliament just ended.

Germans Lose Heavily in Determined Attack to Regain Lost Positions---Airmen Rendered Infantry Effective Aid in Engagement---Ten Airplanes Are Missing

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Fighting is still raging today in the neighborhood of Tower Hamlets which has been the scene of almost continuous strife since the offensive of the British to the East of Ypres on the Belgian front began. On the left the British line was reported to be intact, but no news of the situation on the right could be had.

London, Sept. 22. — The troops of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria continued last night to launch heavy counter-attacks against the new British lines east of Ypres on the Belgian front. Field Marshal Haig, in his report today to the war office, says the Germans used considerable forces in their attacks without gaining any result except to heavily increase their losses.

What Aviators Did.

The report of the activities of British aviators during the recent battle says:

"While the attack was in progress airplanes fired from their machine guns over 28,000 rounds from heights ranging between 100 and 1,000 feet, at the German infantry in their trenches and shell holes, and at reinforcements coming up to battle. At night bombs were dropped on two towns, on Ledegham, Roulers and the Menin railway station.

"In the middle of the day German aircraft became very active, attempting to interfere with our artillery and our bombing and low flying machines. In the evening, when the weather improved, they kept well to the east of the lines, and were not inclined to fight. Ten hostile machines were destroyed and six were driven down out of control. Ten of our machines are missing."

British Line Intact.

The text of Monday's official statement says:

"At one point enemy troops succeeded in penetrating a short distance into our new positions, but were immediately and completely driven out by our local counter attack. At all other points the West Lancashire and London troops repulsed the enemy's infantry with great loss. At the end of two hours of fierce fighting our whole line was intact. The attack was delivered with great determination, and the enemy's losses were exceedingly severe."

Naval Works Bombarded.

LONDON PAPERS MAKE LIGHT OF BERLIN'S REPLY TO POPE

Allies' Peace Conditions Stand on Record and From Them They Will Never Recede —Claptrap From Central Powers.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 22. — Incomplete parts of the reply of Germany and Austria to Pope Benedict's peace plea, which arrived before press time, are given prominence by the morning newspapers. The tenor of the headlines reflects the British attitude, one paper captioning the documents as "hypocritical claptrap from Berlin and Vienna."

The Daily Mail characterizes the Austrian reply as a vague document. It adds: "The Allies' peace conditions stand on record. Germany has not as yet the slightest intention of accepting them. From them the Allies will never recede."

The Graphic declares: "Meanwhile President Wilson must surely be disillusioned between the German government and the German people. The real hope of the Allies does not lie in a divided Germany nor in Papal notes, but in relentless blows on the German armies such as Sir Douglas Haig has just delivered."

The Chronicle says that it is impossible to suspect the earnestness of the Austrian emperor's reply, adding: "Sincerity breathes through every part of this remarkable utterance. Emperor Charles has always spoken in a different temper and with a different accent from the violence and harshness of Berlin."

Kaiser's "Lively Desire"

In reply to peace proposals of Pope Benedict the German and Austro-Hungarian Governments express the hope that the Pontiff's efforts may bring about a cessation of hostilities. Emperor William "cherishes a lively desire" that the Vatican appeal may meet with success.

Germany's reply is written by a member of the Emperor's entourage, while that of Austro-Hungary is a personal missive from Emperor Charles. Both notes to the Pope were made public almost simultaneously and apparently both follow the same general trend.

Emperor Charles declares the Pope's proposals will lead to peace if the belligerent nations would enter into negotiations in the sense of the Pontiff's suggestions, in which he sees a suitable basis for initiating exchanges toward a just and lasting peace. He expresses the hope that the opposing belligerents may be animated by the same ideas.

The future arrangement of the world, the Emperor says, must be based on the elimination of armed forces, the freedom of the seas, and the rule of international justice and legality.

Emepror William has been following the efforts of Pope Benedict toward peace with "high respect and sincere gratitude." The German reply designates the Pope's note as an "emphatic peace appeal."

MEDICAL BOARD READY FOR BUSINESS NEXT WEEK

Men From 20 to 34, Single or Widowers to be Examined---Employers Asked to Send to Dr. Cameron List of All Their Men Subject to First Call.

A despatch from Ottawa to The Review this afternoon says that Class "A" men only will be called to the colors when the first proclamation is issued under the terms of the Military Service Act. In this class are men fit, from the medical point of view, for actual combatant service. Men in the lower medical classifications will not be required to go on active service, perhaps for some considerable time, perhaps not at all.

The Medical Board, composed of Drs. Cameron and Eastwood, and a third local physician not yet officially appointed, will be ready to begin business about the middle of next week. What they are waiting for now is the new stationery required in the work. The headquarters of the Board will be at the Armories, where all men subject to the first call will be required to present themselves for examination.

The manufacturers and other employers of the city are requested to co-operate. They can do this by taking a list of their employes who are subject to the first call. They are asked to send the number of such men in their employ to Dr. Cameron personally. Arrangements can then be made by the members of the Board to examine the men from the different factories in blocks of eight or ten at a time, so that there may be as little delay as possible and the minimum of loss to the various industries.

Dr. Cameron has already communicated this request to the employers of labor in the city, and the promises of help and co-operation which he has received indicate that this important work can be carried out with all celerity. The Board will hold both day and night sessions.

THE WORK OF THE BOARD.

There will be a force of four or five stenographers and typists required by the Board. When a man presents himself, the result of the examination must be recorded in triplicate at once.

A copy of this is given to the conscript, and two must be forwarded the same day to the Government. The Board, too, will keep on file a detailed record of all the examinations made.

IF A MAN FAILS TO PASS.

Will a man whom the members of the Board find unfit for any branch of the service be disposed of by this finding? That is a question that has been frequently asked, but no one seems able to give a satisfactory answer. The general opinion, however is that even if he is rejected he must appear before the Exemptions Board for a certificate absolving him from all further responsibility.

THE MAN WHO SEEKS EXEMPTION.

There are men who will be perfectly willing to accept the finding of the medical examiners when they are declared fit for service, and who will make no further ado about getting into the service. Others will apply to the Board higher up for exemption. Any man with that end in view can obtain at the post office, when the work begins, an exemption blank, which he is required to fill up, and to this he must paste the result of the physical examination which has been supplied by the doctors. With these documents he must appear before the Exemptions Board, in whose hands rests his fate. Every man is required to plead his own case before the Board. He cannot bring with him a lawyer to bewilder the members with legal quibbles.

THE MAN WHO TRIES TO DODGE.

The question is asked as to what penalty is imposed on the men who fails to answer the call and is subsequently detected. Every man of military age is regarded as a soldier when his class is called out. If he fails to respond he is treated in every respect as is a soldier absent without leave. Every man of military age whose class has been summoned to the colors must carry with him at all times his military papers and produce them in his own interests whenever required to do so by a military or civil officer.

The Federal Board, composed of members appointed by both parties in Parliament, will make further regulations, as Sir Robert Borden announced the other day. With them will probably be left the settlement of the question as to whether the unfit man is relieved by the finding of the doctors, or requres a certificate from the Exemptions Board.

FIRST CLASS TO BE CALLED.

It is repeated here for the benefit of those directly concerned that the first class to be called out will be single men or widowers of ages between 20 and 34 years. Any man can recognize his own status. As soon as the Medical Board here opens for business he MAY present himself for examination. He MUST present himself when the call is issued. The summons to the colors is expected about October 1.

Kaiser's "Lively Desire"

In reply to peace proposals of Pope Benedict the German and Austro-Hungarian Governments express the hope that the Pontiff's efforts may bring about a cessation of hostilities. Emperor William "cherishes a lively desire" that the Vatican appeal may meet with success.

Germany's reply is written by a member of the Emperor's entourage, while that of Austro-Hungary is a personal missive from Emperor Charles. Both notes to the Pope were made public almost simultaneously and apparently both follow the same general trend.

Emperor Charles declares the Pope's proposals will lead to peace if the belligerent nations would enter into negotiations in the sense of the Pontiff's suggestions, in which he sees a suitable basis for initiating exchanges toward a just and lasting peace. He expresses the hope that the opposing belligerents may be animated by the same ideas.

The future arrangement of the world, the Emperor says, must be based on the elimination of armed forces, the freedom of the seas, and the rule of international justice and legality.

Emeprор William has been following the efforts of Pope Benedict toward peace with "high respect and sincere gratitude." The German reply designates the Pope's note as an "emphatic peace appeal."

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1917

APPROVES THE ACT.

The Ottawa Citizen, which is an earnest advocate of female franchise, and a paper none too friendly to the Government, praises Sir Robert's action in the following terms:

> "It is to the credit of Sir Robert Borden that he has done more for the cause of equal suffrage in Canada than any other Federal statesman. He has taken the first definite step by enfranchising women relatives of the soldiers on active service. He has also extended the franchise to the women on active service on the same terms as the franchise to men soldiers.
>
> "The cause of an emancipated womankind is part of the great cause of democracy for which the Allies, including the citizen soldiers of Canada, are giving their lives. Clear-seeing women can afford to allow Sir Robert Borden a reasonable time to cary out the equal suffrage pledge he has given and not try to force the Government to enfranchise every Canadian woman in one step by the War-Time Elections Act."

A HALL FOR THE VETERANS.

IF THE PEOPLE of Peterborough wish to do something substantial by way of recognising the service that has been rendered by the men who enlisted in the early days of the war and who have returned home as invalids, they should co-operate in the move that has been proposed to raise funds for the erection of a hall in which the members of the Veterans' Association can find a home. The Association is constantly growing. Every fresh arrival from the fighting lines means a new member, for it seems that every man with an honorable discharge is taken in. They have no adequate quarters in which to hold their meetings. If the residents of this city will help in the construction of such a building, it can be used for various public purposes, and will supply a want that is constantly felt in Peterborough.

The men who have been baptized by German fire are certainly entitled to the consideration of those who have shared in the benefits of the sacrifices the men in khaki have made. When the war is over the Veterans' Association will be one of the factors in the community, a factor the influence of which will be far-reaching, just as the veterans' associations have been in the United States since the close of the Civil War. In all large American cities the halls in which these associations hold their meetings, and which as club rooms are the only real homes some of the members know, are among the show places. Canadian boys who have gone into the trenches in France have suffered more hardships and faced greater dangers than the men who fought either on the side of the North or the South in the American war of half a century ago. Canada should be willing to do as much for its heroes in token of their services as the people of the United States have done for the men who saved the American nation from disruption.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE.

THE SPRINGFEILD Republican takes upon itself the duty of criticizing the new Franchise Act in this country, and, among other things, it says: "It is not the way in a democracy to deny the vote to a man with whom you disagree."

The kettle may be singed and blackened by contact with the fire, but the pot has suffered to an even greater degree. The United States, a democracy, disenfranchised thousands of colored voters in the South for no other reason than that they had developed a habit of voting contrary to the wishes of the whites. There was not even a war in progress, except a war between the races, to justify this action.

THE MINISTERS OVERSEAS.

IN ALMOST every city in Canada there is a church the pastor of which is overseas or in a training camp in Canada as a military chaplain. These men were in nearly every case given leave of absence by their congregations until the close of the war, their places to be supplied in the meantime.

The war has lasted longer than was dreamed of when it broke out. The orphaned churches at home are suffering as a result of the absence of the regular pastors, at least that seems to be the idea entertained by a percentage of the various congregations, and pastors overseas are being urged to return to Canada or resign their charges.

The case of Dr. Beattie, pastor of a Presbyterian church in Cobourg, is cited as an example. Dr. Beattie, who has been one of the most militant pastors in the service, shunning none of the dangers that are faced by the men whose spiritual adviser he is, but going with them to the front trenches, was granted leave of absence by his people when he enlisted. One year ago he offered to resign, fearing that his church would suffer through his absence. His congregation refused to accept his resignation and the Presbytery upheld their action. Dr. Beattie, however, insisted, and his connection with his charge in Cobourg has been severed. The only reason he gave was that it was unfair to the congregation to keep the pulpit practically vacant indefinitely.

When the Bishop of Toronto was in this city the other day, he referred to such cases in a manner which must appeal to every congregation situated as was the one in Cobourg. The chaplain is really a soldier. To insist upon his return is all fours with asking that the same course be taken with a private or an officer. He should be allowed to serve out his term. If he is relieved of his military duties, the morale of the service is apt to suffer, as there are men who may feel that they are entitled to the same privilege, men who have been on duty in France from the first.

If a pastor has been granted leave of absence until the war is over, it would appear that the compact should be kept, whether the war lasts one or five years. A bargain is a bargain, no matter who are the parties to it. If, however, any absent minister takes the same view of the situation as did Dr. Beattie, that is an entirely different matter.

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX.

REPRESENTATIONS are being made by the Liberal press that the Business Profits Tax is not to be continued. This is absolutely incorrect, as is shown by the following statement made by Hon. Sir Thomas White, as it appears in Hansard:

> "The Business Profits Tax, by its terms, comes to an end on December 31 of this year. When that measure was introduced, it was thought the war would be at an end by that time. I stated expressly the other day that we should tax abnormal business profits resulting from the war, and in the next budget that I bring down we shall deal with that matter."
>
> Mr. Pardee—"Will there be a renewal?"
>
> Sir Thomas White—"I have stated that next year taxation will be imposed on excess business profits. I stated also the other day that it might be necessary to make some allowance for necessary plant extensions, but I laid down the principle as strongly as I could that abnormal business profits due to the war must be abnormally taxed."

Wit and Wisdom

On the Way to School

"Dad" said the little maid of 12 summers, "every morning when I am going to school the boys catch hold of me and kiss me."

Ethel fidgeted and cast her eyes down on the carpet.

How Dad Compromised

"When you and your wife have a difference of opinion," said the father, who was giving advice to his newly married son, "and you are right, and you are unable to persuade her that you are right, you must compromise. To illustrate my point I will give you a little experience of my own. One summer your mother wished to spend the season in Main, while I was anxious to go to the Adirondacks."

"And how did you compromise, father?"

"Well, we stayed from Friday to Monday in the Adirondacks, and spent the rest of the summer on the Maine coast."

IF WASTE WERE ELIMINATED

It is impressive to learn that enough good food is wasted in Canada every day to feed every Canadian soldier who has gone overseas to fight for us.

Through carelessness and inefficiency there is wasted in garbage every year throughout Canada, food to the value of $56,000,000 or about $7.00 per capita of the home population, according to the recent estimates of the Canadian Food Controller. To this huge sum must be added a large, though indeterminate, number of millions lost through poor storage, delay in transportation, and unhygenic surroundings. What the grand total would be there are no present means of discovering. The important points are that this waste is needless and preventable.

What Waste Means

Wasting $7.00 worth of food per year mans a daily waste of only 1.92 cents per head. Without doubt, larger crops, better distribution, closer buying on the part of the housekeeper, more careful preparation and more thorough utilization of our foodstuffs, would not only correct this waste, but would appreciably reduce the actual cost of living very considerably. Let it be assumed that, by complete national organization and rigid economy, the cost of living could be reduced by 5 cents per day for each individual. Roughly, then, counting in the elimination of garbage waste, we would have a saving of 7 cents per day, or $25.55 per capita annually. The national grand total saving would then amount to the astounding sum of $204,400,000; enough to feed an army of one million men for a year. These figures are appalling, but they are not beyond the range of achievement.

Estimated annual cost of feeding Canada's Overseas Soldiers: $50,000,000.

Estimated annual preventable waste in Canadian garbage, $56,000,000.

Estimated annual saving possible by preventing garbage waste and further reducing cost of living by 5 cents per head (total 7 cents per head), $204,400,00.

One Slice of Bread

But there are other equally cogent illustrations of what economy in little things can accomplish. Suppose for example, that one million families in Canada waste one slice of white bread per week. For convenience we shall consider that the one pound loaf divides into 14 slices of 1.14 oz. each. The sum is simple

1 slice of bread (1/14 of loaf) weighs 1.14 oz. If 1,000,000 families waste one slice per week, the weekly total waste of bread is 1,140,000 oz., or 71,250 one pound loaves, or enough for 3 1-3 divisions for one day, or one division (21,500 men) for three and one third days, or 10 meals to each man.

The annual national waste rising from the same source is impressive Annual total result of 1,000,000 families wasting 1 slice of bread per week . . . . 3,705,000 one pound loaves; or 2,593,500 lbs. flour; or 3,572,000 lbs. wheat; or 59,244 bus wheat.

The tremendous importance of waste prevention and of food economy is clear. It is appropriate to touch briefly on a subject that, in these times of war, is equally vital—the possibilities of substituting other staples for wheat flour.

If, once a week, one million Canadian families use a one pound loaf of corn, or rye, bread instead of a similar loaf of white, the weekly and yearly saving would be:

Substituting one pound loaf of corn or rye bread per week would save . . . 1,000,000 lbs. of white bread or 700,000 lbs. of flour; or 3,571 bbls. of flour; or 16,070 bus. of kheat.

The yearly saving on the same scale would amount to 52,000,000 lbs. bread or, 36,400,000 lbs. flour, or 185,712 bbls. flour, or 835,708 bus. of wheat.

What applies to the saving of wheat flour, is also in greater or less degree, applicable to the saving of beef and bacon, the two other commodities that Canada must strive above all things to ship overseas. It is not to be doubted that habits of economy induced by watching carefully the consumption of flour, beef and bacon, will automatically bring about savings in all other foodstuffs. Thus the suggested saving of 7 cents per head seems not only attainable, but may lead to even greater economies.

The afternoon was spent in boating, &c. And when the sun was gently sinking behind the western clouds, casting its shadowy forms over the face of mother earth, warning the happy circle that the day was done, supper was announced and partaken of. Then, as the moon shone forth in all its splendor, homeward bound was next. Space forbids us to dwell further upon this delightful day, but suffice to say that it will long be remembered by all who attended its pleasures.

Baby's Own Tablets Always in the Home

Advises The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES", The Famous Fruit Medicine.

MR. ROSENBURG
589 Casgrain St., Montreal.
April 20th, 1915.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as "Fruit-a-tives". I was a sufferer from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives", and now for six months I have been entirely well.

I advise any one who suffers from that horrible trouble—Chronic Constipation with the resultant indigestion, to try "Fruit-a-tives", and you will be agreeably surprised at the great benefit you will receive". A. ROSENBURG.

WANT NEW ROAD IN OTONABEE

A communication was received from E. W. Mr Beatty stated that the railway officials objected strongly to the proposed crossing, as the view from the highway is obstructed by a dense bush on both sides of the track and a hill 50 feet high on the north side.

Mr. Easen was authorized to procure three more copies of the plan as the council will have to present three copies to the railway board of commissioners when applying for a crossing.

Curing Skin Troubles

So many people, both men and women, suffer from skin troubles, such as eczema, blotches, pimples, and irritation, that a word of advice is necessary. It is a great mistake for such sufferers and those with bad complexions to smear themselves with greasy ointments. Often they could not do anything worse, for the grease clogs the pores of the troubled skin and their condition actually becomes worse.

When there are pimples or eruptions, or an irritating or itching rash a soothing boracic solution may help to allay the irritation, but of course that does not cure the trouble. Skin complaints come from an impure conditon of the blood and will persist until the blood is thoroughly purified. It is well known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have effected the best results in many forms of skin disorders and blemishes. This is due to the fact that these pills make new, rich blood, and that this new blood attacks the impurities that give rise to skin troubles and disperses them; so that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure skin disorders from within the system—the only sure way.

It should be added that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a beneficial effect upon the general health. They increase the appetite and energy and cure diseases that arise from impure blood.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Oat.

LARGE ADDITION TO LONDON PLANT OF CORN FLAKES

Building to Cost $50,000 Will be Erected at Present Site

MORE MEN EMPLOYED

Contracts Are Let and Permits Secured to Start Work Now.

Announcement is made through the City Industrial Department of an addition which will probably exceed in cost the sum of $50,000 to the well-known plant of the Battle Creek Toasted Corn Flakes Company, Limited, on Dundas street east, makers of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes. This amount will include buildings, storage tanks and machinery. The additional buildings will be of brick and concrete, a three-storey building of 50 x 60 feet, and a one-storey building of larger dimensions. This addition to the plant will, when completed, require the employment of a number of additional men. Six large fire-proof storage tanks will be erected. The contract for the buildings and grain tanks has been let to the Archibald & Holmes Company of Winnipeg, the contractors who are building the new Hunt mill.

The increased demand for the original Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes in the red, white and green package so wel known, and which has been made here in London for over eleven years, necessitattes this considerable addition.

SPECIALS SCHOOLS DISCONTINUED.

Camp Borden, Ont., Sept. 22. — As part of a radical change in the system of carrying on training of members of the C.E.F in Canada after today, the bombing school will have ceased to exist. Instruction in trench fighting and in anti-gas methods is also being cut out.

LABOR MEN WOULD PAY $100 A MONTH FOR DISABILITY

Delegates to Dominion Congress Believe Pensions for Soldiers Should Take no Note of Rank—Recommend That Patriotic Fund be Abolished.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—At the Dominion Trades Congress, when the conscription problem had been disposed of, the next question taken under consideration was the report of the committee on soldiers' pensions. In part, this report reads as follows:

"As the organized workers, through their united efforts, have had the opportunity of taking action to increase their wages to meet the ever-increasing cost of living, which the soldier, because of military discipline, has been denied, we, therefore, consider that a private's pay be increased to two dollars a day, with a proportionate increase for the non-commissioned officers, thus counterbalancing the decreased purchasing power of the dollar."

The report continues that "we, therefore, recommend that the separation allowance be increased not less than 60 per cent. And as the pensions committee has recognized the right of the common law wife, we recommend that like provisions be made in separation allowances."

Allege Discrimination.

The maladministration of the Patriotic Fund is made the subject of a special section in the committe's report. The maladmanistration referred to is that when the funds were distributed, discrimination was shown; that the distribution of the funds was often tainted with charity and savored of the same; that the systems of collection were not satisfactory; that employes were discriminated against for refusing to contribute to the fund; that those in charge of the fund were not in a position to judge the requirements of a soldier's family and the necessities that they required.

The committee's report is of the opinion that while at the beginning of the war the fund was sufficiently adequate, yet now there were too many calls upon the fund, and the contributions were mainly noticeable by their absence. The committee strongly urged the entire and immediate abolition of the patriotic fund, stating that the increase or proposed increase in separation allowance should be made sufficient to cover the deficit caused by the stoppage of the fund's moneys to the soldiers' dependents. It further recommended that the balance remaining to the credit of the Patriotic Fund should be taken over by the Government.

The report further states that the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council urged that the workers discontinue contributing to the fund after the first of December. Delegates Harding and Buxton voted for this move, but the rest of the committee were against it.

Want Higher Rates

The present scale of pensions does not meet with the approval of the committee as far as rank distinction is concerned. The rates recommended are as follows:

Total disability (irrespective of rank) $100 per month. The present rate is: Rank and file, $480 per annum; brig-generals, $2.700 per annum.

The 20 per cent. total disability clause in the pension board rules, which provides for an amount not exceeding $100 as gratuity, does not meet with the aproval of the committee, on the ground that the amount is considered too little. Contionuous pensions are advocated.

The committee report further states that amounts being paid to men totally disabled and not able to work are inadequate.

In the case of the pensions board ruling that no pensions would be paid when death was due to a man's own negligence, the following amendment was proposed: "That no pensions be paid when death or disability is due to his intemperance or to improper conduct.

Help to Save Canada's Fruit Crop

A Practical Thrift Suggestion

This year, as never before, every quart of Canada's fruit crop should be used to the very best advantage. Though it all ripens within four months, it can be made to supply every table, every day in the year, at moderate cost.

Canning and preserving, done at home at the time when each fruit is cheapest, provide in delicious and economical form the daily fruit so necessary in a wholesome diet. Fruit put up at home is much cheaper than that which you buy, and the slight increase in its cost, due to the higher price of sugar, is small compared with the mounting cost of other foods.

Successful preserving and canning are by no means difficult, either, if you are careful to boil everything, and use

Redpath SUGAR

In Canadian homes, for the last Sixty Years, REDPATH Sugar has been the standby for preserving. It is always absolutely pure, and can be depended upon to do everything that sugar can do to ensure success.

Buy it, according to the quantity you need, in 2 or 5 lb. Cartons, or in 10, 20, 50 or 100 lb. Bags.

Mr. Jos. Wearing for the plaintiff strongly objected to the case being delayed.

His Worship, however, granted an adjournment until 10 a.m. Monday

CAFETERIAS FOR SOLDIERS.

Planned by Woman Dietitian For Hospital Commission.

According to Miss Violet M. Ryley, general organizing dietitian for the Military Hospitals commission, cafeteria service will be inaugurated at an early date in all the military convalescent hospitals in Canada, where patients are able to be about. Good waiters are at a premium now. The returned soldiers who are no longer confined to their beds find it more satisfactory to get their own food, which is served directly from the steam table or the ice. In this way every one is served at once and the food is in the best condition. With bed cases, of course, and where it is impossible for a man to carry a tray, service is necessary. In the places where th innovation has already been introduced ,the man like the new service, and it saves both time and labor for the kitchen staffs in the hospitals. The fact that almost every man has bad more or less experience with such service in downtown cafeterias will obviate any difficulty in establishing the new system.

FOOD CONTROL SUCCESS.

Publisher Says People Has Confidence in Hoover.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—Mr. Oswald Garrison Villard, president and editor of the New York Evening Post is touring in Canada, accompanied by Capt. W. J. M. A. Maloney, a veteran of the Gallipoli campaign. When asked if the food control in the States was a success, Mr. Villard replied: "It is acting extremely well. The people have every confidence in Mr. Hoover. Of course, the vastness of the ground covered makes it a long and tedious process, but the Food Controller is doing his work well."

"Has conscription affected the volunteering of the men in the States?"

"They are still volunteering in spite of conscription," was the answer. "We have raised over 1,000,000 volunteers."

ON A FISHING TRIP.

Visiting Telephone Men Enjoy an Outing.

The telephone men who met in conference at the Empress Hotel yesterday are enjoying a holiday today. Manager G. O. Cameron, of the local branch, headed the party to his favorite fishing grounds up the lakes. If there are no catches, there will at least be no end of stories as to the members of the "finny tribe" that got away.

After taking 1000 ZUTOO TABLETS Says they are Harmless

Mrs. (Dr.) Shurtleff, of Coaticook, says "Zutoo Tablets must have cured 500 of my headaches, for I have taken 1000 tablets. After trying every remedy within reach, I discarded them all four years ago for ZUTOO, which I have taken ever since.

For our nation we would plead,
Guard our soldiers, God of Armies,
In their need.

Spare our sailors in their perils

Safely guard them, Holy Pilot,

CITY FOREMAN FULLY CONVINCED

Suffered Twenty-Five Years and Spent Hundreds Without Relief.

"My first bottle of Tanlac convinced me that I had found the right medicine at last, for although I had suffered for twenty-five years, and had spent hundreds of dollars in a vain search for health, a few bottles of this wonderful preparation have entirely relieved me of all my troubles," was the remarkable statement made by Thomas Simms, city foreman of concrete construction work and residing at 96 Edinburgh avenue, Hamilton, the other day.

"Ever since my stomach got in such a terrible condition," continued Mr. Simms, "I have been spending money and trying everything I could hear of to get my health back. I even tried specialists abroad without getting any benefit and I had almost given up hope of ever getting well. My appetite failed entirely and I just had to force doyn everything I ate. My wife had a hard time trying to fix up something that I could eat with safety, for strong foods, such as meats and potatoes, would make me miserable for hours. After eating anything I would swell up so with gas that I would almost choke, my heart would flutter and act so strangely that I was greatly alarmed. I was constantly belching up sour, undigested food and many a time cramps in my stomach would draw me double. I actually had to give up two different jobs on account of my shape.

"When I read in the papers where Tanlac relieved Mr. McKeenan after he had suffered for twenty years, I felt encouraged to get me a bottle It wasn't long before I felt my appetite, returning and I was enjoying my meals for the first time in many years.

I have taken four bottles in all and I can now eat anything I want, meats, potatoes and other things I couldn't have dared to touch a few weeks ago and I never have any trouble with gas or anything else. Those swellings never bother me, my heart is acting all right, my indigestion seems to be entirely gone and I am feeling better in every way than I have in many a year. I have taken Tanlac laxative tablets, too, and they act more like nature than anything else I have ever tried."

MILK PRODUCERS DEFY THE POWERS

THEY HAVE NO FEAR OF BEING INDICTED BY ANY COURT.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—That the milk producers have no intention of accepting anything less than the stipulated 2.50 for an eight-gallon can of milk, and that under no consideration will they accept the $2 offered by the Toronto retail milk dealers, was the statement made by Mr. E. H. Stonehouse, of Weston, president of the Milk Producers' Association, in an interview.

Mr. Stonehouse said that the milk producers welcomed a full inquiry on the part of the Food Controller or anyone else. 'We have no fear of being indicted by any court," he said.

GOV'T MAY ENTER FISH BUSINESS

WILL DO SO RATHER THAN LET THE TRUST HOLD UP CONSUMER.

Toronto, Sept. 22.— The Ontario Government is determined to fight the fish trust in this Province, even though the Food Controller and the Borden Government are faint-hearted. Toronto retail fish dealers claim they will be unable to sell the fresh water fish which the Ontario Government is importing from Lake Nipigon at 12½ cents a pound, which allows them two cents profit, although this is Hon. Findlay Macdiarmid's offer to them.

But the Provincial authorities intend to force their scheme through and will go into the retail fish business rather than tolerate exorbitant prices.

WHAT AMERICAN PAPERS HAVE TO SAY ON CANADIAN SITUATION

(Los Angeles Times.)

"But how came the French-Canadians to be so obviously designated among the slackers? It upsets all our ideas of French gallantry and patriotism. True, many of the French-Canadians are several generations removed from France, but they have kept quite unusually exclusive; have remained a distinct race in the colony. Their language, their customs, their religions are all French. Does it take the historic soil of France to breed a Frenchman? —the sort of Frenchman to whom La Patrie, his motherland, is the preeminent ideal. There is irony in the fact that, while the world is upholding France and the French as the arch-heroes of the war, the French in Canada are the only subjects in the British Empire who claim the right to stand aside.

"The United States, which has always held itself aloof from European disputes, has submitted to conscription in the cause of a great principle, largely engendered by France's heroic stand and our old friendship for that country, with next to no opposition.

"It will always be one of the ironical incidents of history that conscription was carried in Canada in spite of the French-Canadians, not because of them."

* * *

(Boston Transcript.)

"This dastardly attempt is clearly a result of the propaganda against conscription, and against loyalty to the Dominion Government, which has been going on for some time in the Province of Quebec and elsewhere in French circles in Canada. The propaganda has tended to make French Canada believe that it might or might not, exactly as it pleased, support the Government at Ottawa and obey or disobey the legislation enacted by the Parliament of the Dominion. That is a logical deduction from the recent declaration and warning of Cardinal Begin, Archbishop of Quebec, that the legislators at Ottawa, 'little enlightened and somewhat ill-willed, would not make a choice (in the matter of conscription) that we would approve." In other words, it has not been a matter of what the Parliament of the Dominion decreed, but of what Cardinal Begin and others would approve. Is it any wonder that French-Canadians plot destruction under such suggestions?"

* * *

(Springfield Republican.)

"The downfall of Great Britain, as the result of the revolutionary effect of the German submarine upon the struggle for sea power, would so profoundly influence the destiny of all the Americans that no special insight is required by any one to measure the consequences. The possibilities therein suggested must have been presented to every inquiring mind both in Canada and in the United States.

"In watching the development of Canadian opinion, many Americans have been puzzled, to speak frankly, at the attitude and the course of the French-speaking population of the Province of Quebec, amazed at their indifferent reaction to the desperate struggle of France, their comparatively feeble response to the call for volunteers for the overseas contingents, and finally their bitter opposition to selective conscription. This again is Canada's business, not ours. There has been much printed in the American press in explanation of the French-Canadian feeling, and in it there has been no little illumination of the situation. Yet, after all has been said, one cannot escape the impression of a degree of mystery in the attitude of the French-speaking inhabitants of the Dominion.

"It is not enough to say that French Quebec has its roots not in modern France, but in the extinct France that existed before the French revolution, that it is still under a church domination whose ecclesiastical spirit was outraged by the anti-clerical radicalism of the several French ministries of a dozen years ago. These facts explain partially the coldness of the Canadian French to the agonies of their mother country since the German invasion of 1914, but they do not tell the whole story. More elemental, probably, is the narrow nationalistic aspiration which French Canada has persistently nurtured, and which places more emphasis upon a kind of separatist conception of the destiny of the French race in Quebec and Ontario than upon the relation of Canada as a whole to the outside world. The desire to preserve the French language, to increase the numerical proportion of the French-speaking population, to safeguard the special privileges very early guaranteed to the French population of Quebec by the British Government has seemed to possess the French-Canadian mind like a mania, even in the face of storms which are shaking the world to its foundations."

FARMERS—
Protect Your Interests
There is great danger from fire during the threshing season. We respectfully offer the following suggestions as precautionary measures.
1—Use coal as fuel if possible.
2—Do not thresh when a heavy wind blows into your barn.
3—Be sure that an adequate supply of water is close at hand in accordance with the conditions of your insurance policy.
4—See that the engine is at least 26 feet from the nearest building or stack.
5—When stopped during meal time see to it that a competent person is left in charge with plenty of water at hand.
6—Allow no smoking about your buildings at any time.
7—Remember that any thresher not using a proper screen or spark arrester is liable for imprisonment and fine.
By keeping these points in mind you may save yourself and the company heavy losses.

Zeke Lohman, the Rochester twirler, formerly of the New York Giants, is proving to John McGraw that sometimes even the best managers make mistakes and send away good material. Zeke pitched excellent ball for the Rochester club.

The Phillies are going to lose another veteran when Cactus Cravath, the great slugging artist, retires at the end of the season. He is only one of a number of veterans who are practically through with the national game in the major leagues. Cravath is 35 years old. He began playing as a professional with the Los Angeles club in 1903, and remaind there until 1908, when the Boston Red Sox purchased him. He played with the White Sox and Washingtons in 1909, and then went to Minneapolis for two seasons. He joind the Phillies in 1912. His record of twenty-four home runs was made during the campaign of 1915. This is the record in the National League since 1900.

Chief Bender, according to rumor, is working under a contract that calls for a small salary and $50 extra for every winning game.

When Goss Defeated Rooke.

Joe Goss defeated Jack Rooke in sixty-four rounds at Birmingham, England, on September 20, 1859, just fifty-eight years ago today. This was the first ring battle Goss fought. He afterwards came to America and battled his way to the heavyweight championship. Joe was twenty-one when he fought the memorable battle at Birmingham. Before coming to these shores he fought three contests with Jem Mace, one ending in a draw, while the other two were victories for [illegible]m. Goss was thirty-six years old when be annexed the American title by whipping Tom Allen in Kentucky, and he was in his 42nd year when he lost the championship to Paddy Ryan in an 87-round contest at Col-"er Station, W.B. Goss' ring career extended over twenty years, and he was at his best when be was about 40 years old. Joe did not live long after retiring from the ring, as he died in 1885, in his 47th year. With the exception of Bob Fitzsimmons, Goss was the last native of England to hold the American heavyweight title.

Fred Merkle's Big League Debut.

Fred Merkle, star first-sacker of the Chicago Cubs, formerly of the New York Giants, will celebrate tomorrow the tenth anniversary of his National League debut. There are many serious, solemn and painful memories of his early baseball career stored up in the bean — once popularly believed to be composed of solid ivory—of Mister Merkle. He had had many hard experiences, the kind that usually make or break a man, and to his credit be it said, they made him. Merkle played his first game in the big show on September 21, 1907. A little over a year later, when the Giants and the synonymous with "bonehead." In an extra game was played on the Polo grounds in New York to decide the issue. Merkle pulled the famous stunt that made his name Cubs were tied for the pennant, and failing to touch second base, he cost the team the championship and a big wad of world's series coin. Players, press and public called down curses and abjurgations upon his head. Lynching, tar and feathers, and boiling in oil were among the punishments suggested by the enraged f[illegible] but all were discarded as being totally inadequate for such a crime. There was a general consensus of opinion, lay and professional, that Merkle should immediately be canned. Manager McGraw didn't agree with the mob, and refused to sacrifice Merkle to make a Gotham holiday. And so it happened that Fred Merkle stayed on with the Giants, lived down his title of "champion bonehead," and turned out to be one of the best players on the entire team. Playing with the Chicago Cubs, as he is now, he can be counted upon to be an interested follower of the world's series games which will be played this year by his old team-mates, and if you observe a frown darkening his countenance you will know what be is thinking of.

Pugilistic Annals.

1863.—Patsy Sheppard began his pugilistic career by winning the amateur lightweight title of Ireland in a tournament near Dublin. Sheppard, long one of the lightweight stars of the ring, was born in Ireland in 1847, and was only sixteen when he began boxing. A year later he turned professional, and during the ten years from 1864 to 1874 he fought nearly all the good men of his weight in England, Ireland and America. After retiring from the ring he became one of the trainers and backers of John L. Sullivan. Sheppard died in 1913, in Boston, where he had been living for many years.

ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS ARE STILL HELD IN COUNTY JAIL

Hearing in Police Court Put Over for Another Week and Request for Bail is Refused — Mr. Gordon Fails to Secure Release of Clients.

Francis Davis, Sam Searling, Thos. Flynn and Owen Forey, all strangers in Peterborough, arrested on the Fair Grounds Friday evening, the 21st, on suspicion of beng pickpockets, and remanded for one week pending investigation into their records, again came up for hearing in the police court this morning. They had been held in custody on the nominal charge of vagrancy.

The youngest of the quartette claims to be a tailor, looking for work in town; the others assert that they are on their vacation.

They were again remanded for a week without bail.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, for the defendants, pressed for bail, which, he contended, was warranted by a second adjournment. "The smallest man," he said, "is a Russian Jew, and came here to get work as a tailor. Apparently the police department during the fair classed all strangers as pickpockets.

Chief Thompson—"I'm treating him exactly the same as the others, who claim to be on their vacation. The Crown Attorney is out of the city."

Mr. Gordon—"The Crown Attorney is on a pleasure trip to Camp Borden, which is no reason why accused should languish in prison."

Mr. Gordon again urged for bail at $1000, to which the Chief objected.

Mr. Gordon, as a parting shot, remarked that he quite understood that one thousand dollars was not much to the Chief of Police.

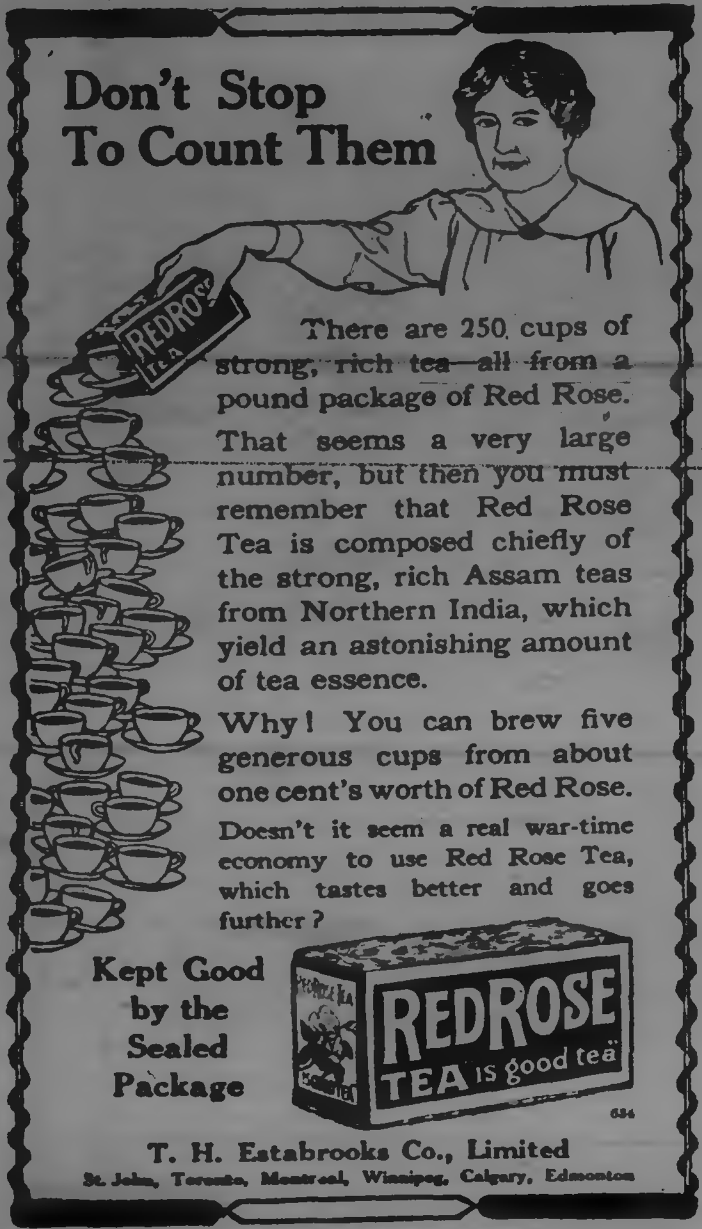
THE LARGEST WINE MERCHANTS IN CANADA



Don't Stop To Count Them

There are 250 cups of strong, rich tea—all from a pound package of Red Rose.

That seems a very large number, but then you must remember that Red Rose Tea is composed chiefly of the strong, rich Assam teas from Northern India, which yield an astonishing amount of tea essence.

Why! You can brew five generous cups from about one cent's worth of Red Rose.

Doesn't it seem a real war-time economy to use Red Rose Tea, which tastes better and goes further?

CALL FOR HEAD OF SIR JOSEPH

TORONTO CONSERVATIVES ASK PREMIER TO DEMAND HIS RESIGNATION.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—The Riverdale Conservative Association last night, at a meeting in Dian Hall, passed resolutions calling upon Sir Robert Borden to demand the resignations of Sir Joseph Flavelle, Chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, and Food Controller Hanna, and urging the Government to appoint a supply and food price regulator, and to take over all cold-storage plants in Canada and operate them for the people.

Criticism was also meted out to Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The first meeting for the season of the local Council of Women was held on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 20, in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the meeting was to hear the reports from the convenors of the different standing committees. There was a good attendance but time only permitted the reading of the reports of the following committee:

Immigration. Mrs. Douglas, convenor.

Public Health. Mrs. Man, convenor.

Professions and employment for women. Miss Denison, convenor.

Food conservation. Mrs. Morris, convenor.

Each convenor gave a five-minute talk on the work done by their committee and the work they hoped to do along their particular lines.

These talks were interesting and instructive and it is to be regretted that more of the women of Peterborough do not avail themselves o these opportunities of learning what is being done here and throughout Canada for their benefit and that of their children.

These meetings are open to the public. They are held once a month and all who are interested are made welcome.

The report of the play ground committee was unfortunately one of those held over for a future meeting but the exhibition of the children's work in the shape of baskets, bags, etc., and needlework was a mute testimony to the growing success of one side of this movement. When the sun is shining and the little children can play in the sand and the older ones can swing and dance and play ball it is a comparatively easy task to manage a playground, but when the mercury runs up into the 90's and the rain comes then it is that the Supervisor requires all the patience and tact at her command. It was on such days that this work was taken up and little hands that seemed almost too small to hold a needle even taught to fashion these little bits of handiwork.

Mrs. Morris's talk on food conservation was a most timely one. The matter of asking the Government to take some steps towards getting the bakers to make a mor general use of whole wheat flour was also taken up.

Juvenile Lodge Sons of England

MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT AND NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The regular meeting of Lansdowne Juvenile Lodge, S.O.E., B.S., was held last evening when the newly elected officers were installed by Bro. H. Beal, D.D., supported by the following members of the Senior Lodge: Bros. W. G. Shiner, R. Waram, C. Wood, B. Lemmon, A. Follis, J. Trussler, H. Sowden, F. Smith, H. Land, S. A. Kingdon.

Previous to the installation 13 new members were initiated into the mysteries of the Order, each newly elected officer taking his place alongside of a senior officer, who instructed them in their duties.

It was indeed a pleasure to see how apt the boys were in their respective positions and it will only be a short time before each one will be proficient in filling their chairs

The Order now boasts a membership of thirty members under whose name a charter has been issued and there are many more boys in prospect, thus starting the new lodge on its fraternal career under the most auspicious circumstances.

After the initiation a brief business meeting was held with Bro. R. Follis in the chair.

Business being disposed of, Bros Waram, Shiner and Follis complimented the boys on the excellent showing they had made and also on the excellent behavior shown by the boys and for their businesslike ability in settling down to business so rapidly. The best wishes of the Senior Lodge goes out to Lansdowne Juveniles for their success and usefulness in the years to come. Following are the new officers:

BRITISH SAFE IN NEW POSITIONS

BRITISH PREPARING FOR NEW DRIVE AND CANADIANS AND STILL PRESSING LENS

Infantry Resting at Menin Roads But Artillery Duel is Fierce---All German Counter Attacks Driven off---Russians Report Successes at Riga.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 24.—German heavy guns were active early this morning on both banks of the River Scarpe, on the Arras front, France. A German raiding party near La Basseville was driven away after a sharp fight last night with the British.

CANADIANS STILL PRESSING LENS.

Heavy cannonading was again in progress last night on the Flanders battle front northeast of Ypres, but the infantry had a relief from the recent hard fighting. The last German reaction was not encouraging enough, apparently, to warrant speedy repetition, as Field Marshal Haig in his despatch last night reported that when the Germans assaulted the British lines northeast of Langemarck yesterday they not only were repulsed, but lost ground in a British counter drive.

Signs of possibly important activity pending are appearing in other section of the British front, notably in the Arras region near the River Scarpe, and in the vicinity of Lens, which city is still being closely pressed by the Canadians. Considerable artillery activity is announced from these sectors. The artillery on both sides is also notably busy on the French front in the Verdun region. Last night its activity reached a stage of intense violence north of the fortress in Fossesand the Chaume wood regions, Paris reports.

HUNS KILL GERMAN PRISONERS.

"BUSINESS AS USUAL" AT LOCAL OFFICE OF G.N.W.

General Strike Declared on System at 11 O'clock This Morning Does Not Take Effect Here as None of Local Employes Belong to Union.

There are two operators in the local G. N. W. Office, neither of whom are affected by the strike, not being members of the Telegraphers' Union. And according to their present attitude they have no intention of quitting work. Their names are A. H. Boomer, agent in charge, his assistant, E. A. Andrews, and they are on duty today as usual. Three messenger boys are kept busy carrying despatches. There is very little territory in this district not also served by the C. P. R. Co., and should Peterborough operators eventually join the strikers the only inconvenience to be experienced in regard to this city's messages would be congestion at the C. P. R. receiving offices in Toronto.

It is worthy of note, however, that under arrangements between the line telegraph companies, the G.N.W. handle Ontario and eastern war casualties and the C.P.R. Co. those of western soldiers. Should the strike be prolongued, it would therefore considerably delay receipt in this district of casualties from war theatres."

PARIS PAPERS DERIDE ANSWER OF ENEMY TO POPE'S PEACE NOTE

Reply of Central Powers Not Taken Seriously as no Reference is Made by Central Powers to Real Issue.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 24. — "Evasive," "Vague," "Hollow" and "Empty" are words which appear and reappear in the comments published in the Paris newspapers today on the replies of Germany and Austria to Pope Benedicts peace proposals.

Virtually the whole press choses the same points for criticism placing first the absence of any reference to Belgium, Alsace, Lorraine and Poland, although the Pope referred to them, if, as it is pointed out, "somewhat timidly."

Rome, Sept. 24.—The entire Liberal press continues to attack the reply of Germany and Austria to the Pope's peace proposal as "A unique example of revolting cynicism." The Corriere D Italia has modified the tone of its comment from criticism to that of mild approval.

MEMORIAL TABLET TO LIEUT. A. R. ACKERMAN UNVIELED

Beautiful and Impressive Service at George Street Church in Memory of a Hero of Seven Battles---Two Comrades-in-Arms Deliver Touching Addresses.

IN LOVING MEMORY
LIEUTENANT ARTHUR ROSS ACKERMAN

2nd Battalion, 1st Canadian Division,
Who won his commission and Military Cross on the field, being fatally wounded September 23rd, 1916, after being engaged at Neuve Chapelle, Ypres (2nd battle), Festubert, Givenchy, Ypres (3rd battle), St. Eloi, and Zillebeke, and Courcelette (Somme).
Died October 11th, 1916, aged twenty-three years.
Erected by the Members of His Family.

In the presence of a large congregation yesterday morning in George Street Methodist church there was unveiled a tablet in perpetuation of the memory of Lieutenant Arthur Ross Ackerman, a hero of Neuve Chapelle, Ypres, Festubert, Givencny, St. Eloi, and Zellebeke, and Courcelette (Somme) who died on October 11th, 1916, from wounds received in the battle of Courcellette, France, September 23rd last year.

The pastor, Rev. Amos J. Thomas, M. A., B.D., presided over the service which was an exceedingly appropriate touching and beautiful tribute to the memory of this gallant young Peterboro officer who went overseas with the 2nd battalion, 1st Canadian Division and gave his life in the call of duty.

Rev. Dr. J. P. Wilson of Trinity church, Major Ponton, Belleville, of the 2nd battalion, 1st Canadian Expeditionary Force; and Lieutenant F. B. McFarren of the 3rd battalion, Toronto, 1st Canadian Expeditionary Force, assisted in the service, Major Ponton is now Senior Musketry Officer at Petawawa.

The tablet is of brass set in the face of the pulpit, and its inscription states the date Lieutenant Ackerman was fatally wounded, the engagements he served in, the date of his death and that he won his commission and military Cross on the field of honor. It was veiled with the Union Jack, which covering was removed at the conclusion of the addresses by Ptes. E. Mesley and W. Phipps (both of whim have seen service in France). At the moment of unveiling the congregation rose to their feet and Organist Renwick played "O. Canada."

The choirs' numbers were excellently rendered. Mrs. J. H. Renwick taking the solo part in anthem "God of Our Fathers". The other anthem was "Gently, Lord, O Gently Lead Us", and Mr. Douglas Carlisle sang the Solo "Light in Darkness."

A Worthy Act

Rev. A. J. Thomas prefaced the addresses with a few appropriate remarks in the course of which he said the congregation had assembled to pay fitting tribute to the memory of the late Lieut. Ackerman, who passed away of wounds received on the field of battle one years ago today; and the desire of his family to place a memorial tablet in this church in which the gallant young officer worshipped is a most worthy and commendable one, and he felt sure the congregation would sympathetically join in paying honor to a brave and noble soul who gave his life in defence of our inherent liberties. The tablet, he continued, speaks of deceased's valor and his nobility of self-sacrifice, and reminds us of others also who have gone from their homes and paid the supreme sacrifice that we might continue to enjoy the blessings of British freedom and Christian civilization. Not having had the pleasure of the late officers' acquaintance, he had judged that the addresses could be more fittingly offered by Rev. Dr. Wilson who had known Lieutenant Ackerman as boy, youth and man, and by two of his comrades in arms, Maor Ponton and Lieutenant McFarren.

He Played the Game

Major Ponton felt it an honor to pay tribute to his fallen comrade, whom he characterised as a cheerful and exemplary officer. He remembered meeting him one Easter morning before St. Julien, at a service in an orchard conducted by deceased's chaplain. He remembered him in action, in the mud of Sailsbury Plains, under all the hardships of campaigning, and there was no more cheerful, smiling face in the whole Canadian forces than that of Lieut. Arthur Ackerman. He bore all his trials and troubles with soldierly fortitude, and led his section, his platoon, and later commanded his guns with admirable British gallantry. "When you fight with a man," the speaker said, "you know his qualities; which are then bound to be revealed, and Arthur Ackerman enjoyed the respect and esteem of both officers and men. We need not mourn him; he lived a short life, but one in which he rendered greater service to his country than most men who live for ninety years

"His army life was clean and above reproach. I never knew him guilty of a mean, contemptible act; he played the game from start to finish and did not ask for leave after two years' service, but stayed to see the game through. There was nothing in his military life that any man could place a finger on his being questionable."

Major Ponton had unbounded faith in deceased having gone to his rest, happy in the knowledge that he had done his duty in this great world struggle. "He had laid down his life for his friends and country, and is now enjoying a well-earned reward from the Great Archieect of the Universe. It would be well for all to follow in his footsteps." The speaker here regretted that Peterborough had been unfortunate in her fatal casualties, and touchingly referred to that cheerful and gallant quartette he so well remembered, Arthur Ackerman, K. Cumberland, G. Minorgan, and S Hayes. In conclusion he extended his sincerest sympathy to Lieut. Ackerman's mother and father, all members of his family and to all others who are suffering from losses of loved ones or anxiety for safety of connections at the front. "I am not an optimist, but I see a ray of light on the war horizon today; the Huns' successes in the East are of no strategic value, victory is in sight and my dead comrade and others have not laid down their lives in vain."

Always Thought of Oothers

Lieut. F. B. McFarren, in a brief address, touchingly referred to his brotherly comradeship with Lieut. Ackerman. "I was", he said, "his closest friend in the trenches. A year ago today I went up to the mortar trench to relieve him, and although then badly used up, he had no thought

FRANCE TO CARE FOR COMMERCE

IS BUILDING A CONCRETE DOCK TO ACCOMMODATE SHIP TAKEN FROM GERMANS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Sept. 24.—That France is preparing to take care of much trans-Atlantic traffic that formerly went to Germany, and that some of Germany's biggest ships will be used by France is indicated by the provisions being made by the French government at Brest, France, for large concrete docks capable of accommodating the 54,000-ton Vaterland, interned in the United States at the beginning of the war and lately turned over to the Allies' service.

Supreme Judge Plots With Foe

JUSTICE COHALAN AND OTHER PUBLIC MEN IN LEAGUE WITH GERMANY.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The most startling revealation of German intrigue in the United States that has been made since the war began, implicating well-known men who claim American citizenship and involving a Supreme Court Justice in New York city, was made last night by the Government Committee of Public Information.

The expose is part of a systematic plan decided upon by the Government to present to the public the evidence of plots and intrigue against the interests of the United States which have been traced to the German Embassy.

List of the Plotters

Those named in the information given out last night as being connected with the plots include:

Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan, who is known as an ardent champion of the Irish cause.

Dr. Theo, Otto of Allentown, Pa., who is still practising, and claims to be an American citizen.

George Sylvester Viereck, editor of Viereck's Weekly.

Marcus Braun, editor of Fair Play, and political leader among the Hungarians of lower Second avenue, New York.

J. F. J. Archibald, magazine writer, now said to be in Washington.

Edwin Emerson, magazine writer, said to be in Africa.

In this expose the Government officials make public letters, telegrams bank cheques, receipts for cash paid, and a wealth of memoranda dating back to 1914, showing that the German Imperial Government was concerned, through its representatives here, in violation of the laws of this land.

LABOR AGITATOR COMES TO GRIEF

A prominent resident has in his employ a youth and the other day while the two were peacefully pursuing their vocation, there happened along another boy who has evidently in bis make up all the germs of a first class labor agitator. This embroyo socialist chided the other for working for low wages and hinted at a strike for higher pay.

The irate employer pursued the disturber of industrial harmony and administered what he regarded as condign and salutary personal chastizement

Magistrate Dumble took a different view of this method of retribution this morning when the case was ventilated before him and fined the boy's assailant $10 and costs.

MAYOR DUFFUS IS SLATED BY LIBERALS TO RUN FOR LOCAL HOUSE AT NEXT ELECTION

G. A. Gillespie to Retire on Account of Demands of Private Business---The Mayor Already Working for the Prize---Slim Chance of Success.

It is of common report that Mr. G. A. Gillespie will not be a candidate to succeed himself as member of the Legislature. This is not because he has failed to measure up to the party idea of what a representative at Toronto should be. Mr. Gillespie, on the contrary, is stronger today than he ever was, especially among the farmers, for whom he has done so much in his public capacity. He has decided to give up politics simply because he cannot afford to spare the time from his private business, which has recently been increased by the addition of an auto sales branch.

Mayor Duffus is the man slated to succeed Mr. Gillespie as the Liberal nominee at the next election for members to the Local House. The mayor may be in the hands of his friends, but he is not passive by any means. He is doing his share in the campaign that has already been started in his interests, extending the glad hand wherever he goes and cultivating the women who will have an opportunity to cast their ballots for the candidates whenever the next provincial election may be held.

Getting the nomination means only the capture of the first line of defence. Success at the election is another problem. Things broke just right for Mr. Gillespie three years ago. Mayor Duffus can hardly expect such luck to come his way. Fighting a united party is a different matter from one that for the time being was in a position similar to that so often reported in the Russian army.

It is not so long since there was a movement on foot to unhorse Mr. Gillespie and put Mr. G. N. Gordon in his place. Mr. Gilelspie was at that time to be sacrificed chiefly for his temperance principles, and the hope of the Gordon following was that their man could rally to the standard what is left of the liquor vote. Mr. Gordon, however, has his eye set on the House higher up. He is out of the race for this year, not being inclined to martyr himself and forfeit all future chances by leading a forlorn hope. He is young and can afford to wait until the clouds that now overwhelm his party roll away.

VETERANS DINE AT BUCKHORN

MEMBERS OF WAR PARTY TO THE U. S. TENDERED COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET.

Lieut.-Col. Ackerman, with a number of veterans, has left for the United States for the purpose of giving to the American troops demonstrations in the art of constructing war trenches. The party consists of Major Ponton, Sergt. Victor and ten others, every one of whom has been singed by German fire. They will open in Trenton, N. J., tomorrow. A number of trophies taken from the Germans, will be placed on exhibiton.

The war party that will go to the United States were tendered a complimentary banquet at Buckhorn yesterday. Covers were laid for twenty-five, and every place was taken. The guests were taken out in autos, the following being among those whose cars were donated for the occasion: Messrs. Herb. Kendry, R. R. Hall, G. N. Gordon, Mayor Duffus, G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., and Chris. Graham. The dinner was excellent and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The best of good-fellowship prevailed and every member of the party thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1917

MUST DEFEAT SIR WILFRID.

"There would have been a coalition Government to sponsor the Act and carry on the war but for the fact that Sir Wilfrid would not give his personal support to compulsory service. He is unprepared to say that even if, after an extended further trial of voluntarism, it should fail, he would be prepared to support the raising of reinforcements by selective draft.

"This, of course, puts Sir Wilfrid Laurier wholly out of touch with the people of Canada from whose homes men have gone to risk life and all they have and are in this war.

"They cannot support him in this attitude. And because of the kind of support that his attitude will draw to him, they must oppose him and compass the defeat of the forces that will gather behind him."

FACING THE DOCTOR.

MANY A MAN in this county is due for a surprise when, in obedience to the Military Service Act, he presents himself before the doctors for physical examination. All these years he has been, it may be, under the impression that his bodily health was perfect.

The examining physician will find to the contrary. It may be trouble with the lungs, with the heart, or with some other vital organ. Disease may have marked that young man for its own already. He may not be able to qualify for any branch of the service, and he leaves the Board grieving that he is not all that he imagined himself to be.

The present war has, with the close medical examination that it entails, revealed a startling percentage of physical unfits. There are men in the first stages of tuberculosis, others liable to drop dead of heart failure at any moment, who never dreamed that they were other than physically perfect. In such cases ignorance may have been bliss, but a timely knowledge of their condition might have warded off the danger. Now, unfortunately, in a number of cases it is too late.

What is to be done, then, to build up the health of the nation? Over in the United States, since the work of raising an army has begun, the same conditions have been found as those which exist in Canada. Some of the States have taken the matter up and propose to provide free medical treatment for the men whose condition has been revealed by the military examining boards.

The health of the people will never be assured, disease will never be thoroughly stamped out, until the State provides that a medical inspection of men, women and children shall be held at stated intervals. This would be no worse an infringement on personal liberty than is the insistence upon any other duty rendered to the State. In the time of a smallpox epidemic general vaccination can be carried out in the threatened community. A man with a contagious disease is isolated, no matter what personal hardship it may entail. The law steps in and prevents the would-be suicide or the mentally unbalanced from doing themselves harm. There could be no valid argument used against compulsory medical examination, annually or biennially, when such a system was designed to benefit the race as a whole.

The feeble-minded and the physically unfit are debarred from military service. The State permits them to marry and to transmit their infirmities to the generation that comes after them. The State is wise in one instance but indifferent to its own interests in the other.

WHEN THE CALL COMES.

THERE IS no stigma allotted to the taxpayers of this city because the payment of their dues as property owners is not left to individual patriotism, but is made obligatory by legal enactments. It is only the man who attempts to evade settlement who is regarded with disfavor.

The Medical Board will be ready for business in this city about the middle of the week. Any man who is included in the first class to be called out can then present himself for examination; at least he can make an appointment with the doctors. His employers will co-operate so that there may be as little time lost as possible.

The Government, it is expected, will issue the call for the first class—single men and widowers without children from 20 to 34 years of age—about October 1st. This call must be responded to promptly, or those who fail will be accounted as military deserters and treated as such. The first step in answer to the call is to appear before the Medical Board, if this has not already been taken.

The man who accepts the situation without a murmur and who makes no attempt to shirk his duty is entitled to be regarded as a volunteer. The word "conscript" is generally regarded as a harsh term to apply to any man, but it should not be used in connection with the man who from the first move of the new military machinery steps into line.

It is the man who will seek exemption when he has no just claim to urge, the one who will avail himself of every possible technicality, who will be regarded as a drafted man. The other is to all intents and purposes a volunteer. Some in the latter class have simply held back because men with fewer ties to hold them to their homes were not making a move. Now that the burden has been fairly distributed there is no longer any hesitation. The majority of citizens would object to paying taxes, would pay them under protest, if at all, if the money were collected under a voluntary system.

The men drafted will be treated by the Government in every way as the volunteers have been. If they are wounded they are entitled to the same care. If disabled, they are to be pensioned. When other classes, men with dependents, are called out, if they ever are, these dependents will receive the same separation allowance, the same grants from the Patriotic Fund, as the families of those who enlisted when no compulsion was required.

Men who are drafted will yet demonstrate the gallantry of the Canadian soldiers. Cowardice has kept few men out of the ranks, for cowardice is not a characteristic of the British race. Indifference to duty is the worst that can be said of those who hesitated. Still it is apparent to all that those who enlisted when the war first broke out are entitled to the greatest honor. That would be equally true if the reinforcements to be raised now were secured by the voluntary system.

With the Military Act in force, there are men who will respond without complaint and others who will hold back. It is the latter alone who will be the subjects of public reproach. The men in the first class, to be called out in a few days, have had all the facts placed before them. They cannot plead, if they fail, that it was through lack of understanding.

ABUSING PUBLIC MEN.

SERGT. LORNE PEARCE, the soldier-pastor, who preached in Trinity Methodist Church last night, called attention to a fact that is perhaps more painfully apparent in Canada than in any country in the world—that is, the abuse that is heaped upon public men by press and people alike.

The rating of public men may be capable of improvement, but nothing of this is likely to be noticeable so long as every party journalist with a mistaken idea of what is required of him to earn his salary, and soap-box orators and corner grocery statesmen combine to libel and slander every man in office who has the misfortune to hold views opposite to their own.

The office-holder in this regard is no more badly off than is the preacher, and the church suffers in the same regard and for the same reason as the public service. Many a man inclined to take orders is restrained as he recalls the simile of the swine and the pearls. He has no desire to be rended into pieces while pursuing a work the inspiration for which is entirely altruistic.

Any man who assumes to accept a trust from the people is subject to criticism. There is, however, a vast difference between criticism, fair and warranted, and mere personal abuse. It is not just to suspect every public man of ulterior motives. Until the same code of ethics is applied to public men as is used in private life many men of sensitive natures and integrity of character will never be prevailed upon to enter public life.

Every man at some stage of his career has made serious mistakes. The fact that he was at the time firmly convinced that he was right does not palliate the offence in the eyes of the majority of those who are watching for every slip. The lapse of time, too, fails to erase it from their memory. At every corner he turns, the public man—and the more energetic he is the more liable is he to blunder occasionally—is confronted by his record.

In private life the mental status of any man who fails to change his mind occasionally is openly suspected. Let a public man exercise the same divinely-bestowed right, and he is at once accused of treachery to his party and to his constituents.

Canada has every reason to regard herself as a nation. She has emerged long ago from the nursery stage. The people should make note of this fact and, laying aside the foibles of children, take on the airs and assume the characters of grown men.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

FRENCH CANADA may be a trifle low in the war record, but in Larry Lajoie it has produced a man who leads the International League in batting.

• • •

SIR WILFRID and his lieutenants are drumming up recruits, not to win the war but the election.

• • •

UNFORTUNATELY when the Kaiser sinks it will not be without leaving a trace. The ruin and desolation he has wrought will remain for ages as part of his history.

• • •

YES, IT IS home, Swede home, for the German diplomats in Argentina.

• • •

• • •

QUEBEC has won the first round in its own party by insisting on the retention of its favorite son as leader, but there is a sterner conflict ahead.

• • •

AS THE SEASON closes many a ballplayer declares that he is through with the game for good. Numerous Canadian Liberal politicians are in the same fix, but they won't admit it.

• • •

HOPE dies eternal in Sir Wilfrid's breast;
The alien vote is throttled in the West.

• • •

BERNSTORFF imagined he could stop the war with a trifle of $50,000 distributed among public men in the United States, thus demonstrating that he is a joke as a financier as well as a diplomat.

• • •

LIVING EXPENSES may be going up, but residents of the west end can comfort themselves with the reflection that the cost of getting down town by street car remains the same and that no new transfers have been added to the trip.

• • •

IT MAY BE that some of those Quebec leaders are patriots, but if so why should they take so much trouble to carefully conceal the fact?

• • •

THERE WILL BE no "Made in Germany" label on the peace treaty when it is completed.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

What man is so poor as he who has nothing but money?

A man with a thirty cent intellect can't hold down a fifty cent job.

A girl's idea of an industrious young man is one who is too busy to propose.

Our idea of a hypocrite is a man who really admires his mother-in-law, but is too contrary to admit the fact.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

As It Looks to a Neighbor.

(Buffalo Express.)

The enforcement of conscription will be the issue, and most of the English-speaking population will be for that. In 1911, 54 per cent of the vote was cast by that class, and to them at this election will be added probably 300,000 women voters, all of them widows, wives, mothers, daughters or sisters of soldiers. The anti-conscriptionists will be composed of French-Canadians, who cast 28 per cent. of the vote at the last election, those English-speaking Liberals who would not desert the party under any consideration, and disloyal slackers and coward voters of both parties. Germans and Austrians, who cast 7 per cent. of the ballots in 1911, are disfranchised.

Hugh Guthrie.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

Circumstances have now made him the foremost figure among the Ontario conscription Liberals. To this position he has been gradually elevated by the process of elimination, the other prospective candidates having one by one drifted back to Laurier. It will surprise nobody to see Mr. Guthrie a member of any coalition that may be formed.

Great Expectation.

(Philadelphia Record.)

The German people might as well understand at once that their cause is absolutely hopeless. We do not believe they could win against the English, French and Italians. They know themselves that they cannot win with America added to Western Europe. When they shall be convinced that they cannot possibly win and that every day makes them weaker and the Allies stronger, they will find means to compel the Kaiser to ask for terms.

English, Scotch and Irish Fighters.

(Wall Street Journal.)

An American recently returned from service at the front with Canadian troops tells of the difference in preparations for battle of the English soldier as compared with the Scotch and Irish. When getting ready for attack, the English soldier goes over the mechanism of his rifle to see that the locks are working properly, the barrel free of mud and so forth. The Scot and the Irishman pay no attention to mud on lock, stock or barrel, but each carefully polishes the bayonet on his sleeve. The battle over, English soldiers may be observed proudly escorting back groups of prisoners, while the Scotch and Irish come back empty handed. When asked about prisoners, they reply: "Prisoners! Never saw any."

TOO HARD ON SIR JOSEPH.

The people in general appear to be a little too hard on Sir Joseph Flavelle, of bacon and munitions fame.

When Sir Joseph, at that time a plain citizen, was a resident of Peterborough, he was well known as an ardent worker in every good cause. He was prominent in the church and superintendent of one of the leading Sunday schools. Above all he was an ardent prohibitionist, so ardent, indeed, that there is a general impression that he was constrained to leave Peterborough because he would not do business with any man who held views on the temperance question at variance with his own.

How could such a saintly man as that do anything wrong?

LOYALIST.

SOUNDS LIKE PRO-GERMANISM.

Editor Review: I would be much obliged if you would allow me space to publish what I consider are pro-German utterances of a man named Anderson of this city. This man is, or has been, earning as much as $10 per night working in munitions at the Henry Hope Company. He says he left rather than work under an English foreman. He also said he would shoot himself before he would be forced to fight for the English and he wants to know why the Canadians are driven into battle by English officers.

Surely he must know that the flower of our British Army was wiped out of existence before ever a Colonial soldier had crossed the seas. Also would you please inform him that our officers do not drive the men into battle like the Germans do, but lead them and that is why we shall miss several brave young officers from Peterborough.

He also said that all the English who went from here to the war were a dirty lot of drunkards and hangers on at poolrooms and only enlisted to get a better living and he wants to know what right they have in this country at all.

Perhaps some returned soldier can show him.

Has he or any other citizen ever heard a returned soldier say they were driven into battle by an English officer? This man lives in the neighborhood of Union street and to my knowledge 12 out of the 101 houses on this short street have relatives at the front and we strongly object to his pro-German remarks which were made in the home of a man whose brother has made the supreme sacrifice and where he was promptly shown the door and told not to show his face there again.

I ask in the name of Justice should he not be shown the door when he applies for work in our factories. Isn't it men who express sentiments like these who are liable if not checked to make defective shells which might cause the death of scores of our soldiers or better still intern him until after the war? Any way Union street won't be healthy for him after this.

He also wants to know what right the Canadian soldiers have in the firing line. As far as I can see and understand the Canadian soldier is as good as the British when it comes to a fight but perhaps some returned soldier could give him a better reason and what would they say after enlisting and training if they were not allowed to go and have a shot at the brutal Huns. In closing I would like to inform him that if it was the fashion for the Scotch people to come over here on a whale's back it wasn't when we English came over. We didn't even see one.

HOW THE SINS OF THE FATHERS ARE VISITED UPON THE CHILDREN

Silas, a semidegenerate, married Elizabeth, a normal woman. Six children were born; first, Mary, a normal child; second, an idiot son; third, Sol, with degenerate tendencies; fourth, an idiot daughter; fifth, a son who died in infancy, and sixth, a normal daughter, Harriet.

Sol, son of Silas, married a normal woman. To this union came thirteen children two of whom died in infancy. Sol died at the age of 75 of epileptic fits, to which he had been subject for twenty years. He ended his days in a hospital for the insane. His son, William, at the age of 40, died a drunkard's death, also in a hospital for the insane. Eight of the children, issues of Sol, would pass for normal, though there has been much marital trouble in their respective families. The two youngest children show slight degenerate tendencies. At the time of his death Sol had eleven grandchildren, all bright and normal.

Harriet, daughter of Silas, married a normal man and gave birth to five children. One of the daughters is a petty thief, another is immoral. The third daughter is barren, the fourth a cripple and half-wited. The only son [illegible] and the father of several bright children. The only son of the petty thief is stupid. A daughter of the immoral one is subject to fits bordering on epilepsy.

Mary, first born of Silas, at the age of [illegible] married her first cousin, John, child of her mother's sister. Both were normal. They had five children. Two sons were normal. A daughter was born deformed about the hips. She gave birth to one normal child, but can bear no more because her deformity steadily grows worse. The third son of Mary and John has a harelip. He married a hare-lipped woman, but their one child is normal.

The last child of Mary and John, Sarah, was a victim of St. Vitus' dance in her youth, but this she outgrew. She married a normal man and gave birth to three children in rapid succession. The oldest is the lowest type of idiot, lower still than the two idiot children of her grandfather, Silas.

A FAD THAT HELPED A FAMILY

"You shouldn't worry over the fact that your husband will not be quite himself until the world's series ball games are over," said the woman with the lorgnette. "If he's a regular baseball fan you ought to be happy. It has given you a pleasant summer, hasn't it? You let him take in all the games on the home grounds and he never questioned your goings and comings, did he? Well, isn't that worth while? My husband is a baseball fan himself, so I know about it. Oh, I'm wise, all right!

"Not that I'm especially fond of baseball. I'm not dotty over it, you understand. But I'm delighted that my husband has a fad of some kind. Every man should have a fad; and if he hasn't one actually his wife should see that he gets one. A man without a hobby has too much idle time for nosing around the house and looking into domestic affairs, which should be none of his concern.

"Mr. Hoopmyer in our block was just that way. He was interested in nothing in particular. He had a good brain and nothing to do with it. The result was that his poor wife's nerves were most of the time in a state of high voltage. If she was down in the kitchen working on a batch of biscuits he was meandering around criticizing the wasteful way she was doing things. If she had two woman friends to tea he never left the dining room long enough for them to get in a story or two. He was a pest!

"One day she could stand it no longer and came over to tell me her troubles and weep on my shoulder. I analyzed the case and told her she had the makings of a fine husband in Mr. Hoopmyer if he could be interested in a hobby of some kind to take up his time while at home.

"Golf, I said, would take him out of the house. Solitaire would keep him busy. Make a camera fan of him and he'd spend all his spare hours in a darkroom spoiling films while she could have company galore upstairs."

"How did your suggestion work out?" queried the other woman.

"Well," replied the lady with the lognette, "Mr. Hoopmyer solved the problem himself. Some friends introduced him to a game called Kelly pool and it has made a new woman of her."

Souvenirs From the Battle Front

LINDSAY LADY HAS RECEIVED A NUMBER FROM HER HUSBAND IN FRANCE.

Mrs. Jos. Green, of Lindsay, has received another lot of souvenirs from the front line trenches, which she prizes very highly, and which have been looked over with interest by a number of friends. They were received from her husband, Pte. Jos. Green, an employe of the Grand Trunk Railway in Lindsay previous to enlistment.

Of special interest is a German gas mask, which is somewhat crude in appearance, but apparently quite an effective headpiece. It suspends from the chin, with straps attached over the top of the head, and is equipped with two large eyes and a large breather under the chin. It is made of rubber and cloth material.

Pte. Green also sent home a German officer's cap and a German machine gun belt, as well as his own belt, which is decorated with 48 souvenirs, in the form of buttons from tunics, shoulder plates, etc. Some time ago he sent home a piece of a German monoplane, a German wrist watch, and some linen worked by the peasants of France.

$80,000,000 for Buying Wheat

BANKERS AND FINANCE MINISTER IN CONFERENCE AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The problem of raising some $25,000,000 within the next 3 months for war purposes was discussed by the Minister of Finance yesterday with representatives of the Canadian Bankers' Association, Canadian bond dealers, financial agents and representatives of the Canadian Bankers' Association, Canadian bond dealers, financial agents and representatives of the Canadian Press Association and advertising agencies.

For immediate necessities of furnishing Canadian credits for British war purchase in Canada of bacon, meats, etc., and of wheat, $150,000,000 is needed. At a conference in Montreal with banking and financial interests a few days ago arrangements were practically completed for bank advances of $75,000,000 to finance the bacon and meat purchases. The banks agreed to finance another temporary advance of $80,000,000 for wheat purchases.

WILL SEND REPORT OF CONGRESS TO SOLDIERS IN THE TRENCHES

So That Fighting Men Will Know How Labor Regards Their Welfare—Socialist Howled Down By Delegates.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The first business discussed by the Trades and Labor Congress at the session Saturday was a proposal made by Delegate Murphy, Ottawa, that the report of the Committee on Pensions, which was adopted at a former session, should be printed, and that copies should be distributed among the soldiers of the Dominion of Canada. In this manner the attitude of organized labor to the men in the fighting ranks and to the veterans would be more clearly defined. There would be no possibility of the soldiers not understanding how labor viewed their problems.

It was decided to have 10,000 copies of this report printed in English and 3,000 in French, the method of distribution to be decided by the Executive Council. The pamphlet also will contain the Labor Congress' views on conscription as set forth in the resolution adopted.

Delegate Joseph Naylor, Vancouver, then talked on the question of an Independent Labor Party and mentioned that "he was an industrialist and revolutionary Socialist"—making it clear that he was not a Trade Unionist.

"Boos" was heard all over the hall and protests were voiced in no uncertain manner. Vice-president Rigg who was in the chair, called the delegates to order. A motion was made that an extension of time be granted to Delegate Naylor. Delegate Rollo (Hamilton) remarked that Naylor had admitted that he was not a Trade Unionist and that if he wanted to "shoot off bunk like that" no extension should be granted. The motion was put to a vote and lost. Delegates Naylor took his seat.

Task of Sir Eric Geddes Is Among the Greatest That the World Contains

SIR ERIC GEDDES, First Lord of the Admiralty, may properly be described as one of England's great discoveries in the war. Before the war began he was a railroad manager; before that he had been a railroad engineer in various remote quarters of the earth, and he seemed to be almost unknown even in his own profession. Certainly he was not recognized as one of the most remarkable men in it. Yet within a year he was made an admiral and a general, and probably this constitutes a record for a man who when the war began knew nothing about naval or military affairs. After all, there is nothing mysterious about the rise of Sir Eric Geddes. He simply made good on one job, earned another, again made good in a most striking way, and now goes to a post that, if not the most important in the world, certainly must be reckoned in the first half dozen. What he is expected to do in his new position ma, be thus summarised:

SIR ERIC GEDDES

"1. Reduce or suppress the menace of the German undersea boats.

"2. Tighten the mesh which the British Grand Fleet can draw about German ports.

"3. Roll up the red-tape, cast out 'precedent' and barnacled 'policies,' and release the impulse for initiatve in naval action.

"4. Utilize in a reorganized board the staff brains of the fleet and not compose it of favorites, or on the basis of seniority, length of service in revolving office chairs or executive command afloat, but from officers who have become proficient in the greater problems of naval warfare.

"5. Adopt and apply non-pull methods of promotion, new devices, and encourage new strategies.

"6. Squelch with practicalities the 'lawyer politician delusion that paper agreements are as good as a squadron' in stopping neutral contraband trade with the enemy."

Perhaps something less than the accomplishment of this whole programme would satisfy the British public and justify the appointment.

The new head of the Admiralty is still in his early forties. He was born in India of Scotch parents, and was sent to England to be educated. At the age of 15 he concluded that the job had been completed, and left for the United States, but so little is known of this remarkable man that it cannot be said definitely whether he ran away from school or emigrated with his parents' consent. In any event he worked for some time in Virginian logging camps, after which he occupied an obscure position on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Probably he was a station [illegible]

Thence he went to the Homestead Steel Works in Pittsburg ,which fact may give the modest Andrew Carnegie an opportunity to claim Geddes as a protege. His next jump was to India, and at the age of 21 he cut through the jungle to lay a railway there. This work, it appears, was important enough to draw to him general attention from railwaymen, for he was summoned to England for the North-Eastern Railroad.

He was assistant manager when war broke out, and it was in the first few days of August, 1914, that Kitchener came into contact with him. The result was that he was retained by Kitchener to see that munitions got swiftly and safely from the factories to the front. Then he was sent to France to reorganise the congested roads back of the lines. He was made director-general of transportation and attached to the staff of General Haig. When a special Government department for the control of munitions was established with Lloyd George at its head Geddes was chosen to be his deputy. Subsequently he was made controller of shipping, and under his auspices was planned and partly executed the campaign that now promises to turn out 4,000,000 tons of merchant shipping in a year.

SQUARING HIMSELF.

An Excuse For a Stolen Kiss That Appealed to a Generous Nature.

"MOTHER," said the lovely young girl, "I have a confession to make to you. Harry stole a kiss from me when he was calling this evening."

"The impudent young puppy!" cried mamma, enraged to the point of forgetting her dignity. "Well, well! What did you do?"

"I hope I acted as you would have wished me to. I screamed. I scratched his face. I was terribly angry. But he asked to be heard in his own defense, and I had to listen to what he had to say. Well, he said that he had stolen the kiss only that he might give it to a poor girl of his acquaintance who had never had any kisses. I could not help seeing how noble and self sacrificing he was, and so"—

"And so you let him off with a silly excuse like that? Well, I never"—

"Oh, no, mamma. You wrong me. I didn't let him go at that. I gave him several others to take to the poor thing."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Language Lesson.

"Now, boys," said the schoolmaster. "I want you to bear in mind that the word 'stan' at the end of a word means 'the place of.' Thus we have Afghanistan—the place of the Afghans: also Hindustan—the place of the Hindus Can any one get another example?"

Nobody appeared very anxious to do so until little Johnny Snaggs, the joy of his mother and the terror of the cats, said proudly:

"Did no one ever propose to you, Aunty?"

"Yes, once a man did."

"What did you say?"

"What a thing to say!"

Origin of Red Cross.

Camillus de Lellis was born in the Kingdom of Naples in 1550. After serving in the Venetian army, he was badly wounded in the leg and sent to the hospital of San Giacomo in Rome, where he was so impressed by the horrors and filth of what was really a pesthouse that he resolved to devote his life to suffering humanity; "to care for the plague-stricken and to nurse the sick in their own homes." At thirty-two he was ordained a priest and set about founding a religious order "to serve the sick."

"They shall wear a red cross upon their breasts," said Camillus, "to remind them of the suffering of our Lord Christ. This will give them strength and encouragement."

This red cross has been blessed in the leper settlement of Molokai Madagascar; in the cholera hospitals of India, and the pestilence-stricken lands of the Far East, as well as on the battlefields of France.

All vacant land in Bolivia belongs to the Republic, and can be acquired by purchase or lease, subject to special regulations. The unit of measure is a hectare, which is 2.47 acres. Anyone may acquire as much as twenty thousand hectares, paying cash at the rate of ten cents per hectare for farming and grazing lands.

China Has Largest Bell.

Moscow claims the distinction of possessing the largest bell in Christendom to be in actual use. Its weight is 128 tons. The qualifying phrase "in Christendom" is used because China claims to have at least two bells, also in actual use, which are even larger.

The larger of these may be seen in the great Buddhist monastery not far from Canton. It is eighteen feet high and has a circumference of forty-five feet, being cast in solid bronze. It is one of eight monastery bells that were cast toward the end of the fourteenth century by command of the Emperor Yung-lo. During the process of casting eight men lost their lives.

On both sides it is covered with an inscription in embossed Chinese characters about half an inch in length, covering even the top piece from which it swings, the total number being 84,000. The second bell, which is three feet shorter than its rival at Canton, hangs in a temple of its own to the north of Peking, almost on the way to the Great Wall of China.

Machinery in Mines.

The output of the mines of Japan has greatly increased in recent years, and this is due to the introduction of modern machinery. The Nagasaki, the most important, has shown a steady growth in its output of coal, copper, zinc, gold, and silver. The production of coal has increased rapidly, with a demand for Japanese coal in all the ports of the Orient.

In Amsterdam electric rat traps are used. The place where the bait rests is the only part of the trap which is a conductor, and the moment the rat touches this a shock closes its career.

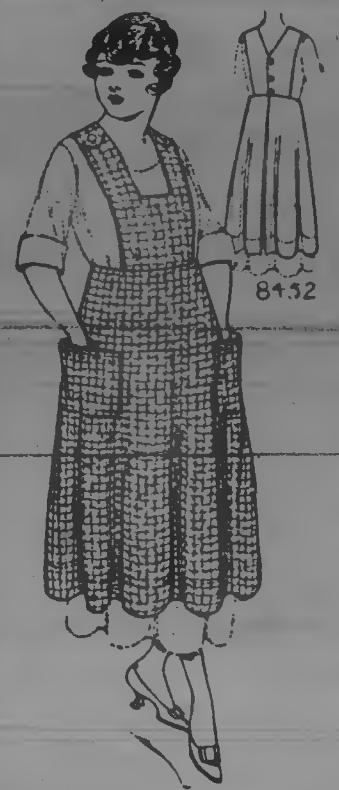
LADY'S APRON.

By Anabel Worthington.



The army of housekeepers in active service must be properly uniformed for efficiency, and this trim apron offers one of the best ways of doing it. It is fitted around the waist just like a skirt. The skirt section is in three gores and comes together down the back just like a nurse's apron. Two conveniently large patch pockets are stitched at the sides over the hips. The suspender effect which forms the bib also fits smoothly and without gathers. The back bib laps over the front at the shoulders in tab effect.

The apron pattern, No. 8452, is cut in sizes 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires [illegible] yards of 30 inch material.

for himself, but greeted me encouragingly—he was always thinking of others. He received his fatal wound when returning from the line that day. He made a gallant fight for life in the hospital, and was so cheerful that strong hopes were entertained of his ultimate recovery. We all knew he was not afraid to die, but he struggled manfully for life, for the sake of those at home.

Worthy To Die For Empire

Rev. Dr. Wilson, after hearing the soldiers speak, felt that the service should conclude as their addresses were moving ones, and took in the whole situation. "In the battle in which Arthur Ackerman fell," he said, "I had four particular friends—he whom we mourn today, his brother, Major O'Flynn and Major Ponton. In the scriptures I find these words: 'he is worthy that we should do this for him,' and no more appropriate words could be found with which to honor the memory of Lieut. Ackerman. I am here because of my close friendship with the family. I have known Arthur Ackerman since he was six years of age; he was a soldier from the beginning, well set up, of military air and corrage as a lad — every inch a soldier as boy and man. After he was wounded the ex-Minister of Militia saw him in London, and reported that although all shot to pieces he was full of grit and courage. Thirty-three thousand Canadians first responded to the call to meet the greatest army since the days of Julius Caesar, and to the deceased that call was the call of God. He was too much British not to heed it, and that is the characteristic of our race which has linked our peoples together for a thousand years and made possible the mighty British Empire. On the field of Courcellete he fell, and I am thankful for the friendship which existed between us despite our disparity of years. He died for us, for the honor of every woman, the safety of children, and of the very men who were afraid to fight." In eulogy of those who have made the supreme sacrifice, the rev. gentleman was glad to know that the greatest number of monumental tributes are for the heroism of privates in defence of the Empire; the very liberties of our race are due to men who are sleeping wrapped in blankets on the battle fields of Europe. No nation must be allowed to trample on the liberties of others, threaten their freedom of life of the seas, of speech, or attack their ideals. "A hundred years of peace," he said, "made us indifferent to the value of our privileges, but we have a different conception of values today; we have to fight for our ideals against Kaiserism, and the experience of Belgium, France, Serbia, Roumania, has shown us that the Turk is the natural ally of Germany.

"In France, he continued, "today our troops are lined up for the maintenance of our high ideals. We are learning sacrifice; we were dominated by material things, nationally and individually, but war has made us a serious people, dipping into those deeper questions which make for a higher national and Imperial life, and we are now looking forward to great changes out of which will arise a new Canada, a new England, and a new Empire.

"He whose memory we honor, ranks among the immortals. His life was short, but we rejoice in our grief; for when we remember what our Empire has been, is and what it is fighting for, and when we think of our Canadian dead, we can truly say that they were worthy to die for so glorious an Empire. It is a sweet thought that Major Medd was with Lieut Ackerman, at his bedside; and that the faithful sister nurse could write, 'he died peacefully, and his passing away was like a triumphal march to victory'. He lived a hero, he died a hero—a boy in years, a man in deeds. May God comfort his parents and friends, and may this memorial tablet stimulate young men to be of service to King and Country, and to God and truth."

LICENSE BOARD ON WINE SALES

WILL GET AFTER THE DEALERS WHO HANDLE ALLEGED MEDICINE.

The Ontario License Board will shortly begin to wage war in earnest upon the manufacturers of the class of "medicated wine" that may be used as a beverage. One of these cases was disposed of recently in the police court here when a dealer in such "medicine" was fined $300. The board has been quietly biding its time until the way was clear to take action that would give some prospect of success in dealing with a troublesome problem. An unsuspected amendment placed in the Doherty bill put through the House of Commons at the session just closed makes it possible for the board to institute prosecutions under the Ontario Temperance Act which provides decidedly large penalties and shuts the way to any appeal when a conviction has been registered. The amendment in question was innocent in appearance and escaped attention when the Senate threw out other proposals put in the Doherty bill at the instance of the license commissioners.

Sergt. Pearce in Trinity Church Shows Difference Between Stealing a Loaf of Bread and a Railroad—Workers Needed in Economics, Politics Religion and Society.

Rev. Dr. Lorne Pearce, formerly pastor of St. Paul's Church, Ottawa, is a graduate in arts, in divinity and philosophy. Just now he wears the uniform of his King with a sergeant's stripes on his arm and has been engaged as an instructor at Camp Borden. He gave up his chosen calling and severed his home ties for the sake of his country. Sergt. Pearce is waiting the call to go overseas to fight in the trenches with the thousands who are calling for help. His was indeed a sacrifice as Dr. Wilson said when introducing him to the congregation of Trinity Church last night.

Taking as his text the words from the Bible story of the creation, "There was no man to till the fields," Sergt. Pearce preached a practical sermon on some of the crying needs of the day. The keynote of his discourse was sounded in his introductory remarks when he said that the man who stole a loaf of bread would be sent to prison whereas the man who stole a railroad would likely be sent to the senate.

Men are needed to till the economic field. Something most be done to induce the working men to attend church. Some one has said that he does not wonder that they do not go to public worship but he would marvel if, under present conditions they did.

The field of politics requires men to till it. A better class of public men must be secured and this will be impossible unless men in offices are treated better and spared the abuse that is so often visited upon them.

Sergt. Pearce is pleased to see the passing of the political machine. In the military camps it makes no difference what a man's politics are and that is more and more coming to be the case the country over.

"I am not talking politics now," remarked the preacher. "I am talking righteousness."

Other workers are required in the social field. It is not enough to "keep the home fires burning," as the song says. There must be improvement so that when the battle-scarred heroes return from the front they will be able to sit down at a better fireside than they have ever known.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB HAS HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Gratifying Reports Presented by Various Committees at Annual Meeting Last Week —Total Disbursements Were $2017.47

The third annual meeting of the Peterborough Progressive Club was held in their rooms in the Barrie Building on Wednesday, 12 Sept. 1917. This club was started and has been steadily working since the 4th of October, 1914, exactly two months after war was declared. We send nearly all our socks to the Field Comforts Commission for the men in the trenches. We have worked for several hospitals and latterly more particularly for the one at Moore Barracks.

At our meeting Mrs. McNellie mentioned her son who is at Moore Barrack hospital assisting the surgeons. One day he said to the patients, "you will be well dressed this morning as the surgical supplies are from the Peterborough Progressive Club." It is gratifying to know that our work is appreciated. We regret the loss of some of our old members who have left town, and are pleased that their places are being filled by new workers. We desire to thank all those who have done so much by subscriptions and work to make our club a success, and we trust they will continue their support in the future.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Miss H. S. Peck, president; Mrs. J. Holmes, 1st vice-pres.; Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, 2nd vice-pres.; Mrs. W. S. Rose, sec.; Mrs. W. R. Morris, treas.; Miss C. M. Rubidge, convener of sock committee.

Secretary's Report

I beg to submit the following report of the work of the Peterborough Progressive Club for the past year. On Wednesday, Oct. 31st, 1916, the second annual meeting was held in the Club Rooms in the Barrie Building and the officers for the ensuing year were elected. Regular sewing meetings have been held weekly throughout the year, except for a short Christmas vacation. The attendance has not been as large as might be desired but much good work has been accomplished. The monthly meetings have not been very regular. The activity of the Club in various ways has not diminished and interest has kept up wonderfully. The end of November, Mr. Devey put on the Geisha for the benefit of the Club which realized the splendid sum of $250.00. A rummage sale was held on Nov. 23, 24 and 25 which brought in $149.50, while the expenses were only $8.00. Dr. Robinson donated a colt to the Club, which was raffled for and the amount made was over $186. On Jan. 9th, 1917, Mrs. Fisk lent her house for a very successful tea. On Feb. 1st Mrs. Fred Smith had a tea and musical which brought in the sum of $16.00. Mrs. Gydyard also had a tea early in March which with the proceeds from raffles realized $42.00.

Mrs. Hasen Ritchie has given a sofa to the Club to sell. Numerous other articles have been donated and sold for the benefit of the Club. The patriotic garden party given by Mrs. J. Holmes, part of the receipt of which were given to the Club, was also much appreciated.

Day shirts, 35; Night shirts, 117; pyjamas, 15; pads, 516; compresses, 1870; sponges, 12467; handkerchiefs, 986; mouth wipes, 18855; many tailed bandages, 223; cushions, 19; pillow covers, 336; face wipes, 237; property bags, 28; slings, 33; bandages, 24; water bottle covers, 7; rest pads, 11.

A. E. STEVENS IS HELD FOR TRIAL

CHARGED ITH PASSING CHEQUE WHEN HE HAD NO BANK ACCOUNT.

A. E. Stevens was charged at the police court this morning with having tendered Oak Hall on Saturday morning a cheque for $10 for which there were no funds. County Crown Attorney Hatton prosecuted and Mr. J. A. O'Brien conducted the defence. The cheque was drawn on the Bank of Montreal, who when phoned did not think A. E. Stevens had an account there. Subsequently the Bank's manager informed Mr. M. J. Maher, manager for Oak Hall, that there were no funds to cover the check.

Edward Reilly, clerk in Oak Hall, testified that accused had purchased a pair of socks for 75c, and he cashed the $10 cheque in payment. He had known Stevens for a week, and understood he was working for the Prudential Insurance Co. This was Saturday at 12.20 p.m., and accused was arrested the same afternoon at three o'clock.

Mr. W. H. Walkey, assistant accountant in the Bank of Montreal, testified that accused had no account with his Bank on Saturday last and he never knew him having one there. He heard there was one opened this morning, but no signature was furnished. The cheque in question had not been presented to the bank during banking hours, to his knowledge.

Mr. C. C. Abbott, manager of the Bank of Montreal, testified that at eleven o'clock this morning $15 had been deposited in Stevens' name by John Revoy, as a new savings account.

John Revoy, sworn, said he arrived in Peterborough, his home city, Saturday night, and his wife asked why he had not deposited in the Bank of Montreal to Stevens' credit the money he had promised him, last Wednesday, with which to pay his board for two weeks. He paid into the Bank of Montreal this morning $15 to prisoner's credit. He was in Lindsay all day Saturday.

In cross examination witness said accused is his brother-in-law. He had no bank account himself at present.

Magistrate Dumble after hearing the evidence committed the prisoner for trial.

DROPS THE SUIT.

Mr. Creighton Will Not Sue Lady for Breach of Promise.

Mr. John Creighton, a Toronto barrister, who is well known in Peterborough, recently began a suit for $20,000 for alleged breach of promise against Mrs. Blackburn of Cobourg, as announced in the Sentinel-Star of that town last week. Mr Creighton now writes that paper that everything is lovely. The clouds have cleared away, the engagement has been renewed, and the suit is accordingly dropped.

"The Fiddlers" A Censored Book

THERE has been a great deal of discussion throughout the country regarding the suppression in Canada of "The Fiddlers," a recently published book by Arthur Mee, an English social reformer. People are very curious about the character of the publication. The penalty for having a copy of the book in possession is a fine not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years or both. Some humor was added to the situation when Sir Robert Borden confessed in Parliament that he had a copy in his possession. Hon. Frank Oliver declared he had "a copy of the book here," and the statement was made that every member of Parliament had received from some unknown source one of the offending booklets. It is said there are several hundred copies in Canada. But no one has gone to gaol yet.

"The Fiddlers" is an indictment of the liquor traffic in Britain. It is a 3d pamphlet with a highly colored picture of a mother and child on the cover with the inscription, "How long will you go on fiddling till we starve?" On the inside cover is a Raemakers' cartoon, "Drink leading famine in." The subtitle of "The Fiddlers" is "Drink in the Witness Box." The full list of chapter headings in the table of contents follow:

Drink and the Red Cross.
Stabbing the Army in the Back.
The Price the Empire Pays.
Your Share in the Food Crisis.
How the Brewer Gets Our Food.
The Way for the Government.

The body of the pamphlet contains a multitude of incidents, apparently gleaned from Government returns.

Discussing the Canadian censorship's action in suppressing the book, Mr. Ben H. Spence of the Dominion Alliance gave the opinion of temperance reformers thus:—

"It is a great misuse of the censorship. The censorship, in my opinion, should be used wholly and absolutely for the defeat of the foreign enemy, and not for interfering with or hindering a domestic reform.

"There are between three or four hundred thousand Canadians, the pick of our nation to-day, living with the conditions this book described.

"The Premier of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, has in the name of Canada protested to the British authorities regarding these conditions.

"What sort of pusillanimous invertebrates does the Canadian censor think we folks at home are, that we should be gagged and blinded regarding these conditions?

"If the statements made by Arthur Mee are true we ought to know them, and if they are not true effective contradiction ought to be given them. Light on this whole question can do nothing but good. Indeed any attempt to stifle discussion will give rise to more serious imaginings than would be caused by the facts themselves."

CENSORSHIP NOTICE.
Consolidated Orders Respecting Censorship, Department of the Secretary of State of Canada.
Ottawa, 11th July, 1917.

Notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the Consolidated Orders respecting Censorship, dated the 17th day of January, 1917, passed under the provisions of Section 6 of The War Measures Act, 1914, a book entitled "The Fiddlers," by Arthur Mee, published by Morgan and Scott, Limited, 12 Paternoster Buildings, England, has been declared by the Secretary of State of Canada to contain objectionable matter, as defined by the Consolidated Orders respecting Censorship, and that the possession within Canada of any issue or copy of the said "The Fiddlers," whether heretofore or hereafter published, has been prohibited by a warrant of the Secretary of State of Canada, dated the 12th July, 1917, and that, as provided by paragraph 3 (1) of Order 111 of the said Consolidated Orders respecting censorship, any person guilty of an offence against the said orders shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five thousand dollars, or imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years or to both such fine and such imprisonment.

THOMAS MULVEY,
Under-Secretary of State.

A Memorial Plaque.

The Imperial Government is offering prizes amounting in all to not less than £500 for a limited number of the most successful models for a small memorial plaque, in bronze, to be given to the next-of-kin of the members of his Majesty's naval and military forces who have fallen in the war. A cablegram received by the Government at Ottawa from the Colonial Secretary says that the sum mentioned is to be divided among the successful designers in proportions to be subsequently decided. All designs are to be delivered in London by November 1st and all competitors must be British-born subjects. The names of the competitors will not be revealed to the judges and the name of the successful artist or artists alone will be published.

Fuller details of the conditions of the competition are available at Ottawa, and intending competitors may secure information from Sir Joseph Pope, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Football Among Oldest of Outdoor Sports.

The summer of 1917 will take the count this week, and with the ushering in of the autumnal season the fierce bleat of the football fan will be heard in the land, for, despite of the war, the gridiron will come in for its just share in the calendar of sports. Football is one of the oldest of sports, and some authorities say it is the ancestor of all outdoor games. The ancient Greeks and Romans played a game similar to football, the Romans calling it follis. The gridiron pastime has always been of a ferocious nature. The first contest pulled off in England was at Chester, when a human head from which a captured Dane had been separated, was used as a football was England's most popular sport. There were no "elevens" in those days, but the adult male populations of whole townships contended one against the other, and the contest frequently lasted all day. A game that didn't leave several corpses strewed about the premises, and send most of the players home with broken bones or heads was considered very tame and uninteresting by the fans in those happy days. The lords of the land were naturally peeved at such a general slaughter of their profitable peasants, and appealed to the king to stop the sport. Decrees forbidding football were issued by Edward II, Henry IV, Edward III, Richard II and James III, but they might as well have commanded the rain to stop falling. Even the infliction of the death penalty upon the survivors of a football game failed to dampen the ardor of the enthusiasts. Wherever Britishers have gone they have taken football with them, but in America they found the Indians playing an aboriginal brand of football. Today the Football Association of England, the governing body of the soccer game, has a membership of 400 professional clubs and nearly 75,000 amateur clubs. Before the war it was estimated that there were nearly a million soccer players in England, while the professionals alone numbered about 7,000, most of whom, if not all, have gone to war.

Brettle-Mace Contest.

Bob Brettle defeated Jem Mace in two rounds at Medway, England, on September 21, 1858. Mace was then at the beginning of his ring career, and the man who afterwards whipped all of the best heavyweights of Europe and America and retired undefeated fell an easy victim before Brettle, who knocked Jem out with a right to the jaw after three minutes of fighting. Mace's defeat was due to anger, for he had been accused of being "yellow," and the taunts of Bob's backers worked him into a passion. At the ringside Jem overheard Mr. Dowling, the celebrated sporting authority and editor of Bell's Life, say to Jem's backer, George Brown: "Why, George, do you mean to say you have led that yellow cur here without a chain?" Mace was fairly sizzling after that, and as a result he displayed little of his science and skill, and rushed in heedless of consequences. That was a valuable lesson to Jem, for he never afterwards lost his temper in the ring, and a year afterwards gave Brettle a sound beating.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

It may be a little farther around the corners in a square deal, but the road is better.—Anon.

It does not take a great man to be a Christian, but it takes all there is of him.—The Evangel.

If I can ease one life the aching,
  Or cool one pain,
  Or help one fainting robin
Unto his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.
—Emily Dickinson.

The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts, and the great art in life is to have as many of them as possible.—Bovee.

And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you.—Eph, 4:32.

He is the freeman, whom the truth
  Makes free
And all are slaves besides.
—Cowper.

Men who live for self never succeed in satisfying self, or in quite satisfying anybody else; men who live for others in Godlike unselfishness, have joy themselves while giving joy to others.

WINDOW BLINDS

Called an Invention of Evil One to Keep Out Sunlight

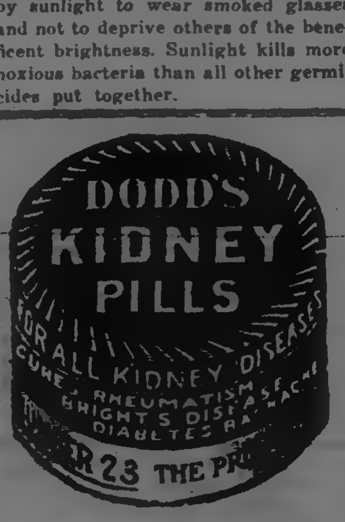
"God said, 'Let there be light.' The devil whispered to men and blinds were invented." So writes Dr. F. Robbins of New York in an article entitled Heliophobia, a Menace to the Community, published in the Medical Record.

According to a bulletin of the American Association for the Conservation of vision, at least half the educated population of the United States is afflicted with defects of eyesight.

As a matter of fact, sunlight, so far from being injurious to the eyes, is one of the most successful cures for trachoma, the commonest of eye diseases.

Dr. Robbins is amazed at the number of persons who find sunlight trying and at the number who still cling to the old and long exploded notion that sunshine is bad for the eyes. He blames the persons in authority in our libraries, postoffices and railroad companies for persistently pulling down the blinds in their institutions and cars.

He urges those who are oppressed by sunlight to wear smoked glasses and not to deprive others of the beneficent brightness. Sunlight kills more noxious bacteria than all other germicides put together.



HOMES FOR SOLDIERS.

Movement May Result in Some Radical Action.

Canada is making definite plans to provide farms for such of the returned Dominion soldiers and sailors as care to enter upon and cultivate them. The same liberal offer will, it is said, be extended to all discharged soldiers and sailors of the British army. To those trained in the methods of farming, and who will agree to occupy the land and cultivate it, the plan is to grant tracts of 160 acres each, and to make a cash loan of $2,000 at 5 per cent. annual interest, for a term of years. The money advanced, it is explained, is to be used by the settlers in providing stock and equipments, and in making improvements upon the lands granted.

In this comprehensive plan Canada includes three progressive measures. Two of these are openly avowed. They are to provide the defenders of the Dominion and the Empire with comfortable homes, where the men will be contented and self-sustaining, and materially to increase agricultural production in many sections of the country. The third purpose, which will be more fully revealed as the movement toward the land progresses, will be to force upon the market, at a reasonable price, vast tracts of rich land, in the prairie provinces, now held by non-resident speculators. Even at the outset the perplexing question is asked by friends of the plan: Where, in those sections in which farming land can be put quickly and easily under cultivation, can the necessary acreage be found within reasonable distance of the railroads? Men familiar with conditions in the prairie provinces are quoted as saying that but little available land can be found which will comply with these specifications. There are, it is said, upwards of 100,000,000 acres of fertile land, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, held by speculators. This total is over three times the total of the acreage of Government land available for settlement anywhere in the provinces named, and the lands privately owned are the more valuable, and are far more accessible.

The people of Canada, it is safe to say, will not be satisfied with any plan which will compel the men who have fought the battles of the Empire to accept inferior land when there are millions of fertile acres lying idle, although more advantageously situated. It would not be just to force the returned soldiers to improve remote tracts, thus enhancing still farther the values of the lands held for speculation. Already, in the Province of Alberta, agitation has been begun toward forcing the Hudson's Bay Company either to take title to large areas of reserve lands, held in trust for it by the Dominion Government, and thus make them taxable, or, in lieu thereof, to have the lands thrown open to homestead entry. Millions of acres also are held by German landlords, by railroad companies, and by companies operating in the United States and Great Britain. These vast holdings, because of the improvement of adjacent tracts privately owned, and because of the increased value of all products of the land, are enhancing in value every year. Those who hold them for still higher prices see no reason why they should make them productive, and they evidently have no intention of improving them until compelled to do so by some system of taxation which will operate virtually as confiscation or expropriation.

No Use.

"I admit that the architecture of this house is something fierce," said the agent, "but just see how handy the place is—only a stone's throw from the station."

"I see it is," said Tompkins wearily, "but I'm such a rotten shot it wouldn't be any satisfaction to me."

Appropriate.

"The impecunious nobleman who married the millionaire heiress, wore at the wedding a white carnation in his buttonhole."

"To be appropriate, his boutonniere ought to have been of marygold."—Baltimore American.

One Use.

"Do you use breakfast foods at all?" asked the grocer.

THE TIMES CHANGE.

At twenty-three to part my hair
  A comb I needed like a towel;
At fifty-three 'tis sparse and spare—
  I use a towel!

At twenty-three my step was blithe
  And bounding as a bunny rabbit's;
At fifty-three old time a tithe
  Has changed my habits!

At twenty-three I loved the dew
  That is the dawning's bright adornment;
At fifty-three I'm partial to
  The chimney corner!

At twenty-three my speech's flow
  Was springtime, sprightly and prolific;
At fifty-three I often grow
  Quite soporific!

At twenty-three the wooded hills
  Were filled with airy creatures Attic;
At fifty-three they harbor ills
  And aches rheumatic!

At twenty-three Calliope
  I wooed with all the lyric graces;
At fifty-three, alas, at me
  She makes wry faces!

At twenty-three to Venus I
  Breathed vows in sundry spots and shady;
At fifty-three I'm rather shy
  Of that fair lady!

At twenty-three, with ardent eyes,
  I looked on life without a tremor;
At fifty-three, in staider wise,
  I'm but a dreamer!

Hard to Recognize.

Simeon Ford was standing in the lobby of his Grand Union hotel when a tall, portly, well dressed man entered and leaned over the cigar stand, carefully examining the wares within before making a purchase.

"I know that man," said Mr. Ford. "His face is perfectly familiar, but somehow I can't place him at the moment, and I'm supposed never to forget a guest after speaking to him once!"

Mr. Ford was evidently annoyed. He stepped across to the cigar stand, passed the time of day with the portly, well dressed man and came back again.

"Did you identify him?" asked the acquaintance to whom Mr. Ford had been speaking.

"Oh, yes. He's the barber who has shaved me every other day for eight years. But this is the first time I ever saw him with his white coat off and his black derby on."—New York Sun.

A Hitch in the Plan.

A little girl of six sat looking thoughtfully out the window of her home the other day. Her mother asked the cause of her seriousness.

"Oh," she replied, "I was just thinking that when I grow up to be a big lady I ought to get married and have three children."

The parent was surprised and amused.

"Well, you will be very fortunate, indeed," she said.

Then the little girl again lapsed into thought. Finally she said:

"But you can never tell, mother. I might marry a bachelor."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Time Enough.

"Do you think a man ought to tell his wife all about his business," said the serious youth.

"Not always," replied Miss Cayenne. "In some instances it is time enough for a woman to worry when her husband is called on to testify in an investigation."—Washington Star.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism, like Charity, should begin at home. The man who is willing at any time to protect his country against foreign foes, should be willing AT ALL TIMES to protect his Family against such common foes as Poverty, Privation and Suffering.

A Life Insurance Company cannot take the place of a Husband

BUT—

It can preserve the family from want.
It can lighten their load of care.
It can build a barrier against adversity.
It can strengthen the foundation of the home.
It can certify to a man's affectionate regard for his family.
It can place his widow beyond the need of marrying for support.
It can add to a man's years by freeing him from anxiety.
It can enhance the respect and esteem of the public and of his wife and children for him.

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES.

At the morning service yesterday the pastor spoke on food conservation and pointed out that wastefulness not only lessened supplies but damaged character. This campaign would be of great educational value. Hitherto the great majority of people paid no attention to proportions or waste in setting food on the table, following only, under the pressure of necessity, a sort of blind instinct. Hereafter there will be more habitual prudence and intelligent thrift, which would be a signal gain, and would tend to balance the account between the goods and ills of war.

The Young Ladies Mission Band will meet for sewing on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m. These are serious times and man yare turning to God. The prayer service ought to be more interesting.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

SUN CROSSES EQUATOR.

At 10 a.m. Sunday the sun crossed the equator on its journey southward, according to the calculation of astronomers. This period of the equinox, as it is called, is supposed to be accompanied by equinoctial gales, but, according to the observation officials, the gales are a myth.

Sunday there were no storms anywhere on the continent and hardly a cloud in the sky so far as this district was concerned.

Herbert C. Treener, organist and choirmaster of St. Andrew's Church, is prepared to accept pupils in piano, pipe organ, voice culture, and theory. For terms apply at the J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd., Charlotte street, city.

The excellent results obtained by Principal Lawlor and staff at the Norwood High School during the past few years, has, doubtless, induced many parents to send their children to the local Institution. The attendance this fall in the First Form is the largest in years reaching forty-two, with the girls holding the predominance in numbers.

FIVE HUNDRED AND FIFTY ATTEND RALLY DAY AT TRINITY S.S.

Attendence at Same Event Forty-Two Years Ago Was Only 77—Program Yesterday.

Th high water mark for attendance was reached yesterday by Trinity Sunday School when five hundred and fifty scholars, teachers, parents and friends were comfortably accommodated in the Reid St. Hall. The highest previous record was four hundred and seventy-five. The school report for the third Sunday in September, 1875, forty-two years ago, read as an item on the program, showed an attendance on that day of seventy-seven.

The interesting program yesterday, owed its success to the hearty co-operation of every member of the school and to the kindness of friends of the congregation. The committee in charge sent out six hundred beautiful souvenir cards as invitations to every branch of the school, from the Cradle Roll to the Men's Brotherhood and the Married Women's Bible Class.

Aged and infirm members and friends were conveyed to and from the service by cars, as were also many mothers and babies, connected with the Cradle Roll Department. This branch of the work was ably taken care of by the men of the congregation under the direction of Mr. R. J. Kidd.

The actual platform program was pleasing from start to finish. A Chatauqua salute welcomed Mr. A. D. Hone to the chair. Mr. Hone in resuming his superintendency, for the day, gave some interesting side-lights on camp life at Petawawa where he has been stationed with the Cobourg Heavy Battery.

One of the school's oldest boys, Rev. Alex. Elliott, son of Mr. J. C. Elliott, 93 Aylmer street, on a holiday from his charge in Saskatchewan, was happily reminiscent. He found his Charlotte Street S. S. teachers, with one exception, retired from active duty.

Dr. J. P. Wilson performed the rite of baptism for six babies of the Cradle Roll Department and two members of the Junior Department.

Youngest and Oldest Member.

Th youngest member of the school present, John William Dawson, aged one month and one day, was presented with a silver cup by Dr. M. A. Morrison, on behalf of the school. Mr. Dowson replied very happily for his young son.

A beautiful bouquet of gladioli, presented by Mr. R. J. Kidd, showed the appreciation of the school for the presence of the oldest member, Mrs. Isaac Richardson, Homewood Ave., aged eighty-four.

Th music for the day was in keeping with the program. A bright solo by Mrs. King, rendered in her usual pleasing manner, was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. King directed the singing of the massed school. The orchestra, under the leadership of Miss Laura Logan, was generous with its selections which were heartily applauded.

The beautiful day, the happy faces and the good things said and wished, made a day long to be remembered in Trinity Sunday School.

"FLORA BELLA" AT THE GRAND

MUSICAL COMEDY COMPANY PLAY TO CAPACITY HOUSE ON SATURDAY.

The "Flora Bella" Musical Comedy Company, presented at the Garnd Opera House to a large audience Saturday night, the play that has been adopted for the story by Cosmo Hamilton and Dorothy Donnelly. The scene is cast in Russia and the plot deals with the rather free and easy style of living that prevails among the nobility in that country. There were fifty people in the cast and the singing and dancing was all that the most fastideous could desire. Miss Rhoda Nickelli took the double role of Princess Manja, and Flora Bella, the dancing girl, who carried on a harmless deception with her erring husband and finally won him from his delusion.

Gerald McDonnald was the comedian of the company and worked off a number of new jokes among several that gave every sign of the decrepitude of age.

The next attraction at the Grand is "Pretty Baby," presented by Jean Tynes and a large company next Wednesday, with the usual matinee.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer touched the freezing point yesterday morning for the first time this fall. The more tender vegetables received their first severe nip, though some, in low lying places, had previously been touched. The freezing point was first reached last year on September 30th.—W.P.

"What time did my wife say she would be here?"

"Dear me! I'm early."

Passing a Station.

The stranger was waiting for the local "fast" train which stopped at every other station. To his surprise, the train dashed through when it should have stopped. The stranger turned to the porter angrily.

"How is it that that train didn't stop here? I'll report this to the directors. The time-table distinctly states——"

"I'm very sorry, sir," broke in the porter. "It usually stops, but just now the engine driver's had a row with the station master."

"What do they mean by poetic license? Does a poet have to pay for a license?"

"No. If he did we'd have fewer poets."

"Why couldn't 'Eve 'ave the measles, old bounoah?"

"Cawn't say that I know. Why?"

"Because she 'ad Adam, old fellow."

Unity the Watchword.

The member and the committee expressed their determination to carry out in every way possible the conciliatory attitude adopted by the Prime Minister. It is felt that the coming election is not a contest in the ordinary sense but a getting together of all those who want Canada to support the cause and the boys at the front and afford them some relief as well as re-inforcement, on the one hand as distinguished from those who, like the French-Canadians, think Canada has done enough and are willing to ease up just when the strain is greatest. It would be manifestly unfair to talk "politics" or anything of that nature at a time when it will take complete unity on the part of those favorably inclined, at any rate, for this time being, to keep Canada's men at the front properly supported. A contest between candidates of similar views would be a calamity.

Enumerators are appointed, one for each polling subdivision under the Act, to fill up to date (with appeal to the County Judge) last year's lists, to strike off those required to be struck off and to put on the list women relatives of the soldiers overseas.

ELECTION NOT LIKELY BEFORE FEBRUARY SIR GEORGE FOSTER SAYS

There Will be an Interval of 28 Days Between Nominations and Polling on Account of Soldiers Vote —Work of Preparing Lists.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Sir George Foster has intimated that the election will be held some time in February. Dissolution of Parliament is scheduled for next week, probably Thursday or Friday. The Prime Minister will return to Ottawa at the beginning of the week, and the Cabinet will immediately address itself to the constitutional requirements of the situation. The desire to have the election over before Christmas suggests the early part of December, the 3rd or the 10th, as the most likely date, with nominations a full 28 days before, but it will likely be impossible to have the lists ready by that time. This inordinate interval between the nominations and the election is attributable to the soldiers' vote bill.

The Speaker of the House, before dissolution, will appoint an assistant clerk of the Crown in Chancery in London, to whom will be forwarded votes of the soldiers after they have been counted in Paris and London, respectively. Votes of soldiers at the front will go to the office of the Commissioner-General in Paris. Those from England will go to the High Commissioner's Office. The fact that the tabulation cannot start till all the bags are in, with 30 days as the outside limit in any case, suggests that the final result will not be known at home for a month after polling.

The New Lists.

In Canada there is to be a general returning officer at Ottawa, to whom will come the returns from the various constituencies, while there will be soldiers' votes from overseas to be added. This officer in turn will report to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery.

Immediately after dissolution the enumeration of the new lists will start. In each polling division enumerators will sit for ten days at least two hours a day, using, in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick the municipal lists, striking off those disqualified under the new act and adding the women's votes. In the western provinces and Nova Scotia the lists have to be entirely revised by enumerators. The fact that they are not to be printed will obviate a delay of at least two months.

Cabinet Changes.

Reconstruction of the Cabinet, involving half a dozen changes, is expected in comparatively short order, though there is a possibility of delay till after the election.

STRIKE IN ARGENTINE IS TRACED TO GERMAN AGENTS

Strikers Are Paid by Teutons to Remain Away From Work---Famine Inevitable if Railways Remain Tied up Even for a Few Days.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 25. — Argentine was paralyzed today in a general strike which tied up all the railways, cut off all telegraphic communication and threatens a famine in a score of cities.

It was learned on high authority that this Germans are paying many strikers expenses to prevent them returning to work. One hundred and twenty thousand men are already out. Buenos Aires is already without milk. Electric light plants are operated only by sailors and soldiers. Food prices soared to unheard of heights today.

The government advised all hotels to barricade their windows with shutters and to secure provisions enough for a fortnight. It is officially admitted that the continuation of the strike for even a few days will mean a food shortage.

This dispatch is filed via London the only means of communcation with the outside world now left to the capital.

FOUR MORE DAYS OF THE FIRST PERIOD LEFT

Subscriptions Secured After Saturday Will Earn Twenty Per Cent Less Votes---Subscribers Are Urged to Help Now.

Mr. Subscriber—The first period of the Review's great contest will end Saturday night at 10 o'clock. This is the time to help your favorite candidate—to make good your promise to make a payment on your subscription to the Review. The paper will not cost you any more next week, but the candidate will get one-fifth more votes if the subscription is paid before Saturday night. Another thing—the votes are free—the paper does not cost anymore during the contest than at any other time. Votes are given on payment on past due accounts as well as advance payments.

Out of Town Contestants

Those of the contestants who live away from Peterboro will be given an equal chance with those living in Peterboro. All subscription orders mailed on Saturday, Sept. 29 up to 10 o'clock and bearing the post-mark of that date will receive first period votes even though the letters are not received until the first of the following week. This will give the candidates in the outside towns an opportunity to work in their towns until the regular closing hour.

Contest Queries

Some of the contestants are worrying over what the others are doing in the way of securing votes. The contest people cannot tell, for they don't know. Here, however, is a pertinent question—don't you think your competitors are worrying equally as much over what YOU may be doing in the line of vote-getting? The prizes are just as alluring to them and naturally every candidate is exerting herself to be numbered among the winners. Do not be deceived by the apparently small vote of those behind you. Keep hustling and amass for yourself sufficient votes to be prepared for any surprise that may be sprung by some "dark horse."

Are you advancing or slipping to the rear in this great race? Four weeks from Saturday night will close the contest. How will you fare?

Everybody will get votes from now on—and everybody needs them. For it is votes that win and YOU can win if you have enough votes. The present leaders may be "tail-enders" when the contest closes.

"You can never tell." This sentence was made famous by Bernard Shaw. And you never can tell.

Who Said Organize

It is a wise candidate who places the right value on the power of organization. In a recent contest the candidate who was ultimately successful got her friends to line up with her during the last few weeks of the contest, each one being pledged to bring in a certain number of subscriptions. It was a combination that could not be beaten. She was the moving spirit of her immediate circle of friends inspiring them to work till the last in spite of continued discouragement. Each in turn applied to her immediate friends and interested others to do the same, thus forming an endless chain that brought success to the one who planned it all and gratification to her numerous friends

Subscribers—Don't wait for your favorite to call on you. Send your subscription direct to the office and the votes will be credited to your favorite.

Candidates—Make the most of every minute from now until Saturday night at 10. It's anybody's race today. You can win if you can convince yourself that you can't lose. Do it now.

ALLEGED DYNAMITERS PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN COURT AT MONTREAL.

LOCAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE FEELS EFFECTS OF STRIKE

Service at G.N.W. Office Badly Crippled Owing to Trouble in Toronto---Business Picks up Later---Toronto C.P.R. Operators Promise to Support Strikers.

The Department of Labor at Ottawa announced today there was no further development in the G.N.W. strike situation. Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, returned from Western Ontario today and intimated that the Department would do anything it could to bring about a settlement.

The situation at the local G.N.W. Telegraph office remains the same as yesterday so far as the two operators are concerned. They are both on duty as usual. Although neither of them is a member of the Telegraphers' Union, they have not yet been asked to join the organization. They had considerable trouble with Toronto this morning, the line being tied up for the best part of the forenoon—only two messages coming through up to ten-thirty The system subsequently found relief, and the boys then had a busy time with a flood of messages awaiting receipt and despatch. The biggest trouble experienced locally so far, seems to be with the Toronto service.

The local C.P.R. Telegraph office, while not experiencing a "rush" of increased business through the strike, still notice a larger number of despatches for their system than under normal conditions.

C.P.R. Men Will Help

Toronto, Sept. 25.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the striking Great Northwestern Telegraph Company operators was held last night in the Labor Temple on Church street, the international president, S. J. Konenkamp, occupying the chair and addressing the meeting. G. A. Pawson, general chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway operators, also addressed the meeting, and pledged the support of the C. P. R. operators, both financial and otherwise. He also pointed out the strong bond of sympathy that united the operators of the two companies in the fight for beter wages.

Of the 73 Morse operators employed in the Toronto office of the G. N. W. only seven refused to join the strikers

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1917

THAT SILLY PHRASE.

Some time ago, when conscription of wealth was proposed, it was said that it was a mere excuse for opposing conscription of men. That objection can no longer be urged, because conscription of men is already the law.—Toronto Star.

True; and so is conscription of wealth the law. The law does not conscript all men; and neither does the law conscript all wealth. A great deal of wealth is conscripted by means of the income tax and the excess profits tax. If The Star means that all wealth should be conscripted, let it say so. The proposition is a fair subject for argument. If it does not mean the conscription of all wealth, why keep on repeating like a parrot the silly phrase "conscription of wealth"?—Hamilton Herald.

MISDIRECTED ENERGY.

ESAU, in his extremity, disposed of his heritage-in-prospect for a mess of pottage. Unfortunately for his reputation as a man of his word, he later welched on his obligations and made war on the other party to the contract.

Such precedents as these are no longer safe to follow. Human nature has improved since the days of the degenerates who figured in the above transactions. No class of men can be induced to go back on their principles and desert their comrades in distress by a burst of good fellowship and a heavily ladened dining-table.

RAILING AT MR. HANNA.

CRITICS of Food Controller Hanna still assert that he has done nothing worth while in his new office but that the price of food remains as high as ever.

Mr. Hanna has served the country without compensation. He has inaugurated an educational campaign as to the relative value of food, the worth of which it is impossible to compute. As a public teacher he may, so far, have relied almost entirely upon a campaign of moral suasion. Compulsory measures will be resorted to if persuasion fails to achieve the purpose in view.

The public have been clearly shown their duty. The necessity for economy has been emphasized and the dealers have been warned. Everyone by this time knows what is expected of them and what they will be required to do if they fail to follow Mr. Hanna's counsel. The preacher and the teacher—and the Food Controller is both—usually tries persuasion before more stringent measures are adopted.

Human nature is a peculiar organism. The majority of people refuse to act until compelled to do so, and these are the first to set up a complaint that their personal liberty is being curtailed when the very measures they call for are adopted.

THE TEST.

THE MANITOBA Free Press, the leading Liberal organ of the West, in a recent issue says:

> "The declaration of duty by the Ontario Liberal newspapers cannot be improved upon.
>
> "They declared that 'the Liberal party of Ontario should stand squarely for compulsory military service and that no candidates should be supported who will not support this.'
> "This is the test of sincerity. No Liberal candidate, however sound he may be in other matters, who is opposed to compulsory military service, as a complement to voluntary enlistment, where this is necessary, should be supported by any Liberal newspaper which is in favor of the war. The same rule of conduct should apply to Liberal electors."

Whether a Liberal candidate is opposed to or in favor of conscription, he will go into the coming conflict handicapped. He will be like a man trying to save himself in deep water while he has a millstone tied around his neck. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the encumbering weight in this case.

Every Liberal candidate who is elected in Ontario or in any other province, means a boost to Sir Wilfrid Laurier for Premier. With the following which he is sure to get in Quebec, he would be in a position to work his will with the Conscription Act, and everyone knows his attitude on that question. The conscription Liberals elected outside Quebec would be so many men of straw.

The electors of Ontario will not be misled. They know that a vote for a Liberal candidate, no matter what his professions, is a vote for Laurier, a vote against the soldiers in the trenches and a menace to the safety of the Empire.

HERE'S A VIEWPOINT.

LA TRIBUNE, of Sherbrooke, advises parents to send their boys to the colleges and seminaries as usual, irrespective of what may be done by the authorities in putting the Conscription Bill into force. "We understand," adds La Tribune, "that a good number of parents hesitate to send their sons, aged twenty years and more, to the seminaries and the universities because of conscription. There are some, in fact, who propose to keep the pupils at home this year, at least till the situation becomes more clear or changes for the better. We consider this a grave error. In the first place, the future conscripts are quite as safe in the colleges as anywhere else, for the fact of the boys being near their parents will not absolve them from conscription. They, in fact, lose precious time in asking themselves from day to day what the future reserves for their children, for, if the law is not applied before election, which seems probable, in spite of the denial of the First Minister, it will be equally a loss of time. We know well enough that if the obligatory service is applied in such manner as the Government intends, the seminarists and collegians able to bear arms will not escape this arbitrary measure; yet at the same time it would be idle to cry over the matter, for during the next few weeks something may take place to bring tranquility to the minds of our people."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

POOR SWEDEN was not so crafty as she was easy.

• • •

WHO IS TO BE the capital K in Russia? asks The New York Sun

• • •

EATING SALT together may mean a lasting bond of friendship save and except at love feasts staged with a political setting.

• • •

WHEN ALL ELSE fails him, the man who in his heart is opposed to compulsory service can evade the issue by talking of the conscription of wealth.

• • •

PROBABLY the American censor will relax the rules and tell us where the world's series games are really being played instead of referring to the location as an Atlantic or a Pacific port.

GIVING UP all hope of electing straight Liberal candidates in the coming election, The Toronto Star is willing to split the difference and give labor men a chance at the fruit tree.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

How to Conserve Food Supplies
(Galt Reporter.)

Brief but to the point is the advice given on a food conservation poster, which says: Food—buy it with thought; cook it with care; serve just enough; save what will keep; eat what would spoil; home grown is best. If these short instructions are carried out a great deal of waste will be saved in many households.

Quebec on Top.
(London Free Press)

Quebec has won in the Liberal party to the extent that it has forced Laurier upon the English-speaking Liberals who voted for conscription. With here and there a notable exception, these Liberal public men have returned to the Laurier lead and acknowledge his power and authority. In subscribing to his control, they go over to the side of Quebec and against the men in the trenches.

Were Talked About.
(Montreal Star.)

Count Luxburg, the German Ambassador to the Argentine, who cabled home the pleasing suggestion that his Government should keep on sinking Argentine vessels in spite of its pledge, but should "sink them without leaving any trace," has become quite unpopular in the Fatherland. And properly so. Such things are not supposed to be talked about.

Reputation Already Gone.
(Buffalo Express.)

Thompson of Chicago now decides that it is time for the American people "to stand behind the army and navy." It took some hard smashes to wake him up, but he awaked—too late for his own reputation.

Free Speech.
(New York Sun.)

A great many people who are howling that free speech is being taken away from them mean by free speech the license to tell any lie that will hurt America and help Germany.

The Force of Habit.
(Boston Transcript.)

When men have been oxen as long as the German people have they can't be happy without their yoke.

ODDS AND ENDS FROM THE AMERICAN PRESS

Or the Flat Owners.
(New York Sun.)

It seems to the housewife that any corner grocer could have his bank account robbed of $300,000 without noticing it.

A Truthful Catalina Fisher.
(Long Beach Press.)

Dr. Crutcher is bemoaning the loss of a huge marlin swordfish, the first of the season seen in Catalina waters, which struck on the local angler's line, but which broke away. Crutcher denies the report that he was just about to land the big swordfish when its mate came along and reached up with his sword and sawed the physician's line in two, thus freeing the entangled denizen of the deep.

WAR OVERCOMES IN SIX MONTHS THE PREJUDICES OF YEARS

Canada has its Bourassa and the United States its Robert M. La Follette, senior senator from Wisconsin, who is a presidential aspirant and as such has set out to win the good graces of all the pro-Germans in the Republic, and in his own state these are in the majority.

"Germany has been patient with us," said Senator La Follette at the beginning of the war. This leads a writer in the New York Sun, sent to Wisconsin to investigate conditions, to remark:

"But Wisconsin is becoming extremely impatient with Robert M. La Follette. The great majority of the people of that State, where loyalty is arming to beat down sedition, are more than impatient, they are bitterly ashamed of him. They are beginning to put their heads together to see what can be done about his case."

The Lutheran Menace.

There are rural districts in Wisconsin which are as Prussian as Prussia, where German is the spoken tongue and German language newspapers the only newspapers tolerated; where American flags are displayed publicly and prayers for the triumph of the Kaiser and of German arms are said privately. These are districts where the Lutheran pastor is the only authority sympathetically obeyed by the people. Scarcely a day passes—certainly not a week—without the bells of churches in such districts ringing the people to meeting for the purpose, as their pastors explain, of hearing some visitor with an English sounding name present the truth about the war.

Lutheran Pastors Accused.

It must be explained right here, continues the writer in the Sun, that this charge against the Lutheran Church is to be heard not only in Wisconsin but all through the middle West. I have talked to fifty persons about the attitude displayed by Lutheran pastors in Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois and their testimony bends to the one patriotic grievance, that everywhere Lutheran pastors have exerted a dangerous influence upon their ignorant or poorly informed or racially prejudiced communicants.

Where they have not dared to speak openly in support of German militarism or openly to express the hope that Germany will win the war they have preached angrily against the draft, against sending troops to France, against lending money to our allies, against any form of war preparation tending to make Germany's position more perilous. It is asserted all through these States that Lutheran pastors have held aloof from all patriotic demonstrations. In some instances they have been forced to fly the flag from their parsonages, having refused previously to show Old Glory until they were threatened with personal violence or ejection from the community.

No such charge has been made against the German Catholics. On the contrary, the very men in the middle West who so indignantly denounce the seditious attitude of certain Lutheran pastors warmly praise the patriotic stand of Catholic priests born in Germany or born in this country of German parents. Everywhere priests of the Roman Catholic Church have entered int othe spirit of patriotic rallies. Everywhere they have told their people that conscription is democratic and necessary; that soldiers must be sent to Europe because the liberty of the United States is in danger, and that the war must continue until Germany is utterly defeated.

No domestic development of this war has been more interesting than the growth in Protestant estimation of Catholics in the middle West. Not so many years ago, as everybody who has lived in the middle West knows, Roman Catholics were targets of suspicion and of ignorant malice. Their loyalty was doubted. They were subjected to all sorts of business and social petty persecutions.

But a remarkable change has come over the spirit of communities where this feeling had existed— a change due very largely to the splendid stand taken by the whole Catholic Church, and especially by German Catholics, on the war plans and purposes of the United States Government. The prejudices of years have been overcome in six months.

Wit and Wisdom

A Change Desirable.

"That boy of mine is still sowing his wild oats."

"You should teach him the value of diversified crops."

A Bad Precedent.

"Why do you want a divorce from your husband?" asked a friend of the family.

"Because he isn't the man I thought he was when I married him," sobbed the young wife.

"My dear child, a general application of that principle would break up nearly every home in the country."

Our idea of a nuisance is a man who butts in when we are talking about ourselves.

A Thrifty Suitor.

He—I am a poor man, you know.

She—When we are married I can learn to cook, dear.

He — Hadn't you better practise while your father is supplying the raw materials?

Wrong Label.

"Women are said to be the spice of life."

"You can't depend on the labels, though. I figured on getting cinnamon, but I got pepper."

Bess—From his mother's; she was a poetess.

One Hiding Place.

"This is a queer little hole of a country of yours, Pat," said one of the Fly boys to our friends the other day.

"Begorra, an' as quare as it is," replied Pat, "there's wan thing ye can do in that ye can't do in yer own country."

"And what is that?" asked the draft evader.

"Hide!" replied Pat.

Didn't Figure on the Cost.

"Before we were married you used to say I should never want for anything."

"That's so. But how could I know the cost of living was going to do a sky-scraping act?"

Now He Goes After It.

"Times have changed."

"What now?"

"I was just thinking that I can remember the time when a man bought life insurance merely to get rid of the agents."

Peace a Necessity.

"When you married me you said you'd give me every luxury."

"Well, I've given you a car, haven't I?"

"Oh, that wasn't a luxury, that was a necessity."

"I've let you join the bridge whist club."

"Pooh! That was also a necessity."

"Well, I've let you have your own way in everything—but, come to think of it, I guess that was also a necessity."

Hallucination.

"You can't tell 'bout a display of authority," said Uncle Eben. "Many a man thinks he's doin' a fine job of mule-drivin' when de mule is jes' hurryin' home on his own account."

Reversed.

"When we were first married I gave my wife a regular allowance."

"And now?"

"Now she takes all my salary and lets me have the allowance."

In Doubt.

"What do you think of the new minister?"

"Don't know yet. He hasn't been here long enough for me to discover whether he is going to preach the kind of sermons I ought to hear or the kind I like to hear."

Fishing.

"Jibway has been telling me about a famous fishing hole he discovered. All you have to do is to drop in your hook and pull up a fish."

"Umph! I wouldn't put too much faith in Jibway's yarns."

"No?"

"Better make him tell you how long you have to wait after dropping in your hook before you pull up a fish."

The Empty Board.

The cellar's filled with fruit and jam.
We've pickled beets and pickled pears,
The pantry shelves with jars we cram,
We've jellies underneath the stairs.
She's stocked each dark and cool retreat
With all the food that she is able;
You can find something good to eat
Most everywhere but on the table.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

AN IMPOLITIC TAX

London Weekly Comments on Canadian Income Tax Act

London, Sept. 25.—The Saturday Review, discussing the Canadian Income Tax Act, says that Premier Borden at the recent colonial conference, declared himself against the system of dual income tax within the Empire, "yet we now find his Dominion imposing for the first time a dual tax which has been admitted by our treasury officials to be indefensible and impolitic."

SAVING SHOE LEATHER

Hints for Prolonging Life of Footwear By Use of Oil

War demands leather—leather for soldiers' shoes, leather for harness, leather for equipment of many kinds. In this country there is no such surplus that we can afford to waste any of it; and it is wasting leather not to care for and preserve it properly.

In the army and out we all wear shoes. If we manage them rightly they wil' last longer, we will not need so many new ones, and there will be more left for others. The following suggestions are from the Leather and Paper Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture:

Shoes should be oiled or greased whenever the leather begins to get hard or dry. They should be brushed thoroughly and then all the dirt and mud that remains washed off with warm water, the excess water being taken off with a dry cloth. While the shoes are still wet and warm apply the oil or grease with a swab of wool or flannel.

It is best to have the oil or grease about as warm as the hand can bear and it should be rubbed well into the leather, preferably with the palm.

After treatment the shoes should be left to dry in a place that is warm—not hot.

Castor oil is satisfactory for shoes that are to be polished; for plainer footgear neatsfoot, fish oil or oleine may be substituted. If it is desired to make the shoes and boots more waterproof, beef tallow may be added to any of these substances at the rate of half a pound of tallow to a pint of oil.

Secretary-Treas. Bellamy of Western Typo. Conference in City.

Byron W. Bellamy, of Medicine Hat, secretary-treasurer of the Western Canada Conference of Typographical Unions, was in town yesterday in consultation with George L. Myland, who holds the same position in the Ontario Typographical Conference.

There are at present three such organizations in Canada, one in Ontario, one in British Columbia, and one in the West. The Unions in British Columbia are really affiliated in conference with those in the United States.

An amalgamation of the Ontario Conference and Quebec unions is proposed under the name of the Eastern Canada, thus reducing the number in Canada to two and making for the strength which comes of union.

and remained on duty. The Canadian financial world felt the effect of the strike yesterday afternoon when the ticker services at the various stock exchanges were suspended. These services were run entirely by women, and all of these walked out yesterday afternoon in sympathy with the Morse operators. Several hundred brokers who rely on these services to provide their patrons with market quotations have therefore had to rely entirely on the telephone or else close down their office boards.

It was stated at the Labor Temple last night that every office of any size was being worked by officials, who were doing their best to keep up the service of the company. It was also said that the statement made to the effect that the government had submited a counter-proposition was entirely without foundation.

The Senatorship.

At the meeting of the executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association last week the members unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing Capt. J. H. Burnham, M.P., for the senatorship that is being urged for this city. This resolution was forwarded to Sir Robert Borden.

At the meeting last night Secretary Frank H. Dawson read a letter from the Premier acknowledging the receipt of his communication and stating that the Government would give the recommendation careful consideration.

Husband's Friend Gave Good Advice

"I Am Now a Stronger And Healthier Woman Than I've Been in Years" She Says

"I was almost a nervous wreck when I started on Tanlac and a few bottles of this wonderful medicine pulled me up to where I am now, a stronger and healthier woman than I have been in many years," declared Mrs. Sarah Clark, whose husband is employed by the Fairbanks-Morse Co. and who resides at 1245 Dufferin St., Toronto, the other day.

"My trouble began two years ago with loss of appetite," she continued, "and I soon got so I could hardly eat anything but what I forced down. Soon after rising from the table I felt an awful gnawing in my stomach and would bloat up with gas so that I could hardly breathe, and then I would begin belching up gas and spitting up little bits of undigested food. My nervous system was in a wretched condition and I was so restless that I lay awake for hours at a time after going to bed worrying over my many troubles. I became subect to spells of melancholy and was actually too weak and rundown to do a thing about the house.

"One day a friend of my husband's told him about Tanlac and said by all means to get me to try it, and it sure was good advice for before I had been taking it more than a week I was picking up and getting better every day. I have taken five bottles so far and it has given me such a grand appet to that I can eat anything I want and never have any trouble with gas or indigestion in any form. That choking sensation has passed off, my nerves are all right and my sleep is as sweet and restful as a child's. That tired, worn out feeling has disappeared and instead of feeling depressed I am more cheerful and take more interest in my household affairs than I have been able to do in a long time."

STILL HOPE FOR PARTY UNION

SIR GEORGE FOSTER ADDRESSES HIS CONSTITUENTS IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Sept. 25.—That Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues still hope for union government in time to avert a "party contest pure and simple," and that perhaps on that account the elections may be deferred for four or five months, were among the outstanding features of an interesting address delivered to the Ward 5 Conservatives in the new riding of North Toronto, by Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, last night. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the school house connected with the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, at the corner of St. Clair and Bracondale avenues, and the hall was taxed to capacity. Hon. Thomas Crawford presided and Attorney-General Lucas, Mayor Church, W. K. McNaught and other prominent Conservatives were in attendance.

Sir George intimated at the outset that he did not intend to make a partisan speech. He said that thousands of Liberals were supporting the Borden government— he believed the majority of the Liberals in Toronto—and certainly nothing was said to wound the sensibilities of the most sensitive Liberal. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his record were handled gingerly, and there was only a passing reference to the French-Canadians. Higher pensions to the soldiers, and votes for all the women were promised as two of the first measures to be passed by the next parliament, should the Borden government be returned to power.

LIBERALS AIM TO SPLIT VOTE

THEIR ONLY HOPE OF SUCCESS LIES IN RUNNING LABOR CANDIDATES.

A young lawyer who left this city last spring to work in a Toronto office with his former employer, told a resident of this city whom he met in Toronto recently that he proposes to return to Peterborough in the near future. He will take a desk in the office of a prominent local lawyer who unless all signs fail will be the Liberal candidate in the coming election.

Asked on what the party based their hopes for success in Ontario, the Toronto man said their only chance was to attempt to split the vote by running labor men in all constituencies where such candidates could be induced to offer themselves. In West Peterborough, however, that idea has been dropped and the Liberal candidate will be under the necessity of treading the wine press alone.

OBITUARY

C. S. CURRAN.

This afternoon Mr. C. S. Curran passed away at his home, corner of George and London streets, after an illness of three weeks. Deceased is survived by his wife. He came to this city from Toronto some years ago, since which time he had enjoyed the esteem and respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He held a position with the Metal Products Company and was a prominent Odd Fellow, under whose auspices the funeral will be held from the family residence Thursday afternoon, the time not yet arranged for.

JASON OLIVER WILLIAMSON

There passed away in Nicholls Hospital early this morning Jason Oliver Williamson, aged 88 years. He is survived by his wife, four daughters and three sons. The daughters are: Mrs. J. McPhee, Alpena, Mich.; Mrs. T. McIver, Smith Township; Mrs. J. McCarrol, Emily Township; Mrs. Wesley Porter, Walkerville. The brothers are, Thos. H., city; Eli, Lindsay; George E., City.

A funeral service will be held at eight o'clock tomorrow evening in the home of deceased's son, Mr. Geo. E. Williamson, 540 Bolivar street, from which the remains will me conveyed at seven-thirty Thursday morning to the C. P. R. station, thence to Pontypool for interment.

Deceased was born in Cavan from whence he removed to Peterboro five years ago.

ROBERT SMYTH.

An ex-mayor of the town passed away on Saturday, Sept. 22nd, in the person of Mr. Robert Smyth in his 75th year. The deceased gentleman was closely identified with the progress of the town in days gone by and was for years a prominent merchant of Lindsay. He was born in Yorkshire, Eng., coming to Canada when a babe of seven months. His people settled in Otonabee township, near Keene, Ont., and the deceased received his early education in Peterborough and Woodstock. For a time he taught school in Clarke and Hope townships, afterwards entering the mercantile business at Kendall, where he worked up a good business. Later on he moved to Montreal, where he was employed wit hthe well-known firm of T. J. Claxton & Co.

It was about 1874 that the deceased came to Lindsay and two years later the dry goods firm of Smyth & Bowes was established in the store now occupied by Claxton & Co. Later on Mr. Smyth moved into the store no woccupied by Mr. M. J. Carter, where he remained for a number of years, doing a lucrative business.

The late Robt. Smyth at one time took a deep interest in municipal matters and served the town as reeve for one year and mayor for four years (two different terms). He was a member of the I.O.O.F., a Methodist and a Liberal. He was also a captain in the 45th Regiment, to which title he was justly entitled. He served in the above rigement in the Fenian raid of 1866 in No. 4 company.

He was a good business man and a hard worker in his day. For a year or more past he has been ailing, gradually growing weaker and weaker. Left to mourn his loss is his wife and two sons, Messrs. Sidney, of Toronto, and Fred of St. Johns, Nfld.—Lindsay Warder.

FAKIRS REAP BIG HARVEST

VICTIMS AT DISTRICT EXHIBITIONS ARE STILL PLENTIFUL.

Visitors to fairs should keep in mind the fact that pickpockets are not the only sharks on the grounds making a business of separating them from their cash. There are fakirs, whose operations are to say the least questionable. At the Lindsay Fair a newspaper man watched one of these gentlemen operate for some time, and saw one innocent separate himself from $15.00 and another dropped $17. The faker who worked the marble scheme, had four "cappers" working with him, and of. course they were winners. On two occasions the faker handed them over $20 and $25, and this induced the "easy marks" to enter the game. No one won, however, save the "cappers."

AN IMPOLITIC TAX

London Weekly Comments on Canadian Income Tax Act

London. Sept. 25.—The Saturday Review, discussing the Canadian Income Tax Act, says that Premier Borden at the recent colonial conference, declared himself against the system of dual income tax within the Empire, "yet we now find his Dominion imposing for the first time a dual tax which has been admitted by our treasury officials to be indefensible and impolitic."

SAVING SHOE LEATHER

Hints for Prolonging Life of Footwear By Use of Oil

War demands leather—leather for soldiers' shoes, leather for harness, leather for equipment of many kinds. In this country there is no such surplus that we can afford to waste any of it; and it is wasting leather not to care for and preserve it properly.

In the army and out we all wear shoes. If we manage them rightly they wil' last longer, we will not need so many new ones, and there will be more left for others. The following suggestions are from the Leather and Paper Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Shoes should be oiled or greased whenever the leather begins to get hard or dry. They should be brushed thoroughly and then all the dirt and mud that remains washed off with warm water, the excess water being taken off with a dry cloth. While the shoes are still wet and warm apply the oil or grease with a swab of wool or flannel.

It is best to have the oil or grease about as warm as the hand can bear and it should be rubbed well into the leather, preferably with the palm.

Castor oil is satisfactory for shoes that are to be polished; for plainer footgear neatsfoot, fish oil or oleine may be substituted. If it is desired to make the shoes and boots more waterproof, beef tallow may be added to any of these substances at the rate of half a pound of tallow to a pint of oil.

He was born in Yorkshire, Eng., coming to Canada when a babe of seven months. His people settled in Otonabee township, near Keene, Ont., and the deceased received his early education in Peterborough and Woodstock. For a time he taught school in Clarke and Hope townships, afterwards entering the mercantile business at Kendall, where he worked up a good business. Later on he moved to Montreal, where he was employed wit hthe well-known firm of T. J. Claxton & Co.

It was about 1874 that the deceased came to Lindsay and two years later the dry goods firm of Smyth & Bowes was established in the store now occupied by Claxton & Co. Later on Mr. Smyth moved into the store no woccupied by Mr. M. J. Carter, where he remained for a number of years, doing a lucrative business.

The late Robt. Smyth at one time took a deep interest in municipal matters and served the town as reeve for one year and mayor for four years (two different terms). He was a member of the I.O.O.F., a Methodist and a Liberal. He was also a captain in the 45th Regiment, to which title he was justly entitled. He served in the above rigement in the Fenian raid of 1866 in No. 4 company.

He was a good business man and a hard worker in his day. For a year or more past he has been ailing, gradually growing weaker and weaker. Left to mourn his loss is his wife and two sons, Messrs. Sidney, of Toronto, and Fred of St. John, Nfld.—Lindsay Warder.

FAKIRS REAP BIG HARVEST

VICTIMS AT DISTRICT EXHIBITIONS ARE STILL PLENTIFUL.

Visitors to fairs should keep in mind the fact that pickpockets are not the only sharks on the grounds making a business of separating them from their cash. There are fakirs, whose operations are to say the least questionable. At the Lindsay Fair a newspaper man watched one of these gentlemen operate for some time, and saw one innocent separate himself from $15.00 and another dropped $17. The faker who worked the marble scheme, had four "cappers" working with him, and of course they were winners. On two occasions the faker handed them over $20 and $[illegible], and this induced the "easy marks" to enter the game. No one won, however, save the "cappers."

RESIDENTS LEAVING HOUSES TO CONGREGATE IN FLATS

Rapid Increase of Apartment Buildings in This City Due to Great Extent to Price of Coal—The First Flat in Peterboro—Central Heating Plant Proposed.

The last twenty-five years has witnessed many changes in Peterborough in keeping with its evolution from a lumbering wooden sidewalk town to a bustling electric city; but perhaps no change is more marked than in its principle of social and domestic economy. Twenty-five years ago the ambition of all was to own his or her own home in comparative domestic isolation, today the tendency by many is to discard residential dwelling ties and cares, and seek quarters in hotels, flats or apartments, where they live amid communal environments. This principle of residental communism was first instituted by Robert Omen, who in 1813 built at his own cost in Lanarkshire, England, a building to accommodate 200 people, but it proved a failure. In the last decade, however, department houses, and flats in all big cities, where property values and taxes are abnormally high, are springing up in central districts, and their accommodation is in great demand.

Today this is also the case in Peterborough where apartment houses and flats are sprouting in many unlooked for quarters, and in which a large section of the community find residental accommodation amid a conservation of all modern conveniences in compact areas.

The first Peterborough building to be converted into residential flats was the old Grand Central Hotel, at one time the leading hostelry here, and known all over the country. Eighteen years ago, when Mr. Geo. Gobel was manager, its license was cut off, and it remained unoccupied for a long time. The Toronto Savings and Loan Co. subsequently purchased the property from the Burnham Estate ad converted it into flats, since which time they have always been in demand, returning a substantial dividend on the investment.

This proved the nucleus of considerable movement in this direction, until today many buildings have evolved from their original business estate into household communal dwellings and others designedly so erected. They are:

The New Lundy Block, George St. west side, between Charlotte and King. (Stores on ground floor and residential flats above.)

Upper stories over the Bank of Nova Scotia, George street, between Simcoe and Charlotte, being converted by the Toronto Savings and Loan Co into flats with New York City conveniences, including independent phone connections.

The Meldrum Flats, Water Street, between Simcoe and Hunter, east side. (Stores beneath.)

Parkview Apartments, Murray St., opposite Central Park. (New.)

The Fleming Apartments, cor. of Fleming Place and Hunter streets. (New.)

It is also reported that a new apartment building is to be erected on Edinburgh street, below George St. South side.

The growing popularity of flats or apartments seems to be due to the conservation of heat and conveniences they offer, their ease of maintenance these days when help is almost impossible to secure, their central location and the comfort in which one can leave home knowing that a caretaker is in charge.

Perhaps the only true saving in hard cash by living in a flat or apartments lies in heating, a huge expense for the average house. In a flat or apartment the principle of communism obtains, where a number of families contribute to the maintenance of a general system, thus effecting considerable saving.

District Steam Heating

A number of years ago, a concern advertising themselves as the Peterborough District Steam Heating Company, floated into town advertising that they proposed to establish a public heating system from which steam was to be carried in mains under the streets, like gas, and connected with buildings. They applied to the Town Council for a street franchise, which however, was refused. Peterborough was not then sufficiently advanced in conservation principles to experiment with the scheme, which, if practicable, would today be in keeping with the general tendency to accept any economic plan by which the trials and tribulations of house-keeping may be modified.

PRISONER GETS NO R. C. PARCELS

CORPORAL CASSON WRITES TO HIS HOME FROM GERMAN PRISON CAMP.

Mrs. W. E. Casson, 480 Reid St., has received a letter from her son, Corporal B. F. Casson, who is now a prisoner in Germany, by which it appears that he is not receiving any parcels from the Red Cross, the inference being that these are appropriated by the Germans. The letter says:

Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know I am well, and I hope this finds you all the same. I received a letter from Mrs. Dennis of Dundas the other day. I see you have been paying money to the Canadian Red Cross which I wish you would not do, as I gain nothing by it.

B. F. CASSON,

Pte. Casson was taken prisoner, after a year in the trenches, on June 2nd, 1916, in the battle of Ypres, and has been held by the Germans ever since.

CALL TO ARMS WILL BE ISSUED OCT. 6th IS REPORT FROM OTTAWA

Men Anxious for Exemption Warned Not to Engage Lawyers to Plead Their Case.

The call to arms under the new Military Service Act will likely be issued October 6. Military authorities and civilians who, in one capacity or another, are directly interested in the enforcement of the Act are in Ottawa today for their final instructions from the powers that be. Instructions have been received by the Ontario registrar, who has to have his staff ready and his offices in shape for business by October 4.

Lawyers Are Barred.

Any Peterborough man who is anxious to claim exemption under the Act is warned not to engage a lawyer to plead his case. A scheme whereby certain shyster lawyers are attempting to victimize those who would come under the operation of the Military Service Act was reported to the Department of Justice at Ottawa. It appears that in a number of instances lawyers have undertaken for the financial consideration of $100 to secure exemption for those liable to be enrolled compulsorily. The department issues a warning that men cannot hope to save themselves by using such agencies, while lawyers engaging in such practice will get into serious trouble.

Doctors Are Scarce.

Word has been sent from Ottawa that while the members of exemption tribunals under the Military Service Act will be appointed at once, they will not be expected to begin their sitting until about the middle or perhaps the end of October. It appears that there may be some difficulty in organizing medical boards in the West, because of the scarcity of sufficient qualified officers.

INCREASE IN BUTTER

Cutting Out Ice Cream—Oleo Should Be Imported

If the sale of ice cream were stopped in Canada it would increase the supply of butter by one-third, according to the Toronto Health officer. Dr. Hastings is still strongly of the opinion also that the importation and manufacture of oleomargarine should be allowed in Canada. He has received from Dr. Adams, assistant director of the municipal laboratories, who is in England, the statement that it was a pity that the sale of oleomargarine was not allowed in Canada, as everybody used it there and found it quite palatable.

BASEBALL STARS, HEROES IN WORLD SERIES GAMES

Men Who Help Win World Championship for Their Teams in Contests in the Past.

The big hero of the 1906 world series games was George Rohe, an obscure substitute. Rohe's case is very unique. He never amounted to anything before or after that series between the White Sox and the Cubs, but he certainly shone with dazzling brilliancy that week. Rohe's batting won three games absolutely—even after they appeared lost.

Harry Steinfeldt was the hero, if anyone could be called that, of the one-sided series between the Cubs and Tigers in 1907. Chance's men won the series so easily that there was little chance for a star.

The 1908 series was almost a repetition of the preceding one, as the Detroit team failed miserably again against the Cubs. Frank Chance and Orvie Overall were the bright lights of this contest. Chance batted .421 and stole five bases, while Overall scored two shutouts.

In 1909 "Babe" Adams won a niche in the hall of fame. Adams was just a "kid" pitcher on the Pirate staff at the time, but he beat the Tigers three times, to the great surprise of everyone.

In 1910 the Athletics gave the Cubs a bad beating. Jack Coombs was the pitching star of this series, beating the Cubs three times. Collins and Baker both hit over .400. Coombs hit for .385 himself.

Baker again starred in 1911. This was the series in which he earned his soubriquet of "Home-Run" Baker by driving the ball over the fence on two dramatic occasions. These homers were the turning points of the series, and will always be talked about as long as the game endures. Baker batted .375 that series, and Barry and Collins also finished well.

Caught Ball Over Fence.

Harry Hooper was the real hero of the 1912 game. Hooper not only hit well, but he raced back and leaned over a short fence in the right field and prevented a certain home run by a miraculous catch. If Hooper had failed—as everybody expected he would — the Giants would have won the world's championship, because the play came in the last inning of the last and deciding game of the hottest worlds series ever played.

Incidentally, the name of Larry Doyle should be listed among those I have just written, for it was he who hit the ball that was actually a home run, as it went over the fence before it was caught.

Joe Wood, Hugh Bedient and Olaf Hendricksen also starred in the remarkable series of eight games.

The series of 1913 found Baker, Collins, Bender, Plank, and Barry playing in their usual good form for the Athletics against the Giants. However, Joe Bush takes the most honorable mention. Bush was just a kid pitcher then, in his first year in the league, but he went in with the series tied and pitched coolly and brilliantly, beating the Giants easily, 8 to 2. Schang did well also.

In 1914 Hank Cowdy was the big hero of Boston's roughshod four-game victory over the Athletics. Hank, a heretofore ordinary ball player, established the greatest world's series batting record yet recorded, hitting .545. He made six hits, of which only one was a single. Three were doubles, one was a triple, and the other one a homer. He drew five bases on balls.

Duffy Lewis the Star.

In 1915 Duffy Lewis of the Red Sox gave the greatest exhibition of all-around play ever seen in a series. His fielding and batting was phenomenal. Duffy hit .444 for the five games against the Phillies. Hooper hit .350, including two homers.

Last year Gardner and Scott of the Red Sox received most of the applause, although Duffy Lewis and Janvrin played excellently. Little Scott's fielding around the short field was the best ever seen in the world's series. Hooper also contributed one of his famous world's series catches.

McGRAW'S GOOD RECORD

When the Giants have secured title to the National league championship McGraw will have won his sixth pennant, a record in Gov. Tener's circuit. A. C. Anson won five with the Chicagos in 1880, 1881, 1882, 1885 and 1886. Frank G. Selee also captured five with the Bostons in 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898. Frank L. Chance managed the pennant winning Cubs in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1910. Fred Clark led the victorious Pirates in 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1909. Edward Hanlon also earned fame as handler of the champion Baltimore Orioles in 1894, 1895 and 1896, also managing the Brooklyns, who won the pennant in 1899 and 1900.

McGraw's first triumph with the Giants was in 1904, when his players included Mathewson, Wiltse, McGinnity, Taylor, Ames, Warner, Bowerman, McCann, Gilbert, Devlin, Dunn, Dahlen, Mertes, Bresnahan and Browne. McGraw repeated in 1905 with practically the same team, which also included Mike Donlin and Sammy Strang. McGraw's third pennant was captured in 1911, the Giants comprising Matty, Marquard, Crandall, Wiltse, Raymond, Ames, Drucke, Chief Meyers, Wilson, Merkle, Doyle, Devlin, Fletcher, Herzog, Bridwell, Becker, Snodgrass, Murray and Devore. The Giants, who again finished on top in 1912, had dispensed with Raymond, Devlin and Bridwell, McGraw adding Tesreau, Hartley, Groh, Shafer, George Burns and Harry McCormick to the club's roster. The fifth pennant was won in 1913 with the same team, to which were added Fromme, McLean, Grant, Cooper and Thorpe. Of the new champions Tesreau, Herzog, Fletcher, Burns, Murray and Thorpe still remain on the payroll.

McGraw is entitled to the credit for improving many of the coming champions. He exercised much patience in developing Ferdinand Schupp, who was ridiculed until he began his sensational pitching last September. Benton, Sallee and Perritt never pitched with so much effectiveness before McGraw secured them from other National league teams. Rariden and McCarty have caught better ball for McGraw than when they played with the Braves and Brooklyns, respectively. Gibson, under McGraw's persuasion, has come back with his former skill. It was McGraw's coaching that enabled Holke to become a first class hitter and one of the leading first basemen. McGraw also handled Heinie Zimmerman with so much diplomacy that the Bronx Dutchman is enoying his best year on the diamond. Bennie Kauff is another player who owes his success and popularity to McGraw's teachings. With so many conflicting elements to weld together into a powerful baseball machine, McCraw, it must be admitted, has accomplished wonders. Considering the fact that the Giants were tailenders in 1915, the work done by the little manager in building up another pennant winner in two years deserves unstinted praise. At the same time it must be remembered that McGraw, in performing this remarkable feat, has received valuable assistance from President Hempstead, the man with the big bank roll.

The development of waterpower in Norway has made electricity cheaper than steam in that country.

Mrs. G. M. Stevens, daughter of the late P. McLaughlin, deputy commissioner of New York police, who eloped with her chauffeur in 1915, is dead in Havana. She has left her fortune to her husband.

Two negro candidates have been named by the Republican party as candidates for the Assembly and for the aldermanic board in the Harlem negro colony, which now numbers about one hundred thousand.

All Schools Are Asked To Compete

At the city championships that are being held at the Oval on Saturday afternoon, is is expected that all the schools of the city will be represented in the school boys relay race. A new banner will be competed for as Central School has now won the event three times and retain the banner given for the event. No entries have yet been received for the Senior class, the Howden trophy open to competitors over 18.

The events will be run off promptly starting at 2.30.

The success attained by Miss Mabel Warner as an oil saleswoman has caused many other women throughout the country to take up selling as a means of making a livelihood.

General Election Likely in December

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—It is still believed here that the Dominion General Elections will be held in December.

Sir George Foster's reference in Toronto last night to February is taken here to refer to the date when the result of the soldiers' voting will be known.

A rural contributer says that cider is the spirit of the press.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

HOOPER—MORPHET.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. John's Church this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, when Mary Isabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Morphet, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr Frederic E. Hooper, second son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hooper. Rev. R. B. Grobb, rector of All Saints' Church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Walter Archbold, of Ocean City, Maryland, the bride's uncle. The bride was given away by her father and attended by Miss Margaret Jewett, of Toronto. The groom's attendant was Mr. Percy Hooper brother of the groom. Messrs. A. A. Fowler and T. P. Hooper served as ushers.

The bride entered the beautiful old church, on her father's arm, to the stirring strains of the Bridal chorus from Lohengrin. During the signing of the register Miss Phyllis Dawson sang "The Voice That Breathes O'er Eden," and the wedding march was from "Midsummer Nights' Dream."

The bride looked very pretty in her attire of white georgette crepe trimmed with rose point lace and silver sequins, with bridal veil of seed pearls and orange blossoms carrying a bouquet of ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore a charming gown of white georgette crepe, with black taffeta, and French hat of black velvet, and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony, the contracting parties and immediate relatives returned to the home of the bride's parents, 458 Hunter street, where a dainty wedding repast was served.

The happy couple left by the four o'clock C.P.R. train on a two weeks trip to Toronto and other points. The bride's going-away costume consisted of a tailored suit of navy blue, grey plush hat, with collar and muff to match.

GLENNON—CARSON.

The marriage of Miss Mary E. Carson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Carson, 181 Romaine street, and Mr. John P. Glennon, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, Chicago, was solemnized at the Church of the Sacred Heart this morning at 10 o'clock. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Flannagan, of Rockford, Illinois, a cousin of the groom, assisted by Rev. Father Feeley, of Harvard, Ill., and Rev. Father O'Brien, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart. The bride wore her travelling suit of navy blue, with toupe velvet hat and a beautiful seal scarfe trimmed with ermine, and carried a corsage bouquet of white roses and orchids. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Carson, of Detroit, in a navy blue suit, with black picture hat and her brother, Mr. Thos. J. Carson, of Saginaw, Mich., was best man. The bridesmaid's flowers were white and pink roses. The music was under the direction of Mr. John Armstrong, organist of the church. The guests at dinner, which was served at the bride's home, included only relatives and immediate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Glennon left on the 4 o'clock C.P.R. train for New York, and will later return west to Chicago, where they will live at 5447 Greenwood Ave. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. John Glennon, the groom's mother, and his sister, Miss Jane Glennon, of Freeport, Ill. Until recently Mrs. Glennon was superintendent of nurses at St. Anthony's Hospital, Rockford, Ill., but she is a Peterborough girl, with a host of friends here, who will unite in wishing her many years of happiness.

HYNES—O'HERON.

At the Church of Immaculate Conception, Ashburnham, this morning, Mary O'Heron, daughter of Mr. Morris O'Heron, Auburn, was united in marriage to Mr George Hynes, of Peterborough. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha O'Heron, and the groom by Mr. J. Garvey. Rev. Dean McColl officiated.

The happy couple left on a wedding trip to the United States, and on their return will reside at Cricket Place, Ashburnham.

Miss Wilhelmina Comstock, Brockville, who has been visiting Mrs. T. F. Matthews, returned to Toronto on Monday to resume her studies at the Conservatory of Music.

Mr. Guy Knight, of the Bank of Ottawa, Toronto, Mr. Padmore and Mr. McKensie spent the week-end with Mr. A. Forbes Knight, Hunter street.

Miss Marion Matthews, Lynhurst avenue, Toronto, spent the week-end with Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Park street, and returned to Toronto yesterday.

CANNING DEMONSTRATION

Large Attendance of Local House-keepers This Afternoon

The demonstration in the Conservatory of Music Hall this afternoon proved of considerable interest to visitors. The demonstration of how to make war breads on an economical basis in keeping with the call today for conservation of foods, was also a revelation of practical worth. The ladies will have another oppertunity of attending these demonstrations which are really worth while tomorrow afternoon, commencing at two o'clock.

MR. H. A. FRICKER HERE OCT. 15th

CELEBRATED ORGANIST TO GIVE RECITAL AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The musical festival promised the people of Peterborough some time ago is now assured them. Mr. H. A. Fricker, B.A., F. R. C. O., organist of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, will be in Peterborough October 15, and will give a recital in St. Andrew's Church. This church has been selected because it has, admittedly, the best organ in the city.

Mr. Fricker is recognized as one of the master organists in the world, and is without a peer in America. He recently came from England to succeed Dr. Vogt as leader of the Mendelssohn Choir and organist at the Metropolitan Church.

Mr. Fricker comes here at the request of the leading musicians of the city, and there is nothing denominational about the entertainment. The price of admission has been set at the low figure of 25 cents, and the proceeds will go to the St. Andrew's Church Patriotic League.

BRITISH CUT INTO GERMAN LINES

BRITISH ARMY RESUMES BIG DRIVE ON BELGIAN FRONT

Operations Began at 5 50 This Morning and General Haig Reports That Good Progress Was Made

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 26.—The British offensive in Belgium on a big scale was resumed this morning with further victories. General Haig reports: "We attacked on a wide front on the battle sector northeast and east of Ypres at 5.50 a.m. today and our troops are reported to be making good progress."

Gen. Maxwell Killed.

London, Sept. 26. — Brigadier-General F. A. Maxwell, V.C.D.S., a member of the late Earl Kitchener Indian staff, was killed in action. With the exception of Lieutenant-General William R. Birdwood, says the Express, it is a remarkable fact that all of Kitchener's Indian staff have lost their lives in the war.

On the French Font.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Official: Intense artillery fighting occurred last night on Verdun front between Beaumont and Bezonvaux.

Ostend Bombarded.

London, Sept. 26.—The German naval base of Ostend on the Belgian coast was bombarded yesterday by the British naval forces. British aerial patrols encountered six hostile airplanes and downed two.

French Steamer Sunk.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The French steamer Admiral De Kersaint, 5570 tons, was sunk September 14th, by a submarine in Spanish territorial waters. The captain was taken prisoner. Ten members of the crew were killed or died of injuries.

GERMANS RESIST DESPERATELY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Sept. 26—Along the northern half of the battle line to the east of Ypres, where Field Marshal Haig resumed the offensive this morning, the British have advanced at numerous places for a distance of from 1,000 to 1,200 yards. An early report, which was somewhat vague, indicated that the British infantry was fighting along a line only "a few hundred yards west of Zonnebeke."

The Germans are resisting desperately, and along a front of some thousand yards astride the Ypres-Menin road a terrific struggle is proceeding. In their new attack the British pushed back the Germans over the high ground east of Ypres.

CIVIL AUTHORITIES HAVE NO SAY

There is an enemy about, sowing a new variety of tares in the local wheat-field. Someone is spreading the report that the enforcement of the Military Service Act will be in the hands of the civil authorities in this city, that favoritism will be shown, and, as a result, the Act will prove a dismal failure, falling flat, as it would be sure to do, under either unskilled or indifferent management.

The local civil authorities will have nothing to do with enforcing the Act except so far as they may be required to carry out any instructions that may be received from the Government. That fact has been clearly established, both by the text of the Act itself and the explanations that have been made by its authors and sponsors.

The Military Service Act can be rigidly enforced in Peterborough, and even at that its effects are not likely to be more than perceptible. This county, under the first call will not be required to produce more than 250 men. These will be taken, not from the farms, already shorthanded or from the industries where they are usefully employed, but the object is to reach the men whose present services are of no value to the country.

No one will suspect the Medical Board, as constituted here, of favoritism. The Exemptions Boards are also above suspicion, and no local politician will have a say in the operation of the Act in any of its departments.

Vatican Denies New Reports of Peace

Rome, Sept. 26.—The Vatican denies the reports that Pope Benedict intends to make proposals for peace negotiations involving mediation by King Alfonso of Spain.

Chambers deputies at Argentine voted fifty three to eighteen in favor of rupture with Germany.

THE REVIEW CONTEST BULLETIN

Two more days and the first period will be over. Only a few more hours and the vote schedule will be reduced twenty per cent. Are you getting them?

Miss Vera Knox surprised the contest office yesterday with a splendid bunch of subscriptions. Miss Knox is very popular with a host of Peterboro people and the votes are coming in to her credit in fine style.

The average man or woman cannot afford to buy an automobile out of the income of a year. Why not get an automobile free by doing a little work in the Review contest.

All the way from Rochester, N. Y., came a letter to the Review office with vote coupons for Miss Cecile Kenneally. She is meeting with fine success and her friends are rallying to her support in right loyal fashion.

By the way, the first period will close next Saturday night at 10 o'clock.

If you live near Lakefield, get ready for a visit from Miss Alford. And watch her votes grow.

Nominations will not be received after Saturday night. If you intend to enter the contest send in your name NOW.

Old subscriptions as well as new count votes. Pay your subscription before Saturday night, Mr. Reader, and give your votes to the candidate you wish to see win the $1235 Touring car.

Miss MacMullen lives in Havelock but she is getting subscriptions all along the line.

A $475 Henitzman and Co. piano is the second prize in the contest. Will this be yours.

Miss Lillian Routley has many friends interested in her success and hardly a day passes that subscriptions are not received for her. Stick a pin here and refer to it on the closing night of the contest..

If you don't intend to enter the contest yourself, help one of your friends to win. It will do you good and may make a big difference to the friend.

Mr. Reader—You promised a candidate you would help her while the most votes were given. DO IT NOW.

Miss Loretta Booth has a host of good friends who will leave nothing undone in the way of getting votes enough to make her winner of the big car.

The vote standing will not be published again until after the close of the first period. See the second period schedule in the advertisement on another page of this issue. Study it over and get busy.

These are the most important days of the contest. "Make Hay while the sun shines."

Be the leader when the first period ends. The pacemaker always has the best of it. YOU CAN DO IT.

Huns Offer To Restore Belgium

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 26.—Germany has agreed to evacuate Belgium on certain conditions it is declared in a German official statement, according to the wireless press. Germany must have the right to develop her economic enterprises freely in Belgium, however.

U. S. WILL SEND MILLION MEN

AND FOR TIMES THAT NUMBER IF THEY ARE NEEDED TO WIN THE WAR.

New York, Sept. 26.—Prediction that the United States soon will have one million troops in France, and that if necessary "America can and America will put in double, treble or quadruple that number" was made by T. P. O'Connor, the Irish leader, in an address in Brooklyn.

"America is as determined to accept none but a decisive peace as she is to carry on the war vigorously to success," Mr. O'Connor said "It is to her strong right arm that we must look for the decisive blow against the Central powers."

EX-CHIEF HOWARD IS NOW DEPUTY FIRE MARSHAL

Secures Provincial Appointment at a Salary Double That Paid Him in Peterborough—Will Begin New Duties October 1.

Ex-Chief Howard, who recently resigned as head of the fire brigade, has landed in another position squarely on both feet. He has been appointed to a place in the office of the Provincial Fire Marshal, and will act as one of the deputies in Ontario. The position is one for which the ex-chief is eminently qualified and is one that is certainly to his taste. He has as a fire fighter always ranked high with the provincial department and with the underwriters. As long ago as two years his appointment to the position which he has just accepted was openly talked of.

The salary which the ex-chief will draw in his new position is more than double that which he received in Peterborough. That is a handsome allowance for the expense of moving and for the higher cost of living in Toronto. He will take up his new duties at once, but may not move his household to Toronto until next spring, as he owns the house in which he now lives.

There are other conditions besides the increase in salary which make the new position desirable compared to the one which he gave up here. He will not be subject to the jealousies of aspiring civic politicians, nor will he be denied the right to take an interest in public questions. A disposition to increase the scope of his usefulness will not be regarded as an offence. No spies will be set to watch his every movement, and tale-bearers will not be encouraged to report on his every act, official and otherwise. The question of his religion and church attendance is not likely to be taken into account. Furthermore he will have a chance to live at home like any private citizen.

It may be, too, that if the ex-chief ever chooses to do so, he may attend the Gaiety Theatre or any other place of amusement in the city without drawing upon his devoted head the wrath of self-constituted champions of personal and civic righteousness.

The ex-chief has been in no danger from the time he left his position here, as he is a skilled machinist and was offered a position at his trade in Toronto at seventy cents an hour.

CAN TAKE LENS AT ANY TIME

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Sept. 26.—The Evening Sun today publishes from London the following: "We can take Lens whenever we like," is a quotation attributed to Field Marshall Haig by Horatio Bottomley, editor of John Bull in an extensive "At Front" article today. Mr. Bottomley said the remark was "imperturably made by the British Commander. Continuing Mr. Bottomley explained, "I have no reason to think Haig would wish me to modify the statement attributed to him in an interview months ago that our cavalry is awaiting the opening of the gates so that the enemy's retreat will be turned into a rout.

OPERATORS HERE REMAIN AT WORK

STRIKE HAS NIT YET AFFECTED THE LOCAL G. N. W. OFFICE.

The situation at the local G. N. W. Telegraph office remains today practically the same as yesterday, the two operators are at their posts, and handling considerable business, although Agent Boomer fancies that Toronto is not responding as freely as usual. With despatches to and from small offices, but little trouble has been experienced. It is thought here that small town and village offices will not be materially handicapped unless the strike extends over a considerable period, and the ranks of the strikers are swelled by rural operators joining the union and quitting work. Such intention does not seem to be entertained in Peterboro at present.

BONAR LAW'S SON AMONG MISSING

ONE SON IS TURKISH PRISONER ANOTHER IS IN THE RANKS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 26.—Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has been informed that his eldest son Captain J. K. Law, R. F. C. is missing. His second son has been a prisoner of the Turks since last April and his third son, Anthony, is a private.

NINETY BOARDS FOR ONTARIO

PLACES WHERE MEN CALLED TO THE COLORS WILL BE EXAMINED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Ninety medical board centres have been authorized with a view to securing the most effective administration of the Military Service Act. Those for Ontario are:

Military district number one—Guelph, Harriston, London, Sarnia, Stratford and Windsor.

Number two—Barrie, Hamilton, Owensound, St. Catharines, Toronto, Sudbury.

WAR MINISTER WEEPS AT TRIAL

RUSSIAN STATESMAN DECLARES HE DID HIS BEST FOR THE EMPIRE.

Petrograd, Sept. 26. — General Soukomlinoff, in his closing speech at his trial for high treason claimed that the four years he spent at the war office were insufficient to properly organize the Russian forces. Nevertheless he sent a huge number of effectives to the front, which the Government naturally was unable to supply properly, although the mobilization was carried out brilliantly and it compelled the Germans to retract their steps from Paris just as they were about to achieve its conquest.

"I may, perhaps, have been guilty of mistakes but before God and the fatherland I have no crime with which to reproach myself," said the former Minister of War as he burst into tears.

Madame Soukomlinoff then addressed the court and in a voice choked with sobs declared vehemently, "We are not criminals, neither I nor my husband."

The jury then retired to consider the fourteen indictments submitted to them.

STOCK THIEVES IN HARVEY TP.

SOME ONE STOLE AND KILLED TWELVE CATTLE FROM BROWN'S RANCH.

A number of cattle, ready for the market, have recently been stolen from Brown's ranch in Harvey township, and no trace of the thieves has yet been found. The other day, however, twelve hides were found buried near the scene of the robbery, and the hides proved to be those of the cattle stolen. The thieves evidently feared to risk detection by offering for sale the hides, which, in the trial of the Dummer cattle rustlers, proved so important a link in the chain of evidence which sent a number of men to the penitentiary.

It is likely that the authorities will be called upon to make another round-up of the men who have no regard for the property rights of others.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS OF ONE AIRSHIP

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Berlin, Sept. 26.—The war office admits that one of the aeroplanes which raided England last night has not returned.

SUB. STORY DENIED.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Official denial was issued by the Navy Department of a published report that five merchant ships and two convoying vessels had been sunk by submarines. Secretary Danieles has promised that casualties will not be withheld from the public.

HUN AIR RAIDERS KILL SIX AND INJURE 16 LONDONERS

Damage to Property Light in last Night's Raid—Fleet Was Met and Driven off by British Airplanes

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 26.—An official statement says: Six persons were killed and sixteen injured in the southeastern outskirts of London in last night's air raid.

The area bombed in Tuesday night's air raid was inhabited chiefly by the poorer classes, but aside from the breaking of windows and slight damage to two or three small frame houses there was no property loss.

Although details are lacking it is reported that a thrilling battle occurred between German and British airmen last night, a few miles from London, which probably accounts for the fact that last night's air raid resulted in so little damage in the Metropolis.

German airplanes although they crossed the coast at different points, were met and continually harried by a large force of British machines. Whether any of the raiders was brought down has not been learned, but according to early reports the formation of the German fleet which was coming towards London at a great height and at great speed, was completely broken up by the British flyers. The raiders separating and all, except one which reached London, turned back closely pursued.

Sir George Foster Misquoted by Press

DID NOT SAY THERE WOULD BE AN ELECTION UNTIL FEBRUARY.

Capt. Burnham wired Sir George Foster asking him if there was any foundation for the statement attributed to him by The Globe yesterday to the effect that there would not be an election before February. Sir George replied that there was no truth in the report.

EVACUATING PETROGRAD.

Petrograd, Sept. 26.—Although there are no signs of panic among the population, and there are indications of returning confidence, the partial evacuation of Petrograd is proceeding, irrespective of whether the Government will be transferred to Moscow or not.

74TH BATTERY WILL NOT WINTER IN PETERBORO

All Batteries Will be Kept Together at Kingston—Mayor Duffus Hopes to Secure Depot Battalion for the City.

Last spring and summer when the 74th Field Battery was recruited in Peterborough, it was announced that this battery would in all probability be quartered in the Peterboro Armouries this winter. Since that time Mayor Duffus has left and is leaving no stone unturned to secure for this city the location of some military unit. He phoned Col. Ogilvie of Kingston this morning on the subject, and was informed that it was impossible to have quartered here the 74th Field Battery, as the authorities had decided to have all batteries quartered together in Kingston. This unit left Petawawa this morning and will be, or already are, in the Limestone City, settling down for the winter months.

Toronto authorities, thinking Kingston would be taxed to find military accommodation, sought the quartering of one battery in the Queen City, but met with the same response as Mayor Duffus—the batteries must be quartered at one point.

This morning his Worship also took up with Col. Ogilvie the possibility of securing for this city a depot battalion, and met with encouragement. The Colonel replied that he would do what ever he could in the matter. He recognized Peterborough's claim to military consideration as to winter quartering, and thought the mayor's negotiations would meet with the desired result.

Mayor Duffus is also writing General Hemming in Kingston on the question.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 26, 1917

POLITICS IN THE COUNCIL.

THE CITY COUNCIL is supposed to be a non-partisan body. No notice is taken of a man's politics when he runs for office, otherwise a census of the politics of the present members of the Board would show a different result.

There is a little one-storeyed Tammany Hall in process of construction in this city, and a political machine is being created in the Council. Two members of that body are ambitious. One aspires to a provincial the other to a municipal preferment. They have joined forces to achieve their several objectives, the one helping the other, acting for his colleague in the same capacity as the celebrated posts which a beneficent Duke of Argyle erected for the use of his retainers.

Each of these men represents the extreme of a factor which invariably creeps into political questions in Canada. They have, however, formed an alliance on this issue and have constituted themselves the censors of public morals. All for a purpose, all done with an eye on those positions upon which their hopes are longingly set.

A hymn sung by the Salvation Army sets forth that if the Prince of Evil puts himself in the path of progress, there is to be no halt, but the chariot is to be rolled ruthlessly over his carcass. The ambitious twain in the Council have evidently caught something of the spirit of the sacred song. Any public man who is likely to withhold his support to their plans can be got rid of, they apparently imagine, by a carefully-laid plot. It is possible to "get him," according to their mode of procedure.

The twain have constituted themselves a board of inquisition. When a man is liable to place himself in their pathway they can call a star chamber session of themselves, and, summoning before them some likely witness, proceed to rake up every scrap of gossip concerning the man whose head they are after.

British justice provides a fair and open hearing for every man accused or under suspicion. British courts do not hang a man on the whispers of idle rumor or on hearsay testimony. Not every man, even though he be an alderman, is conversant with the rules of evidence and qualified to conduct a hearing in which the reputation of another is at issue.

With a well-packed gallery the ambitious twain were deprived of their opportunity to pull off a grand-stand play. When the man whose head they were after resigned rather than face a packed tribunal, they still insisted upon getting the slimy gossip they had raked up against him before the waiting gallery and into the newspapers. They were frustrated in this plan only by the action of their colleagues in the Council.

The official whom they "got" has been appointed to a higher office at more than double the salary than he drew in the position which he resigned. His qualifications for his office have never been questioned, and the whole affair is likely to prove a boomerang for those who instigated the proceedings.

If ambitious partisans attempt to build a Tammany Hall and form a political machine in the Council for their own aggrandisement, no one need be surprised if political issues are dragged into the municipal field in elections in the future.

QUEER MEN BACK HOME.

There is no rest for the fighters overseas. Day after day they go forth to pay the price for freedom. Day by day they wonder what has come over the people of the homeland they left with promises to give them all needed support. Day after day it is sweeping down to them that some men back home are more interested in winning the election than in winning the war; that some men back home are beginning to say that "Canada has done enough"; that, while ready to cheer and sing at patriotic meetings and spare a dollar or two now and again for Red Cross, they really do not care to send more men, and that those at the front, having volunteered to go, let them peg on or peg out. Never mind the men at the front. Do not interrupt us while making money and playing party politics. We are glad to read, however, about the bravery of "our boys over there."—Ridgetown Dominion.

A LIBERAL'S CHANCES.

THE LIBERAL candidate in West Peterborough has been decided upon, [illegible] at the end he falters and lets the election go by default, as some of his real friends are urging him to do, instead of destroying his chances for the present and for all time to come. That candidate will attempt to pose as a conscriptionist. He will plead in that specious style of his that the Military Service Act is now a law and as such must be obeyed by every loyal Canadian.

[illegible] the unexpected, the unthinkable, should happen, and the Liberal candidate in West Peterborough be elected on such a platform. He would be included in the count to determine whether or not Sir Wilfrid Laurier was Premier or whether the Borden Government had been sustained.

Suppose further that the final count showed a majority for Sir Wilfrid. No matter how the election went in other sections of the Dominion, the Quebec Liberals would be in the majority. Sir Wilfrid would to all intents and purposes be a dictator. Even if the Liberal representative from West Petesborough were sincere in his professions, he would be helpless to render the cause of the Empire any aid, just as helpless as would the Conservative minority.

A vote for a Liberal candidate in West Peterborough, no matter what he professes, cannot be construed as a vote for the only measure left by which the Canadian army can be kept up to strength. So long as Sir Wilfrid Laurier remains as leader of the party, a vote for a Liberal means a vote for Laurier.

There are Liberals in Canada just as strong in their support of the Military Service Act as any one in the country. They have been embarrassed by the stand taken by their leader. No such political situation has ever before been developed in Canada. The remedy, however, is within the reach of every voter in the country.

WOMEN AND TEMPERANCE.

THE DELEGATES to the Ontario convention of the W. C. T. U., now in session at Cornwall, have stated their probable stand when they take an active part in provincial elections. They will align themselves with no particular party, but will support the one that has done the most for the cause of temperance.

The Conservatives will be quite willing to accept this issue and to court an investigation of their record and that of their opponents on the temperance question. They never made it a mere football to be kicked around the political arena. When the Liberals were in power in Ontario they balked at the very suggestion of prohibitory legislation. When they found themselves in opposition with a new leader who lacked a single plank on which to stand, the temperance issue was laid hold of by the heels. The skeleton was once more dragged from the closet into the light of day. The Rowell makeshift temperance policy, known in history as "Abolish the Bar," was born. It was at the best a compromise with the liquor interests. It would not really lessen the amount of liquor consumed in Ontario, but by encouraging the jug and bottle trade would rather have the opposite effect.

Friends of the Ontario Temperance Act realize that the only obstacle to its operation is the liquor store in Quebec. The Rowell policy would have made it easier still to obtain drink by leaving the liquor store on the corner.

The late Sir James Whitney, when Premier of the Province, tightened up the provisions of the Local Option law. He gave his word that just as soon as he received a mandate from the people he would pass a provincial prohibitory act.

Sir James Whitney, unfortunately, did not live to receive that mandate. It came from the people to his successor in office, Sir William Hearst. There was no hesitation. The pledge made by the dead statesman was redeemed. Ontario was given a prohibition enactment that has been supported by every power at the command of the Government.

FIGHTING IN A CORNER.

TENNYSON tells us of a country in which the people were harassed by a foreign foe, emaciated by famine and stricken with disease. They cried to their molten images for help and finaly their religious teachers professed to have received an answer. Something out of the ordinary must be done. Sacrifice was demanded. All the loss of life by sword and starvation counted for nothing. To stay the war and drive away the plague some life must be offered up to propitiate the angry gods. The child of the king was selected as the one whom he prized most on earth, but finally the boy's mother was taken as the sacrifice.

In olden days, when a nation found itself in dire straits, it generally elected to do something, or at least to call for something, that seemed really out of the line of duty. When the Russian peasants were goaded to desperation by their autocratic masters, they took it out on the unfortunate Jews. Finding the Balkan war going against them, the Turks slaughtered the innocent and harmless Armenians. In the American Civil War, when a battle went against the Northern forces, the negroes who had sought an asylum in the free states, wisely kept out of sight as the only means of escaping personal violence.

In the present war the plain duty of the Canadians is to fight to the last ditch. There are some who cannot see this matter in that light. They are under the delusion that the confiscation of wealth would somehow or other help to win the war. They would send shiploads of money instead of men to Europe, and leave the rest to Fate. "Conscript wealth as well as men" is their cry. Wealth has been conscripted, but they are not satisfied with the degree to which it has been taken. All the men in the country, in fact only a small percentage of them, are subject to the draft. Why, then, should the limit be insisted upon in one case if not in the other?

If the Government took every able-bodied man for military service and production ceased the result would be starvation. The Government could cripple the same industries and bring about the same conditions by confiscating the invested capital.

Pleading the conscription of wealth, as so many do, is simply the slacker's excuse. When a man is cornered on the conscription issue he has recourse to the phrase which may be made to mean anything or nothing. It is a phrase which many a candidate for Parliament will work threadbare in the coming campaign.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THE CYNICAL humorist who refers to Food Controller Hanna as an "appetite controller," is better as a phrase maker than he ever imagined himself to be.

FIXING THE PRICE OF COAL

We suspect that the most perplexing problem of production and supply is that which faces the coal administrator in Washington, Mr. Harry A. Garfield, says the New York Sun. Wholesale prices of coal have been fixed. There is much dissatisfaction over the prices set for soft coal. It is not helpful to read a Washington despatch beginning:

"Certain interests that would derive untold benefits in the event of a 'coal panic' have circularized industries in an effort to stampede the Government coal administration, according to a statement issued from the office of Coal Administrator Garfield today."

The worst of such intimations is that they get us nowhere but that they create an atmosphere of suspicion in which fair dealing becomes more difficult than ever.

Mr. Garfield is reported to be about ready to name coal administrators in each State and citizens' committees in towns and cities to examine local conditions and recommend retail prices. Later an apportionment of the supply is to be undertaken.

If it is true that the prices fixed at the mines by the Government will not permit of the operation of small mines it would seem that those prices will have to be modified in certain instances or that the Government will have to undertake the operation of these mines. They can hardly be allowed to stay idle, so serious is the demand for coal.

In Great Britain the Government long ago undertook the operation of coal mines and complete regulation of their output for the purposes and period of the war. The British Government has just put into effect detailed arrangements for the use of coal carried by rail to inland points for domestic consumption. A saving of 700,000,000 ton miles annually is expected to result from these changes, which provide for the use of the fuel, as far as possible, at or close to the points of production. We [illegible] probably have to copy this scheme, for coal miners in many sections of the country are working shorter hours because of car shortages.

There are only one or two recommendations which can be made to the average citizen and householder at this time. If he can supply facts to the coal administrator let him do so; but let him stick to facts. Complaints are not facts.

A cord of firewood still costs less in most places than a ton of coal. The owners of fireplaces should use them. By doing so a fire in the furnace may sometimes be postponed as late as the first week in November and discontinued as early as the last week of April.

HEREDITY IN STAMMERING

Is or is not stammering an inherited defect? Is it not a fact that most stammerers have parents or other relatives who themselves stammered?

Undeniably stammerers in many cases do have stammering relatives. But the common belief in the inheritance of stammering, indicated by these questions is by no means well grounded.

It rests, one may safely say, on imperfect observation.

A boy, a son of a stammering father, begins to stammer. At once people say: "He must have inherited that stammer from his father."

Question the father, however. To your surprise you are likely to learn that the father himself did not stammer until as a small child he was greatly frightened by something or was thrown much into the company of some other child or older person who stammered.

And it was not until he began to stammer that there was any history of stammering in the family.

Now, even the most fervent advocates of the omnipotence of heredity will balk at the idea that acquired characteristics can be inherited. That is, they will balk at it if they are grounded in the principles of molern science.

What may be, and probably is, inherited by all stammerers is an unstable nervous constitution. But this is by no means the same thing as a dircetly inherited speech defect.

It merely signifies that a stammerer is, from birth, unusually "suggestible." If, being suggestible, he is brought into frequent contact with other stammerers, and if at the same time he is for any reason under a nervous strain, it is easy to understand how he can through imitation begin himself to stammer.

On this basis—namely, that stammering is essentially a symptom of mental conflict and nervous weakness rather than an organic and inherited trouble—we have an adequate explanation for the case mentioned.

Take a stammerer when he is alone and unaware that he is under observation. Let him read aloud or speak. In nine cases out of ten he will read or speak fluently.

If his stammering were due to an inherited abnormality of the speech organs he could not possibly do this. He would stammer as badly as ever.

But if the stammering is an acquired and wholly functional disorder, associated with embarrassment when in the presence of others, then the ability to speak fluently in solitude becomes understandable.

And, in fact, medical science is today more and more inclining to the view that stammering is at the bottom a nervous symptom and can best be treated by the psychological methods now known to be most successful in the treatment of all functional nervous maladies.

On the inheritance theory there is little or no hope for stammerers; on the thory of acquired functional difficulty there is real hope.

It is surely fortunate that everything points to the latter as being the correct theory.

A MONTANA rancher, arrested for evading the draft, swore that he did not know there was a war on. At that he is no further behind the times than some Canadians appear to be.

(Brockville Times)

The Canadian who today knowingly wastes good food or pleases his palate and courts indigeston by overindugences is just as much a slacker in his way as the man who hikes for the wilderness to escape the recruiting officer.

Do They Count Cost
(Bowmanville Statesman)

We notice a woman ordered a half pound of bacon Saturday evening and instructed the groceryman to send it away down to the south ward. That same woman kicked like fury at the high price of the bacon. She has no one to blame but herself. Why is it that the women of this town cannot carry their parcels home? Do they ever realize how much the delivery wagons cost? Two men, two horses and two wagons will cost the proprietor about thirty dollars a week to deliver your parcels. Do you wonder why the cost of living is so high. Some women are too proud to carry their parcels home. If this war lasts much longer they may be mighty glad to have one to carry.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

There are times when it is advisable to listen to a fool's advice.

Many a convincing political speaker can't get a hearing at home.

Good habits of some men are as expensive as the bad habits of others.

When a man is really in love he thinks there is but one woman in the world.

A woman isn't necessarily homely because she is unspeakably beautiful.

A shrewd man may be both wise and honest, but the chances are that he is neither.

A man who has something to say always knows when he has said it—then he shuts up.

Once in a while there is a man so good-natured that he is nice to his wife's relatives.

Many more men would buy heavenly shares if they could be had on the instalment plan.

WHY WOMEN WRITE LETTERS

To Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

Women who are well often ask "Are the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing, genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letters?"

In answer we say that never have we published a fictitious letter or name. Never, knowingly, have we published an untruthful letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues.

It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

LITTLE WHEAT FOR WHISKEY

ANY SO USED IS UNFIT FOR FOOD, ACCORDING TO OFFICIALS.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Officials of the Inland Revenue Department, discussing the refusal of members of the Ottawa Women's Club and the W.C.T.U. to take any part in the campaign for signatures to food conservation pledge cards, state that there is a popular misapprehension regarding the use of grain by distillers. The women's organizations mentioned decline to sign the cards until the Government takes action to restrict or abolish the consumption of grain by breweries and distilleries.

According to the Inland Revenue Department, very little liquor, comparatively, is now being manufactured in Canada for beverage purposes. Practically all the whiskey being consumed was manufactured before the war began. The distilleries have been given over to the manufacture of alcohol used in the making of high explosives and for industrial purposes. Inland Revenue officials further state that, in any case, the small proportion of wheat that is used in that way it would probably be destroyed, as it is quite useless for food purposes.

BEST WHEAT IN WORLD

BIG INCREASE IN MOTOR CARS

THERE ARE 25,000 MORE IN USE IN THIS PROVINCE THAN IN 1916.

The phenomenal increase in the number of motor vehicles in Ontario is shown in the returns of the Department of Highways of the Province. There are no less than 75,000 motor cars in the Province at the present time, an increase of 25,000 during 1917. The total revenue derived fro mthe issue of licenses this year so far is $900,000, which is nearly fifty per cent. greater than the revenue from liquor licenses in the days when bar-rooms held sway in the Province. The increase in revenue this year from motor vehicle licenses is about a quarter of a million dollars, as compared with last year.

"Sky Pilot" Played To Large Audience

FIRST PRESENTATION TO CANADIAN PUBLIC MEETS WITH GRATIFYING SUCCESS.

"Ralph Connor," (pen name of Major (Rev.) C. N. Gordon), has done more than any Canadian to establish the literary fame of his country. His inimitable novels of life in the West and of pioneer days are read all over the world. Ralph Connor is as much of a celebrity in the United States as he is in his native land. He is probably the first Canadian whose works have ever been dramatized. The "Sky Pilot," has been made over into a play, incidents from another of his novels, "Black Rock," being incorporate in the work, and the drama was presented for the first time in a Buffalo theatre last week. Last night it was staged in the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto and resulted in one of the most brilliant dramatic events that city has witnessed in several seasons. The large playhouse was packed to its utmost capacity and several hundred would-be spectators were turned away. The audience included leaders in social, political and religious circles. The Caledonian society was well represented while many officers and men in unifor mlent color to the occasion.

There never was a moment's question of the play's success. It gripped the spectators from the very start and at its conclusion the audience evidenced its approval by six curtain calls. Throughout the development of the plot the spectators were successively thrilled, awed and amused. As the familiar Connor characters appeared, including the Pilot, Gwen, Broncho Bill, Ill Kendall and Bruce, they were greeted as old friends. The artists who portrayed them scored individual successes. In the cast are several New York favorites including Brandon Tynan, Regina Wallace, rnest Anderson, Eddie Heron, Elsa Frederic and Louis Leon Hall.

An interesting feature of the event was the presence of Rev. R. M. Dickey, the original Sky Pilot of Ralph Connor's stories.

The success was so striking and the advance sale of seats is so large that an effort was made to extend the Toronto engagement of the play for another week but this was prevented by the bookings that were previously made in other Canadian cities.

MAJOR BOUNSALL CALLED ON FORMER PRECEPTOR AT LINDSAY RECENTLY.

The Warder had a visit on Saturday from Major Bonnsall, of Bowmanville, who motored to town to take in the big fair, and is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Alex. McKay, Colborne street. It is just forty-five years ago since Major Bonnsall first attended camp with the old 45th Regiment, and the camp that year was held at Picton, and it was here that he first met "Bruno" Baws and other old Lindsay militia men. Major Bonnsall has only one son, but he has been wounded twice and is now in an hospital in England convalescing. The Major called on his old school teacher and life-long friend, Sir Sam Hughes, on Saturday evening, who was delighted to see him. He is remaining in town until Tuesday, and intends to attend the meeting of Lindsay Preceptory, Royal Black Knights of Ireland, tonight, when the Grand Master will be present.—Lindsay Warder.

HOT WAVE IN THE WEST

The heat wave which opened Saturday morning hit the whole of the Canadian West. The conditions were most unusual for this time of the year. On Saturday it was 74 in the shade at Winnipeg and on Sunday it jumped up to 82. Monday morning at 7 o'clock it was 63. Eighty-two on Sunday, however, was cool, compared with some other points in the West. Virden was the hottest, with 92, while Brandon, Qu'Appelle, Boissevain and Swift Current showed 90. Alberta was not quite so hot, 55 to 75 being the spread of temperature there.

MEDICAL MILITARY OFFICERS NOT ALLOWED TO WRITE OF THEIR WORK.

Camp Borden, Sept 25.— Articles on medical and surgical topics connected with the war have been appearing from time to time in the medical journals. The medical officers who are the authors of these, it appears, have overlooked the fact that not only by the King's regulations and orders for the army, but also by the special orders issued by the British Expeditionary Forces, of which the Canadian Expeditionary Force is a part, they are forbidden to do so without securing the consent in advance of publication of the Director-General of Medical Services, to whom all articles on such subjects must be submitted. Though the Assistant Director of Medical Services of the military district, the attention of all concerned has been called to this omission, and the correct procedure pointed out to them.

GETTING READY FOR THE DRAFT

OFFICIALS TO ENFORCE ACT NOW IN CONSULTATION IN OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Details in connection with the calling out of the first class of men under the Military Service Act were under discussion at a conference between the Military Service Council, the General Officer Commanding Eastern Military Districts and Registrars for the Eastern Provinces. The purpose of the conference was to reach a uniform understanding as to the operation of the Act.

The Board of Selection established to appoint one member of each local tribunal under the Act, will probably not complete its work for a few days. Under the strict terms of the Order-in-Council, the appointment of all local tribunals should be completed now. Otherwise the Minister of Justice is empowered to fill the vacancies. While, however, no official announcement is made, it is understood that the board will be given till the end of the month to complete its selections. It is anticipated that with very few exceptions the tribunals will be completed by that date.

In some of the more sparsely populated districts of the West, it is probable that the number of tribunals will be increased. The original basis was one tribunal for each 7,500 of population. But it has been found that adherence to a hard and fast line would work inconvenience in isolated settlements with populations of, say, two or three thousand. It is to meet such cases that increases in the number of tribunals is under consideration.

A point which has arisen in regard to cities is that of locating the tribunals in such a way as to give the minimum of inconvenience to applicants for exemption.

WILL USE THOSE SERVICE CARDS

STATISTICS FURNISHED THEREBY TURNED OVER TO MILITARY SERVICE COUNCIL.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—An indication of the number of men who will be secured in the first draft of the military service law is supplied in the cards and statistics which were secured by the now defunct National Service Board. These figures have been turned over to the Advisory Military Council.

Of the cards received and classified as "military prospects," the total number engaged in non-essential occupations was 286,976. These cards were signed by men between the ages of 17 and 45. They include both married and unmarried men, with or without dependents, and apply only to those who, so far as the answers on the cards indicated, were physically fit.

The registration cards showed that there were between the ages of 17 and 20 a total of 67,881 unmarried men, with no dependents, and not engaged in essential occupations. These men will naturally be the first to be called upon under conscription.

ISOLDE MENGES COMING TO "THE GRAND"

Famous Violinist Interviewed. To Give Concert Here

Miss Isolde Menges seen by a press representative said: She has just been visiting Montreal from New York. She came to the latter city in October last to give New York, Boston and Chicago Recitals. Many music lovers outside the large cities have not heard much yet of Miss Menges; but she is the idol of musical circles in large European centres particularly London, where her series of Queen's Hall concerts aroused extraordinary enthusiasm. She is classed with Ysaye and Menges at the top of the list of violinists. She is far the greatest instrumentalist England has ever produced.

Miss Menges' reply to the queries of the interviewer said: "I cannot of course go to many places in Ontario as engagements and arrangements will not permit; but I do think it's a shame that the smaller cities of almost every country are neglected musically. Artists with great reputations sometimes imagine that it is bad policy to visit small places; but I do not hold that view, as I consider music something sacred; something to be given to all who feel the reverence of life. Hardly anything stimulates the devotional side of our natures more than beautiful music, and to me it seems just as wrong to deprive people of music because they live in small cities as it would be to deprive them of the teaching of the church. The artist is only great when he is at heart both priest and artist—artists are indeed the high priests of "The Beautiful" is as Plato said "The Good."

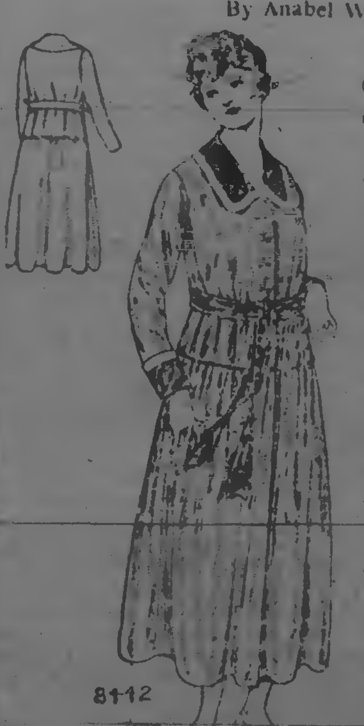
LADY'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.



8442

The fact that there is neither waist gathers nor inside belt to bother with is a very good reason for choosing this simple but very smart little dress, No. 8442. The upper section hangs straight from the shoulder to where the skirt joins it, and the closing is at centre front. The newest thing in collars—one of the narrow roll kind—is very chic, and it may be carried out in black satin to give a touch of contrast. A narrow sash of the same is very effective. The sleeves are long and close fitting, and they are trimmed with deep cuffs of satin to match the other trimmings. The skirt is very simple, for it has but three pieces, and is gathered and joined to the upper part with a cord.

The lady's dress pattern, No. 8442, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 5¼ yards 36 inch material, ⅜ yard 36 inch contrasting goods and 2 yards 36 inch satin.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

PROMPT ACTION BY DEPARTMENT

LOOKED UP CONDITION OF LCE.-CORP'L BALL AT PARENTS' REQUEST.

An illustration of the interest the Militia Department takes in the welfare of wounded Canadian soldiers and the promptness with which all enquiries are answered, has just come to light.

Robert Bruce Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, R. R. No. 4, went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, and was appointed instructor in England with the rank of sergeant. He was anxious to get to the front, and reverting to the ranks, was transferred to the 4th Battalion that has since covered itself with glory in so many of the fierce engagements of last summer. He was promoted to the rank of lance-corporal on the field.

At the battle of Vimy Ridge, Lce.-Corporal Bell suffered from shell-shock and was sent to the hospital. While convalescing he wrote home to his parents several times a week, making light of his condition. His mother naturally imagined that he was worse than he represented, and wrote to Capt. Burnham at Ottawa for information. The Captain replied that he had forwarded the letter to the proper department.

In a day or two Mr. and Mrs. Bell received the following communication from Mr. Frank Beard, director of records at Ottawa:

"I have the honor to inform you that the following is an extract from a cable received from England: Lce.-Corporal Robert Bruce Bell, Canadian Special Hospital, Eletinghill, progressing favorably. Will be fit in two weeks."

Mrs. Bell said to The Review this morning that this is the second time she has appealed to Capt. Burnham for information, and that she cannot do less than appreciate his interest and prompt action.

NEW EXPLOSIVE FOR THE ALLIES

AMERICAN CHEMISTS ARE SAID TO BE ON VERGE OF A NEW DISCOVERY.

New York, Sept. 26.—Thousands of chemists throughout the country are now waiting word from those in charge of the ammunition of our fighting men at the front to undertake the task of removing every foot of coal gas of its content of toluene, one of the most powerful explosives so that the allied troops may be protected by the most lavish use of high explosives, according to a statement made at the opening of the convention of the National Exposition of Chemical Industries.

Dr. C. H. Herty, Chairman of the Exposition Advisory Committee, in a speech opening the exhibit, emphasized the imperative need of pouring a flood of high-powered ammunition to the front as rapidly as possible, contending that such action is necessary if we are to win the war.

"Our men should be protected," declared Dr. Herty, "and every possible pound of high explosives that this country can produce should be manufactured and transported to the European battlefields. Trench warfare has met its master in high explosives. The terrible sacrifices of life can be lessened by the curtain of artillery fire; there is no time to lose. High explosives must increase faster than our man power."

Chemists from all parts of the United States and Canada were present at the opening session of the Exposition.

Discharged Men Subject to Draft

UNLESS THEY HAVE SEEN ACTUAL SERVICE AT THE BATTLE FRONT.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—All men discharged from the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Canada and who have not been overseas will be required to report under the terms of the Military Service Act. Their military service in Canada will not exempt them from the requirements of the act, and if they wish to secure exemption on any of the specified grounds, they must fill in their forms of application.

How far members of the C.E.F. who have been overseas and not seen actual fighting will be affected has not yet been determined. The act expects, among others, "men who have since August 4th, 1914 served in the militia or naval forces of Great Britain or her allies in any theatre of actual war and have been honorably discharged therefrom."

But, what is the precise definition of a "theatre of actual war." The Canadian soldier proceeding overseas, regards himself as in a theatre of war when he reaches England, but to the old country soldier, England is far from the actual war. It is probable that the term "theatre of actual war" will be submitted to high legal authority for a precise definition.

WOULD GIVE DEATH TO AGED

Medical Men in Chicago Favor Idea of Sir William Osler.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Legalized euthanasia, providing easy death for the aged, infirm, and those suffering from incurable maladies, an enlargement of the theory advanced several years ago by Sir William Osler, was favored by a vote of 37 to 24 at the opening of the sixth annual convention of the Association of Progressive Medical Men. Dr. W. A. Guild, of Des Moines, Iowa, read a paper in which he advocated the establishment of Government or State Commissions, which should have power to make legal the administering of an easy death to the aged, infirm, and suffering who are absolutely past medical measures and desire it, and where no responsible person objects.

RUMORS LAUGHED AT.

No Chance of Sir Sam Hughes Being Invited to Cabinet.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The report published in a Toronto paper that Sir Sam Hughes is to be invited to re-enter the Cabinet is taken as a joke at Ottawa; while Sir Thomas White will certainly remain where he is, not going to Washington as Canadian Commissioner, and Sir George Foster has a much better chance of being appointed to the Senate than to the Finance Department, as reported. In view of certain repeatedly expressed antipathies, it is not a very difficult matter here to suspect the source of recurrent rumors, always promulgated through the same channels, which alternately retire Sir George Perley and the Minister of Finance.

The Committee of the whole council will meet the Utilities Commissioners in the council chamber tonight, at eight o'clock to discuss a proposition for replacing the old street arc lights with incandescent lamps. H. STAUNTON IS PRESIDENT GREAT WAR VETERANS ASSN

Election of All Officers Made Necessary by Retirement of President and United States Tour—Big Meeting—Pensions Worth While Promised by Capt. Burnham.

A meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association was held last night to elect a whole staff of officers, rendered necessary by the retirement of President Dalliday last meeting, and the departure of the trench exhibition party on a tour of the United States.

The attendance was large, there being 28 veterans present, and the interest in the proceedings keen.

Capt. Burnham, M.P., presided. Col. T. Johnston of the 93rd Battalion was also present.

Officers Elect.

President—Harry Staunton.
Vice-Pres.—George Toone.
Secretary—Sidney Whatley.
Treasurer—George Coleman.
Executive—Gordon, Wm. Saxby.

Routine Business.

Regarding the Association's nomination of Sergt. Muir as its candidate for caretaker of the Armouries, Capt. Burnham expressed his pleasure at the interest in, and business-like manner of proceedings in that connection. He said, "I intend to be governed by the G.W.V.A.'s action, and when such a nomination is made with methodical arder there can be no fault found with it."

New Quarters Needed.

The Association has grown so large in numbers that it is absolutely imperative that larger quarters be secured. Last spring Mrs. Knox suggested a campaign in this connection, and proposed to put the matter in the hands of a ladies auxiliary representative of all the ladies' associations in town. However so many ladies having arranged to be out of town for the summer, it was deemed advisable to defer action until the fall. The time has now arrived when the boys are anxious for more commodious club rooms, and, on motion, Secretary Whatley will write the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary and enquire what steps had been taken, if any, in this connection.

Rooms at The Armories.

Col. Johnston suggested that, until such time as new quarters are secured the recreation rooms in the Armories might be taken advantage of. Captain Burnham promised that, providing Col. Walker consents, there would be no opposition by the Government.

More New Members.

Sergt. John Miller and Sergt.-Major T. R. Blunt, both at present on service at Queen's hospital, Kingston, were accepted as associate members.

The total number of members now is 131. Quite a few, however, have returned to the front.

Finances Flourishing.

The financial statements for both current expenses and relief showed a gratifying balance on the credit side.

Increased Pensions.

Capt. Burnham here, on invitation, addressed the meeting.

He declared that the people generally and the Government are anxious to show every possible attention both to the men at the front and to those returned. Probably the most engrossing question before the Government today, he said, is that of increased pensions. Last year he took up this matter with a committee composed of members from both sides of the house, and proposed such drastic changes that he was afraid his arguments might have suggested ambition. However, there is no question but that the high cost of living renders necessary increased pensions. Last year he offered to the committee 26 cardinal objections to the pension act, one of which was that no adequate provision is made for the poor widow whose boy has been either maimed or killed at the front. The committee considered these objections, but owing to the amount of expenditure their remedy would entail they were seemingly affrighted.

This year, when I met the committee again the Prime Minister, Sir George Foster and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were present. The Prime Minister did not speak, but both he and Sir George Foster recognize the need for amendments, while Sir Wilfrid was sympathetic and asked for proofs of my statements. And we are now going to have pension provision which will be worth while.

Confusion Everywhere.

Referring to regrettable delays at Ottawa in operations pertaining to returned soldiers and military matters generally, Capt. Burnham explained that the working of the system is extremely intricate. They issue 20,000 cheques a day and there are 100 ledgers in the department's building. The auditor general's office is some distance away, and it not infrequently happens that he sends for and keeps some days ledgers badly needed, say by the pensions department, and then operations are hung up for awhile. The civil service at Ottawa, continued Capt. Burnham, is not too competent, and does not compare with the Canadian Civil service our the Imperial civil service in London, England, where everything works like a clock. One thing, however, he would commend the Canadian service for, and that is they do not stint themselves in regard to cables, in regard to which commendable liberality exists. He regretted that there is considerable confusion everywhere concerning Canadian military matters, except at the front, where operations are conducted with methodical precision. But Canada is a young country, and conditions will improve.

United Support.

Comparing voluntary service with conscription, Capt. Burnham declared that the latter enables the country to say "what will be done, and it will be done." It will trim our armies overseas in such shape as to give what they need—maintenance and support. Many soldiers at the front today ought to have furlough, but cannot get it for lack of reinforcements. Conscription will remedy that.

The Coming Election.

Turning to the coming election, the speaker contended that it should be neither a Grit nor Tory contest, but simply a win-the-war campaign. "I don't know any better stand on the question than that of the Toronto Globe; I have their files and am going to use them in the campaign."

In conclusion, Capt. Burnham did not see the need for an election campaign, and urged the united support of any man of "win-the-war" principles, who enjoys the confidence of the community. For this cause, and in this occasion, all should be British and loyal, with one common object—to win the war. After the war Grit and Tory can go to the country and clean up such differences as the C.N.R. Canada today is all right and her future bright. All she wants now is the men with which to maintain her armies in Europe, and with those men forthcoming we shall have upheld the glorious traditions of the British Empire. In England they are proud of Canadians, whom they credit with having done exceptionally well on the battle fields of France and Flanders. "As the enforcement of conscription, the opinion of a member of parliament high up—I will not tell you how high—is that we need not be afraid of active resistance; the greatest menace to the act is that of passive resistance."

READ HER LETTER
Halifax, N.S.
"About eight months ago, I read your advertisement in one of the Halifax papers offering a free sample of Gin Pills for the Kidneys. I had been a martyr for years to intense pains across the back. Before I had finished the third box I found myself perfectly free from pain." Yours sincerely, (MRS.) JANE PERCY.

SIR WILFRID TO STAY AS LEADER

SAYS HE WILL STICK SO LONG AS HIS PARTY REQUIRES HIM.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Various rumors to the effect that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will retire from the leadership of the Liberal party have been set at rest by an assurance recently given by Sir Wilfrid to some personal friends. The Liberal leader stated that he would continue to lead the party so long as it was their wish he should do so. The split in the party, he said, he considered as merely temporary, and he believed it to be his duty to hold the party together to handle the great problems that would confront Canada in the future.

Sir Wilfrid's determination to stay in the fight practically means that conscription will be the only issue in the election. His uncompromising attitude towards compulsory service has made it evident that his return to power would be accepted by him as a mandate from the people to repeal the Military Service Act.

It is hardly likely, however, that he wil be able to take any very active part in the coming campaign. His advanced years and frequent attacks of lumbago make travelling almost impossible for him.

Married in Haste; Jailed for Bigamy

FORMER LINDSAY LADY DID NOT WAIT FOR COMPLETE DIVORCE.

Before Judge Coatsworth at Toronto on Monday Mrs. Shackelton appeared on a charge of bigamy: It appeared that she was married in Lindsay in 1893, and lived in Rochester until February, 1910, when she started proceedings for divorce. An interlocutory judgment was given on 29th April, 1910, and in July, 1910, she married a man named Fountain, on the advice of her New York lawyer, who informed her that she was at liberty to marry. In September, 1910, the final judgment was pronounced. According to the judgment handed ont by his honor, if she had wited until the final judgment was given before getting married again it would have been all right, but as she got married between the 29th April and Sept. 10, she was found guilty, and both she and the man were sentenced to 30 days in jail. It was pointed out that according to section 6-307 of the criminal code an honest belief on the part of defendant that she was divorced constituted "no defence" that she was divorced under this section of the criminal code.

DEFENDANTS ACQUITTED

Two Men Were Charged With Stealing Farmer's Grain

In the County Police Court before his Worship, Police Magistrate Langley, Benjamin Franklin L. Bowen and George Labell were charged with the theft of grain from Sidney Armstrong a farmer in North Monaghan. The case took all day for trial, and was finally disposed of by the acquittal of the prisoners. Mr. J. A. O'Brien of the firm of Gordon, Widdifield and O'Brien appeared for the defence and the Crown Attorney, G. W. Hatton, appeared for the prosecution.

CHRISTMAS FOR THE PRISONERS

PARCELS MAY BE SENT TO THE UNFORTUNATES IN GERMAN CAMPS.

There is a lively prospect that Canadian prisoners of war in Germany will be permitted to receive Christmas parcels from home. On that point a good deal of anxiety has been felt by the relatives of prisoners. They appealed to the Toronto Prisoners of War Association to help them with the result that the president of that organization, Ex-Ald. W. R. Plewman took the matter up with Ottawa and secured from Sir Robert Borden a promise to attempt to secure the desired concession.

Sir Robert Borden, Ottawa:

Eight months ago the relatives of Canadian prisoners in Germany lost the privilege of sending parcels from home to prisoners after being permitted to send Christmas parcels. Red Cross now sending standard parcels with minimum food and clothing. As president of the Toronto Prisoners of War Association representing more than half the prisoners in Germany would respectfully ask that you try to secure War Office consent to Canadian relatives sending parcels of certain weight or certain articles under any regulations found necessary to their loved ones for coming Christmas. Early action necessary if parcels are to be mailed in time.

(Signed) W. R. PLEWMAN.

W. R. Plewman, Toronto.

Telegram received. Will take up matter immediately and do my best to secure arrangement asked for.

R. L. BORDEN.

A number of Peterborough soldiers are in durance vile in Germany. Their friends at home may have an opportunity to give these unfortunates a Christmas as merry as possible under the circumstances.

CARTER, THE MAGICIAN, AT THE GRAND FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Carter, the magician, and his company of twenty-five people with fifteen tons of marvelous illusions, open a two day engagement at the Grand Theatre, Friday evening, Sept. 28. Carter has astounded the world with his incomparable mysteres and uncanny laughable entertainment in conjuring. He has visited every country in the world, creating a furore everywhere, and travelling over seventy-five thousand miles—more than three times the circumference of the earth. Carter travelled over five thousand miles into the interior of India and spent five months in Barares, on the banks of the sacred River Ganges, studying the occult, with the native fakirs and mahatmas, and as a result, brings back with him now a series of the most perplexing, confounding, and utterly surprising marvels, hitherto undreamt of in magic science. Carter saw the faithful exponents of Hindu magic, suspend animation, sit in air, project their astral selves, grow trees, divine thought and in diverse other ways manifest their seeming supernatural or preternatural powers. In India the thought for Levitation. Carter's masterpiece, germinated, and he will now present to America's millions, this last word in illusion building, which has been the dream of magicians and hitherto inexplicable.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism, like Charity, should begin at home. The man who is willing at any time to protect his country against foreign foes, should be willing AT ALL TIMES to protect his Family against such common foes as Poverty, Privation and Suffering.

A Life Insurance Company cannot take the place of a Husband

BUT——

It can preserve the family from want.
It can lighten their load of care.
It can build a barrier against adversity.
It can strengthen the foundation of the home.
It can certify to a man's affectionate regard for his family.
It can place his widow beyond the need of marrying for support.
It can add to a man's years by freeing him from anxiety.
It can enhance the respect and esteem of the public and of his wife and children for him.

Complete and absolute Family protection can be had by your taking a policy in THE SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, THE LEADING CANADIAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Few People Know This.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

Chuck Ward, the Pirate's shortstop and one of the best players of that position in the National league, recently passed his physical examination and will soon sign for the big game in France with the national army.

Tris Speaker is as gamo as they make them. After being hit with a batted ball in the face in Cleveland the other day he stayed out one inning, permission having been granted, through the kindness and courtesy of Hughey Jennings, of Detroit, and then resumed the game after having his map stitched in several places.

While the 6th Ohio band was playing the Star Spangled Banner at Toledo, September 11, First Baseman Mat Barry of the Milwaukee team shook hands with his clubmates and friends in the park and bade them good-bye, he having been caught in the selective draft of the U. S. army.

Gabby Cravath, the Philly National league star, is making another effort to be sent to a Pacific coast team, just as he did last winter. He would have succeeded then, only for the fact that waivers could not be secured on him. If arrangement can be made by Philadelphia to send Cravath to the coast, which will be only a reward for his splendid services, some club out there is going to get a prize. Gabby can still pole out the long drives for which he is famous.

Jess Willard declares he will promote his own fights when the time comes. Maybe the big champion is not getting very wise. He doesn't even need a manager these days. Jess is not the great "rube" some people thought he was, by gosh.

No wonder western fans are rooting merrily for the White Sox to come safely through. These sightseers of swat have had to travel east for their world series frolic since 1910. Seven years of long and dusty travel has brought on a keen desire to see the west horn in again after the big drought. It has been eight years since a western American league club won a flag, and variety is still said to be the spice of life.

The National baseball commission must be applauded for the decision to cable a 1,000-word story after each game of the world's series to the soldiers in the trenches in France. The money will be well spent. The idea of sending baseball scores and standings to the soldiers originated in Toronto, and it is some satisfaction to know that the National commission thinks so well of the plan as to follow up with stories of the big games.

The story is received of a society woman who wrote to Paderwiski for a "lock of hair." She received this reply: "Dear Madame—M. Paderwiski directs me to say that it affords him much pleasure to comply with your request. You failed to specify whose hair you desire, so he sends samples of that of his valet, cook, waiter and mattress, belonging to Mr. Pullman, proprietor of the coach in which he traveled in America."

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR ENTERTAINED

WARDENS OF CHURCH PROVIDE SUPPER AT PERSONAL EXPENSE.

The wardens of St. John's Church, Dr. Holloway and Mr. W. F. Johnston, entertained the choir in the school house last evening, at their personal expense. Forty-two guests were present, and an exceedingly happy hour or two spent.

The entertainment was of an informal character, consisting of a tasty supper served by Coleman Bros. and an impromptu programme of instrumental and vocal numbers.

This choir are entering into their season's work with renewed enthusiasm, and during the proceedings discussed with keen interest matters pertaining to furthering the choral work of the church. It was decided to prepare for a rendition some time during the season of that beautiful oratorio "The Creation," and "Olivet to Calvary," next Good Friday instead of "The Crucifixion," as for several years past.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the warden's for their hospitality.

"NOTHING TO IT" SAYS THE MAYOR

DENIES THE REPORT THAT HE IS A CANDIDATE FOR LEGISLATURE.

"There never was a story printed in any newspaper in the country so utterly void of all foundation than the report in Monday's Review that I am slated to succeed Mr. G. A. Gillespie as the Liberal candidate for the local legislature."

This was Mayor Duffus' emphatic denial this morning of the report that he had an eye on the local house as reform representative, when Mr. Gillespie retires from politics under pressure of his own private business. "I have never for one moment dreamt or thought of such a thing," added his worship; "there is absolutely no truth in the report. I never had any intention of such a political course.

BRITISH CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

RESULT OF NEW OFFENSIVE SATISFACTORY TO BRITISH

Advance Continues Along Front of Six Miles—Four Counter Attacks Repulsed and One Thousand Germans are Taken Prisoners.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Sept. 27.—The British continue to advance on a six mile front. One thousand German prisoners have been taken.

The official announcement follows: "Latter accounts show the enemy spared no effort to regain the important ground captured by us. The fighting on the battle front yesterday afternoon and evening was exceedingly severe. Between 4 p.m. and 7, four separate counter attacks were made in great strength against our new front from tower hamlets to the St. Julien-Gravenstafol road.

Result is Satisfactory

British front in France and Belgium, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The British are maintaining there lines strongly. The main battle today was in the neighborhood of Cameron Hu, south of the Eastern extremity of the Polygon wood, where the Austrians are pressing the Germans hard. The situation as a whole is virtually unchanged.

Northwest of Zonnebeke heavy fighting keeps up in the region of the elevations which dominate a considerable extent of territory. From the British standpoint situation resulting from the new offensive is exceedingly satisfactory.

Drop Tons of Bombs

An official statement issued today by the admiralty says:—"On Tuesday night our naval airplanes dropped many tons of bombs making several direct hits on the railroad lines at Thourout Junction the Lichtervelde Junction and the Cortemarck Junction. All our machines returned safely.

Sub Losses

London, Sept. 27.—Only thirteen large and two small British ships were sunk by Subs last week. Two subs were sunk off the British coast.

BRINGS NEWS OF TORPEDOING OF WENTWORTH

ANOTHER BRITISH SHIP WAS IN THE VICINITY AT THE TIME.

ALL ON BOARD DROWNED.

PASSENGERS AND CREW NUMBERED THIRTY-SIX BRITISH SUBJECTS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 27.—The Associated Press today carries the following: A report that all persons on board the British steamship Wentworth were lost when that vessel was sunk by a German submarine was brought here by the passengers on a British steamship which arrived here today. The Wentworth, of 2381 tons, was on a voyage from New York to Bordeaux when, as reported last week, she was destroyed on September 8, presumably off the French coast.

The British vessel which arrived here today was at the time eastbound in the vicinity of the Wentworth. Records at the British Shipping Commissioners office there were 36 persons on board the Wentworth, including Captain A. M. Mackena, all British subjects.

Of the second 20 per cent of New York city's draft quota called out 1,399 failed to report.

Capt. Burnham's Campaign Program

Editor Review: Having been asked lately if I expect opposition in West Peterborough and a strenuous, old-time contest, I may say in reply that there may be opposition, but that there will be no old-time politcal battle. It takes two to make a fight, and, so far as I am concerned, I have done my best since the war began to act solely as a Canadian in the interests of Canada and the Cause, not as a partisan. That has been the policy of many members on both sides.

The duties of Parliament have been long and very wearying; in addition to that I have had two years' uninterrupted hard work and a great deal to do for soldiers' families, and have felt, like others, the severe financial strain of my position and of the high prices. Nothing coming in has increased, but everything going out has at least doubled. The strain of all this has told upon me, and I intend to take a holiday and to kill two or three birds with one stone. I will be back (God willing) before election day, and intend to leave my political affairs meanwhile in the hands of the president of the Conservative Association, Mr. C. E. Moore.

There is but one issue now before the people, "win-the-war." That has been the cry of both sides, and it is true. Opposition, therefore, would mean opposition on this one point alone, unless it were felt that I am not capable or not sincere. If I am thought by the people to measure up to that standard, however, well and good. If not, then naturally they will want another man. When the war is over there should be another general election, and all political questions now in abeyance settled.

I do not think that there is any intention to ride into power on one great issue and to profit by it to remain there when the danger is all passed. Since the issue is and ought to be one and one only, I see no reason to debate it, and I shall not do so. Where the member is a Liberal and a conscriptionist, he will not be opposed by Conservatives. It may be that Liberal conscriptionists will not oppose me here. There is no real need of canvassing or of holding meetings to inform the people. They know all that there is to be known. I want, and respectfully ask for, the vote and support of every man and every woman who thinks me fit for the task.

The only remaining question is that of patronage. Only one question is asked when a vacancy occurs; that is not "Are you a Conservative?" but "Are you a returned soldier or have you sons, etc., at the front?" Political patronage is not in existence in this riding at the present time, and will not be, perhaps, again, but certainly not till after the war is wel l over and all who helped to won it directly or indirectly are provided for.

MEN BROUGHT IN TO END STRIKE ARE DEPORTED

NINE AMERICAN OPERATORS APPEAR IN MONTREAL POLICE COURT.

TWELVE OTHERS DEPORTED.

HAD COME FROM UNITED STATES TO TAKE PLACES OF STRIKERS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Sept. 27. — Charged with violation of the Alien Labor Law, eight men and one woman all Americans, appeared before Judge St Cyr this morning in connection with the strike of the Great North Western Telegraph Company operators. They pleaded not guilty, were remanded until Wednesday next and were allowed out on $100 bail.

Strike Breakers Deported.

Twelve others, all Americans too, brought in to take the places of the strikers, were deported by the Immigration Department today. Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, at Ottawa today intimated that Government might step in to force the Company to accept the Conciliation Board's award.

FIRST SITTING VOCATIONAL BOARD WAS HELD YESTERDAY

Arrangements made for Instructing Returned Soldiers in Occupations Other Than Those Followed Before They Enlisted if Unable to Continue Them.

The first sitting of the Vocational Training Board in connection with the military departmental and Soldier's return work was held in this city and for this immediate district, yesterday. Two members are named by the authorities and include Major Good, Chief Vocational Training officer for this district, with headquarters at Kingston, and Capt. Randall, of the same city, and who is the medical officer of the Board. The third member is named, or chosen, locally, Mr. F. H. Dobbin being selected. The Board so constituted is enabled to stand in touch with cases that come up where men express the intention to take instruction in other occupations than those to which they have been accustomed and to carry on which they may be physically incapacitated.

Several applications were brought forward from this city and district. These were examined and considered. The wishes and ambitions of the men were very carefully looked into and every assistance was given in the preliminary investigations. As the result reports were made and will be submitted and the authorities will take such action as desired or warranted.

It is not the intention of the work to induce men to make changes in trades and occupations where the man can follow the work to which he has been accustomed. But it is true that very many men have enlisted, seen service in the field and abroad and returned to civil life, such as followed the occupation of a laborer. These under consideration can hardly resume the hard bodily and muscular work as before. So some occupation must be found that the man can master in whole or in part sufficient to enable him to gain a living for the future.

Losses of limbs and arms and even an eye and the many injuries that will interfere have to be considered and met. Work in shops and factories is becoming so standardized that (as in the making of shells) a man can master one or more details and without learning the whole of a trade, become efficient in one or more branches and independent. Side by side with this a plan of education is in progress whereby the man can freshen up his school learning and fit himself for clerical employment if his wishes turn that way.

The endeavor of the Board is to see that as far as possible the man will follow the trade or occupation after a period of proficiency is reached, rather than to take train-

CASE OF RABIES FOUND IN SMITH AND B. RAY'S FARM QUARANTINED

Dr. Johnston Correctly Diagnoses Case of Sick Calf, His Finding Being Confirmed by Provincial Health Authorites---Officials Visit Ray Farm This Morning.

A case of rabies has been discovered on the farm of Mr. B. Ray at Fowler's Corners in Smith Township and the place is now under quarantine. Government officials are taking prompt action to prevent the spread of the disease.

Some time ago Dr. T. Johnston, the local veterinary surgeon, was called by Mr. Ray to treat a calf among his herd showing signs of a peculiar malady. Dr. Johnston at once suspected rabies and watched the case closely until the calf died. He then forwarded the animal's head to the Provincial Health Authorities at Toronto.

Word soon came back that the doctor's diagnosis was correct and that the calf had really died of rabies. Health Inspector Richards of Ottawa, who was in Toronto at the time heard of the case and came to Peterborough yesterday and with Dr. Johnston and Dr. Morgan, who is Health Officer for Smith, went out this morning to look over the situation at the Ray farm. It was decided in the interests of public safety to put the place under quarantine. Mr. Ray, however, will be at liberty to use his horses at farm work.

Origin of the Case.

At some time or other it is evident that the dead calf was bitten by a vagrant dog. There is a quarantine, imposed by the council upon dogs in Smith and the bylaw is rigidly enforced, and strictly observed. Notices are posted in every corner of the township.

Dr. Morgan will meet with the Smith Council in a short time to deal with the matter. Residents of the township maintain that the city is the real source of the danger. Urban residents take their dogs out into the country for an airing and they are permitted to run at large through the fields. Hunting dogs are another menace.

Health Officers Morgan and Amys of Smith and the city respectively, will cooperate in this matter. Inspector Richards has told them that they have practically unlimited powers in dealing with such cases as these.

Dr. Johnston has scored again as a practitioner in having his diagnosis confirmed by the experts at Toronto. He has sent several suspected specimens to them for investigation during the past summer and in every case his finding has been confirmed.

San Francisco may take over the trolley system owned by the United Railroads.

MR. CROTHERS TO USE BIG STICK

HE WILL SPARE NO EFFORT TO SETTLE STRIKE OF TELEGRAPH OPERATORS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The Journal-Press, a Government organ, says this morning, Hon. T. W. Crothers will use the "Big Stick," if necessary, to force the Great North Western Telegraph Company to accept the findings of the Board of Conciliation and end the strike today if possible.

DRY DOMINION FOR ANGLICANS

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The Church of England social service convention here, presided over by Archbishop Mathieson, Primate of all Canada, has passed a resolution in favor of total prohibition for all Canada.

WAR VETS. NEED NEW QUARTERS PUBLIC MEETING THURSDAY

Mayor Duffus has called a public meeting to be held in the City Council Chamber next Thursday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. The object is to discuss ways and means for providing the Great War Veterans' Association with adequate headquarters, suitably equipped, in which to hold their meetings.

The Mayor thinks it is up to the citizens generally to unite in seeing to it that nothing is left undone to meet the association's requirements in this respect. Their present quarters are far too cramped, and the membership is increasing month by month. At the last meeting the veterans took steps toward encouraging the ladies, through their organizations, to co-operate with them in a campaign to secure suitable quarters. Capt. Burnham and Colonel Johnston both promised to agitate for temporary accommodation in the Armories recreation room until such time as the G. W. V. A. is in possession of permanent club rooms of their own.

The object of the Mayor's Call should commend itself to all, and a capacity attendance should be forthcoming at the meeting on Thursday, October 4th.

BLACKLISTER IN COURT EVIDENCE CONFLICTING

One Bottle of Liquor Weighed Apparently 17 lbs., and Three Bottles 14 lbs.—Chief Thompson Hot Foot After Source of Liquor Supply.

A well known citizen faced Police Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge of having been intoxicated last Tuesday night, Sept. 18. Accused is a black-lister, Chief Thompson is determined to trace the source of his liquor supply, and felt convinced on this occasion he was on the right track. His worship, however, ruled out certain interesting evidence on technical grounds, and discharged defendant, contending that evidence submitted by prosecutor and counsel for defence was conflicting.

Carman Gould testified that accused was in Clydesdale's tobacco store on Tuesday night the 18th, and conversed with him about buying pipes. He asked me to phone for a hack, and when an auto arrived he was gone. I thought he had been drinking from the way he acted, but I could not say whether he was drunk or not. I do not know his habits sufficiently to distinguish between his intoxicated and sober condition.

To Mr. Kerr, witness replied he would not swear accused was drunk although he seemed to have been drinking, but he was not close enough to smell liquor off him.

D. Windover, chauffer at Fontaine's Livery, for the defence, testified that on Tuesday the 18th, defendant hired him to drive him home. He would not say he was intoxicated. Defendant was twice at Fontaine's during the day on business. He could not swear accused had not had two or three drinks, but swore he was sober. He drove accused home at about 10.30 on the night in question but not in company with a man named Cook.

To Mr. Kerr, witness swore that when driving accused home he smelt no liquor off him.

One Bottle or More

A witness for the defence, living on Charlotte street west, swore that defendant went to his (witnesses') home on the night in question at about 10.30, and stayed an hour playing cards, after which he went home. Accused then showed no signs of liquor. To Chief Thompson, witness admitted that he drank liquor and kept it in the house. He received a bottle on the 14th instant.

Chief—"Did it weigh 17 lbs?"

Witness—"I don't know."

Chief—"Well, the express books show that you got 17 lbs. of liquor that day." Witness adhered to his evidence that he only received one bottle of liquor this date.

Chief Thompson— "The Express books show that on the 22nd you received another parcel of liquor— 3 bottles, weighting 14 lbs. and yet you lead us to infer that you only got one bottle on a weight of 17 lbs."

Witness denied receiving this last shipment, and said if it came to his house his wife ordered it. He swore that he gave defendant no liquor the night in question, and that the latter left his house at 11.30.

Chief Thompson—"But, your worship, I am informed, and am practically prepared to prove that this witness does not drink himself.

Latter witness also swore that the accused never got drunk in his house, or that he had at any time sent liquor to defendant's home.

The Magistrate ruled that the evidence submitted was conflicting, and he would not be justified in pronouncing a conviction.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1917

HONOR THE DRAFTED MEN.

THE DAY is approaching when the Selective Draft will go into operation for the first classes named in the Military Service Act. The majority of those to be chosen will probably be men who foresaw serious difficulties ahead of their dependents in case they volunteered for service. The majority, now that they are needed and are officially called, will face their duty with a certain satisfaction. There has been a tendency to put too deep a gulf between volunteers and drafted men. While the country is forever indebted to the soldiers whose gallant spirit brought them first to the colors, it will also be indebted to the second line of defence. Drafted men in khaki will defend our interests overseas. They will protect Canada. Therefore they will be worthy of Canadian sympathy and support, of our cheers and of our enthusiasm. In Washington a parade was organized in honor of the drafted men. President Wilson marched at the head of it. Canada does not "run" to parades as much as the United States. But some means should be devised of expressing to the men now entering the army the country's gratitude to them and its reliance upon their efforts at the front.—Toronto News.

MAYOR DUFFUS AND THE LEGISLATURE.

THE REVIEW has no alternative but to accept as final the statement of Mayor Duffus to the effect that he is innocent of all political ambition and that his sole purpose is to serve the city to the best of his ability in the position in which the people have placed him. The Review has never questioned his fidelity to the trust that has been confided to him. We would not regard it, either, as a heinous offence or as unwarranted presumption if the Mayor did entertain a desire to climb still higher in public place. That is the birthright of every Britisher, and Mayor Duffus is entitled to give it free rein just as any other citizen is.

If, however, Mayor Duffus is anxious to be regarded as a man who is satisfied with his present surroundings and who does not aspire to higher preferment, he would do well to call off the friends who are pushing his interests without, it seems, authority from himself. If he has no ambition for the future, as much cannot be said for his admirers.

At a labor meeting in this city some time ago, when local politics were up for discussion, the statement was made that Mayor Duffus was to be a political candidate. Some of his friends had been sounding representative labor leaders as to whether the candidacy of the Mayor would find favor in the eyes of the class in the community that at that time was talking of putting up a candidate of their own. Neither the fact of the announcement nor the spirit in which it was received was mentioned by The Review at the time. There was a good and sufficient reason for remaining silent.

There is really no justification for the Mayor's display of temper in this matter as voiced in the newspaper that is supposed to support his party. No one insinuated that he was trying to supplant anyone or that he was wavering in his allegiance to the present local representative. It was clearly stated why Mr. Gillespie spoke of retiring. The field being clear, the Mayor has as much right to try for the vacancy as any other man in the riding. That this was his attitude has been the rumor for days. This rumor, taken in connection with the show of his hand at the labor meeting referred to, is our justification for the article which appears to have roused the ire of His Worship.

We do not take seriously the balderdash that our contemporary has provided in this connection. The unfledged innocent who came so rashly to the rescue starts out wrong, evidently being under the delusion that politics is something that is served at a pink tea. He takes his vocabulary for a phrase of opprobrium to apply to an adversary and naively enough the meanest thing he can think of is to insinuate that he is a Liberal. Under the trying conditions in which that party finds itself at present, perhaps the shaft does not really lack point. No one can justly accuse the Mayor's journalistic champion of aberration, as that implies action. Journalistic lethargy is the more fitting term. He should strive to leave such strenuous matters as politics to others and confine his energies to lighter duties.

Some months ago The Review published an article to the effect that friends of Mr. G. N. Gordon were getting him in training to replace Mr. Gillespie. This The Examiner denied with a brave show of indignation. It was probably all news to our neighbor, but the fact that it lacked information on this question was of no moment. The point is that one man directly interested knew of the movement for weeks and regarded the plot with entire equanimity.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

CAPT. BURNHAM announces in a communication published in another column that he does not propose to conduct an old-time political contest during the coming campaign. With him, win-the-war is the only issue, and that is the sole question to be discussed.

Now, if the self-constituted Board of Civic Inquisition can be induced to keep out of the contest, all will be well.

REPRISALS IN AIR FIGHTING.

LONDON PAPERS are calling on the British Government to begin a campaign of reprisals in the matter of air fighting and to send airships to Germany to drop bombs on towns and cities, slaughtering women and children, just as the Hun aviators have so often done in London. The victims of the raids on the British capital are also clamoring that the same style of warfare be adopted against the foe.

The world was shocked when the Germans outraged all the ethics of modern warfare and civilization by using poisoned gas against the Allies. The idea of reprisals in this regard was repulsive to the British. Barbarous methods of the foe did not justify similar methods on the part of the Allies. These scruples were finally overcome, and in the use of gas the enemy has been beaten at the very game which he invented.

Making war on soldiers in the field is a vastly different matter from the cold-blooded murder of women and children or of patients in a hospital. When the history of this war comes to be written may it be possible to find in the record no reflection on the honor of the Allies. Let it be said that through it all they fought as civilized men fight and that not one life was taken that could in humanity be spared.

England's air fleet will yet solve the problem without resorting to the tactics of the Hun.

THE MIDDLEMAN.

FOOD CONTROLLER Hanna in a statement issued to the public says:

> "Unless the consumers in the cities of Canada signify their willingness to face a complete disruption of all trades, a total breakdown of real estate values and the utter demoralization of labor conditions in their cities, the Food Controller cannot possibly accede to the demand made in some quarters to 'cut prices down,' to 'sell food at cost,' or, as it is otherwise expressed, 'to do away with the middleman.' Such goals may be partially achieved. How much or how little can be done will be made known to the public from time to time, as I find necessary. But however great may be the hardship of present food prices, however popular would be the movement to have the Government sell fish or any other commodity at cost, however overburdened Canada may be with the class of people known as middlemen — radical measures cannot be promised, except upon such terms as I have just indicated."

The problem of the middleman will always remain as one of the hardest of all economic nuts to crack. The chances are that he will continue to hold his place. He may be temporarily deposed and reduced to the ranks as a pauper, but such a change means the overthrow of all industrial conditions.

A Toronto minister, writing to a paper in that city, added another suggestion to the already long list of those offered to keep down the cost of living. He and the members of his congregation formed a union for the purchase of supplies by wholesale, taking turns in buying and distributing what was required.

In this case the volunteer was the middleman. If he worked for nothing, he should take that loss into consideration. If he gets pay for his services, he is simply putting himself in the place of another.

The farmer decides to abolish the middleman and takes his own produce to market, instead of selling to the huckster who makes the rounds once or twice a week. The farmer's time while he is at market is certainly worth something. He may receive more for his produce, but while he acts as his own middleman he is entitled to allow himself something in the way of wages. It is all a question as to whether he or the professional middleman can do the work at the lesser outlay.

Every consumer is an asset in the community in which he resides, that is, so long as he is able to pay for what he requires. To dispossess is to pauperize him and make him a liability instead of an asset.

OUR SYMPATHIES.

TO THE LOCAL WRITER who last night almost worked himself into convulsions in an attempt to discredit the political intelligence published from time to time in these columns we beg to extend our sincerest commiseration. He will soon be called to higher and sterner duty than that of acting as retriever for the Liberal party, and the change is liable to jolt his tender nature.

THE VOLUNTEER FALLACY

Civil War and Spanish War Lessons for Those Who Still Oppose Conscription.

Prof. Milledge L. Bonham, of the Louisiana State University writes to the New York Times a letter on the conscription issue. The arguments which he uses in favor of the draft apply with equal force to this country although Canada has never had the trouble with the volunteer system the United States appears to have had. The letter, in part, is as follows:

It was recently reported to me that several (supposedly) well-informed citizens had stated that it was unwise for the United States to resort to a draft, because "history shows that no nation which has used a conscript army has ever won its war. For example, in the civil war, the South, which had conscription, was overpowered by the North which did not." As a professional student and teacher of history, I must confess that history has never taught me that. On the contrary, it has taught me, and every one else but the persons just quoted, that on March 3, 1863, the United States Congress passed an act providing for a Provost Marshal General, who "should direct throughout the country the forced enlistment of troops by draft." Next year, this act was amended and made much more stringent.

It has been frequently asserted, in Congress and out, that at the call of their country volunteers by the million would spring to arms. Whatever history teaches, it does not teach that this dictum is sound. For example, we find that in New Orleans, at the outbreak of the civil war, some commands found it so difficult to fill their ranks that they offered so much per head for recruits. To secure this head money, unscrupulous gangsters used violence to secure "volunteers." Some of these "unwilling patriots" were British subjects, and their appeal to their Consuls caused the matter to come to light.

During the Spanish-American war I was myself a volunteer, and had some opportunity to observe the workings of the system—which was not systematic and did not work. Of course, there were as many types of volunteers as there were individuals, but the bona fide volunteers in our regiment can be fairly divided into two classes. By far the larger class consisted of high-spirited, patriotic men, 18 to 45 years old, who enlisted at the first call, partly from a sense of duty, partly from a love of adventure. Most of these could have been of more service in some other calling than that of a soldier—for example, teachers, farmers, expert mechanics, druggists. In some companies none of the officers had ever drilled an hour before enlisting. The second group consisted of rather worthless men, few of whom had the makings of soldiers in them. This was a small group, as it included those whose poverty led them to accept the pittance of a private, ne'er-do-wells, and (no doubt) a few criminals. From these two groups were secured barely the minimum necessary to have the regiment mustered into service. When it came to recruiting the companies up to full strength it was hard to secure a volunteer. Persuasion and coaxing had to be resorted to. Some of these recruits complained that they had been deceived by the recruiting officer. For instance, one said he had been told that a drink of whisky was served as a regular ration with each meal. To my personal knowledge one man enlisted while intoxicated.

To glance at the other side of the question—while it was so hard to secure recruits, many of whom were poorly fitted for a military life, many young men with military training were holding alooof. One young fellow, with absolutely no one dependent upon him, had been my roommate at a military school. When asked why he did not enlist, he replied: "Oh, I have a good job now and don't see any need of throwing it away just to go into the army." In other words, "Let George do it." Usually George is the one who could do more good in some other capacity.

Under the draft, all who are able are liable, and those best fitted for other work than soldiering can be assigned to it. No needless delay will encourage the enemy while we are waiting for some one to persuade the unwilling to "volunteer."

Another favorite argument of those who do their thinking with their tongues, is that it is not proper for a democracy to use conscription. By universal service to Swiss democracy has secured a well trained army of a million, with a large reserve. This is one good reason why her neutrality has not been violated. France is a republic and has long used conscription. Without it Joffre would never have secured an army in time to save Paris. Despite its king, England is a democracy. After trying in vain the volunteer system (?) she had to resort to conscription. With it she has the fine army with which Haig is doing so much.

Volunteers are not debarred from coming forward under the conscription plan. Any one below or above the draft age is still at liberty to volunteer. But the number of those liable for service who are seeking exemptions indicate what a poor dependence the volunteer plan would have been. Conscription is in accord with good military science, with sound political science, with patriotism and common sense.

Lofty Thoughts.

"Ought to be stronger than ever now. Those who are forced to plain living are doing some tall thinking."

Foolish Stranger.

Senator Chamberlain, while conducting the food control bill through the Senate, listened one afternoon with a bored look to a long and prosy opposition speech.

As he listened, he happened to look up, and in the strangers' gallery he saw a deaf man take out an ear-trumpet and apply it to his ear.

Senator Chamberlain stifled a yawn, and, nodding towards the deaf man, said:

"Look at the deaf man up there throwing away his natural advantages."

It Was Found.

A clergyman whilst on his way to church one Sunday morning lost a pocketbook containing valuable papers. After the service he made his loss known, and said that whoever found the pocketbook and restored it to him would be well rewarded.

An old man immediately rose up at the back of the church and cried out: "It's found, sir!"

"Oh, thank you, thank you, my man," said the clergyman. "Have you got it with you?"

"No, sir," answered the man; "but I comed that way myself after you did, and it wasn't there then."

Music in the Home

"A CERTAIN LIVELINESS."

Operatic Selections Given in Sunday School Each Sabbath.

In an Ontario town there is a Sunday School Orchestra which is unique in its way. It is of the size of the ordinary theatre orchestra, four violins, viola, 'cello, bass, 2 clarinets, a flute, 2 cornets, trombone and piano. Now it happens that there is a vast deal of music of excellent, though light type, orchestrated for just such an ensemble as this. The conductor, realizing that an orchestra which confined itself to hymns, whether grave or gay, would not be interesting enough to keep the players awake. With the co-operation of a broad-minded pastor, the conductor determined to play a special selection each Sunday. The first was the Overture to Zampa, old-fashioned, but pleasing. The people liked it and clammered for more. Thus came a series of marches, overtures and selections from mass, grand opera, and sometimes from light opera. A visiting clergyman came for a special occasion. He heard a selection from Faust and it chilled him to the bone. "If that were my orchestra," he declared, "it would never play such a thing in the school room."

Why not? The question is reasonable, especially since theologians for 25 years past have dwelt insistently upon the joy and happiness of the mystical life. Nobody expresses joy and happiness by a mere succession of lamentations in four-four time. The old notion was that anything Christian must necessarily be dull. For that reason, perhaps, Rossini in his Festival Mass directed that "O Salutaris" should be played in "Andante Cristiano—" a sort of Christian slowness. But Christianity is not slow. The job of conquering the native impulses of humanity is full of swift variety, if not of excitement. We hear too much of "Sabbath Day Music." All good music is worthy. Bad Church music exists, as any one knows who has plodded through the evangelistic hymnal of common type. Better a thousand times to play in a Church Hall a Scherzo from one of the Masters than a trivial rag-time melody fitted by some bungling musical carpenter to "sacred" words. The spirit of the Sunday School is designedly more free than the spirit of a Church service. For the latter the music should be selected unquestionably from the great mass of Church music written by the best composers. Plain-song in a Sunday School would not be fitting. It is always worthy in its proper place. Perhaps there is reason in giving a Sunday School orchestra some free-quoted, it attracts large audiences at all times of the year.

TOSCANINI'S DECORATION

Arthur Toscanini who sat in the conductor's chair for several years at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York is now serving his country as director of a military band on the Austrian front. Recently he was decorated by the Italian Government for gallant conduct under fire. During the battle of Monte Santo, despite the enemy's shell-fire, he kept the band playing and greatly cheered the Italian soldiers marching to the assault. This is the story as Mr. Toscanini's New York friends have given it currency. Probably it is accurate, though those familiar with British practice in battle may be doubtful. The Italian interest in the Fine Arts is proverbial, and probably the army authorities have a closer knowledge of the stimulating effect of martial music upon a fighting man than the Geerals of any other nationality.

Without roll call the American Senate passed eight billion dollars war deficiency bill. Nearly eight hundred million was added to the measure as it came from the house.

NEWSPAPERS VS. CRITICISM

Artists Do Not Pay For Publicity After Recital

In the current issue of The Canadian Journa lof Music the place of honor is given to an imaginary conversation between a Music Critic and the Managing Editor of a Daily newspaper. The trend of the argument is to show that no artist, however promising, can hope to secure a reasonable "notice" unless he or she has first spent some money with the newspaper in advertising. There are such newspapers, but the writer asserts that all of that character a thesis he may find most difficult to sustain.

For the public performer there are only two divisions of time,— before his recital and after it. For the newspaper, so far as it is interested in the news of the day, a similar division o ftime exists. The object of the musician is to secure as much publicity as possible before the recital so that he may have a good audience. The object of the newspaper, in the same period, is to prevent that musician getting such publicity unless he or she pays for it on a reasonable business basis. Once the recital has been given it becomes a matter of news, entirely distinct from advertising and the critic is free to express his opinion, within the limitations of space which the day may reveal.

Men engaged in criticism in Toronto are in league with the newspaper business office only Before the Recital. It is positively astonishing to discover the vast enthusiasm of some musicians for complimentary advertising. Notices like this come to the critic's desk in shoals: "Mr. Harmonica Stringendo the distinguished Italian pianist has finally yielded to the solicitations of his friends and has consented to give a recital in Foresters' Hall on Monday evening, when he will have the assistance of Mr. Horatio Howlemout the eminent and artistic baritone. Tickets may be procured at a dollar each from the Music stores." Is there any reason under heaven why a newspaper offering its advertising space for sale should print such a notice wtihout demanding payment? Suppose the notice has gone into the waste basket and the Recital occurs according to plan. The critic attends as his duty requires. He returns to the office, writes his criticism as honestly as he can and it appears the next morning.

In fifteen years of experience of Toronto newspapers the writer cannot remember a single instance of Business Office interference with the Critic "After the Event." On the big daily papers of Montreal and Winnipeg the same rule of non-interference exists. Surely therefore it is unfair for the writer in the Canadian Journal of Music to leave impressions to the contrary in the minds of his readers.

DUTY OF MARRIED MEN.

Choirs Suffering for Male Voices Because of War's Demands for Men.

An eminent organist of Hamilton declares that the question of the male section of our choirs is becoming a problem even in Hamilton where ecclesiastical competition is not so keen as in Toronto. He wonders why young men are hard to replace. Many other chorus masters have had a similar feeling. Choir after choir has been shot to pieces by the war. Usually the male choristers, being the finest of the wheat, felt the call early in the war. Duty, not inclination summoned them to arms, but they went willingly none the less in the belief that the Old Timers left at home would fill their places. They have not done so. One of the most prominent choirs of Toronto had only five men at a recent September service. Before the war there were seldom fewer than twenty in the choir loft. Yet in the congregations may be found scores of married men under fifty who for various reasons sit comfortably in their pews and see the church music go to pieces. There ought to be a Conscription Law which choirmasters could put into effect. The clergyman might act as an Exemption Board. He could be trusted to make short work of such excuses as "My wife wants me to sit with her," "I am too busy to come to rehearsal," "I am out of practice," and "the music is too difficult." The male section is the foundation of any choir. It would be a pity if the traditions of church music built up by years of toilsome effort should be lost because the married men won't play.

"PRETTY BABY" AT THE GRAND

JIMMIE HODGES ONE OF THE BEST COMEDIANS EVER SEEN IN THIS CITY.

Jimmie Hodges, in the musical comedy "Pretty Baby," scored a distinct triumph at the Grand Opera House last night. The seating capacity of the theatre was taxed to its limt and the performance was deserving of the patronage given by the theatre-going folk of the city. The applause and encores, insisted upon by the audience showed that the entire show was greatly appreciated and the announcement that a return engagement has been arranged for later in the season will be good news to many of those who were there, and to all of those who missed the opportunity of enjoying the performance last night.

Mr. Hodges pleased the audience immensely. He is perhaps the best comedian heard in this city for several years. His jokes were new and his songs were new and his manner of expression was a decided treat. He sings extremely well and his rendering of "So Long Mother," was very clever and touching. "She's Dixie all the Time," a new and catchy song hit was enthusiastically received and Mr. Hodges' high lyric tenor voice was heard to splendid advantage in this number.

The plot in the show—and of course there never is any real plot in any musical comedy—centered around a young and attractive husband who, rather than remain at home with his beautiful wife, preferred to cavort around the cafes and roof gardens of Broadway with the newer ones. The husband's part was well played by Ollie Hodges while the part of the pretty wife was admirably taken by Miss Jean Tynes.

In the opinion of many of the people the patriotic scene proved the hit of the evening. The chorus was dressed in flags of the United States and Canada—the scenery showed a warship sailing through New York harbor and passing the Statute of Liberty—the naval officer, the army officer, the Red Cross nurse were all shown in their respective uniforms and the impersonation of President Wilson was very clever. The song, "Goodbye Broadway, Hello France," was indeed appropriate for the scene and was well rendered.

The Hawaiin scene, "On the beach at Wacki Wi," proved interesting and was roundly applauded. The show was well supported with a chorus of splendid singers and dancers and the costumes and scenery was cleverly provided for. The electrical effects added greatly to the various scenes and to say that the performance was enjoyed by all, and deserving of praise, is but putting it mildly.

The great magician Carter will be seen at the Grand on Friday and Saturday.

HOW WAR BADGES WILL BE ISSUED

THEY WILL NOT BE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION FOR A FEW WEEKS.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—While the recent Order-in-Council provides for the issue of war service badges, to honorably discharged soldiers and those who have applied to enlist before August 10th, 1917, and who were rejected as medically unfit, the Militia Department will not be ready to make distribution for a few weeks.

When the time for making application arrives, this fact will be given due publicity in the press throughout the country, together with all information regarding the method of making application. Briefly, the procedure will be as follows: Applicants will apply to the officer in charge of War Service badges, at the headquarters of the military district in which they reside.

This officer will furnish them with forms, which are to be filled in and returned to him. This applies both to those who are in possession of badges issued by the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and who are applying for registration of their badge and for a certificate authorising its wear and also to those who have never received a badge and who are now applying for same.

Men who have been rejected as medically unfit for service, should also apply to the above officer for instructions. They will, if necessary, be advised by him, when and where to present themselves before a medical board to undergo a further medical examination, as in order to receive this class badge, men must be medically unfit at the time of making application and the fact that they were rejected six months or so ago will not of itself be sufficient.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 497 Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

—a certain poor widow casting in thither two mites.

For all that there were but two mites, the sacrifice counted high with the Recording Angel.

For all that we ask of you is but little, the Multiplication of That Little will count high in the record of Canada's War Service.

And because of the Spirit and Sacrifice of those valiant men who are defending us, we feel that a great and noble Legion of Canadian Women will respond to this appeal.

Food is scarce---not because we have not had good crops, but because of the Lack of Production in Europe. Canada must make up for this, else hunger defeat her own and the Allies' Armies.

Enough food is wasted in Canada every day, to feed the entire Canadian Overseas Army for that day.

We do not ask you to deny your family food. Merely substitute certain other foods in place of a proportion of the white bread, beef and bacon they now eat.

For example: When baking use one-third corn, oatmeal, barley or rye flour with your white flour. Or tell your baker to bring you some brown bread each day.

Substitute for beef and bacon such foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas.

We ask it in the name of those who are fighting for us.

The Food Service Pledge is your Dedication to War Service. The Window Card your Emblem of Honour.

Practical Housekeeping Hints

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR CANNING FRUITS WITH SUGAR.

Pack fruit compactly in jars. It will pack better if put in a strainer or piece of cheese-cloth and lowered into boiling water for about one minute. This is called "blanching". Blanch fruit in small lots, that the water may not be cooled much. Press fruit gently down in jars with spoon or small wooden spatula. Fill jars with syrup. Release any air-bubbles by slipping knife or spatula down between fruit and jar. Put on rings and cover without fastening them down. Place jars on rack in boiler. Pour warm water in boiler, enough to come about half-way up the jars. Put cover on boiler. Bring water to a boil and boil gently as long as required. Remove boiler from the stove, fasten down covers, take jars out and let them cool. If, when jars are taken from the boiler, there is more than half an inch of space between fruit and cover, the contents of one jar may be used to fill the rest before the covers are fastened down. Put jars again in boiler and boil 5 minutes more.

These directions apply to fruit bought in towns and cities. Less time is required for fruit freshly picked. Ten minutes for quart jars, five minutes for pint jar of freshly picked berries is sufficient. The shorter the time in cooking, the better the berries retain their flavor, shape and color.

ARC LAMPS TO BE REPLACED WITH INCANDESCENT ONES

Temporary Arrangement Pending Introduction of Latest Modern Street Lighting Systems After the War--117 Old Lamps to be Discarded for 650 Incandescent Lights

The City Council's Committee of the whole council and the Utilities Commission met in conference last night, and agreed to replacing the 117 old arc lamps now in use mainly on residential streets, with 650 60 Watt. incandescent lamps. It is the intention to subsequently replace these incandescent lamps with a modernized system of street lighting, when the war is over and prices of material ease up. Just now, however the Hydraulic Company is anxious that the Utilities Commission vacate their Murray street power station, and to retain the arc lamps would mean removing their power apparatus to the Sherbrooke street sub station at considerable expense, and inconvenience. Hence the incandescent lamp proposition, temporarily. These lamps can readily be attached to the present service.

Commissioner T. F. Matthew's explained that while the scheme appears on the service as extravagant, it is really economical, and will be less expensive than present arc lamp operations. Then by taking the load off the latter system the wire, etc., will be used for the new one in view.

His Worship thought citizens preferred incandescent light to arc lamps. They seem to give better satisfaction by the number of requests for them constantly reaching council.

More Lights

Ratepayers petitioned for three incandescent lights on George street, east side, south of Romaine and north of King Edward street.

Alderman Duncan and Taylor moved the petition being granted, but it was pointed out that this district would automatically be taken care of in the change from arc to incandescent street lighting.

Ald Smith pressed for a light on the south-west corner of Rubidge and Kirk streets at the St. Andrew's church, and this was slated to be done.

Ald. Duncan's request that a light on Charlotte street be rendered of more service by trimming the trees in the foliage of which its rays are smothered, brough an assurance from Manager Fisk of the Utilities Commission that the tree would be trimmed all right—at the surface of the ground.

Ald. Smith's request that a light at St. Andrew's church be lowered to within 15 or 18 feet from the ground, to clear a tree's foliage was also granted.

There were present at the meeting—Mayor Duffus, Aldermen Dobbin, Saunders, Duncan, Weir and Taylor. Also Utilities Commissioners T. F. Matthews, W. H. Moore and Robert Hicks and Manager Fisk.

FIRE DRILL IN PUB. SCHOOLS

Fire Chief Grange made a tour of the public schools yesterday afternoon, and ending this forenoon, calling the children out on fire drill. He expresses gratification at the readiness and order in which scholars responded to the alarms. In charge of the teachers they vacated their rooms and schools in exceeding commendable time, which speaks well for their fire drill training.

Following are the schools inspected, the number of pupils and time taken to leave the buildings.

Name of school	No. of publis	Time Leaving
East Central......	350	60 sec.
Queen Alexandra ..	300	40 sec.
Queen Mary	475	60 sec.
King George	315	40 sec.
South Ward	460	40 sec.
King Edward	450	40 sec.
St. Peter's	361	65 sec.
St. Mary's	250	41 sec.
Sacred Heart	319	30 sec.
Conception	170	32 sec.

It will be seen that three of the above schools were a tie in point of time, while the school of Conception, for kindergarten children, cleared the building in remarkable quick time.

Merchant Had Suffered 20 Years

Tried All Kinds of Medicines Without Relief—Tanlac Eends Trouble

It is doubtful if there is a better known man in his line of business in Toronto than James Thain, who for the past thirty years has been engaged in the grocery and meat market buesiness. Mr. Thain is now proprietor of a grocery store and meat market at 959 Dovercourt street and is one of the most substantial citizens of his community.

"For the past twenty years," said Mr. Thain, in a recent conversation wtih a Tanlac representative, "I have been trying to find relief from one of the most obstinate cases of stomach trouble anyone ever had and a few bottles of Tanlac have certainly done the work. I think close confinement to my business and failure to take time to chew my food properly was the cause of my trouble, any way I was never free from indigestion and it is impossible for me to describe my awful suffering. I had no appetite and never enjoyed a bite of anything I would eat. My breakfast consisted of a little cereal of some kind and a cup of tea, and I simply had to force that down. In a little while after meals, my food would produce a gnawing sensation and I would get so weak and faint I could hardly stand up. There were sharp pains through my stomach which at times were so intense that cold chills would run all over me. Many a itme I sat down to the table to eat and became so nauseated I couldn't swallow anything. Vegetables and fruits, especially, went against me and for over two years before I got Tanlac I couldn't eat tomatoes at all. All my strength left me and I must have shown my weakness because my customers would come in the store and say. 'Why, Mr. Thain, what in the world is the matter with you?'

"I had been reading the Tanlac testimonials and I thought little about it at first, but as I kept reading them I began to think the medicine might help me, so finally I decided to get a bottle and give it a trial. That was a lucky day for me for I felt a change in my condition in just a few days. Half of my first bottle made and convinced me that Tanlac was a wonderful difference in my feelings all that is claimed for it. Three bottles have relieved me of stomach trouble and indigestion entirely—every sympton is gone—and I'm feeling better than I have in twenty years. My appetite is great and I thoroughly enjoy every bite I eat, and I have gained eight or ten pounds in weight besides. Nothing is barred from my diet now, all my misery is gone and life is a pleasure again. These are my reasons for thinking so well of Tanlac and I believe anybody with troubles like mine can find relief by taking it."

ing as an experiment and then abandon the work at the end of the probationary period. Assistance is given to cover expenses during the period so that the man may be relieved from monetary anxiety while he is being instructed. So far as possible endeavor will be made to have men taught in local factories and shops rather than sent to some strange place away from personal associations.

Any men who wish to consider the opportunity are asked to confer with Mr. Dobbin, who will be glad to take the matters up and arrange. Sitting of the Board will be held and due notice will be given. In the meantime no time need be lost for on application to Mr Dobbin the cases will be put in hand and forwarded.

The whole movement is inspired by the idea to get into work and living so many men as possible in the interval before the men come back at close of the war. If carried on gradually and successfully many men can be absorbed into active civil life and a way opened for a competence in the future.

He had farmed until about five years ago, when he had a slight stroke, from which he rallied sufficiently to do light work. About two years ago he moved to Mt. Pleasant and took charge of a milk route. A few weeks ago he was taken seriously ill, failing rapidly until Friday, when death relieved him of his sufferings. Deceased was highly thought of by a host of friends and was strictly honest in his dealings. In religion he was a Methodist and in politics a Conservative. He was a faithful member of L. O. L. No. 40, Fallis Line, under the direction of which lodge the funeral on Sunday to Zion cemetery was held. Service at the house was conducted by Rev. W. H. Clarke and at the grave by Rev. W. H. Higgs. The beautiful Orange burial service was conducted by Bro. Milton Fallis, W. M. and Bro. Wm. Lynn, chaplain. The brethren then dropped their bit of orange ribbon on the casket and gave the Orange honors. Bro. J. H. Paul was director of ceremonies. The pallbearers were: Bros. David Fallis, A. J. Henderson, Stewart Fallis, Richard Fallis, Wesley Fallis and Thos. Aiken. Many beautiful floral offerings were placed on the casket by loving friends, among them a wreath from L.O.L. White, of Cavan, Mrs. Arthur Wood, of Peterborough, and Miss Charlotte, at home, to all of whom we join in extending sincere sympathy.

KIDNEY TROUBLE AND BACKACHE

Dr. Cassell's Tablets Strengthen the Kidneys and Restore their Natural Activity.

Kidney trouble means Kidney weakness. Dr. Cassell's Tablets strengthen the kidneys through the kidney nerves and thus effect cures where ordinary means fail. The average kidney pill or mixture is designed to relieve symptoms which are really due to imperfect kidney action. Dr. Cassell's Tablets, on the other hand, go to the root of the trouble, and by supplying vital power and strength enable the kidneys to act properly. A moment's thought will show which is the right method, and why Dr. Cassell's Tablets cure so thoroughly

A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Harold F. Ritchie and Co., Ltd., 10, M'Caul street, Toronto.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are the supreme remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Troubles, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Nervous ailments, and Nerve paralysis, and for weakness in children. Specially valuable for nursing mothers and during the critical periods of life. Price 50 cents per tube, six tubes for the price of five, from Druggists and Storekeepers throughout Canada. A WAR-TIME COMEDY.

A Humorous Incident That Made Italy Laugh.

The fashionable crowd at the cafe on the Corso Umberto were gazing up at the huge screen on the building opposite, where pictures of the celebrities of the day—Cordona, Sonnino, Joffre, Wilson, Lloyd-George—were being thrown on the screen. It is the chief diversion these hot afternoons. Joffre was popular and Wilson had his admirers. Then came the picture of a man with a great beard. This caused tremendous laughter. But the very climax of demonstrative approval came when the picture of a thin-faced man with a workman's cap on his head was thrown on the screen. There was a huge ovation for this strange face.

"And who is the man with the beard?" asked a visitor.

"Why, that is Maffie. Is it possible you don't know Maffie?"

"And who is the man in the workman's cap?"

"That is the carpenter, Tordelli. You don't mean to say you haven't heard of Tordelli. They are the great Italian characters of the day."

Maffie is a member of the Italian Chamber of Deputies, who made a speech in favor of peace, saying it was really not to Italy's interest to carry on the war. Tordelli was for war, and felt that the peace speech must be rebuked. He accordingly waylaid Maffie on the tramway as he came from the chamber. Maffie had an enormous beard, which was his pride and best known characteristic. As Maffie stepped on the car, Tordelli deftly operated a pair of scissors before the surprised deputy knew what was happening. Then with a shock of beard in his hand Tordelli disappeared while Maffie was left beardless.

Tordelli was arrested and his trial soon began. All Rome became interested, the question of peace and war divided sentiment into two camps. When the trial came all Italy awaited the fate of the carpenter. He produced the beard at the trial, and it was duly entered by the court as an exhibit. Thereupon Maffie applied for the return of the beard, but the court held it had been separated from him and was now in possession of the State. Tordelli suddenly became a popular hero, as defender of the war, while Maffie had champions for his cause and his beard. Their pictures are the features of all screens.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Ray Schalk and Dave Danforth, of the Cubs, have been appointed scouts to look over the Giants. They left yesterday for St. Louis, where the National League champions are holding forth, and it is reported that they will follow their adversaries for the remainder of their games.

Ed Barlow, in a wire to the Toronto Mail and Empire, says that he isn't opposed to the Toronto-Indianapolis series in Toronto. What he pointed out to Jim McCaffery was that the series could not be regarded as for the minor league championship unless Secretary Farrell had charge of it.

J. Franklin Baker's suspension has been raised. Manager Donovan has wired for him to report.

The king and queen witnessed a baseball game in London, England, between teams from the Orpington Hospital and the Base Depot of the Forestry Corps (Canadians). The former won by 22 to 9.

Bobby Byrne isn't going to share in the world's series spoils after all. He has been unconditionally released by the White Sox. Bobby was signed when Buck Weaver was injured, it being feared that McMullin, Weaver's successor, wouldn't measure up to expectations. But "Mac" went along fine, and there was nothing for Byrne to do but warm the bench.

It is illegal to play Sunday ball in Brooklyn, but for offending thus, ly Charley Ebbetts and Wilbert Robinson are not likely to suffer. They have been found guilty of staging a game in July, but sentence was suspended.

Buck Weaver and Fred McMullin, of the White Sox, were yesterday freed from a charge of assault preferred by a Boston fan. The alleged assault occurred in Beantown earlier in the season. The complainant failed to put in an appearance in court.

The trial of Danny Shay, former manager of the Milwaukee A. A. club, charged with the murder of Clarence Buell, a negro waiter, has been postponed until October 2. It was to have been held yesterday, but the illness of an attorney set it back.

Close to 1200 special delivery letters have been received by the Chicago American League club, requesting reservations for the world's series. Work on the erection of additional seats at the White Sox park is going on rapidly, and it is expected that 33,000 will be accommodated.

A STAR IN THE WORLD SERIES

CHARLES L. HERZOG
(New York Giants)

You can't tell by its size how hard a mule can kick, and you can't tell what "Buck" Herzog will do in a world series by his season's percentage.

That's because Herzog is the gingerjar of the diamond. He has personality plus, the old pep simply oozes out of him and his middle name is "scrap," Don't rely on the dope in figuring Herzy for the series mix. He has a bad habit of kicking the percentage figures through the roof in a crisis and rising to an emergency like a hungry bobo rises to the call for dinner.

That was proven in 1912 world series against the Boston Red Sox. Herzog had hit only .263 that year over the season's play, yet he was one of the dominant factors in prolonging the series to 8 games and almost copping it for the luckless Giants.

He weighs only 160 lbs. "soaking wet," as the boxers say, and is about 5 feet 10 inches tall, yet he challenged Cobb, who outweighed him 30 lbs., to a bare knuckle fight last spring and gave Tyrus quite a lot of trouble.

Herzog is the winning type of player. He is a whirlwind fielder, fast on the bases and by his aggressiveness and personality raises the efficiency of any club he is with at least 10 per cent. He has a keen baseball brain, a fine pair of fielding hands, and although this season he has tickled the pill around only .230, is always a bad guy in a pinch.

"Buck" is 32 years old, being born in Baltimore, Md., July 9, 1885, and is a college man. He was a star at Maryland University and in 1906 played semi-pro ball for Ridgley, Md. He started his "pro" career in the Tri-State League with Reading, and went to the Giants in 1908, was traded to the Boston Nationals in 1910, secured again by the Giants in 1911 and went to Cincinnatti Reds in 1914 as manager. He came back to New York in 1916 in the deal that sent Matty to Cincinnati as manager.

Charley came to the Giants in 1908 with a minor league batting mark of only .204, but McGraw saw him in action, took one slant at the cut of his jaw and his aggressive way, and knew he wanted him. Herzog has played every infield position but first base, but his real job is at the keystone sack. He is the ideal type to captain a ball club.

HEIGH—HUGGINS.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church, South Monaghan, on Monday, Sept. 24th, at 11 a.m., when Mr. Norman Heigh, a prosperous young farmer of Plainville, was united in marriage to Miss Mabel E. Huggins, one of the most popular young ladies of South Monaghan, and daughter of Mr. T. R. Huggins.

The bride looked charming attired in a dress of navy mousseline silk with net lace collar and sleeves and black velvet hat with canary trimming. The bridesmaid, Miss Gladys Murney of Rochester, N.Y., cousin of the bride, was also prettily gowned with shadow lace over silk and silk plush hat. Rev. D. H. McConnachie performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The groomsman was Mr. Fred. Murney, cousin of the bride. The wedding dinner was served at 1 o'clock. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by a wide circle of friends. We join in wishing the young couple many years of happiness and prosperity.

On the suggestion of Ald. Dobbin the Committee of the whole Council, last night authorized a special committee comprised of the chairmen of the Board of Works and Fire Water and Light Committee, to prepare open air skating rinks in readiness for the winter.

It is proposed to have a rink in the north at Inverlea street, one in the west at the corner of Walton and Hunter streets, and two in the South City—one for skating and another alongside for hockey. The latter rinks will be so far as figured out, located either in the Carbon Works lot at King Edward Park, or on lot near the Colonial Weaving Building. Too Much Water

Ald Dobbin reported that Fire Chief Grange asks that Aylmer street between Charlotte and Hunter be not watered as doing so renders the pavement slippery for the horses when leaving the hall on a run. Ald. Weir, chairman of the Board of Works will attend to this.

Ald. Dobbin also reported that conditions at the fire hall seem to be in good shape under the management of Chief Grange, who will submit a report at an early date.

AUXILIARY WATER SERVICE FOR CITY TO BE COMPLETED

Agreed Upon By Council's Committee of the Whole and Water Commissioners—Will Cost About $8,800—8 Inch Main in East City to be Extended and Form Complete Link.

Last night the Utilities Commissioners asked the City's committee of the whole to agree to their completing the 8-inch water main in East City. This main at present runs across the Auburn dam and onward to a point near the Nicholls Oval, 1200 feet. Its completion to connect on Concession street, near Dufferin street, will cost about $8,800. Commissioners have on hand 1500 feet of pipe, and proposed to start the work this fall. The whole work, including that already done, means the laying of 4,000 feet of 8-inch pipe.

Commissioner Matthews urged that the completion of this main will be a safeguard to the city and to the Quaker Oats. The latter will accept the East City proposition in lieu of changing 2000 feet of 5-inch piped to 8-inch pipe on Murray St., previously requested by them as due from the corporation as adequate fire protection. The East City proposition will give an auxiliary service allow additional pressure for Centre City, and obviate the need for proceeding with the western new main for several years.

Council's Committee fell in line with the scheme and passed a resolution to prepare a bylaw authorizing the issue of debentures to pay for connecting the 8-inch main in East City at a point on Concession street near Dufferin—bylaw to be submitted to the people at the January elections. Or to issue the debentures on approval by the Ontario Railway Board.

Tax Utilities Property.

The City Clerk of London wrote, asking Peterborough to join with London and other municipalities in petitioning legislature for an amendment of the Municipal Act to provide for taxing Utilities Commissions for land values. Commissioner Matthews saw no objection to the Utilities Commission being taxed for land values. However, any additional expense of the department would show eventually in the rates for consumers.

Commissioner Hicks thought it might look better were the Commission to pay on land values somewhere near what was paid by private companies which previously owned the property. "We should not be taxed for poles, though, because council still has control of the streets.

The committee decided to join with other municipalities in petitioning for authority to tax land values of the Utilities Commission.

PRAISE FOR WORK OF CANADIANS

KERENSKY DEFENDS HIS OFFICIAL ACTS TO RUSS. CONGRESS

Less Radical Groups Cheer Him Heartily---Others Are Warned That German Fleet is Creeping up the Baltic --- Russian Destroyer Sunk.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Petrograd, Sept. 27.—Premier Kerensky addressed the Democratic Congress at its first session today in the Municipal theatre receiving applause which came principally from the less radical groups of delegates. He spoke in forceful style with air of challenging his opponents. The address was largely a defense of the acts of the Government under his premiership.

M. Kerensky was interrupted frequently by shouts from one group and another which led at times to altercations lasting several minutes. At one point the Bolsheviki burst into loud cheers at something derogatory to Kerensky.

"Cheer my friends, if you will, said Kerensky, when he was able to make himself heard, "but bear in mind that the German fleet is moving up the Baltic." Delegates on the right jeered Bolsheviki, asking them why they did not cheer the premier's remark inasmuch as the Germans were their friends.

Private Hutchinson Prisoner in Germany

SEVEN LETTERS IN A BUNCH REACH PETERBORO CONNECTIONS.

Pte. Geo. Hutchinson of Wescott street, city who enlisted with the first contingent Canadian Mounted Rifles, has been listed for some four or five months as a prisoner in Germany. His friends, however, receiving no personal communication from him, were anxiously entertaining doubts as to whether he was really now a prisoner or among those who had paid the supreme sacrifice, either in prison or on the battle field. Consequently they were much relieved today to receive from Pte. Geo. Hutchinson no less than seven letters from somewhere in Germany, dating from last August to Sept. 5th.

This Peterborough prisoner writes that he is well, and has congenial employment with a contractor as a mark of good conduct.

PLEADS GUILTY OF THEFT OF SUIT AND OVERCOAT

Broke Into Cressman's Store and Abstracted Clothes He Had Previously Tendered Cheque For---Crown Attorney Has Other Charges Against Prisoner.

J. B. Carroll, home unknown pleaded guilty, at the police court this morning to having sometime between Saturday and Monday last broken into Cressman's store and stolen a suit of clothes and overcoat, valued at $25. Prisoner had no counsel and elected to be tried by his Worship.

Crown Attorney Hatton asked for a remand until October 4th, there being other charges against prisoner. This was allowed.

It appears that last Saturday afternoon prisoner purchased the goods from Mr. Cecil Wolff, clerk in Cressman's and tendered a cheque in payment, which was refused. He advised prisoner to return on Monday with the cash, and put the clothes away for him. Prisoner saw where the goods were hung.

On Monday morning a window at the rear of the store was found open and the suit and overcoat gone.

The police were notified of the theft and yesterday afternoon Mr. Wolff on his holidays then, phoned that he had seen a man in Belleville wearing the clothes.

Detective Newhall went to Belleville and brought prisoner who had been arrested by the Belleville authorities, to Peterborough.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE C.N.R.

The C. N. R. Purchase Bill as amended by the Senate provides that not more than $12,000,000 shall in any event be paid for the road's common stock. When the arbitrators investigate the matter it is probable that they will find that the stock is of nominal value only. Minister of Finance White says it is worth nothing.

The Government will get control of the C. N. R. without the expenditure of a dollar and without assuming a single obligation of the company. That is the feature of the transaction which will commend the so-called purchase to the public. A transcontinental line of transportation, an express and telegraph system in the hands of the State is what the deal means to Canada.

OFFICIAL REPORT TELLS OF BRILLIANT WORK DONE BY CANADIAN TROOPS AT LENS

Inflicted Heavy Casualties on Germans and Own Losses Were Light---Ground Taken Was Valuable and Moral Effect of Victory Considerable---Circle Tightening Around Beseiged City.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Sept. 28. — Many brilliant achievements of the Canadian corps in the fighting around Lens are detailed in a report given out by the Militia Department today.

The statement tells of the gallant work of Canadians from all parts of the Dominion in carrying by assault the formidably-defended position known as Hill 70. The casualties inflicted by the Canadians were quite exceptionally heavy on this occasion, including the taking of 1,378 prisoners, with a large number of machine and trench guns.

Canadian Casualties Light.

"Apart from the military value of the ground gained," says the report, "such results represent no small addition to the growing strain imposed on the enemy by our offensive, and must contribute materially to the exhaustion of his reserves." The report adds that the Canadian casualties were light. During weather unfavorable for major operations, the Canadians distinguished themselves as usual in raids and reconnaissances. On the night of August 1 a small party of twenty Canadians surprised an enemy outpost and accounted for a whole garrison.

Describing the big battle about Lens in the middle of August, the report says that the Canadian infantry attack, admirably supported by Canadian artillery, was immediately successful.

"Our progress continues," says the report finally, "and at a very moderate cost to ourselves. The circle is being drawn tighter and tighter about Lens."

LIEUT HUYCKE, WOUNDED AT FRESNOY, IS HOME ON LEAVE

Young Officer Was at the Front Constantly for 17 Months.

LIEUT. MEREDITH HUYCKE
Who was wounded at Fresnoy and who has been invalided home.

Lieut. George Meredith Huycke, third son of Judge and Mrs. Huycke, of Ashburnham, arrived home on leave last night, after an absence of two years spent in the war zone in Europe. His many friends will welcome the young hero to the city.

Lieut. Huycke was making a brilliant record as a student in the Toronto University when he enlisted in April, 1915, being at that time only 19 years old. He was attached to the 33rd Battery and took the first draft of one hundred men from that unit overseas in October, 1915. He went to France in January, 1916, and was placed with the 2nd Battery of the 1st Canadian Division, being associated with Lieut. Harold Matthews until the death of the latter who was killed in action in June, 1916.

Lieut. Huycke succeeded the late Lieut. Matthews as senior subaltern of the battery. Shortly after his promotion the unit was fitted out with heavy guns instead of ordinary field artillery and has since been known as the 2nd Howitzer Battery. Lieut. Huycke remained constantly in his place until seriously wounded at Fresnoy on May 8th last. Since that time he has been in hospital in France and London, and is now invalided home.

Lieut. Huycke has certainly done his bit. He was under fire for seventeen months with but six days' leave in all that time, in October of last year. He was in all the Ypres salient fighting until moved to the Somme, and was with the Canadians in the whole of that campaign, including the operations at Courcelette. He went through the fiercest fighting at Vimy Ridge, and fell a month later at Fresnoy, where so many gallant Canadians laid down their lives.

Listowel, Sept. 28.—The food service pledges sent out by Food Controller Hanna are not being circulated in Listowel. Hydro-Electric Building Burns

DAMAGE AMOUNTING TO $250000 WAS DONE BY FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Fire from unknown origin broke out in the office and supply building of the Toronto Hydro-Electric System Yonge street last night, and did damage estimated by an official of the company, to the extent of $250,000. The blaze was discovered in the north end corner of the basement by the night watchman and when the firemen arrived it had gained so great a hold that the building was completely gutted. When the fire was discovered five meter men were holding a meeting on the second floor. They were forced to come down the front stairs of the building, and when they reached the front door they found it locked. The switchboard operator, a returned soldier, named James was at the door overcome by smoke, and after the door had been forced was carried onto the street. He recovered consciousness in ten minutes and was able to go to his home.

The loss is covered by insurance.

WOMEN ASK VOTE ON EQUAL BASIS

W. C. T. U. IS OPPOSED TO THE MANUFACTURE OF "TEMPERANCE" BEER.

Cornwall, Sept. 28.—At the convention of the W. C. T. U. the principal resolution was in reference to the new franchise bill, and a motion on this subject was before the meeting. The convention thanked Sir Robert Borden for establishing the principle of woman franchise, but reaffirm their belief in the principle of the equality of the sexes before the law, and respectfully urge that the franchise should be granted to women on the same basis as it is to men."

The convention, by resolution, entered a protest against the lax enforcement of the Ontario temperance act by officers, and the manufacture of 2½ per cent, beer. A petition will also be transmitted to the Government asking that the manufacture, importation and sale of alcoholic liquor be stopped in Canada. The holding of raffles and drawings as a means of raising money for patriotic work was censured.

FARMERS ASKING $2.75 FOR 100 LBS. OF MILK

Woodstock, Sept. 28. —The milk producers of Oxford county have asked for an increase from $2.25 to $2.75 a hundred pounds from the City Dairy Toronto. As the price paid by the Toronto company automatically fixes the price here, the increase, if granted, will materially affect local consumers.

BRITISH KILL AND CAPTURE HUNS AND ALL WITHOUT LOSS

Germans Counter Attack But Are Repulsed With Heavy Losses and British Are Secure in New Positions---French Drive Back Three Counter Attacks.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Sept. 28.—Another German counter-attack was made last night against the new British positions near Zonnebeke. The attack was broken up by the British.

The statement says: "Yesterday evening another counter-attack by the Germans against our positions in Zonnebeke was broken up by our rifle and machine gun fire and artillery. South of Tower Hamlets and south of the Polygon wood isolated strong positions, in which parties of the enemy were holding out close to our new positions, have been cleared up. We killed or captured several Germans without loss to ourselves in carrying out a successful raid last night southwest of Cherisy.

"The enemy's artillery showed considerable activity during the night south of Lens, and the artillery on both sides was active on the battlefront."

Three Times Repulsed.

Paris, Sept. 28. — The Germans made an attack last night in the Argonne region, today's official statement says. They were repulsed three times, suffering heavy losses.

Austrians Are Worsted.

Washington, Sept. 28. — Austrian counter-attacks on the Italian front have all failed, according to a semi-official despatch reaching Washington from Rome. The message said that the present situation of the Italian offensive promises surprises, and that the Italians have practically cleared the Bainsizza Plateau, and are holding all the territory they have thus far gained.

AUTO AND BIKE COME TOGETHER

SOLE TORN FROM SHOE AND A BENT CAR AXLE TOTAL DAMAGE.

Some little excitment was caused on the corner of McDonnel and George street today at noon when a Hudson car, No. 74560, belonging to Geo. W. Noch of Toronto, collided with Mr. Bernard Pritchford of 200 Edinburgh street, an employee at the Peterboro Lock Works, who was riding a bicycle.

According to Mr. Pritchford's version of accident, he was coming south on the right hand side of George street when the auto driver, coming north on George street, suddenly turned out in front of him to go down McDonnel street. They collided but fortunately no person was seriously injured. Mr. Bernard was thrown from his wheel and sustained a bad shaking up and the sole was torn from one of his shoes. The hind wheel of his bicycle was badly demolished and the frame work of the wheel somewhat twisted.

In the auto driver's endeavor to miss connections he had hit the curb on McDonnel street and bent the front axle of the car.

FOUR ALLEGED PICK-POCKETS

AGAIN REMANDED TILL OCT. 9—MORE CHARGES AGAINST THEM.

Francis Davis, Sam Searling, Thomas Flynn and Owen Foley, the four alleged pickpockets in custody on suspicion of having relieved Peterborough Fair visitors of their cash on the second day of the Fair, were again remanded this morning until Tuesday, October 9th.

It appears that the police have other charges against these men, which charges were not in the hands of their counsel, Mr. G. N. Gordon, until yesterday. Mr. Gordon, therefore asked the court this morning for a further remand to give him an opportunity to prepare his defence.

The court would accept personal bail of $1000 from each prisoner, and two sureties of $1000 each for the appearance of accused on Tuesday next, but this is not forthcoming.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1917

WOULD TRIP UP HANNA.

Hon. H. J. Hanna, the Food Controller, is having his troubles. This was inevitable as he has a most difficult task. His critics are extremely anxious that he should do a lot of things, and it would appear from their comments that his sins of omission are many. It is impossible to resist the conclusion that Liberal editors really want Mr. Hanna to do a lot of drastic things that they may have texts on which to attack the Federal Government. The history of the conscription agitation illustrates their methods. They shouted for conscription, agonized for it, declared all other issues trivial in comparison, and tragically pleaded that the Government go ahead.

With honorable exceptions, Liberal editors now find pretexts for working hand in hand with Laurier, the chief anti-conscriptionist, and are assailing the Borden Government virulently, if not on conscription, on other measures that come in handy to magnify into issues of condemnation.

With a general election on, they think if they could only get Mr. Hanna going with a series of rip and tear orders they could make votes out of the disaffected, and if there were no disaffected, they would work industriously to develop them.

THE ANSWER.

IN HIS STATEMENT as to his campaign program published in yesterday's Review Capt. Burnham says that where[illegible] member of Parliament is a Liberal and a conscriptionist, he will not be opposed by Conservatives if he [illegible] a candidate for re-election.

That statement is all the answer requ[illegible] "Win-the-war Liberal," a letter from whom appeared last night in a local paper.

LIBERALS AND THE WAR.

A WRITER in a local contemporary signing himself a "Win-the-war Liberal" lays bare the plans of his party in the coming campaign. He suggests that Capt. Burnham retire from the contest, that a mass meeting of both political parties be called, and that a non-party win-the-war man be nominated by acclamation. That is certainly an ideal scheme if it could be made to work out.

It would be interesting to know just what "Win-the-war Liberal" means by a non-party man. Is he one of those rare specimens that declares that one party is as good—or bad—as the other, a man who has not yet made up his mind as to which side to take on public questions? Such a man is a rarity indeed in this community. It would not only be a matter of difficulty to find such a person, but probably harder still to induce him to enter public life.

In a general convention such as "Win-the-war Liberal suggests, how long would it be before the gathering found itself in a hopeless deadlock? There is no getting away from the fact that with the majority who attended the old political conventions, sentiments would be as strong as ever, no matter how sincere they might be on the question of winning the war. On this subject there is a difference of opinion. Each party would have its own candidate in mind, and anything like harmony would soon escape by way of the windows.

"Win-the-war Liberal's" idealistic plan for the salvation of his country has received a rude shock from his own party managers in the W[illegible], where they have just refused to nominate Dr. Michael Clark to succeed himself as the representative for Red Deer. The attitude of that member of Parliament on all war questions has been above suspicion. He has played his part [illegible]ly and squarely from the first, and for the reason that he has helped to hold up the hands of Sir Robert Borden he is to be sacrificed now. If the Liberal party leaders were sincere in their declarations that they are ready to bury the party hatchet, Dr. Michael Clark would be sitting today in a front seat instead of being cast out through the back door.

It is all very well to talk about a non-partisan campaign, but the position assumed by the leader of the Liberal party must not be lost sight of. He has refused to take part in a Coalition Government. Had he done so this election could have been avoided or at least made a non-partisan approval of the union of forces and principles perfected at Ottawa. When the election is over and the composition of the House is known, the Liberals elected, whether they be conscriptionists or anti-conscriptionists, will all be counted together and their numbers will determine whether the present Government is sustained or Sir Wilfrid Laurier returned to power. The Liberal leader refused while in Opposition to take part in a non-political war government. He would not be likely to change his mind and favor such a government voluntarily if he found that his elected followers were in the majority.

If "Win-the-war Liberal" and those who make the same professions are sincere, they will be willing to accept the conditions that exist in this community. They have as a representative now and as a candidate for re-election a man whose record is an open book and whose sincerity and devotion have been proven. "Win-the-war Liberal" brings against him the stock charge that he is a partisan. Whatever he may have been in the past, his present attitude as shown in the statement which he addressed to the public yesterday bespeaks a man who is concerned with the winning of the war rather than party success. Besides, one of the criticisms to which Capt. Burnham has been subjected has been based on his disposition to think for himself and to disregard strict party lines.

ALIENS AS RECRUITS.

A LABOR organization in Hamilton has protested against the disenfranchisement of aliens born in countries now at war with the Empire, who have not been naturalized citizens of Canada for more than fifteen years. The labor men do not base their objection on the loss of the vote to such men, but on the fact that they are not liable for military service. They have sent their protest to Ottawa with a request that Premier Borden take action.

A contemporary sneeringly says that Sir Robert Borden is not likely to do anything. It is right for once. Men born in enemy countries, whether they be naturalised or not, are not accepted for service in the British army. No such man would be allowed at the front.

This is a regulation which has been made by the Imperial authorities and with which Premier Borden has nothing whatever to do. If, then, these aliens are not allowed to fight why should they be permitted to vote?

Even if our contemporary could not state the facts fairly, it might at least have withheld the sneer.

A TAMMANY HALL.

"RATEPAYER," who writes to a local contemporay, appears to be under the delusion that a Tammany Hall is an institution for the protection and promulgation of everything that is evil. Not necessarily. A Tammany Hall, as the term is now generally used, taking the big institution in New York as a type, is simply an organization for political purposes, originally legitimate. Of course, it is possible that the members divert the organization from its primary purpose and make it an instrument of evil.

A Liberal association is in the abstract a perfectly proper institution. If there is mischief hatched under its eaves, that is the fault of the members. Because a number of men band themselves together in such an organization is no reason why they should be charged with having fell designs on questions that nearly concern the welfare of the public.

Honi soit.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THE CIVIC camouflage does not always land the persimmons.

• • •

DR. MICHAEL CLARK is a conscriptionist and his own party have rejected him.

• • •

"RATEPAYER" should learn to distinguish between a Tammany Hall and a nailed-up brewery.

• • •

THERE IS SAFETY in camouflage, as witness those anonymous letters in our contemporay.

• • •

AS A PRELIMINARY step "Win-the-war Liberal" has a neat little scheme for first winning the riding.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

One Disconcerting Phase.
(Newark News.)

One disconcerting phase of republican rule lies in the fact that when it is made secure against foes without its enemies within are still privileged to full equality with its defenders.

Financial Note.
(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

A $10 bill looks like a dime when father hands it to the bartender. But it looks like $10 when he hands it to mother.

The Long Way Round.
(Indianapolis News.)

It is becoming plainer every day that there is going to be no short-cut to peace.

Prayer and Something Else.
(Portland Oregonian.)

The day of prayer for American success will be especially fruitful if it is followed by no cessation of effort to swat the enemy wherever and whenever he can be found.

A Cause of Offence.
(Macon Telegraph.)

Germany's peace terms, it is reported, include a provision forbidding Belgium to have an army. And, when you stop to think of the acute pain Germany suffers as a result of stubbing her toe on that Belgian army, you can hardly blame her.

A Facade for Murder.
(New York Tribune.)

German diplomacy is used as the facade for murder. It seeks to persuade peoples whose rights Germany means to invade, whose citizens Germany means to kill, that it is their moral duty to submit to these things, as it is Germany's inherent right to do them. But because there is suspicion in the German mind that governments will not submit to these things, German diplomacy seeks to sandbag these governments.

Austria Versus Germany.
(Buffalo Express.)

The conviction is inevitable that Austria is hungry for peace. The ideals of Austria are different from those of Germany, and Austria would agree to things that the German imperial government would reject as incompatible with its own interest. The thing that lies in the way of peace is the German government.

An Explanation Called For.
(Savannah News.)

California, an equal suffrage state, voted against ousting whiskey; Maine, a prohibition state, voted against equal sufrage. That makes it even. But what has become of the old-fashioned orator who used to say prohibition and equal suffrage were twins?

Be a Kitchener.
(Hamilton Herald.)

"Fight the Kaiser in the kitchen" is a new slogan. In this fight every housewife can be a Kitchener.

A Canadian Winner.
(Canadian Military Gazette.)

Colonel Macklem, D.C.M., inventor of an improved hand grenade, for which he has received an honorarium of $100,000 from the British Government, formerly a mechanic of London, Ont., a native of Tilbury, Ont., and late private of the 33rd Battalion, C. E. F., has been sent to Washington on military business between the imperial munitions board and the United States war department. He states that he invented his grenade while convalescing in a hospital.

Repetition of History.
(Buffalo Courier.)

"The issue of the contest must rest with Russia herself, and if she exhibit to the end the perseverance and the firmness necessary it cannot, we should hope, be doubtful." That was said by a Scotch newspaper 104 years ago, when Napoleon had retreated from Moscow.

IN THIS OUR HOUR OF NEED

This morning mail from France brought copies of a "Litany-Hymn" now being used extensively whenever services can be held for the men at the front, and by all denominations in the British Isles.

The copies were sent by Chaplain Major Davidson to Mr. R. J. Devey, and the well-known tune "Capetown" is suitable to the words, which by the courtesy of the Press are here printed.

It is here suggested that each congregation have copies printed, which may be used at least once every Sunday, so that in one great act of intercession, this beautiful prayer may ascend to the Throne of Grace, from every house of God in this city. The following is the hymn.

OUR HOUR OF NEED

(Words by Eva Moynihan

Our Country

Now in this our hour of need
For Thy mercy, Lord, we plead;
For our land we intercede;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

Our Cause

In the battle for the right
May we ever blameless fight,
Win through darkness into light;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

Our Soldiers

Guard our soldiers, leaving all
At their king and country's call;
Be with them whate'er befall;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

Our Sailors

Guard our ships that never sleep
In the ceaseless watch they keep
Out upon the mighty deep;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

The Dying

When our dear ones faint and fall,
When the pains of death appal,
From the depths to Thee we call;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

The Dead

[illegible]
Those who find a soldier's grave,
Those who sleep beneath the wave—
May they rest in peace!

The Suffering

Comfort all in their distress—
Prisoners, exiles, fatherless—
In their loss and loneliness;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

For Peace

Grant that war at last may cease,
Love and brotherhood increase,
Till all strife be hushed in peace;
Hear our prayer, O Lord!

EDITOR'S MAIL

THE TIPPLER'S LAMENT.

Editor Review: The golden rod is blooming in this vicinity. It has completely hidden from view the once well beaten pathway that in the days before local option was thought of led to the barroom door of the wayside inn.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS.
Lakefield, Sept. 27.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH TORONTO

Editor Review: Recently I spent my first Sunday in Toronto, and for any observant young man the experience is interesting. Hundreds of well dressed people were wending their way to the churches, morning and evening. Everything on the surface appeared sacredly calm. There was not a suspicion of evil anywhere.

Monday morning I went to the police court—as a visitor only — and found the dock filled with offenders against the law. There is something the matter with Toronto.

Peterborough people go to church but on Monday mornings Magistrate Dumble finds no extra work awaiting him when he ascends the magistrial dias. It is little wonder that Toronto is calling the preachers from this city to minister to its citizens.

A SOLDIER BOY.

TOO MUCH WATER.

Editor Review: If you will allow me space in your valuable paper, I wish to draw the attention of the ratepayers to the condition of our paved streets at the present time.

I refer to the amount of water that is being sprinkled on the pavement (and the danger it involves to driving horses drawing heavy loads) on account of the frost we have at nights making the pavements so slippery that the animals are unable to keep their feet.

I was driving on Hunter street this morning and my horse fell, but, fortunately, was not injured. I lodged a complaint with a city official and notified him that I would hold the city responsible if my horse should fall on account of the slippery pavements and be injured.

I was informed that the pavements had to be watered on account of the dust nuisance. I suggested that the city authorities engage the sweeper which would relieve the situation, and I can say positively, Mr. Editor, and you can verify my statement by any driver in the city, that the streets were never so clean or as safe as they were last Fall when they were cleaned by the sweeper.

It would appear to me that the teamsters as ratepayers are entitled to consideration, especially when the remedy is available.

I am not aware what it costs to do the work that is being done on the pavements, but you will admit the streets are a disgrace to a city as progressive as Peterborough, and should it cost more to engage the sweeper, in my opinion it would be well-spent money, probably saving the city a much greater amount in damages.

My case is not isolated, for to my personal knowledge there are a number of horses falling on the pavement every day.

I should think it is the duty of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals to take this matter up and endeavor to relieve the situation.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

FOOD VALUE OF MUSHROOMS

Dr. Hastings, Health Officer of Toronto, has his doubts as to the great values claimed for mushrooms as articles of food. They are not easily digested, he says, and further, they are by no means easily absorbed. They should therefore be classed as far as food values are concerned, with green vegetables and carrots. Be that as it may, mushrooms will always be prized as a delicacy by those fortunate enough to be able to secure them. Perhaps in no country are fungi more generally grown as in France. In Paris and near Bordeaux, where there are many caverns or excavations quarried in securing building-stones mushrooms are grown in abundance, their production being a profitable industry.

Cultivation of Truffles

Among the fungi which are most prized, both on the continent and in England, are those known as truffles. The use of truffles as an article of diet became common in France in the 14th century, but it was not until the 19th century that they became an article of commerce.

In the cultivation of truffes, it is necessary to make use of trees or some similar artifical covering. It is even the practice to plant trees for that purpose, the cultivator, having to wait six or eight years before the cultivation of th efungi is successful. Abundant growths are obtained in the shade of nut-bearing trees and oaks.

The harvesting of truffles is most interesting. The fungi grow under ground, and are about the size of a small apple. They ripen from November to April. The harvesting is done with the aid of dogs or swine. These animals have a keen sense of smell in these matters, and are able to locate the fungi which have become ripe, leaving those which are unripe. Unaided, persons cultivating the truffles are unable to distinguish the ripe from the unripe, and all are harvested, which means a financial loss.

Two Dollars Per Pound

Harvesting with hogs is considered the best and most economical method. The animals are kept on a leash and are led over the ground where the truffles are growing. They at once detect the fleshy odor of ripe fungi, and quickly root them up with their snouts. Before they have had an opportunity to eat them, they are pulled away and given some other delicacy. Unless this is done they become discouraged and after a short while refuse to dig out the truffles.

When the weather is fine a good hog can smell a truffle at a distance of 150 feet. A special breed of hogs is raised for the harvesting of fungi, and they are much valued. They are often sold in the south of France for from $50 to $70.

Dogs are used in much the same manner as hogs, only they uncover the ruffles with their paws and the hunter has to dig them up. The average price realized for truffles is $2 per pound, and the yield is anywhere from five to seventy pounds per acre.

Canning Mushrooms

The canning of mushrooms is an industry of large manitude, especially in France, or it was before the war. The young unexpanded mushrooms are those which are mostly prepared for export. After thorough washing in clear water the little, button-shaped fungi are placed in a receptacle and exposed to the fumes of burning sulphur for the purpose of bleaching. They are then placed in the tines and subjected to a heat above that of boiling water to thoroughly sterilize.

Molasses Cake

Cream half cup of shortening and add 1 egg beaten well. Dissolve 1 teaspoon of soda in half cup of sour milk, and turn that into a bowl with 1 cup of molasses and beat. Add this mixture to the shortening, and then stir into it 2 cups of flour, sifted with 1 teaspoon of ginger. Bake about half an hour. After the cake is baked, rub molasses over the top

Drop Cakes

Cream 1 cup of shortening. Dissolve 1 teaspoon of soda and pour it into 1 cup of sour milk. Pour this into a mixing bowl, containing 1 cup of molasses. Mix it with the shortening and with 1 egg, beaten until light and frothy. Add 3 cups of flour and 1 teaspoon of ginger. Drop from a spoon on greased pans and bake.

Sponge Cake

The ingredients for this are 1 cup of sugar, 1 cup of flour, 3 eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately 2 tablespoons of milk, 2 teaspoons of cream of tartar and 1 teaspoon of soda, a pinch of salt and any desired flavoring.

Fried Cakes Made With Mashed Potato

The ingredients necessary for these cakes, which are said to be delicious, are 3 tablespoons of melted butter, 2 cups of sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup of sweet milk, 6 tablespoons of mashed potatoes, 5 teaspoons of baking powder, a pinch of salt and seasoning and flour enough to mix soft.

Hickory Nut Cake

Cream ½ cup of butter and work into it 1 cup of pulverizd sugar. Add 1 cup of chopped hickory nut meats ½ cup of milk, 2 cups of flour sifted with 2 teaspoons of baking powder and, lastly, the stiffly beaten whites of 7 eggs.

Country Fruit Cake

Cream 1 pound of butter and work into it 1½ pounds of sugar. Add 1½ pounds of raisins, seeded and chopped, 1 pound of currants, 1 pound of citron cut into small pieces, 8 eggs, 1 cup of molasses, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1 teaspoon of nutmeg, 1 teaspoon of clove, 1¾ pounds of flour. Bake for 3 hours in a moderate oven.

Spice Cake

Cream 2-3 cup of butter and work into it 1 cup of sugar. Dissolve 1 teaspoon of soda in hot water and pour into 1 cup of sour milk. Pour that into 1 cup of molasses. Add 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg and clove, with enough flour to make a good cake batter, not too stiff.

On Conserving Bacon

It can be banished without the family suffering. Its present cost has already made it disappear from many tables.

Ham and salt pork will partly take its place for fat and flavor.

Waste no ham or salt pork. Preserve even the rind and bones for the flavor they will give to many dishes.

Cabbage Salad

One quart of chopped cabbage, 1 desert spoon of salt, 1 1-2 desert spoonfuls of sugar, 1 desert spoonful of dry mustarl. Mix these with the cabbage, then take 2-3 cup of vinegar, 2 eggs, piece of butter the size of an egg. Put in a bowl over the tea kettle till boiling hot; cool, and pour over the cabbage mixture. Put in a jar and use as wanted.

Recipes For War-Breads

The demonstration on the making of war breads, Wednesday afternoon, was well attended and keen interest was shown by every one present.

War Breads were explained to be any form of bread or biscuits, risen with either yeast or baking powder in which some of the coarser flours or meals were substituted in part for the white flour.

Very many inquiries were made with the executive in charge of the demonstration, by visitors, both out of town and city, for recipes for making the breads demonstrated, which Mrs. (Dr.) Neal of the local Council of Women, has kindly furnished them for publication. They are:

Boston Brown Bread

1 cup rye meal
1 cup granulated corn meal
1 cup graham flour
1½ teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup molasses
2 cups sour milk or 1¾ cups sweet milk or water

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add molasses and milk, stir until well mixed, turn into a greased mould (a one-pound baking-powder can makes an attractive shaped loaf) and steam 3½ hours. The cover should be buttered before being placed on mould, and then tied down with string; otherwise the bread in rising might force off the cover. The mould should never be filled more than two thirds full. For steaming, place mould on a trivet or saucer in a kettle of boiling water, allowing water to come half way up around mould. Cover closely and steam adding, more boiling water as needed.

Whole Wheat Biscuits

1 cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup sweet milk
4 teaspoons baking powder (or ¾ cup sour milk, ¾ teaspoon soda)
1 cup white flour
2 toblespoons shortening

Mix dry ingredients. Work in shortening and add liquid to form soft dough. Toss on floured board, roll and shape into biscuits. Bake in very hot oven.

Golden Corn Cake

1 cup corn meal
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup corn syrup
1 egg
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup sweet milk.
1 tablespoon melted butter

Mix dry ingredients. Add butter, syrup, beaten egg and milk and stir thoroughly. Bake in shallow greased pan in moderate oven.

Potato Cakes

2 cups flour
1 cup mashed potatoes
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
Milk or water to make soft dough

Mix dry ingredients, add potatoes and enough liquid to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board and roll and shape like biscuits.

Bake about 30 minutes.

Entire Wheat Bread

2 cups scalded milk
1-3 cup sugar or ½ cup molasses
¼ yeast cake dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water
1½ teaspoons salt
5 cups sifted entire wheat flour

Mix milk, sugar or molasses, and salt. When lukewarm add yeast cake dissolved in warm water, and flour.

Beat well, let rise until nearly double its bulk. Beat, turn into greased bread pan, let rise again until nearly double its bulk, and bake for about one hour in a moderately hot oven.

Rolled Oats Bread

2 cups boiling water
½ cup molasses
½ tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
¼ yeastcake, dissolved in
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup rolled oats or oatmeal
4½ cups flour

Add boiling water to oats, and let stand one hour. Add molasses, salt, butter, dissolved yeast-cake and flour. Let rise, beat thoroughly, turn into butered bread tins, let rise again and bake.

Rye Bread

1 cup scalded milk
1 cup coiling water
1 teaspoon lard
1 tablespoon butter
1-3 cup brown sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ yeast-cake, warm water
3 cups white flour
Rye meal to make stiff dough.

To milk and water, add lard, butter, sugar and salt. When luke-warm, add dissolved yeast-cake and flour, beat thoroughly, cover, and let rise until light. Add rye meal until dough is stiff enough to knead. Knead thoroughly, let rise to double its bulk, shape in loaves, place in greased pans, let rise until double its bulk and bake.

A Bulletin containing many more recipes for War Breads, may be had by writing to Department of Agriculture, Toronto, and asking for Bulletin No. 254. The number of the Bulletin on Canning is 252.

Scene: "Somewhere in Peterborough."
Characters: Mr. Director Grasp and Sir Joseph Flathell.

Mr. D. G.—Hello, Sir Joe, what's all this I hear about controlling the price of Peterborough?

Sir J. F.—Oh, that's nothing! There's such a lot this year they'd be cheap anyway.

Mr. D. G.—Well, I guess that's so, but the next thing will be bacon and eggs and butter, and then where'd we be?

Sir J. F.—Oh, don't worry about that, they won't set any prices on those. We do all the setting on those goods, because nobody else can store 'em. And it'll take about ten years for the investigating committee to finish investigating the price investigators report.

Mr. D. G. Well, praps that's so, but what about that feller Paskins cutting the price on Hams? Why he's selling 'em at 29c a pound.

Sir J. F.—Yes, that is a serious matter. We had a directors meeting about it but we couldn't think of a way to stop him.

Mr. D. G.—Gosh! He'll ruin the likes of me if he goes on. Everybody goes there now that can pay cash, 'cos he sells everything like that. For fancy selling, cabbage at 3c and beets and carrots at 5c for 2 bunches, and 15c a pound biscuits at 15c to 18c pound, and 55c tea at 39c and 40c a pound, and ordinary 10c lines at 3 for 25c. Gee! I gets the shivers when I thinks of it. Why if he keeps on the Bill Hanna will lose his job, and you and me won't be able to make that extra two millions we've set our mind on this year.

Sir J. S.—Well! We'll get busy and if we can't stop him any other way we wait round the corner some dark night and hit him over the head. In the meantime I'll go and have a talk to him. By the way, where is his place?

Mr. D. G.—Oh, at the Corner of Hunter and Aylmer, but just follow the crowd and you'll find it, or call up Phone 317, but I guess he'll be too busy to talk to you.

PRISONERS GET GOODS IN TINS

GERMANS PARTLY LIFT BAN ON SHIPMENTS TO CAPTIVE SOLDIERS.

London, Sept. 28.— The German authorities have partly lifted the ban on tinned goods sent in parcels to prisoners. It denied them this for a long time on account of the alleged discovery of letters in tins to prisoners from one of the allied nations.

Canadian prisoners report that many camps are now delivering tins, and it is expected that all will get them shortly.

It is understood an effort is being made by the German camp authorities to concentrate all British and Canadian non-commissioned officers, with a view to the repatriation of as many as possible under the terms of the new agreement.

Regarding the terms recently issued of the new parcel regulations by the British officers, it is expected that, on account of distance, some slight modifications will be made for Canadians.

Canadian company commanders who have served two years at the front are now entitled to one month's leave in England.

CAN'T END BY CHRISTMAS

U. S. Secretary for War Issues Review of Operations

Washington, Sept. 28. —In the first of a series of carefully prepared official statements to be issued from time to time in review of the military situation on all fronts in Europe, Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, asserts that the ascendancy in the west has "passed definitely to the allies." Secretary Baker says that with the near approach of winter it has become plain that Germany is unable to make good the boast that by a big offensive she would "end the war victoriously by Christmas."

The statement shows that the increased importance of aircraft has been demonstrated during the week and that by use of its machine gun a British airplane dispersed a battalion of German infantry.

Catholics Will Raise Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

The Catholics of Toronto will be asked to raise $15,000 in the course of a four-day campaign which has been decided upon, the funds to be used in the establishment of Catholic huts for the soldiers in France. Preliminary arrangements were made at a meeting presided over by Mr. M. J. Haney, the chief speakers being Rev. Major O'Gorman, Ottawa; Sergt.-Major Marsden and Sergt.-Major Castor, all of whom have been at the front.

The Toronto campaign will be held on the first four days of October. It is part of a Dominion-wide campaign with an objective of one hundred thousand dollars.

JAIL FOR SUFFRAGETTES.

Will Serve Thirty Days in Workhouse at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Four suffragettes [illegible] arrested for picketing the White House were tried by Judge Mullownay in the police court, found guilty of "obstructing traffic" and fined $25 each. Refusing to pay their fines they were given the alternative of serving 30 days in the Occoquan Workhouse, where they will join the band of other militants who are serving time for the same offence.

RALPH CONNOR CLUB.

Movement on Foot for an Interesting Organization.

London, Ont., Sept. 28.—There is a movement on foot among fiction readers to organize Ralph Connor Clubs in Canada with general headquarters in one city in each province. [illegible] Gordon (Ralph Connor) was apprised of this some months ago he looked quizzically at his informer and is quoted as saying with a smile, "Wilt thou draw out thine anger on all generations?" (Psalm 85, 5.) The idea of the club, according to those interested, is to have a club started in every Canadian city, the organization to be open to all readers of Ralph Connor books, both men and women. Officers of the organization, it is planned, will bear the names of characters described in the Connor books, The Sky Pilot to be the presiding officer. Organizers are already busily at work.

Washington, Sept. 28. — Plants making rifles for the army have exceeded the best expectations of the Government in speed of delivery. The output makes a total of more than 1,200 new rifles a day being supplied. This number will increase rapidly through the weeks to come.

JEWS CONTRIBUTE $330,000

CONSERVE FOOD, ELIMINATE ALL WASTE, URGES REV. NIND

St. Luke's Harvest Festival Largely Attended—Abundance of Appropriate Decoration—Good Music—Rev. Walter Archbold, of St. John's, and Rev. Nind, of Bobcaygeon Assisted.

The Harvest Festival in St. Luke's Anglican church last evening was attended by a large congregation who heartily joined in the Thanksgiving nature of the service. The building presented an appropriately attractive appearance but not too ornate. Entrance, window sills and chancel were laden with fruits of the earth and a sufficient sprinkling of floral decorations to offer an exceedingly harmonious whole. This sacred building's interior is beautiful at all times in its pale [illegible] finish and general architectural design, but on this occasion it was unusually so. Unfortunately, however, a light fuse blew out just as the bell stopped ringing and plunged the church into a state of darkness with but a glimmer of light penetrating the stained glass chancel window in the east, and this source of illumination failed in a very few minutes. The defective fuse was replaced and the service started at 8.25.

The choir was large, its work excellent, and the music selected of very acceptably joyous character. The anthem sung was "O Clap Your Hands Together," rendered in rich volume, under the capable leadership of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade. Miss Phyllis Davison was heard to good advantage in the solo part. She possesses a pleasing soprano voice with clear enunciation. The quartette part taken by Miss Phyllis Davison, Mrs. Perrin, Mr. H. Carnes and Mr. W. A. Greenslade, was admirably rendered.

Rev. T. A. Nind, of Bobcaygeon and Rev. Walter Archbold, of Ocean City, Maryland, assisted the rector, Rev. Wm. White.

The Sermon

Rev. T. A. Nind delivered a sermon befitting the occasion. Taking for his text II Samuel 23, 17—"And David said, be it far from me, O Lord, that I should do this; is not this the blood of men that went in jeopardy of their lives? Therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mighty men"—he [illegible] the Empire today, when men are jeopardizing their lives on the battle plains of France and Flanders, and on the sea, in defence of British freedom. David, he said, had longed for a drink of the water from the well of Bethlehem, and when three mighty men had raided Bethlehem taking it to him, he poured it out unto the Lord. Today we are uniting in harvest festival services in thanksgiving for crops garnered in Ontario more abundant than any harvest during the past fifteen years. This year Canadians should realize more than ever before what a plentiful harvest means, when famine is facing so many lands. Farmers experience many hardships in producing crops, while city people walk in the easier paths of life. This principle, he continued applied to every department of life. Men in industrial occupations are dulled by the monotony and materialism of their surroundings, risking life and limb in providing comforts, luxuries and conveniences for others more fortunate than themselves. As a nation we in Canada are enabled to enjoy life's blessings in spite of the tragedy of the old world by reason of men risking their lives in war and because a glorious British navy stands between us and the foe. We should, he urged, think of these things, and like David of old, make consecration to the Lord by speeding up all patriotic work in support of our brave men at the front and afloat. Such a cause, he said, would be a practical method of thanksgiving, and he exhorted all to make up their minds to heed the Government's call for conservation of food and elimination of waste.

In conclusion the reverend gentleman ardently hoped to see the war eventually usher in a state of righteousness between man and man and the peace of God with all.

DOCTORS ARE ALARMED AT SPREAD OF CONTAGION

Prevalence of Venereal Disease Discussed at Health Association---Quarantine Must be Employed to Stamp it Out.

Ottawa, Sept. 28. A paper on venereal diseases was read at the annual meeting of the Canadian Public Health Association this morning by Captain Gordon Bates, C.A. M.C. The paper was prepared in collaboration with Captain Morris McPhedran and Capt. Donald Fraser.

Dr. Bates contrasted the efficiency with which this menace is dealt with in the army, and the comparative indifference of the civic authorities. The necessity for efficiency in the army led to the adoption of radical measures, such as periodical inspection and quarantining, from which it has been possible to obtain statistics impossible in civil practice.

A recent investigation extending over four months, in which 417 cases were analyzed, showed that 70 infected men were under 20 years of age, 144 between 21 and 25, some 260 were single and 36 married. In 127 cases there was no payment of money to the woman, and only 44 were classed as professionals. In the great majority of cases the women were working in poorly paid occupations, such as domestics, saleswomen, theatre ushers, waitresses, etc. In 295 cases the influence of alcohol was denied, and in 97 cases either the man or woman, or both, had indulged to excess.

Terrible Effects.

The disastrous effects of the alarming prevalence of this disease in every community all over the country was emphasized by the speaker. Gonorrhoea was responsible for ten per cent. of all cases of blindness. It rendered necessary many surgical operations and was the cause of many serious chronic diseases. Syphilis was the cause of 35 per cent of the insanity and one of the causes of mentally defective children, locomotor ataxia, softening of the brain and diseases of the heart, blood vessels and vital organs. Deaths from paresis, aneurism and early apoplexy are rarely classified as due to syphilis, as they should be.

Remedial Measures.

Dr. Bates strongly urged that immediate steps be taken to facilitate the early diagnosis and prompt treatment of all cases, in order to check the alarming spread of a disease that was much more serious than the average person had any conception of. Clinics should be established, not only in the large cities, but all over the country. Discontinuance of treatment before cure is established, and subsequent marriage, results in an enormous amount of innocent infection.

He referred to educational campaigns which were being carried on in the States, and expressed regret that the Ontario authorities had banned a moving picture film called "Damaged Goods," which had been strongly endorsed by the highest medical and military authorities in the States. Venereal diseases, he said, should be made quarantinable immediately and a law passed in Canada similar to that in western Australia.

Wit and Wisdom

The Cause.

"So the meeting broke up in a row?"

"Yes."

"What was the trouble?"

"Some pacifist started a riot when he found he couldn't have things his own way."

The Prune Club.

"Guess why those female Washington agitators are called pickets," said the man with the red tie as he seated himself at the breakfast table.

"'Cause they're easily seen through," suggested the lady with a mole on her chin.

"No, no," chortled the man.

"Maybe it's because they're painted," ventured the prim maiden lady.

"Nix," came from the man.

"I'a thinkin' 'cause dey is against de fence," broke in the colored waitress.

"Not exactly that," giggled the man. "Listen, because, like many other pickets, they have wooden heads."

"It's Me Again."

The Neptune lodge of the Ancient Order of Oysters had its quarters in an old brownstone front on a side street. It had a good reputation with the police and the neighbors, but one Saturday night passing pedestrians heard sounds of a rumpus inside, and then a figure came flying out the door as if from a catapult.

Samaritan like, the crowd rushed to help the figure to its feet. It was a big man, spouting and indignant. He had hard work to find words. He waved his arms wildly as he gained a standing position. Then he peeled off his coat.

"They hadn't any right to do that," he cried. "I paid my dues and Im a regular member of the Oysters. By gosh, I'm going back in there and clean out that place. You gents stand her and count 'em as they come out."

He rushed up the steps of the club house, forced the front door open without turning the knob, and went inside like a meteor. A wild disturbance ensued within.

Then another figure came flying through the door.

"That's one," said the onlookers.

"Don't begin counting yet," said the man who had just been thrown out. "It's me again."

WHAT ABOUT THE SHINE BALL?

As the time draws near for the Giants and White Sox to meet in the world's series, the discussion of the "shine" ball waxes stronger among magnates. The much-mooted question just at present is: Has Eddie Cicotte a "shine" ball? and if he has, what is to be done about it?

A man prominent in minor league baseball in the Middle West, speaking of the use of the "shine" ball in the coming world's series, remarked today:

"There is likely to be a great deal of trouble over that delivery of Cicotte's in the big series. There is no doubt but that he does use a ball that has been tampered with, and I doubt whether the umpires in the series will stand for its use if it is protested by the Giants. It seems to me that something ought to be done about it before the series gets under way. Definite action on it one way or another at this time will, I believe, eliminate a great deal of unnecessary kicking during the big games."

While discussing the coming series in an informal way with John McGraw and the New York correspondents in Chicago last week, Charles A. Comiskey expressed much the same sentiment.

Why It Should Be Stopped.

"There has been so much fuss raised about the alleged use of the 'shine' ball by Cicotte this year," he said, "that the matter ought to be straightened out as soon as possible, so that there will be no further trouble caused on the playing field by protests against Cicotte's delivery. Not long ago, in a game played here in Chicago, one hour and fifteen minutes was consumed in playing two innings simply because of a series of interruptions, the players of the opposing team taking ball after ball away from Cicotte and running to the umpire with it. Such a procedure on a ball field during the course of a game that thousands of fans have paid to see is farcial, and a stop should be put to it immediately."

Last Sunday in Chicago two Giant pitchers who had been sent on ahead of the club witnessed a game between the White Sox and the Browns, and both studied intently the delivery of Cicotte, who hurled that game. One of them, after careful observation, is certain that Cicotte does not employ a freak delivery, but simply has a fast ball with a good hop on it. The other is equally positive that he does use a shine ball.

Meanwhile, perhaps the most unconcerned young men in baseball so far as the "shine" ball goes are the Giant batters who will face Cicotte in the big series. None of the players, with the exception of two pitchers previously mentioned, has seen the White Sox this year, and none has expressed a desire to see them before the championship games start.

COLLECTION OF REFUSE IS NOT SATISFACTORY

Property Committee to Notify Graham That His Agreement With City is in Danger of Cancellation — Salary Increase For the Plumbing Inspector.

The City Council's property committee met last night.

On motion of Ald. Smith and Duncan, a bylaw providing for this increase, to date from Aug. 1, 1917, will be prepared and submitted to council, and Plumbing Inspector Thompson will be asked to attend a meeting of this committee at 7:30 Monday night.

Refuse Collection.

Ald. Duncan and Smith moved that C. K. Graham and his sureties be notified that the latter's agreement for the collection of refuse, etc., is not being properly carried out, and that if this work is not done satisfactorily the city will cancel the agreement, have the work done by other parties, and charge Graham and his sureties with any extra expense the city may thus be put to.—Carried.

Bread Sales Act.

On motion of Ald. Smith and Taylor, a bylaw will be prepared to appoint an inspector to enforce the provisions of the Bread Sales Act.

There were present: Chairman Saunders, Mayor Duffus, and Aldermen Duncan, Taylor, Smith and Langford.

TAKE FAREWELL OF MRS. HOWARD

RED CROSS AND CHURCH WORKERS PRESENT HER WITH ADDRESS AND GIFTS.

Representatives of the Red Cross and the Ladies Aid Society of Trinity Church, called last evening at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Howard, Bolivar street, and presented her with an umbrella and a hand purse as a slight token of appreciation of what she has done as a member of both societies. Mrs. Howrd is soon to leave the city to take up her residence in Toronto. The following address was read by Mrs. J. L. Walsh and the presentation was made by Mrs. M. W. Lyle:

Dear Mrs. Howard,—

The Red Cross and Ladies Aid Societies of Trinity Church are very desirous to show their appreciation to one of their most willing workers on the eve of your departure from Peterborough.

You have proved yourself a very faithful and efficient member of both societies. On the membership roll of the Ladies' Aid your name has stood for one ready for "Active Service," ready to answer the call of the President and to step into the harness and do your "bit" to swell the funds of the treasury. Indefatigable, courteous, bright and systematic are epithets closely allied with the name of Mrs. Howard.

When we come to your work for the Red Cross what shall we say. Here you have out-rivalled your work on the Ladies' Aid. Every Wednesday found you at your table plying needle and scissors for garments for the boys. "Win the war" was your slogan, and by your energy and perseverance we could see the words were for you no empty motto.

We are told that

"They who go
Feel not the pain of parting, it is they
Who stay behind that suffer."

You are asked to accept this gift—an umbrella and hand purse—as a slight memento of appreciation, and it is given with the prayer that "God be with you till we meet again."

Signed on behalf of the Red Cross and Ladies' Aid Societies—

MRS. J. L. WALSH.
MRS. M. W. LYLE.

Peterborough, Sept. 27, 117.

Was on the Spot.

It was in the smoking concert at the local Profiteers' Club, and the chairman, with his newly-acquired riches, was behaving in a manner known colloquially as "throwing his weight about."

"Mr. Poshkins," he announced, "will now recite 'Horatius' from Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet'."

"Hi!" shouted a member, "Shakespeare never wrote 'Horatius'! Macaulay wrote that!"

"I say Shakespeare wrote it," cried the chairman, "and I can prove it!"

"Prove it, then."

Whereupon the chairman, angry at this upset to his dignity, hurled a water bottle and a chair at his opponent and then jumped upon him.

"Now," he cried, "who wrote 'Horatius'?"

"Shakespeare," gasped the unfortunate.

"Sure?"

"Certain! I was with him when he done it."

The wife of W. H. Mather, Vancouver, formerly of the A. S. C., was found dead and he himself seriously cut on the wrists in a room in a hotel at Winnipeg.

OBITUARY

THOMAS ALBERT MARKS.

Thomas Albert, the infant son of Lieut. Thomas and Mrs. Marks, passed away at the family residence, 64 Aylmer street, this morning, at 8.45.

The funeral will take place at 3.30 tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Dougald Brown of Park Street Baptist Church will officiate.

WILLIAM DAVIDSON

In the death of William Davidson at his residence, 520 Dickson street, on Wednesday, September 26, Peterborough has lost another of her veteran citizens. During the past two months he had showed a declining health and had been confined to his home for six weeks preceding his death. The deceased was the son of the late James Davidson, of Smith township, where he was born on November 15, 1839. He lived in Smith until 1873, when he moved to Peterborough. For many years he was an active member of the Dickson Company of this city. On November 22nd, 1865, he married Elizabeth Dickson, daughter of the late Samuel Dickson. Their children were the late Mrs. S. M. Munro, of Montreal, Mr. Dickson Davidson, Vice-President of the Peterborough Lumber Company, Mr. J. Roger Davidson, of Frobisher, Sask., and Miss Laura Davidson at home. The deceased also leaves his wife and two grandchildren, Helen and Gordon Munro, of Montreal. The latter has been on active service for two years in France.

The late William Davidson was a life-long member of St. Paul's church and in politics a supporter of the principles of the Liberal party. He had been identified with many interests that had for their object the development of this city, to whose early progress he contributed a large share. He was associated with many gentlemen whose numbers are steadily decreasing, but whose work remains in the city they helped to build.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery, with the service at the home at 2.30 o'clock.

MARY VIOLET RUBIDGE.

REV. ARCHBOLD'S LAST SUNDAY

WILL PREACH ON THE SUBJECT OF FRATERNAL SOCIETIES —SPECIAL MUSIC.

Arrangements have been made for two events of more than ordinary interest in St. John's next Sunday. First, at the Sunday School afternoon session, the first addresses on the Church Catechism will be given. The "Outward and Visible Sign" illustrated charts, by the Rev. D. J. Caswell will be used, and the first address to the upper school will be on Part One, the "Baptismal Covenant," (first four questions). Parents and guardians are urged to see that their children are all present on Sunday next. Candidates for Confirmation will be heartily welcomed. The addresses have been prepared and will be delivered by Mr. R. J. Devey, superintendent of the school, who has made a special study of this form of instruction.

Second, Sunday next, will conclude the month's ministrations in St. John's of the Rev. Walter Archbold, D.D., formerly of Peterborough, now of Ocean City, Maryland. Mr. Archbold will preach on the subject of Fraternal Societies, their work and influence, and a cordial invitation is issued to all members of fraternal societies to come to St. John's Church next Sunday night, to take part in the service and to hear of friendly society work from an experienced clerical member. Forms of the special service to be used will be provided, well known hymns sung, and the service will conclude with intercessory prayers for the Allied forces.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION MONDAY

FIRST PERIOD OF REVIEW CONTEST ENDS TO-NIGHT

BIG OPERATIONS SUPPOSED IN PROGRESS ON WESTERN FRONT; CENSORS STOP NEWS

British Are Evidently Preparing for if Not Already Engaged in Another Offensive---Air Raid on London Fails and Two Hun Machines Brought Down.

The British censor has suppressed all news coming from the Western front today, and this is taken as an indication that there are important operations in progress. Up to 2 o'clock the only despatch that had come through was: There was the usual artillery activity on both sides. There is nothing of interest to report."

A sensation was caused in London by the official announcement that news from the British Western front will be suspended today.

No reason for the withholding of the despatches of newspaper correspondents on the British front in France is known. The only occasion previously of interrupting the news of the correspondents was in October, 1915, when it was announced from London that thousands of words of news from Associated Press correspondents in Sofia and from the German line on the Western battle front were being withheld by the British censor. Two days later announcement was made of the entry of Bulgaria into the war on the side of the Teutons, and a day later still word came that Field Marshal Sir John French had made considerable gains in the Loos sector, driving a wedge into German lines from 500 to 1,000 yards in depth.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

PENALTY FOR THE CONSCRIPT WHO TRIES TO "WORK" DOCTOR

Special Punishment to be Imposed Under Order-in-Council Soon to be Issued—No Date For First Call Set.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.— Penalties additional to those imposed in the Criminal Code are to be provided to punish any one found guilty of attempting improperly to influence any medical board or exemption tribunal, appointed under the Military Service Act. An order-in-Council to this effect will shortly be published.

The regulations governing local tribunals will be issued at the time the proclamation calling out the first class of men is published. No definite date has yet been fixed, but indications are that it will probably be about the middle of October. After the proclamation is published, about three weeks will be allowed for the filing of applications.

Brigadier-General R. J. Gwynne Director General of Mobilization and G. U. Stiff, of Toronto, representing the Military Service Board, will leave for the east tonight to confer with Provincial Registrars and General Officers Commanding Military Districts. General operation of the Military Service Act will be discussed especially with a view to secure uniformity of procedure throughout the Dominion. Other representatives of the Militar Service Council will shortly leave for the Maritime Provinces. They will have a similar object in view.

In all, fifteen registrars and deputy registrars have been appointed. In appointing deptuy registrars, the aim has been to bring military districts into line with Provincial boundries.

FATE OF RUSSIA IS IN HANDS OF DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS THAT IS STILL IN SESSION

Gathering is Divided in its Support of Premier Kerensky's Policy---If He is Upheld New Republic Will Stay in War to End---Angry Debates Indulged in by Delegates

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Petrograd, Sept. 29.—A big crisis is expected today at the democratic congress and this crisis will, it is expected, bring about the decision which will make Kerensky supreme dictator or completely obliterate that leader and his government and decide whether Russia will continue in the war or not. Premier Kerensky has taken the initiative and is facing coldly what may be the supreme test of the power of his Government.

At the very beginning of the Democratic Congress, called by Maximalian and the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates to question his power and perhaps to demand a new Government, the Premier accepted challenge. The Premier told the congress that his regime bad saved Russia in its darkest hours. The Government also indicated its policy of a firm continuation of the war when Verkhovsky, the Minister of War, pledged the convention to final victory over Germany if discipline in the army was restored.

The General's reference to the return of discipline and his announcement that the officers would be named by their superiors instead of elected by soldiers was applauded only mildly but his address as a whole evoked more cheers than did the Premier's.

"A Mischief Maker."

"I prevented it. I destroyed it. I was informed from the beginning of its existence," declared the Premier regarding revolt of General Korniloff. A loud voice in the gallery shouted, "You are the great mischief worker of the country."

From a bedlam of hisses and applause, voices from the floor, challenged the heckler to arise, a private soldier in the back gallery arose and with folded arms across his brown blouse, stood calmly facing a torrent of hisses from the supporters of Premier Kerensky. This was only one of the unusual scends of the convention.

The convention was a strange sight the sombre colors and the clothes of peasants, workmen and private soldiers predominated. Here and there were brighter colors of uniforms of officers.

The section of General Verkhovsky's speech concerning the efforts of Germany to obtain peace at the expense of Russia provoked great applause.

"Our gallant allies," the War Minister said, "have replied to the dastardly offer by unconditionally rejecting it, believing, as I believe, that the Russian army will still bare its breast to free the fatherland."

The General said he would handle the army without gloves although it had plenty of good intentions.

General Verkhovsky repeated his announcement of a programme of changing the army commanders, educating the troops along free revolutionary lines based on mutual trust between officers and men and the disbanding of the useless hordes in the rear. The speech contained little comfort for pacifists in the audience.

Peace With Freedom.

The War Minister is a young man about the age of Kerensky. He spoke in a low, even voice and referred frequently to notes, gradually working up to the climax when he declared in a ringing voice, "The war must be continued until with certainty we have achieved the peace desired by all, peace with freedom."

MAY ASK MICHAEL CLARK TO RUN IN PETERBOROUGH

Cast Out by His Former Constituents in Red Deer, Local Liberals Suggest That He be Offered the Nomination in This Riding.

There are Liberal party workers in Peterborough who maintain that if there is to be a contest the party should select a man who has not been prominently identified with partisan work, a man, in short, without a record for they hold that the best candidate in a time like the present is a man without a history. If he has no active friends, he at least has no enemies.

Although the Liberal nomination has practically been cinched by the party's one best politcal worker there is by no means unanimity in the selection. Other men, however are not available. Some of the dark horses approached refused to risk a trial of their strength under the circumstances.

The matter is not yet settled. It is now suggested by some of the Liberals that Dr Michael Clark, who for the past nine years has been Federal member for Red Deer, Sask., be invited to run in West Peterborough. He has always been a Liberal, but has supported Premier Borden on every important public question since the beginning of the war. He not only voted for conscription, but for the Franchise Act which deprives so many aliens of the vote.

Dr. Clark has been practically read out of his own party. His former constituents have thrown him overboard [illegible] refusing to renominate him. Dr. Clark, however, is too valuable a man to permit his public services to be lost to the country. He [illegible] of the few win-the-war Liberals, whose sincerity is above reproach [illegible] on this issue he has hopelessly broken with his former leader. Beyond a doubt he will be nominated in some Ontario constituency.

There is, however, little chance of his being brought to Peterborough. There is not a single particular in which his war record adds anything to the stand taken by Capt. Burnham on the same question.

GERMANS FAIL IN LONDON RAID

AERIAL FLEET CROSSES BORDER BUT IS REPULSED BY HOME GUARD.

London, Sept. 29.—Hostile airships attacked the southeast coast of England last evening. A few of them attempted to reach London, but failed. No report of damages or casualties has been received as yet.

The official statement issued by Field Marshal French, in charge of the aerial defence of Great Britain, follows:

"Hostile airplanes attacked the southeast coast of England this evening. The raiders were reported from various points along the coast in Suffolk, Essex and Kent.

"The majority of the raiders did not venture far inland. A few of them headed toward London, but failed to reach the metropolis.

"Bombs were dropped in Suffolk, Essex and Kent, but no reports regarding casualties or damage have been received as yet."

When the air raid warning was issued in London, everybody took to cover in the usual way. They waited two hours without hearing the sounds of a defensive gun or the bomb of a raider, and it became evident that the German airment had been headed off from the London area.

Roar of Guns

From the first telegrams received from the coast the features of the air raid seem to have been the intense volume of the defensive gunfire and the speediness of the repulse of the raiders. One despatch says there was a tremendous roar of guns all along the Thames estuary. The numberless batteries at work put up a regular curtain fire. British airplanes also went up after the raiders and there was considerable air fighting. Afterwards the firing gradually died away and the noise of the enemy's engines grew less and less faint as the ships speeded to sea.

One despatch says several bombs were dropped in the rural areas southeast of Suffolk, a few miles inland, but as far as was known there was neither damage nor casualties.

COAL DEALERS MAKE TROUBLE

WITHHOLD INFORMATION THAT IS SOUGHT BY FUEL CONTROLLER.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.— Acting Cost of Living Commissioner W. F. O'Connor has been trying to find out the exact coal situation throughout the country in order that the fuel controller may take action to assist dealers who are having difficulty in securing a supply for the winter. To this end a circular was sent to dealers throughout Canada last month asking them for exact particulars as to the tonnage required by them and also the names of those with whom they had placed orders for coal. The circular particularly requests the specific information so that the fuel controller may act intelligently.

It was stated at Mr. O'Connor's office that 75 per cent of the replies received in answer to the circular did not contain the information asked for. Although many o fthe dealers stated that they were unable to get their orders for coal filled, they failed to furnish specific information as to the amount required, etc. The fuel controller therefore finds himself handicapped in his efforts to help them.

MEDICAL BOARD WILL BEGIN WORK IN THE ARMOURIES AT 10 O'CLOCK MONDAY MORNING

Men From C.G.E. Will Be First Examined and Will Attend in Squads in Order to Save Time---Dr Greer is Third Member of Board.

The Medical Board appointed to examine men who are liable to be called out in the first class under the Military Service Act has been organized and will begin work at the Armories Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The members of the board are Drs. Cameron, Eastwood and Greer.

There will be strict co-operation between the board and the manufacturers so that the work may be facilitated. The board will first examine men, single or widowers, between the ages of 20 and 34 years, who are employed by the C. G. E. These will be sent in squads so that they will lose no time in waiting and the company will not be deprived of their services. This policy will be adopted in all the factories of the city and other places where eligible men are employed.

Any man who is of military age and subject to examination who attempts to deceive the doctors or to influence them in any way will find himself face to face with a special penalty provided by order-in-council, much more severe than the punishment that is decreed for such offences in the criminal code. A copy of the finding of the doctors will be furnished every man, and if he claims exemption he is required to produce this when he applies to the Exemption Board. Blank forms to be filled out by those who claim exemption can be obtained at the post office.

The Work in Toronto.

This medical examination has been in progress in Toronto for some time. It has been the custom there to take on a certain number of applications morning, afternoon and evening, respectively, compatible with the ability of the medical officers to handle them. Orders are issued daily to the sentries not to admit more than the required number, and if a surplus should apply, to explain and tell them to call again.

SCAVENGERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

TORONTO STREET CLEANERS INSIST THAT THEIR BOSS BE DISCHARGED.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—At a meeting of between 600 and 700 employes of the street commissioner's department hald last night in Victoria Hall it was decided to declare a strike, to become effective at noon today, as a result of the action of the Board of Control in connection with the Wilson flag incident. The meeting is stated to have been unanimous in reaching this decision, and several city newspapers came in for severe criticism for not having given the men's statements a fair showing.

LABOR LEADERS UNDER ARREST

WM. D. HAYWOOD AND OTHER I.W.W.'S IN TROUBLE AT CHICAGO.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Sept. 29. — William D. Haywood, international secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, was arrested last night on a charge of seditions conspiracy, but was released today on $25,000 bail. Eight other leaders are still in jail, unable to raise $10,000 bail.

80 PER CENT FIT FOR SERVICE

THE YOUNG MEN IN QUEBEC ARE IN FINE PHYSICAL CONDITION.

Quebec, Sept. 29.—Although the Medical Board opened only on Saturday in connection with the military service act, the Quebec city examiners had examined more than a hundred yonng men yesterday.

Officials in charge of the Medical Bureau at the Quebec Military Hospital stated this evening that, so far, eighty per cent of the men examined have been found fit for service. This is regarded here as a record of excellent physical standing for the youths in Quebec.

Indications are that now the military service act has become law, no serious oppostion will be made. A rush of applicants for examination is expected at the very opening of the bureau in the many centres established to this end in this section of the country.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1917

A QUESTION FOR SIR WILFRID.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier asks if, when Canada goes to Europe to seek for immigrants, they will come to a country where we forsook our pledges. It is pertinent to ask, What pledges? Did we pledge as a right to a German or Austrian that in the event of war with Germany or Austria or both we would place in their hands the oportunity to cripple our armies against our enemies? Moreover, it will be many a long year before Canada sets out again to seek immigrants from either Germany or Austria.—Orillia Packet.

THE LOCAL ELECTION.

AFTER preserving a sphinx-like silence all these months, The Examiner has finally emerged from its hiding and declared itself with regard to the coming election in West Peterborough. No union of parties, no election by acclamation for our contemporary. It courts a contest along the old political lines and rejects the suggestion of a non-partisan campaign, made by Capt. Burnham the other day in his address to the public.

The Examiner can bring no charge against the present member except by accusing him of what is its own leading characteristic — fidelity to party. In its estimation the chief offence of which he has been guilty was in supporting the Franchise Act, a measure which The Examiner obstinately refused to see was one great step toward settling the issue now before the people—the winning of the war.

The arrangements have all been completed in the Liberal camp and the party candidate for Parliament has been virtually selected. All he lacks is the formal endorsation of the Liberal convention, and he is already at work in his canvass of the voters.

The Liberals will in the coming campaign have as their standard-bearer the most expert politician in their ranks. That qualification has been the main consideration in placing him in the lead. He was, too, an active worker in the cause of recruiting from the beginning of the war until the voluntary system collapsed. No man in West Peterborough should know quite as well as the prospective candidate that this war cannot be won by academic discussions or by appeals to patriotism, and that something more practical than polished oration is required to raise a Canadian army.

That being the case, how does the prospective Liberal candidate stand on the question of conscription? From the earliest stages he has been timid unto death of the very suggestion of compulsory military service. At the annual meeting of the Patriotic League, when the matter was brought up, his attitude was one of strict neutrality. Practical politician as he is, he elected to remain non-committal.

Lacking a pronouncement of his views, the public are justified in inferring that the stand of the prospective candidate with regard to conscription is the one-leg-on-each-side-of-the-fence policy of the followers of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

There is to be another attempt to operate the voluntary system. The Examiner's candidate, as before said, should know that all such efforts will be so much wasted energy, having been through the mill himself.

If the voluntary system cannot be resuscitated the Military Service Act is to be enforced. That is what the rank and file say, but their leader is at odds with them on this point, and he has an almost solid [illegible] behind him. No conscription for him under any circumstances. He has been implored by his followers to save their chances by agreeing to the compromise outlined above, but all to no purpose.

In the meantime, while the candidate that The Examiner has various material reasons for supporting, was with his colleagues experimenting with the voluntary system farther, the war would rage as fiercely as ever in Europe, and the Canadian soldiers would realize that their last hope for succor had vanished.

If Capt. Burnham is or has been a partisan, as much can be said of the Liberal candidate who is to oppose him. The Captain's position, however, is clearly defined. The voters know just where he stands. His opponent is surrounded by a haze of uncertainty. He is a man who, if elected, would be helpless because he is at variance, according to his own professions, with his leader.

The man who votes for Capt. Burnham takes no chance. To support his opponent is all fours with investing money in the proverbial pig securely tied in a bag.

A YEAR BEHIND THE SCHEDULE

AN EDITORIAL from the New York Times, reprinted in another column, recalls the famous report made to the American Government by Admiral Dewey in 1898, shortly after the breaking out of the Spanish-American war. The American admiral, while at Manilla, had a conversation with a German naval officer, who had told him that in fifteen years Germany would launch a war having for its object the conquest of the world. As soon as the European powers were disposed of the Teutons proposed to devote their attention to the American continent.

Admiral Dewey was so impressed with this conversation, so convinced was he that the German officer was talking with authority, that he made an official report of the affair for his government.

The big war was started one year behind the above schedule, but the delay was entirely due to the stand taken by Russia at that time and not to any forbearance on the part of Germany. In February, 1913, there was a clash between Austria and Serbia over the settlement of the Balkan war, and Russia declared her intention of espousing the cause of the Slavonic power just as she did one year later.

It was at that time that Von Jagow, the then Foreign Minister for Germany, made his famous address in the Reichstag, throwing down the gauntlet of defiance at the feet of Europe. He said that if Russia interfered, Germany would be compelled to go to the help of Austria as her ally, that Italy, as a member of the Triple Alliance, too, would fight on her side, and that this would involve a conflict not with Serbia and Russia alone but with France and England as well.

Von Jagow did not intimate that Germany would do anything to attempt to avert the trouble. The tenor of his remarks justified the inference that his country would accept the issue without any misgivings as to the result.

Russia at that time refused to insist upon her contention. It was the Czar's Empire who in 1913 really preserved the peace of Europe for another short year.

The marvel is that the Entente Nations did not take the address of Von Jagow seriously. They continued to live in their paradise of fancied security. In Canada at that time Parliament was discussing the Borden naval aid bill, and the blinded opponents of the measure foolishly insisted that there was nothing to fear from Germany and that a serious war was forever improbable.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Wooden Economy.

(Buffalo Express.)

The Hamilton (Ont.) Spectator thus seriously suggests: "A single match is a small thing; but collectively, a large amount of wood is wasted annually by unburned ends. In this age of economy—preached but not practised—why not shorten 'em?"

Why not organize a company to collect and utilize the unburned ends?

It is not recalled that any Canadian Government was confronted with the obstacles and perplexities with which Sir Robert Borden has so successfully contended.

Fooling the Neighbors.

Their Great Achievement.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The British and Americans must know their own habit of overconfidence, lack of suspicion, indifference and inertia. If they let go now, when they are aroused, without accomplishment which safeguards the future, the future may find them again exposed to a policy which seeks to injure or destroy them. The great German war accomplishment was to destroy all confidence in German sincerity.

WHAT IS MEANT BY CAMOUFLAGE

(Orillia Packet)

Two or three weeks ago there was a general hunt for the meaning, or more correctly, the derivation of "sabotage." Now the meaning of "camouflage" is asked. The art of camouflage means the concealing of war material by means of protective colouration. In an article in Scribner's Magazine Mr. Ernest Peixotto describes some clever applications of the art. To paint a cannon gray makes it less visable and in these days of hidden warfare everything must be carefully concealed from the scouting aeroplane, with its hawk-eyed observer and its even more keen-eyed telephotographic lens.

Before every important battle nowadays aeroplanes soar aloft, fight off assailants and photograph as accurately as possible the enemy positions. These photogrphs, when developed and examined under a magnifying glass, reveal every secret that cannot be carefully hidden.

For example, a bright, high light will shine along the top of every cannon and reveal its emplacement. So the artist comes along with his paint-brush, paints a black streak along this high light and a gray streak at either side, with white paint, where the shadows would naturally come underneath, thus reversing the modelling of nature and flattening the object out.

A few colored streaks to confuse the form of the object, and the cannon is effectually disguised even from the camera. Motor trucks, artillery waggons, trains of cars with their locomotives are painted with broken patches of green in summer and with white in winter so as to conceal both their form and their colour. Aeroplane sheds that stand as well protected as possible on the edges of woods, but with open ground before them from which the airmen can take flight, have their fronts and roofs painted exactly to match the trees behind them, and thus become hidden in the woods.

In his latest book, Mr. H. G. Wells, writing of this visit to the Isonzo front, tells of a great battery that he came upon, "the most unobtrusive of batteries, whose one desire seemed to be to appear a simple piece of woodland in the eye of God and the aeroplane." And he speaks of a great gun that he found there, a sort of decoy gun made of logs to draw the enemy fire "with its painted sandbags about it, and it felt itself so entirely a part of the battery that whenever its companions fired, it burned a flash and kicked up a dust. It was an excellent example of the great are of camouflage."

To be seen, in modern trench warfare, is certain death. So the shining helmet is painted a dull blue, and all the armies have adopted uniform of the colour that they consider least visible. To conceal soldiers in dangerous outpost duty, blouses and hoods are provided and carefully painted to match exactly the surroundings in which they are to be worn.

WORK OF PREPARING FOR ELECTION IS TAKEN UP

Officials Who Will be Appointed Under New Franchise Act---Special Officer for Overseas---Time Required for the Work.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Certain preparatory work necessitated by the fact that Canada is to have an election under new statutes or the War-Time Elections Act and the Military Voters' Act is now being begun in the State Department and the office of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. An assistant clerk of the Crown in Chancery will be named without delay and will shortly proceed to Great Britain with instructions to divide the camps in England and Scotland into districts and arrange for the naming of a presiding officer for each and for leave of absence from duty for such officials in order that they may perform their functions. A general returning officer to collate the results of the voting at home and abroad and announce the result at Ottawa has also to be named. A returning officer and an enumerator have also to be selected for every constituency in Canada. The Government will appoint the returning officers and the latter will, in all probability, select the enumerators. Chairmen of the Boards of Appeal for Ontario and revising officers for counties in Nova Scotia have to be chosen.

Appointing Officers

In accordance with the terms of the Military Voters' Act, six scrutineers and some forty special returning officers will be appointed, half nominated in each case by Sir Robert Borden and half by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The scrutineers will be empowered to name deputy scrutineers. The special returning officers will be found in Canada and sent overseas. It will be their duty to take from the bags which will serve as ballot-boxes at military polling places the ballots enclosed in envelopes, place them in ballot-boxes for the constituencies to which they belong and thirty-one days after polling in Canada count them. As these officials will have to have knowledge of various localities to guide them in allocating the ballots to the right ridings they will be taken from various parts of Canada and it has been suggested that they should be senior officials of post-offices. They will do their work in the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in London and that of the Commissioner in Paris. To assist [illegible] in Canada will be prepared and sent overseas. Military ballots cast in Canada and Bermud will be counted under the supervision of the general returning officer in Ottawa.

THE TIME REQUIRED

Locked bags with metal slits, to be used in military and naval polls overseas, will be made in Britain to save time and cost of transportation from Canada. Ballots for the military voters will be printed abroad.

Books for enumerators for use in preparing their lists have to be made and necessary forms have to be printed by the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. Ballots for the use of civilian electors are printed under orders placed by returning officers in each riding, on paper supplied by the Government. Poll books have to be prepared by returning officers and finolly the writs of election have to be made ready for issue.

It is estimated that three weeks will be required for the preparations previous to the issue of the writs. Seven weeks will be necessary for work to be carried out between the issue of the writs and the polling in constituencies in Canada other than the Yukon. In the Yukon some thirteen weeks will be required between the issue of the writ and voting day.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Editor Review: I arrived in the city the other night, tired and hungry, and made my way to one of the places which, through their signs, purport to be in the business of supplying meals. I went in hungry and came out with my appetite unappeased.

There is no necessity for pleading food conservation in our hotels and restaurants. The proprietors of these places seem to have made a study of the subject and have reduced it to a science. A hungry man needs bread, meat and potatoes. He can dispense with the fancy dishes, and the spectacle of a white-aproned waiter buzzing around, with a tray which contains a variety of all but empty dishes is simply an aggravation.

GERMANY HAD PLANNED TO START THE WAR OF CONQUEST IN 1913

Admiral Dewey's Report of Conversation With German Naval Officer Revived at Washington.

(New York Times.)

Over and over again, in the past three years, men of standing have come forward with reports of conversations had by them with German officials before the war, in which the Germans not only foretold the attack which Germany was to make on the world, but specifically mentioned her purpose to attack the United States when England and France had been disposed of. However, it has always been possible for a stubborn pacifist to reject the evidence, cumulative though it was, on the ground that either the passage of time or the passion of war had obscured the narrator's memory. It is for this reason that Senator Lewis has done an important service in diggin out of the Government records the report which Admiral Dewey made in 188 of his conversation at Manila with Admiral von Goetz.

The threat, or prophecy, of von Goets does not differ in detail from those which less distinguished citizens than Dewey have reported from other Germans. This uniformity lends additional strength to the reports those citizens have made. That this was not mere boastfulness on von Goetz's part, any more than on the part of the other Germans who said the same thing, Admiral Dewey must have believed, for he thought the conversation of such importance as to warrant being reported in full and officially to his Government; and Dewey was not a man given to long reports. He was the briefest of writers, and never reported anything he did not think of importance. This is what Von Goets said to him, this is what Dewey, in the midst of great responsibilities at Manila, thought of such importance as to need a full report to the Navy Department:

> About fifteen years from now my country will start a great war. She will be in Paris about two months after the commencement of hostilities. Her move on Paris will be but a step to her real object—the crushing of England. Some months after we finish our work in Europe we will take New York, and probably Washington, and hold them for some time. We will put your country in its place with reference to Germany. We do not purpose to take any of your territory, but we do intend to take a billion or so of your dollars from New York and other places. The Monroe Doctrine will be taken charge of by us, and we will dispose of South America as we wish. Don't forget this, about fifteen years from now.

There the report has lain in the naval archives ever since. "About fifteen years from now" was 1913. Germany intended to launch her attack in that year, as is proved by the revelations made by the Italian Government of the proposals made to it to join in an invasion of Serbia in that year. Italy refused, but the invasion was made in 1914. "We will put your country in its place," said von Goetz in 1898. "After the war America had better look out," said the Kaiser to Ambassador Gerard in 1915.

Any man who still says that this war is not a war of self-defence, a war against invasion, is either proof against facts by reason of the construction of his brain or has full possession of his reasoning powers and is serving the enemy.

THE OLDEST COLONY.

Splendid Work Done by Newfoundlanders in the War.

From time to time when statements are made as to what the British Dominions have done or are doing to help in winning the war the name of Newfoundland is not infrequently omitted from the list, save The Halifax Chronicle. Just why this should be so we are at a loss to understand. Newfoundland is the oldest colony of Great Britain. It is one of the five self-governing Dominions and, while the smallest in point of population, its service and sacrifices in the cause of freedom measure up well in proportion to those of the other Dominions.

In Newfoundland, out of a population of approximately 250,000 over 10,000 have offered themselves for active service. From a recent report issued by Sir W. E. Davidson, K.C.M.G., Governor of the Colony, we learn that Newfoundland has furnished 1,713 seamen to the Royal Naval Reserve. Of these 124 have been killed in action, drowned or died, and 92 have been invalided home and discharged.

Up to May 20 last, the First Newfoundland Regiment had sent 3,431 men overseas, of which up to that time 237 had been killed, 108 had died of wounds, and 42 of disease. The wounded at the date of the report numbered 1,135, the missing 441, and the prisoners of war 4. This is a record of which Newfoundland may well be proud. While we may not speak from personal experience of the gallant conduct of Newfoundland's sons on the field of battle, it is a matter of common knowledge that the Newfoundland seamen who finished their training on the ships of the North Atlantic fleet were very highly regarded by the Admiral commanding, and achieved a very high reputation for efficiency from their immediate commanders. They earned and enjoyed a high reputation for discipline and resourcefulness among their fellows, the pick of the senior service.

While giving liberally of her manhood in the service of the Empire, Newfoundland has given no less liberally of her wealth for all war purposes. A fund of over $500,000 has been created to aid war sufferers, an aeroplane fund of over $50,000 has been raised, and $40,000 collected and sent to the British Red Cross. Newfoundland has also provided a "Cot Fund" for the purpose of endowing 300 beds for the sick and wounded. And all this has been done from the resources of a quarter of a million people, none of whom are rich as riches are measured to-day on this continent. Well done Newfoundland!

Man's Early Sorrow.

"I hate to leave the old place," remarked Adam as he turned from the garden of Eden.

"Leaving it isn't the worst of it," replied Eve. "Think of the trouble you're going to have when you get to telling of the animals and rivers in this place to the explorers and geographical experts over yonder."—Washington Star.

BOWSER'S PLUNGE

It's to Be in Pigs at $1,000 a Month Profit.

Mrs. Bowser Furnishes Them, and He Decides to Hold the Scheme in Abeyance and Take Up Another, but Mrs. B. Finds Flaws in That Too.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

MR. BOWSER was smiling as he left the office.

He chuckled as he took the street car.

He reached home with a grin on his face.

That he was about to make a break of some sort was apparent to Mrs. Bowser before he had been home five minutes, but she asked no questions, and he managed to contain himself until after dinner. Then he rubbed his hands together, chuckled softly and said:

"I suppose that if I should tell you that I expect to make a clean $1,000 a month on the outside for the next five years you'll call it one of my fads, wouldn't you?"

"Perhaps not," answered Mrs. Bowser doubtfully. "Are you going to speculate?"

"Not at all. I have simply struck a sure thing."

"If it's a sure thing it will be nice. What is it?"

"I'll tell you, though you won't understand. Not one woman in 10,000 has a business head on her. I have often wished you knew something of business, so that I could talk to you. It isn't your fault that the Lord created you to read novels and gad around to the stores in search of bargains, and so I don't lay it up against you. I'll tell you what my new move is. I am going into hogs."

"I SHALL BUY A THOUSAND PIGS."

Mrs. Bowser Hits It Right.

"I can understand that much," quietly replied Mrs. Bowser. "You are going to raise hogs in order to supply the market with pork."

"That's the plan to a dot, and you deserve praise for catching on so quickly. I shall buy a thousand pigs. A pig six months old can be bought for a dollar."

"And 1,000 pigs for $1,000."

"That's it. I invest $1,000 in pigs. At the age of two years every pig is ready to be made into pork. The average weight of a two-year-old pig ready for the pork barrel is 200 pounds. Fresh pork is worth 13 cents per pound. That is $26 for every pig, or $25 clear profit. Any man with an ounce of brains in his head can figure $25,000 clean profit in two years. Is there any fad about that?"

"I'm sorry I haven't got a business head on me," said Mrs. Bowser as she got pencil and paper, "but I will figure with you a little. Where are you going to fatten your hogs?"

"Why, on a farm, of course. You don't suppose I'm going to turn the basement of our house into a pigpen, do you?"

"But where is your farm?"

Various Little Oversights.

Mr. Bowser's jaw dropped. He hadn't figured on a farm.

"A farmer figures that it costs 6 cents per pound to make pork for market," continued Mrs. Bowser. "Those are the figures even when he owns his farm and grows his own corn. It will take, in addition to all other feeds, at least twenty bushels of corn for every one of your pigs. Have you figured on buying 20,000 bushels of corn, Mr. Bowser?"

He began to flush up and breathe hard, but made no reply.

"To care for a thousand hogs you must at least hire five men. It will cost you quite a sum to get them together. There will be more or less loss to figure on. You must also figure on butchering and getting your pork to market. And you haven't counted in"—

"Woman, do you take me for a fool?" shouted Mr. Bowser as he jumped off his chair and frightened the family cat under the piano.

"Not at all," she calmly replied. "A fool would go into this hog scheme and lose $5,000 instead of making $25,000, but you won't!"

He didn't know whether to bluff it out or give in gracefully, but finally decided to do the latter. Her facts and figures were beyond dispute and had laid him cold, but he feared she would feel puffed up over it.

Something Better.

"Of course," he said, "I should have figured it to a penny before investing money. What you say is all guesswork, but we'll let it go for a time. In fact, the hog scheme was a secondary matter. I've got a better thing than that. I was in hopes Brown might drop in this evening and I'd talk it over with him."

"Why not talk it over with me?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"You won't comprehend it, of course, but I'll give you an outline of it. How much do you suppose a man in Ohio has made out of chickens in the last year?"

"A thousand dollars, perhaps."

"Over $5,000 clean money, and next year he will double that amount. I've got my facts and figures down pat, and I'm going into chicken raising."

"What are your facts and figures?"

"You can't understand them, but I'll give you a few. I'll start in with 1,000 hens."

"Where do you start?"

"Where do I start? Perhaps you imagine I'm going to make a hen roost of the top of the house! I start in our back yard, of course. I buy 1,000 hens at 25 cents apiece."

"I don't know where you are going to do it," said Mrs. Bowser. "The very lowest figure you can make is 50 cents, and the fowls will be common at that. Having got your thousand hens together, then what?"

"Then I depend on eggs and chickens," replied Mr. Bowser. "I figure on 500 eggs per day. We'll call it fifty dozen, and put the price at 20 cents per dozen. Or 10 per dozen for sure. One thousand hens ought to hatch 10,000 chickens per year. Each chicken will readily sell for"—

Again Figures Rise Up to Taunt Him.

"Just wait a minute. Let us begin with the back yard. We have an area of 30 by 45 feet. One thousand hens wouldn't have room to flap their wings in that space."

"Are you trying to make out that I don't know enough to come in when it rains?" shouted Mr. Bowser as he bobbed up with furious gestures.

"Not all. You are going into poultry. You are going to make a fortune. I haven't a business head on me, of course, but I can figure a little. You might coop up fifty hens in the back yard, but not more. As to eggs, if you get 200 a day from 1,000 hens you would do well. The increase would not be half what you figure. Then you have not figured on the expense of lumber and carpenter work for the coops, nor for feed and help. You see"—

"Yes, I see. Of course I see! I see that you know nothing about poultry. I tell you that any man with an ounce of brains can make $5,000 a year out of 2,000 fowls!"

"Well, let us see how it is done."

"It's done in a business way, of course."

"Then we'll figure in a business way. You will want lumber and nails for the coops, and there will be carpenter work. How much lumber"—

"Not a plank, not a board, not a foot!" howled Mr. Bowser.

"But how are you going to do it?"

Mr. B. Goes Clear Off the Handle.

"None of your business! I go to work and invent a plan to make $5,000 a year as easy as rolling off a log. I come home feeling pleasant over it. Like an ass I state my plan to you, and you immediately and maliciously set out to tear it to pieces. Woman"—

It was lucky for Mr. Bowser that just then he heard the voice of a tramp in the basement hall asking the cook for a bite to eat. It offered him a diversion, and he took advantage of it. He turned from Mrs. Bowser and rushed downstairs followed by the cat, and he fell upon that unsuspicious tramp like a thunderbolt. There was a mixup, three or four whoops and yells, and then the tramp broke loose and spread his wings and made for the street. He didn't stop to open the gate, but went over the fence like a bird, and the chase was over. When Mr. Bowser returned to the sitting room pencil and paper had disappeared, and the diplomatic Mrs. Bowser was looking into the family almanac to see what day of the week the next Fourth of July would fall on.

Devotion.

"A woman's devotion is a wonderful thing," said the sentimentalist.

"No doubt of it," replied Mr. Meekton. "Where Henrietta places her affections her admiration is unquestioning. The only reason she objects to muzzling our bulldog is that she thinks the muzzle will spoil his facial expression."—Washington Star.

Flag of the Skipetars, Now Found With Allies, Belongs to New Republic

A NEW flag, the flag of the new "Republic of the Skipetars" has made its appearance among the standards of the Entente allies along the Albanian-Macedonian front. It is the old standard of the Scandenbergs, of red with a black two-headed eagle and the little army of 750 men of the Republic of the Skipetars, composed of six companies are fighting under it at the front side by side of the Senegalese and colonial cavalry, that compose the French occupying force in this district. The new banner already has received its baptism of blood. Five hundred men of the new republic aided the French to repulse a sharp attack by Albanian tribes co-operating with the Austrian regular troops at Moscopol.

Thus far the new republic includes only the city of Koritsa with a population of 38,000 and the surrounding region comprising altogether about 90,000 inhabitants. It is located in that part of Albania in which the longing for liberty and tranquility has been most developed through repeated pillaging by neighboring Albanians and continual oppression by foreigners.

The Albanians, accustomed to summary and primitive means of administration and justice, are taking to republican ideas and the parliamentary regime, and considerable unsuspected oratorical talent has been discovered in this land where powder only has talked heretofore.

The idea of forming the Skipetar Republic is due to Colonel Descoins, commanding the French forces stationed here. When he assumed command of the post he called all the notables of the town together and talked to them in this vein:

"Skipetars, my friends, until December, 1912, you suffered under Turkish regime; in May, 1913, it was the Greek army that mistreated you; then until March, 1914, you became familiar with the inconveniences of Greek civil administration; in July, 1914, it was the noxious buffoonery of Prince de Wied that was imposed upon you; in December, 1915, it was again the Greek military occupation; in October, 1916, it was the Greek royalist civil administration, and in November, 1916, the Venezelist, followed in December by the French military occupation with Greek civil authorities. You ought to have enough of all these experiments, and I have a very simple suggestion to make to you. Why don't you govern yourselves? You are Albanians. Be Albanians, then, and nothing else. Cease all intrigues and occupy yourselves with your own self-government. French troops are here to defend the territory, that's all. Be honest men, I'll be the gendarme."

This plain talk appealed to the Skipetars who at once formed a republic with a parliament of fourteen members and the president whose tenure of office is a fortnight.

Prosperity has come in with the republic. A coal mine at Koutza is being exploited and, aided by the military authorities, the Skipetar government is preparing to develop copper and iron ore deposits, declared by engineers to be rich and extensive.

No Worry.

"Is that your mule?" asked the man going fishing.

"Yassir," said the colored man, who was sitting on a log by the road.

"Does he kick?"

"'Deed, mistuh, he ain't got no cause to kick. He's gittin' his own way right along. I'm de one dat's havin' de worry an' difficulty."

Too Much Militancy.

"Would George enlist?"

"No. I don't think he would."

"What's the reason? He comes of fighting stock."

"That's the reason. He's soured on fighting. His grandmother is a colonial dame, his aunt is a D. A. R., and his mother is a militant."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No Canadian Tea Party.

Sir J. D. Rees made the suggestion in the British House of Commons recently that as Australia had prohibited the importation of teas from China and Java, in order to help the Indian and Ceylon growers, who are at present to a large extent deprived of the home market, the Colonial Secretary might suggest to the Government of Canada the propriety of taking similar action in view of the fact that the Dominion is now importing quantities of Java leaf.

Mr. Steel Maitland, Under Secretary for the Colonies, replied: "I do not think that representations could usefully be made to the Canadian Government, and if the facts are as stated in the question the Canadian Government will doubtless duly consider the matter."

He added that during the year ended 31st March last, which was the latest period for which statistics are available, the imports of Java tea into Canada did not exceed one per cent. of the total imports of tea.

The Imperial Munitions Board has let twenty-seven contracts for ships in British Columbia. These ships are of standard design, 250 feet long, 44 feet 6 inches beam, and 25 feet draft, having a dead weight capacity of 2,800 tons. The contracts call for delivery within fifteen months.

Behind The Guns

MR. A. H. HARRIS, Special Traffic Representative of the C. P. R.

WHEN the war broke out in August 1914, the Imperial and Canadian Governments were faced by no greater problem than that of the assembling and transport overseas of the army supplies required from this country, not only for the Canadian Expeditionary Force, but also for the British and Allied Armies. Expert knowledge was required otherwise confusion, delays, and expensive operation would be inevitable, and experts with the necessary knowledge for such gigantic business were not easy to obtain. Lord Shaughnessy came to the Government's assistance by loaning Mr. A. H. Harris, Special Traffic Representative of the C. P. R., and righthandman to Vice-President Bosworth, with a large staff of traffic experts selected from various departments of the C. P. R., to act as a nucleus for the Overseas Transport Office. The work of this office has grown amazingly, so that to-day Mr. Harris directs no less than four fifths of the export trade of Canada, inland and overseas, and the best evidence that the work is being well done is the fact that the Government railway and steamship interests are all satisfied, while the general business of the country has been continued with a minimum of disturbance. In fact, the number of people in Canada who are aware of conditions is infinitesimal.

Between August 14th, 1914, and February, 1915, War Office Supplies were moved overseas in chartered vessels; between February, 1915, and date transports have been supplied by the Admiralty under an arrangement negotiated by Mr. Harris in London.

The bunkering of transports is done on this side, under the direction and supervision of the director, as is also the dry docking of vessels when necessary.

The magnitude of the work of the Department may be gauged from the fact that, exclusive of officials and representatives at Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Fort William, Toronto, Quebec, Three Rivers, Halifax, and West St. John there is a clerical staff of 45 in Montreal alone.

The number of checkers, longshoremen, and dock laborers under control of the Department at the several Canadian ports used by the Department now exceeds 1,000 men, with a pay roll of $33,000 a week.

The volume of tonnage cleared from the seaboard has been facilitated, and delays minimized from the fact that the Presidents of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways, recognizing the growth of the Transport Service, considered concentration of authority necessary to efficient direction and accordingly issued instructions to their Operating Officials that the regulation and control inland of all Imperial transport should be vested in the Director of Overseas Transport. Instructions were concurrently issued that all transport consigned to his order should be given priority of movement on the railways over all traffic, excepting passenger. As a consequence thereof, notwithstanding the volume of tonnage affected, transports have not been held for cargoes, nor has there been congestion at the Canadian seaboard, such as has been experienced at U. S. Ports.

The actual time occupied by vessels in loading at Montreal has been under 4½ days.

Canada has indeed reason to point with pride to the successful operation of its transport service due to Mr. Harris' administrative ability and the tireless energy of an efficient staff.

"IN THE MIDST OF LIFE——"

Chaplain's Words at Graveside Interrupted by Shell.

One of the strangest stories of the war is that told by Pte. J. W. Walter, who recently returned to his home on furlough from the front.

For nearly a year and a half Pte. Walter was working in the Ypres salient and on one occasion was camped in an old house with quite a body of soldiers. As the men were talking a shell struck the building, completely tearing it to pieces, and burying all the inmates in the ruins. Two were killed outright and others injured, but Pte. Walter was unhurt. That night the burial of the two men was to take place, but the bodies had to be taken over the shelled area. Pte. Walter, a young chaplain, and two or three other men in a car with the Canadian soldier driving, ventured out. A shallow grave was dug when they reached their destination, several rods away from the ruins of the old building.

Reverently the bodies were lowered, the erstwhile comrades standing close beside the grave, while supposedly safe in the distance the shelling of the enemy went on. In the silence the words of the service sounded distinctly from the chaplain's lips. He had just repeated the words: "In the midst of life we are in death," when with terrible suddenness the German fire was turned upon them. Some of the men fell, one going into the open grave. Those who were unhurt ran fast for cover. Pte. Walter seized the chaplain's arm and pushed him into the car, and with a comrade or two raced through the rain of fire till safety was reached.

Pte. Walter was himself wounded and a few weeks afterward was in an English hospital ward. One day two ladies stopped near him and one began telling of her son, a "chaplain in France," who had been standing near an open grave and had just reached the words, "In the midst of life we are in death," when the German shells began flying about them. She ended her story with the words, "The driver of their car saved my son's life."

"I said, 'I'm the man that drove,'" was Pte. Walter's remark, and he added: "After that they seemed not to be able to do enough for me."

The Term "Dominion."

The following account of the origin of the term "Dominion," as applied to Canada, is given in a letter written by Leonard P. D. Tilley, M.P.P., St. John, N.B., to Geo. S. Holmsted, K.C., Senior Registrar, High Court Division, Toronto. Mr. Tilley is a son of Sir Leonard Tilley, one of the Fathers of Confederation:

"I have your letter of a recent date asking me if I can give you any information in regard to the question as to who suggested the name 'Dominion' for the Dominion of Canada at the time of the drawing up of the British North America Act. You state that you have heard and read that my father, the late Sir S. L. Tilley, was the one who suggested this name. You are correct in this statement as far as my knowledge goes. I have heard my father state how he came to suggest it at the B.N.A. Conference. When the Fathers of Confederation were assembled discussing the terms and conditions of Confederation and the drafting of the British North America Act (this is the story as I have personally heard him tell it), there had been considerable discussion the day before and many suggestions as to what the new United Canada should be called, and no conclusion had been reached. The discussion on the name stood over until the next day. The next morning, as was Sir Leonard's custom, he read a chapter from the Bible, and that particular morning he read Psalm 72, verse 8, 'He shall have dominion also from sea to sea.' When reading verse 8 of the said Psalm, the thought occurred to him, what a splendid name to give Canada, the word 'Dominion' of Canada. When he went back to the sitting of the convention that morning he suggested the word 'Dominion,' which was agreed to, and Canada was called the 'Dominion of Canada.' This is the version of the matter as I understand it."

"God Save the King."

The above was the program at the opening rally of the Y. W. C. A. last night. The growing interest in the work was shown by the attendance which was over two hunderd. The main feature of the session was the address of Mrs. Douglas, the secretary, who explained in detail the work of the Association.

Mrs. Douglas' Address.

His Majesty King George, said Mrs. Douglas, writing of the Young Men's Christian Association, said, "A powerful agency for the development of the religious, social and physical well-being of the nation's youth."

As the Young Women's Christian Association and the Y. M. C. A. stand side by side for the development of young womanhood and young manhood. We may include the work of the Y. W. C. A. in this statement of our King. The social and religious work are very closely related in the Y. W. C. A. The personal interest of the board members, members and secretaries in meeting those whom they seek to interest is the key which opens the door to all the activities for promoting helpfulness and growth into higher living.

Again, Lord Derby, in speaking of the Association, has said: "The Association is invaluable in peace time. It is indispensable in war time."

Never before in the history of the world has there been a greater need for a strong, true, pure manhood, and any work which helps to make life truer and better is a plan of God. "God has a plan for every human life" (whether it is worked out or not). God's plans, like lilies pure and white, unfold. We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart. Time will reveal the calyxes of God. Therefore, the Y. W. C. A., with its four-fold aim to develop along spiritual, social, physical and intellectual lines, is a means to be used by God for the development of a truer, better womanhood. True, the Association is given to human minds to plan and human hands to handle, and often there may be the lack of the larger vision as to needs and possibilities. However, back of all is what the Association stands for.

To this end there is the community and the Association, each giving and receiving. The Association receives from the community membership, contributions, voluntary service, moral support. The Association contributes to the community classes along the four-fold development—Bible classes, social clubs, physical work (gymnasium, swimming pool), health talks (first aid, home nursing), literature clubs, personal work. In fact, a better womanhood.

And at the beginning of our year's work of 1917-18, filled as it will be with privilege and opportunity, may each department be welded into a perfect whole. May each member of the board, committees, members, secretaries and all volunteer workers not forget that any bit of service is not too small or undertaking too large. May all go forward with a larger vision and stronger faith.

Membership Privileges.

Mrs. Douglas explained that the membership privileges included the use of the library, attendance at socials, membership in clubs, and enrolment in Bible and literature classes. All girls are invited to enjoy a song service after church Sunday evenings from 8:30 to 9:30. Rev. A. J. Thomas wil conduct a course of twelve lessons on The Life of Christ on Thursday evenings.

The world's week of prayer for the Y. W. C. A. will be observed from November 11 to 17. The swimming pool will soon be completed, and a schedule of gymnasium classes has been arranged.

During the coming season Dr. G. S. Cameron will give instruction in first aid to the injured, and Miss Winnifred Parker wil conduct private classes in vocal culture, elocution, interpretation and dramatic art.

AT THE CHILDREN'S SHELTER.

One Ward of the Society Is Saved From Blindness.

A little girl who was placed by the Children's Aid Society with a farmer was regarded by her new guardian as both forward and stupid. Agent Powell had her brought to the city and her eyes examined by an expert. It was found that the child was almost totally blind, and this defect of vision accounted for her peculiarities.

The girl has been returned to the shelter and will be kept there until her eyesight is restored by an operation, if such is found necessary.

There have been five or six operations at the Shelter recently, all performed by local physicians free of charge. The members of the Society and Agent Powell are certainly doing everything humanly possible for their charges.

The annual Tag Day for the Society will be held next Saturday.

HAD LIQUOR AT LINDSAY FAIR

CITIZZEN OF BRECHIN ASSESSED $200 FOR CARRYING ALCOHOLIC DRINK.

At Lindsay on Thursday Inspector Thornbury prosecuted a citizen of Brechin for having been found with liquor on his person at the Lindsay Fair. The case came up before Police Magistrate Moore.

It appears that the person in question paid a visit to Lindsay Fair, and knowing that it would be impossible to procure the wherewithal to quench his thirst in that town, he brought a sample with him. Imbibing too freely, his condition attracted the attention of the inspector, who had him summoned.

A fine of $200 was imposed, together with costs of $4.25, which the visitor paid forthwith.

DRUNK FINED $10

Only Drank Two Bottles of 2½ Per Cent Beer—Assisted By Bartender

A young man was fined at the police court this morning for having been found in George street at 12.20 this morning in an intoxicated condition.

In the witness box, accused swore that all the liquor he drank last night was two bottles of 2½ per cent beer, assisted by the bartender of a local hotel. He couldn't imagine how he became intoxicated, and contended that something stronger than the liquor authorised by law must have been put in his drink. He did not know the name of bartender who served and drank with him.

Don't Let a Pound of Food Rot on the Ground.

REDUCE YOUR GROCERY BILL.

Here Are the Points You Need to Know About Canning Vegetables and Fruits For the Wintry Days Ahead of Us All In Wartime.

[Prepared by National Emergency Food Garden Commission.]

Select sound vegetables and fruit. If possible, can them the same day they are picked. Wash clean and prepare them.

Have ready on the stove a can or pail of boiling water.

Place the vegetables or fruits in cheesecloth or in some other porous receptacle—a wire basket is excellent—for dipping and blanching them in boiling water.

Put them whole into the boiling water. After the water begins to boil begin to count the blanching time.

The blanching time varies from one to twenty minutes, according to the vegetable or fruit. When the blanching is complete remove the vegetables or fruits from the boiling water and plunge them a number of times into cold water to harden the pulp and check the flow of coloring matter. Do not allow to stand in cold water.

The containers should be thoroughly clean. It is not necessary to sterilize them in steam or boiling water before filling them, for the reason that in the cold pack process both the insides of containers and the contents are sterilized. The jars should be heated before the cold product is put in them

Pack the product into the containers, leaving about a quarter of an inch of space at the top.

With vegetables add one level teaspoonful of salt to each quart container and fill with boiling water. With fruits use sirups.

With a glass jar always use a new rubber. Test the rubber by stretching or turning inside out. Fit on the rubber and put the lid in place. If the container has a screw, turn as hard as possible, but use only the thumb and little finger in tightening it. This makes it possible for steam generated within to escape and prevents breakage. If a glass top jar is used, snap the top bail only, leaving the lower bail loose during sterilization. Tin cans should be completely sealed.

Place the filled and capped containers on the rack in the sterilizer. If the homemade or commercial hot water bath outfit is used some authorities insist that enough water should be in the boiler to come at least one inch above the tops of the containers and that the water in boiling out should never be allowed to drop to the level of these tops. Begin to count processing time when the water begins to boil

At the end of the sterilizing period remove the containers from the sterilizer. Fasten covers on tightly at once; tip each container over to test for leakage, and store. Be sure that no draft is allowed to blow on glass jars, as it may cause breaking

If jars are to be stored where there is strong light, wrap them in paper, preferably brown, as light will fade the color of products canned in glass jars and sometimes ruin food value.

THE DANGER OF DEALING IN WORTHLESS CHEQUES

Times Have Changed Since Eighteen Years Ago When the Chief Local Currency Was Orders on Banks and Groceres.

Some 18 years ago the issue of an cheque for which there were no funds was by no means a common occurence in Peterborough. It is true the issuers had an "account" in some bank, but the fact remains that the "no funds" stamp was more freely used in the banks then than now. At that time quite a large number of employes would have been surprised to have been paid regularly every week, and in cash. The custom was an order for groceries and so forth, with a dollar or so for tobacco and refreshments. In fact some workmen found it advantageous to keep a set of books as tally on their account with their employer.

Mulholland and Roper then conducted a private banking house, corner of George and Hunter streets, where cheques galore were discounted, and they did a thriving business. It was not unusual for them to have to hold some cheques quite a few days until funds accumulated at their issuer's bankers. In those days the cash basis of business transactions had not been introduced, credit and trading prevailed to a large extent and the doubtful cheque (on Saturday evenings especially) freely resorted to. Of course the cheques were invariably met some time, (although more than one has been kept as a souvenir). Their issuers were honest enough, but slip-shod in business methods.

A short time ago a citizen paid one of his men with a cheque on a Saturday evening, the man cashed it in a business house, and the accommodator presented it at the issuer's bank the following Wednesday, when it was decorated with the "no funds" stamp. On interviewing the delinquent, he immediately went out and borrowed the cash. The man is honest enough, in fact substantial and has an "account in a bank;, but the "account" sometimes maybe has him in an embarrasing position.

Last Monday A. E. Stevens cashed a cheque in a store after banking hours. There were no funds to meet it and he was sent up for trial on a charge of fraud. His defence was that his brother-in-law had promised to deposit funds for him in that bank by Saturday morning, and had failed to do so. On Monday morning the brother-in-law did open an "account" for Stevens, but he knowing on Saturday night that the latter was under arrest. The story looked "fishy."

What a mighty difference a "little account" will apparently make, let it be good, bad or indifferent. Eighteen years ago, and in the instance quoted even today, a man issuing a cheque on a bank in which his "account" is overdrawn, enjoys the benefit of the doubt—he had forgotten there were no funds, subsequently pays up, and there is no trouble. But for the man who does not carry an "account" a cheque is a dangerous document to play with. There is no benefit of the doubt for him, even though he had intended to have an account or subsequently finds funds with which to redeem his worthless bit of paper.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Edifice Tastefully Decorated With Fruits of the Earth---Eloquent Sermon by Rev. J. A. Elliott of Port Hope.

The sublime service of harvest thanksgiving at All Saints' church last night united the large congregation in an impressive prayer of praise and gratitude to God for the abundant crops the past season has produced under His providence.

In the simple decorations befitting the occasion there was an insinuating reminder of the fields and gardens that have yielded up their fruits with lavish hand at a time when the world's stores have rarely been so depleted. Miniature sheaves of grain, brightened with the green leaves and the red berries of the mountain ash marked the pews, and the lights on the side walls assumed a new and softer radiance as they animated the varied colours of the autumn foliage that was wreathed about them. Fall corn stalks with flying pennants called up scenes of luxuriant growth, a symbol of a harvest which in its richness will not soon be forgotten. And in the chancel the late flowers, tastefully arranged, offered an incense the more useful produce could not give. Under these visual influences the words of the 104th psalm, "The earth is full of Thy riches," rang with reality. The spirit of the harvest was a real presence that inspired the service with a lively feeling of gratitude beautifully expressed in the hymns, the prayers and the sermon. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. B. Grobb. and Rev. James A. Elliott, M.A., of Port Hope, preached the sermon which was particularly appropriate to the festival.

"The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved," Jeremiah, 8:20. Once a year, by a proclamation of the Governor-General, we are called upon as a people to lift our hearts in thankfulness for the completion of another harvest. In doing so we are brought to realize that another summer is ended, and the question comes to us whether we are progressing or not along the path that leads to salvation. Jeremiah had to say many impalatable things and to denounce the mistakes of his people. Regarded as a soured pessimist he was really an optimist about the power to save them if they would but look in the right direction and to the proper sources. One would imagine that the business man who had prospered in his affairs and the farmer with his crops would be grateful to God who had so arranged the world that these things had come about in so wonderful a way. But in the heart of unregenerate man there is often a feeling that his success has been due to his own efforts, to his diligence and to his labour. But the vast multitude of people have a sense of gratitude to God and a growing appreciation of the spirit universe. When man accomplishes great achievebents in science there is a sense of awe of man's approach to God. Today men are pushing science further and further and there is a consciousenss of the wisdom and love of God behind these things. It is recognized that they existed all the time, but had they been given to us they would not have been appreciated. The better way seems to be through our own progress and the partnership we thus form with God.

The recent weather that accompanied the passing summer is more keenly appreciated by the remembrance of the changes of heat and cold, cloud and storm of the past year. In a similar manner our hopes and fears our alterations of tribulations and comforts, of failure and success, bring us to deeper dependence upon God and awaken stronger feelings of gratitude.

"THE SKY PILOT"

Story of the Play

"The Sky Pilot," the three-act play by Frank Mandel and George H Brennan, dramatized from two of Ralph Connor's best known novels, "The Sky Pilot" and "Black Rock," will be presented at "The Grand" on Thanksgiving Day, Monday, Oct. 8, for two performances. The play carries Gwen through some of her struggles, especially her episodes with Idaho Jack and Broncho Bill, describes her fall from her pinto, her weeks of rebellion, and her final acceptance of fate. The play opens with a scene in the Stopping Place where Bruce Mavor meets his death. Idaho Jack escapes killing. The Duke is under suspicion of having indirectly brought Bruce to his untimely end, and Gwen defies the Pilot.

In the second act, before the Old Timer's cabin, the ranchmen are preparing for a round-up of the cattle thieves, and Idaho Jack's capture is imminent. To save him Gwen takes her mad ride through the Swan Creek canyon, is thrown from her pony, and is brought back in the arms of Broncho Bill, a cripple. Her plea for mercy saves Idaho Jack from hanging at the hands of the cowboys, and the Pilot, seeking to offer her consolation in her hour of pain, has her defiance flung at him for the second time.

The last act is at Gwen's canyon, looking toward the high Mountain of the Holy Cross. Gwen, spent with pain, faces the doctor's verdict that she will never walk or ride her pinto again. The Pilot comes. This time Gwen does not defy him. Then, at last, the truth dawns upon her that the Pilot has brought something into her life which she can never part from, and the canyon flowers of "meekness, gentleness and self-control," of which he tells her, take root in her heart, now no longer rebellious, and blossom there.

Scenically, the production is said to be unusually fine. The thunder and lightning storm in the first act is said to be one of the most realistic the stage has known. The picture at the end of the play is effective, with the sunset light touching the Mountain of the Holy Cross and turning the cross to gold, while a great crimson glow spreads over the heavens.

An exceptional cast of stellar quality interprets the familiar Ralph Connor characters. Brandon Tynan plays the Pilot, Regina Wallace is Gwen, Ernest Anderson is seen as Broncho Bill, Eddie Heron as Hi Kendall, Eliza Frederic as Mrs. Mavor, Isabelle Winlocke as Ponka, Joseph Lawrence as Bruce Mavor, and Louis Leon Hall as The Duke. Other New York favorites in the company are Harry D. Southard, Edwin Caldwell, Thomas Wall and Edward Broadmley. R. REID ATTENDS MEETING OF POSTMEN IN TORONTO

Tells Carriers in That City That Members of the Craft in Peterboro Do Not Get Fair Deal on Street Cars--More Pay Asked for

The Peterborough letter carriers were represented by R. Reid at a meeting of Toronto carriers last night. Mr. Reid made a brief address on the conditions prevailing in this city and the immediate action that was necessary by officials in order to put thigns on an even basis. "We have not the privilege of riding free on the street cars, as you men have here in Toronto," he stated, "and the number of times we find it necessary to use the cars far exceeds the car ticket allowance that we receive. This is the chief thing that the carriers of Peterborough would like to see remedied."

The question of holidays was also brought up, some of the men claiming that a few managed to get the three weeks allowed them by the government, but the majority only received two weeks. Some of the men were of the opinion that if they could not have the three weeks' holidays they should have the extra week's salary.

The following resolution, moved by A. McMordie, seconded by E. F. Lowery, was unanimously adopted:

Allowance Insufficient.

"Resolved that we, the letter carriers, porters and other grade employes of the Toronto postoffice, in meeting assembled, most emphatically express our disappointment at the totally inadequate allowance of $1.68 per week, handed out to us by the Government of Canada as compensation to meet the increased cost of living, and it be further resolved that we call the attention of the public that figures issued by the labor department of the government show that the cost of living, as per their August report, has increased over forty-seven per cent during the past three years, and that in industrial employment there has been corresponding increases in wages of four, five, and six dollars per week, and

"Whereas we have asked the government to grant us an increase of $20 a month to meet the present cost of living, which we believe is neither unreasonable nor unpatriotic. That after waiting patiently for over 12 months the allowance handed out to us creates the impression that those in authority and drawing large salaries do not know, and do not care, how the workers exist, and it be further resolved that this meeting instruct its executive officers to make application to the and the general attitude of the men minister of labor for an arbitration board on the matter of an adequate increase under the Industrial Disputes Act."

Judging from the speeches made they are determined to see the thing through.

It was stated that some of the men's wives were forced to go out or take in work in order to help make both ends meet, and that some of the men were forced to work every night in the week as well as doing day duty, and mention was made of the men being forced to work on Saturday afternoons of the two months that are allowed them with this half-holiday.

CARTER, THE WIZARD, DOES MYSTIC STUNTS AT GRAND

Best Exhibition of Occult Art Ever Given in Peterboro—Lady With Him Reveals Hidden Secrets—A Live Lion on the Stage.

The performance at The Grand Opera House last night by the Great Magician Carter was perhaps the most interesting of its kind ever seen in Peterborough. Carter is deserving of the splendid reputation he bears and all those who failed to her him last night should not miss the opportunity of hearing him tonight. His tricks were certainly clever and he is very polished not only in his speech but also in his fine stage manner and presence.

The first part of his program consisted of mystifying tricks with cards. "The astral hand" and his "inexhaustible bottle." The astral hand, carved from a piece of wood was placed on a glass support and in a weird manner tapped in answer to [illegible] questions. Mr. Carter obtained several rings from ladies in the audience and after pounding them with a hammer placed them in his magic revolver and shot them into a series of boxes across the stage. The rings were each found tied to a flower and were returned in perfect order. From his inexhaustible bottle he dispensed champagne, water, milk etc. and then after breaking it brought forth a live guinea pig with one of the ladies rings neatly tied about his neck. This brough forth rounds of applause as many people had taken a drink from the same bottle. At least that is the way it appeared.

Miss Corrine Carter showed wonderful powers in mental telepathy. Many people were asked to write their names on slips of paper and blindfolded from the stage she immediately spoke the names. People were asked to think of matters they were interested in and Miss Carter told them in a manner that was almost supernatural. She told about friends at the front—about trips people were to [illegible] and many other matters which were highly interesting and exciting.

The Lion's Bride was very thrilling. A real live lion in a great cage on the stage was seen in this act. The scene is laid in India where the Rajah, who is spurned by a beautiful maiden, throws her into the cage with the lion. How the Young Prince, who has been asked by her father to save her appears in the cage in the garb of the lion and rescues her is mystifying indeed. This act brought rounds of applause and proved the most sensational of the evening.

Mr. Carter will again give his performance this evening.

Anyone with a dark secret in his possession had better not venture within the mental radius of Miss Carter or if he does he will consult his own safety by banishing is from his mind for to her all minds are so many open books. She can tell your age if you merely happen to think of your own birthday. She as an authority on who gets or fails to get position outside of the city. The man who writes anonymous letters of a personal nature in a local contemporary may hide his identity from his victims, but not from Miss Carter. Even aldermanic aspirations are no puzzle to this exponent of black magic.

HARD COAL IN NEW BRUNSWICK

PROSPECTOR FOR SILVER CLAIMS TO HAVE FOUND BLACK DIAMONDS.

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 29.—Anthracite coal has been discovered fifty miles from this city. Captain Russell Bellaney of New York City, a student and geologist, secured a license from the New Brunswick Government to explore for silver, which he believed was to be found in the Salmon River district of Queen's county. His investigations brought him to a strata which proved to be coal very closely resembling the anthracite of the Pennsylvania fields. Tests made showed it to produce an intense heat, and to be almost odorless and clinkerless. It ignites quickly and burns slowly. It is estimated conservatively that there is at least a half-million tons in sight.

Boys Fined $10 Each For Throwing Stones

A couple of boys from the west end were fined $10 each in the police court this morning for breaking street lights with stones. Stone-throwing at arc and incondescent lamps seems to be a favorite pastime these days, judging from the number of lamps that are found broken, and the authorities are determined to put a stop to it. The boys' fathers paid the fines.

Belgian Children Slowly Starving!

A bowl of soup and a slice of bread is issued daily to the destitute women and children of Belgium. This will just about keep body and soul together in a grown person. But for a little, growing child—where is the material in this ration for bone and muscle forming?

Canning Situation is Not Satisfactory

HOGS AND BUTTER ADVANCE — GROCERS' SUPPLIES STATIONARY.

THE MARKET AT A GLANCE

In no line of grocers' supplies has there been any very notable changes during the past week. The season is usually considered a dull one by the trade, and certainly it has given no sensational demonstrations during the past week. Changes there have been, but these have been of a limited character. Rice has shown a stronger feeling, and is showing advances on practically all markets and tapioca is quoted as very scarce. Peanuts, too, are scarce and have advanced two cents. The report of the canning situation is far from satisfactory. Beans, the latest commodity to be reported, are only a 12½ per cent. pack, which will leave large margins in all orders. Tomato and corn prospects are far from encouraging, while fruits also are not expected to come near a full pack. Coffee shows an easier feeling on the primary markets, but this feeling is more or less offset by increasing freight rates, so that little decline in prices is to be expected. Tea on the other hand is decidedly stronger and might show an advance at almost any time.

Hogs showed an advance during the week, as did butter; indeed the market for this commodity is extremely strong, though from just what source the demand springs, the trade has not been able to fathom. Eggs have been plentiful during the week, and consequently there has been no change in price. The general feeling, however, is that an advance is probable, and that in the not very distant future. Honey has advanced in price, and the end of the advances is not yet in sight. The supply is exceedingly short and the demand more than ordinarily good.

Potatoes during the week have been in good supply and ranged much lower still. Fruit has been plentiful during the week, especially in the softer fruits.

Fish has been scarce with a tendency to stronger prices, though halibut is the only variety that actually shows an advance. Business during the week in all lines has been reported uniformly good.

TUB FROCKS.

How to Wash Them Without Running Their Colors.

When washing colored summer frocks at home remember these hints:

To prevent the color running add to the rinsing water a little vinegar for mauve or heliotrope, ox gall for brown, alum for green, methylated spirits for all shades of lemon or yellow and salt for blue.

A handful of salt in the rinsing water nearly always acts as a preservative for any shade or color.

Brown holland frocks always present a better appearance if washed in bran water without any soap being used. Boil a pound of bran in two quarts of clean warm water and wash the dress in as many changes of water as necessary.

Rinse through cold water and when half dry iron on the wrong side with a hot iron.

Silk summer blouses want washing quickly and carefully, one at a time. Do not wring the blouses, but squeeze through two bowls of soapsuds, then rinse through clear warm water. Pale colored silks improve by being given a second rinsing through blue water. Roll in a towel and iron before quite dry with a fairly hot iron, keeping a piece of muslin between the silk and the iron. A good tip is this latter. Many home laundresses ruin silk blouses, making them yellow, by washing in very hot water.

TWO STARS IN THE WORLD SERIES

OSCAR FLESCH.

(Chicago White Sox Centerfielder.)

He is only 23 years old, and never wore major league spikes before 1915, yet he is the heaviest hitter of the White Sox crew.

In spite of his comparative inexperience, however, he is expected to supply the Big Punch in the White Sox attack on the series. This kid is Happy Felsch, the free-swinging centerfielder of Comiskey's club.

Felsch became a pro. ball player through chance. He is a carpenter by trade, a wrestler by inlination, and a ball-player by profession and through force of circumstances. When he was 18 years old he played semi-pro ball in the Milwaukee City League as a recreation, but his real ambition was to be a professional wrestler. About the time he was considering an offer to appear in a mat bout, a representative of the Fond du Lac club saw him crack out four hits in one game, and offered him a basebal contract. That started Felsch on his professional diamond career, and he has been so busy pasting the pill ever since that he hasn't had time to even think of grabbing off the wrestling championship.

"Happy" is broad-shouldered, blonde, good-natured, husky, and a natural batter. He has a good throwing arm, and is a fast, dependable fielder. Outhitting the famous Jackson and the brilliant Collins, he has hit over .300 most of the season, and is one of the diamond sensations of the year.

At the suggestion of Comiskey "Pants" Rowland made a special trip to Milwaukee in 1914 to look Felsch over, and he advised the Old Roman to grab this kid quickly. His first year with the Sox, "Hap" hit for .248, and pilfered 16 bases. Last season he hit .301 and has been the real "punch" of the sox attack all this season.

This boy is a natural-born ball player if there ever was one. He is game and determined, tries for everything, stands up to the plate well, and steps in to meet the ball with lots of confidence.

Milwaukee, Wis., is the birthplace of Felsch. He was born there in 1894, attended the public schools, and was apprenticed to the carpenter trade. He is slightly over 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs about 165 pounds.

"Hap" has five brothers, all amateur ball players, who will be among the thousands of White Sox rooters when the series starts. But even they will take no more pride in the series deeds of Felsch than will Clarence Rowland the White Sox boss, who personally picked this slugger from the bush.

BENNY KAUFF.

(Centerfielder of the Giants.)

The dynamite of the Giants' batting order, as in the case of the White Sox, is injected by the centerfielder. Bashful Bennie Kauff, the erstwhile Ty Cobb of the Feds, is the heaviest hitter of the Clan McGraw.

Ben has hit over .300 most of the current season, and his specialty is extra-base wallops. This chunky little fielder is a slugger pure and simple. He loves to tear the cover off the ball, and his creed is "pickle the pill." There isn't a more dangerous man in his league in a pinch, and it will be interesting to watch how he compares with Felsch in the Series scramble.

The outstanding characteristic of Kauff is his gameness and persistency. He is a chesty, self-confident kid, and his intense belief in his own ability was what chiefly attracted McGraw.

Thirty thousand dollars, the amount Kauff brought when sold by the Feds, is the highest cash price ever paid for a New York player. This fact, and his previous sensational playing as the Cobb of the outlaw circuit, caused Bennie to be press-agent to the skies, and he went to the Giants under a big handicap in consequence. Everything was expected of him, and in trying to live up to his extravagant reputation he became too anxious to make good, and hit for only .264. This year, however, he has come into his own, and has proved himself to be a normal .300 hitter.

Kauff, who was born in Middleport, O., January 5, 1891, was a coal miner before he became a professional ball player. He worked in the mines all day and played amateur ball in his leisure time. The first baseball money he ever earned was all of two dollars for playing in the outfield with a Keystone, O., semi-pro club one Saturday afternoon.

Parkersburg started Bennie on his professional career in 1910. He pitched a few games, at which he wasn't a success, and then, playing in the outfield, he burned up the league. In 101 games he hit .417, and stole 87 bases.

The Yankees tried him the next year, but released him to Bridgeport, where he stole 48 bases and hit .294. In 1912 the Yankees tried him again, and though Bennie hit .378 in the twelve games he played, he was again released, this time to Rochester.

Kauff is probably the only player ever released after hitting over .375 in his trial. He is an awkward, but effective, fielder, covers lots of ground, and is a streak on the bases. Last year he stole 40 sacks, although hitting only .264.

ENGLISH SET FASHION OF FOUR-MILE ROWING

Crews On This Side Of Water Adopted The Oxford Distance—Canadian Coach's Narrative

Jim Ten Eyck, senior, former coach of the Ottawa Rowing Club, tells in the Syracusan how colleges came to row four miles. He says: "One day a couple of English oarsmen started out for a little row on the Thames," writes Ten Eyck. "One of them said to the other, 'Old chap, I'll row you from Putney to the ship at Mayferes and when we get there we'll have a couple of beers.' And so they each started out in their sculls, and when they reached Mayferes they went to a roadhouse there and had refreshments. Other old time oarsmen followed their example and it became a favorite pull. When Oxford and Cambridge took up rowing they followed the old men and rowed from Putney to Mayferes. You know how hard it is to change an Englishman once he gets into a rut.

Imitated

"Well, it so happened that the distance from Putney to Mayferes was four miles and three hundred yards. When Yale and Harvard took up rowing they looked over the ocean and saw that Oxford rowed about four miles, so they decided that it was the proper distance and began rowing that distance over here. But as a matter of fact the distance here has not always been four miles. The first race was little more than one mile and a half. The later races were on small lakes and covered only a fraction of four miles. When the crews got on larger bodies of water they adopted the English four mile course. There is no other reason why they should row four miles.

Not Injurious

"I believe that it is unnecessary to row four miles, but it does not hurt a man to row four miles any more than it does a mile and a half. If he is in condition to row he will not feel the difference. We are training our men for that distance. There is no reason why an oarsman should fall in a boat. We pick our men from those who can row four miles and they must have the build and condition to do it."

The tug W. H. Murray was sunk in Halifax harbor by an incoming steamer during a fog and Pilot John Brown was picked up unconscious, dying shortly afterwards.

COMISKEY'S INVENTION

Refused To Stay Glued to Bag—New Style Fielding Bothered the Umpire

"Why don't you go ahead and play?" The insistent question came from a player whose nervousness caused him to pace the short distance then existing between the grandstand and the home plate. The umpire, however, was adamant.

"I'm waiting for that fellow over there, that fellow who is supposed to play first base, to take his place," he replied calmly. That fellow was Charles A. Comiskey, later owner of the Chicago White Sox, and at that time, back in the early eighties, he was playing with the St. Louis Browns. The umpire was Honest John Kelly, who in those days was quite famous in his chosen profession, although he was not at that time acquainted with Comiskey.

The catcher then had to explain; Comiskey, he said, had simply discovered a new way of playing first base, meaning that he did not hug the bag as it was customary to do in those days and that he somehow usually managed to beat the runners out. In case, however, the race became too warm Comiskey required his pitcher to cover first base; he would field the ball and throw to the pitcher as it is now done. It was rather difficult piece of news for the umpire to absorb; yet nevertheless the game proceeded, and thus began the practice of the basemen abandoning the sacks when they were in the field.

Shortstops Bat Poorly

He is a great fielder but he cannot hit. The above applies to almost all present day shortstops, though why it should be true has not been answered. It is not unusual to see a first baseman or a third baseman hit in the .300 class, but for some unknown reason shortstops of to-day hardly rank as fair hitters. Most of them are so light on the attack that they are known as weak batsmen.

"Jawn" And The Enemy

John Genzel, who reads the war news before looking at the sporting page, was once a military hero himself. He served under Dole in the revolution in Hawaii and [illegible] one night John was on sentry duty outside a house occupied by high officers. He was stationed near a gateway and was standing under a cocoa palm when a ripe nut fell and burst open on the stone walk. It is related that John shot it three times before the pieces ceased bounding.

The tactical scheme for the trek of troops from Camp Borden to Toronto, starting October 8, has been worked otu.

Bananas Sustain Life.

It is admitted that the banana will sustain human life, though naturally it is not well to subsist on any one food. One may not deny, however, that bananas are most useful. In all tropical countries they form a staple article of food for the poor. Dried bananas are a great branch of trade in Costa Rica, and, with their black shrivelled skins and flavor of smoked ham or spoiled fish, are as highly relished by the natives as disliked by most Americans.

There are different varieties of the fruit and they are used in various ways—fresh, dried, fried, boiled, etc. In less than a year after planting the fruit may sometimes be gathered.

It is historically stated that the banana is not indigenous to the American continent, but was brought over by a Spanish friar, first to Santo Domingo. If so, its adopted country agrees with it far better than its native land; but there are many proofs that it did exist on this hemisphere long before the sixteenth century, and that the Spaniards did no more than increase the number of indigenous species.

The American tropics not only produce by far the largest percentage of bananas grown, but they are of the finest quality, best tasting and looking.

Over twelve hundred aliens are applying for naturalization at Boston this year.

"Our Day" to be Held October 18th

CANADIAN RED CROSS TO MAKE AN APPEAL FOR BRITISH BRANCH.

The Canadian Red Cross, in response to an appeal of the British Red Cross will on "Our Day", Oct. 18, open a campaign throughout the Dominion for funds which will be used in carrying on the work of caring for the wounded of the British fighting forces. In Ontario the campaign will be conducted by the organization of resources committee, while in the other provinces of the Dominion special committees have been appointed under the leadership of the lieutenant-governors, which will make the appeal and carry on the campaign.

The heavy fighting of the present summer has largely increased the number of the casualties in the British armies, with the result that the British Red Cross Society is called upon to expend enormous sums of money. The total expenditure for the first year of the war to Oct. 20, 1915, was approximately $8,500,000. For the second year it was slightly over $9,000,000. Today it is approximately $300,000 a week, or $16,000,000 a year. During 1916 the entire British Empire contributed voluntarily £1,099,611, of which Canada gave more than one-third, about £400,000. Ontario's contribution was approximately one-third of the total, being £345,000, or $1,680,000 and this magnificent response has aroused the admiration of Britishers throughout the world.

The fewer creditors a man has, the easier it is for him to look the world in the face.

CANON CORNISH ACCEPTS CALL

WILL RESUME CHARGE OF ST. JOHN'S PARISH ON OCT. 15 UNTIL AFTER THE WAR.

It is now definitely settled that Rev. Canon Cornish will resume charge of St. John's Church parish for the remainder of the time Canon Davidson, the rector, is serving abroad as military chaplain. Canon Cornish will reach Peterborough from Yorkton, Saskatchewan, on October 15th.

From the moment word was received that the rev. gentleman was anxious to secure a parish in Ontario, Wardens Johnston and Holloway felt confident he would return to St. John's if invited. His return wire to one from Bishop Sweeney extending that invitation was practically an acceptance of the opportunity to return and remain here until Canon Davidson is freed from his military duties. However, as the reverend gentleman in his telegram said he was writing the wardens awaited the promised letter before definitely announcing his re-engagement. Warden W. F. Johnston received that communication today, giving Canon Cornish's decision to return to Peterborough, and the date for his arrival.

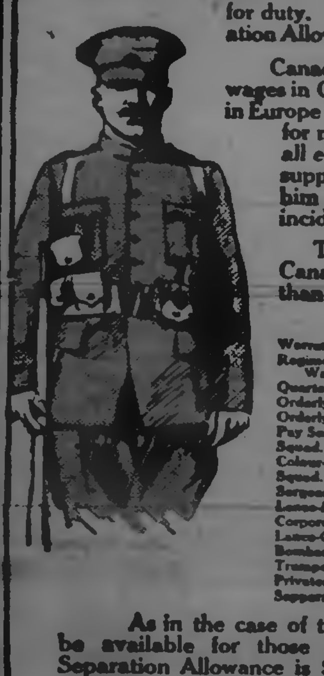
Pay Will Be The Same

Men selected under the Military Service Act will receive the same pay as those now on active service receive. Pay will start from the time a man reports for duty. Money from the Patriotic Fund and Separation Allowance will also be available for selected men.



Canadian soldiers are well paid. The fact that wages in Canada are generally higher than those paid in Europe is recognized in the system of remuneration for men on active service. Clothing and all equipment in addition to food is also supplied to the Canadian soldier, leaving him with no expense except personal incidentals.

The rate of pay for men in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, other than commissioned officers, is as follows:

	Pay	Field Allowance
Warrant Officers	$2.00	30 cts.
Regimental Sergt.-Major, if not a Warrant Officer	1.85	20 "
Quartermaster-Sergeants	1.80	20 "
Orderly Room Clerks	1.50	20 "
Orderly Room Sergeants	1.50	20 "
Pay Sergeants	1.50	20 "
Squad., Batt., or Co. Sergt-Major	1.60	20 "
Colour-Sergeant or Staff-Sergeant	1.60	20 "
Squad., Batt., or Co. Q.M.S.	1.50	20 "
Sergeants	1.35	15 "
Lance-Sergeants	1.15	15 "
Corporals	1.10	10 "
Lance-Corporals	1.05	10 "
Bombardiers, or Second Corporals	1.05	10 "
Trumpeters, Buglers, and Drummers	1.00	10 "
Privates, Gunners, Drivers	1.00	10 "
Sappers, Batmen, etc.	1.00	10 "

As in the case of those already gone overseas, Separation Allowances will be available for those dependent for livelihood upon selected men. The Separation Allowance is $20.00 per month for the rank and file, $25.00 for sergeants and staff-sergeants and $30.00 for warrant officers. The experience is that many men can afford to assign half their pay to dependents, in addition.

A considerable number of men who have enlisted in the Canadian forces have found themselves better off under the army rate of pay, which is granted in addition to board, lodging, clothing, equipment, transportation, etc., than they were while in civilian positions. Their wants are provided for, and they receive a steady addition to the bank account each month.

Issued by
The Military Service Council.

LAURIER TO RETIRE

Carvell May Take His Place as Liberal Leader

Ottawa, Sept. 29.— With dissolution pending and a general election scheduled for the not distant future, the undercurrent of gossip as to the possible retirement of Sir Wilfrid Laurier from the leadership of the Liberal party, is again coming to the surface. If he should step down it would be to become leader of the Quebec section of the party, rather than to entirely abandon politics. Frank B. Carvell, member for Carleton, N.B., is not only "prominently mentioned" as successor, but he is practically the only one mentioned.

THE PASSING OF THE ARC LAMPS

As will be seen by a council meeting report, the days of the old arc lamps that have for years illuminated our streets, are numbered. That they have long outlined their usefulness, has been evident to any observant person for years.

How many remember the time when they first shed their brilliant beams on the streets of Peterboro? Electricity, as a lighting agency, has only come into commercial use within the memory of the middle aged person, though as a scientific novelty it was known for many years previously.

Thirty-three Years Ago

It was on May 23rd, 1884, (33 years ago) that the "juice" was first turned on the portion of the lighting system installed on George street. The power house that supplied the current, if memory serves, was a small frame structure on tthe Ashburnham side of the old Dickson dam, an old wooden office that preceded the present concrete dom of the Hydroalic Power Co. The illumination experts of those early days were of the opinion that the higher the light was placed the better, and the lamps were placed on the tops of the highest masts that could be obtained, necessitating some strenuous climbing for the man who had daily to change the carbons.

The old lamps did service for many years, and their illuminating powers were good, and sufficient for all purposes. Of late years their rays have become feeble, and their staying powers uncertain. This together with the difficulties of obtaining carbons, etc., has brought the decision to place them on the scrap heap, and install a more up-to-date system.

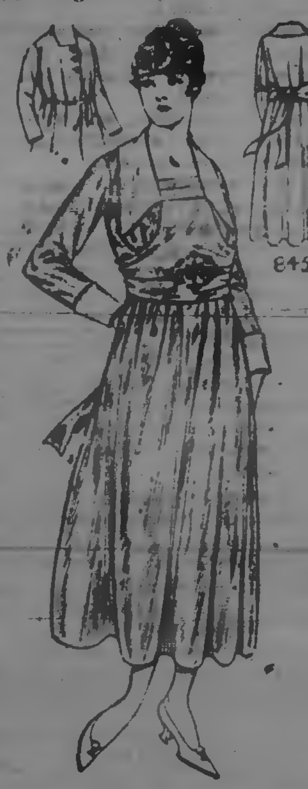
A Memorable Year

The year 1884, besides seeing the inaugurations of the street lighting system by electricity (previous to that gas being used) was also a memorable year, in local railway activities. In the spring of that year, the first train on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, now the C. P. R. crossed over the river, and a regular two trains-each-way-service was given between Toronto and Montreal, beginning in June of that year.

The line to Omemee was then also under construction, and trains begun running to Lindsay over what was known as the Missing Link in the fall of that year. Regular passenger service was not inaugurated, however, until the following spring, owing to the bad condition of the track at what was known as the "Sink Hole", a swampy stretch of line about three miles west of Jackson Park.

LADY'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.



Satin will be the smartest material to use for this dress for early fall wear, either in blue or any of the fashionable shades of brown, with collar and cuffs of white satin. There is a draped bib section which extends up in front as far as the square neck. It is drawn softly toward the underarms, where it joins the sash ends, which tie in a loose knot. Folds of Georgette crêpe soften the outline of the neck. The collar is in the new shape rather narrow at the back and having deep points at the front. The two gored skirt is gathered slightly all around to the regulation waist line.

The dress pattern, No. 8455, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 inches bust measure. Width at the lower edge of skirt is 2½ yards. The 36 inch size requires 5⅛ yards 36 inch material and ⅝ yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

New York police are rounding up alien enemies who have violated their permits by entering barred zones. About two hundred Germans are said to be affected.

WOULD AMEND MARRIAGE LAW

W. C. T. U. BELIEVE NONE BUT THE PERFECT SHOULD WED.

Cornwall, Sept. 29.—The most important action which the Ontario W. C.T.U. convention took yesterday was the passiong of a resolution asking that it be made an indictable offence should any marriage license be granted without a blood test and clean bill of health being granted to both parties by a medical practitioner. The resolution states that such action is necessary because of the increase of feeble-mindedness.

It was recommended that the Ontario W.C.T.U. should memoralise the Federal Government to so amend the Marriage Act that no marriage licenses should be issued excepting through special Government officials. The resolution was carried without a dissenting voice being raised.

The convention decided to ask the Federal Government that trained nurses be appointed to work on the Indian reserves.

Differ Over Tobacco.

A resolution that soups and chocolates should take the place of cigarets sent to the soldiers, met with a wide difference of opinion. Mrs. H. C. Ward, of Toronto, thought that all reference to tobacco should be cut out.

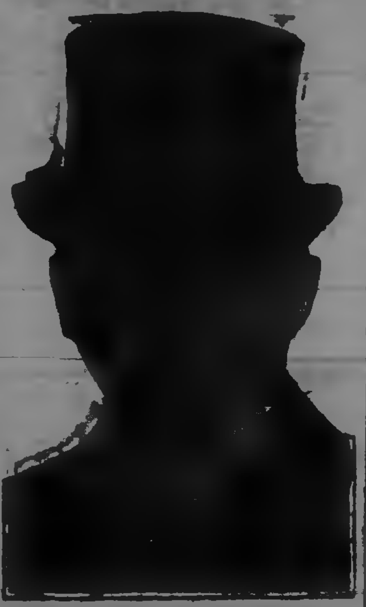
"I have lost the organization of three unions because of the stand that we have taken in the past against tobacco being sent to the soldiers," said Mrs. Gordon Murray, Hamilton. "Soldiers' wives protested against us interfering with the soldiers. Let us leave out the question and not interfere with the soldiers."

But in spite of Mrs. Murray's protest the resolution was taken off the table, and referred back, to come up later in a modified form.

New German Chancellor Not Likely to Win Fame As a Great Statesman

GEORGE MICHAELIS is a native of Frankfort-on-the-Main, where he spent his youth and received his education, is the son of a Prussian judge, and is a first cousin of that Henry von Tschirsky who died last year as the kaiser's ambassador at Vienna, and who was with his weasel face and unpleasant manner the most sinister figure of the German diplomatic service—which is saying a good deal. George Michaelis, with no private fortune of his own, and one of a numerous family—his younger brothers include a general and a Lutheran pastor—had to make his way in life without any parental aid. He entered the service of the Prussian Government, at the age of 18, as a subordinate employe of the department of justice at Berlin, and has continued in the employ of the Prussian Government ever since, that is to say, during more than four decades, save for four years spent in Japan, when he was loaned by the Prussian department of justice to teach law and statecraft at the Imperial University of Tokio. He may be said, therefore, to have become imbued with all the prejudices and the peculiar views of that Prussian bureaucracy in whose ranks he has spent more than 40 years.

Only in one respect does Michaelis differ from those of his class. He does not entertain the same degree of awe and subservience that they do for loyalty. This is largely due to the emperor. For away back in 1903, Michaelis was appointed as chief deputy and Adiatus to the governor of Silesia, at Breslau, with the special mission from the kaiser to keep a close watch upon his eldest sister, Duchess Charlotte, of Saxe-Meiningen, and the latter's husband, now the sovereign, but then only the crown prince, of Saxe-Meiningen. William hated and distrusted his eldest sister, whom he had virtually banished from Berlin, owing to her rebellion against his despotism, as the head of the House of Hohenzollern. He dreaded her satire and her ridicule, and accused her of making fun of his platitudes and attitudes. William also took exception to her husband's enlightened and humane views in the matter of military discipline, and to Duke Bernard's refusal to acknowledge that Prussian officers, because of their uniform, were immune from the laws of the land, and superior to the citizen. The kaiser considered that Bernard and Charlotte of Saxe-Meiningen needed careful watching, and entrusted Michaelis with the task—a task which quite naturally had the effect of opening the mind of the new chancellor to the fact that royalty, after all, even Prussian royalty, is made of human clay.



GEORGE MICHAELIS

Michaelis, a short and stout man, with a short-cropped beard and moustache, a determined jaw, but with a pleasant smile, and a rather peremptory manner in dealing with his subordinates, remained at Breslay with his large brood of children (he has lost a son in the present war) until Duke Bernard resigned his military command there, not long before his accession to his father's ducal throne, and then was transferred, first of all, back to the department of justice at Berlin, and then to the treasury, as under secretary of state for finance. Early last year, after von Batocki had made such a failure in the office of controller of food, Michaelis was appointed to the post, and quickly evolved order out of chaos. Indeed, it is largely due to his powers of organisation, and to the drastic fashion in which he enforced his orders and edicts, regardless of the rank or influence enjoyed by those who attempted to evade his regulations, that Germany has been able to hold out for so long in the matter of food. But naturally he made for himself very many enemies, among the agrarian or "Junker" class in Prussia, and more especially in Bavaria, Baden and Wurtemberg, where it was claimed that he commandeered their agricultural produce for the chief benefit of the Prussians, without regard for the necessities of the people by whom the foodstuffs in question had been grown. Everyone, either in Prussia, or elsewhere in Germany, who has had to go hungry, or even thirsty, through the curtailment of the brewing of beer, has been accustomed to curse Michaelis, as the one person of all others at fault.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

SACRIFICES OF BELGIAN WOMEN

SUFFERINGS THE MOTHERS OF THAT WAR-TORN COUNTRY HAVE TO ENDURE.

Mr. Maurice Pate, representative of the Commission of Relief in Belgium, before leaving the Province of Hainaut, sumerized his findings on his last inspection visit as follows:

"Since the declaration of the blockade on Feb. 1st and the consequent decrease of arrivals of relief ships at Rotterdam, food rations in Belgium have diminished on a rapidly sliding scale.

"Singling out at random a number of homes of the working class, I made a careful examination of the conditions in each case and talked over the food matter with their inhabitants.

"The people were practically subsisting on the C. R. B. ration and have little nourishment in the way of native food stuffs. The C. R. B. rations were often eaten in advance so that a family in waiting its semi-weekly ration was sometimes without food in the house during a day at a time. The women and older children suffered especially from the fact that they were obliged to give part of their daily bread ration to the father who needed this to have strength for his daily work.

"The large increase in the number of clients for the daily soup ration is the baramotere of the serious situation into which the population is falling.

"Delegations kept calling upon us day after day and the only answer we could give to their pleas was that we were doing our best to make known their condition and needs to those at the head of the C.R.B. On April 5th a group of workingmen's wives from Paturages came to lay their claims before us. They were led by a woman whose face showed strength and character. In serving as their speaker the woman broke down completely from weakness before us."

One of the most touching pictures is of even more recent origin. Mr. Pate reports that at the present time the daily ration of the people of all ages is a bowl of soup and a slice of bread and on occasions it is even impossible to supply this to everyone. Naturally, the children are the worst sufferers, since the growing body demands more nourishment than can possibly be obtained from a bowl of soup and a slice of bread, and many children are in the last degrees of slow starvation.

It is a touching fact that women with children whose development approximates the normal had been seen to step out of the bread line in order to insure less robust children securing the meagre ration even though such ailing little ones might be strangers to them.

With this in mind we can listen more readily to the urgent pleas being made by the Belgian Relief Committees in behalf of the underfed children.

Applicant's Qualifications.

"I am the man you are looking for," said the applicant for a job.

"How do you know you are?" asked the boss.

'Because I have energy, initiative and ambition. I'm as smart as a steel trap and as quick as lightning. Those who know me call me a human dynamo."

"There's one thing I don't understand," said the boss, thoughtfully. "What is that?"

"Experts say the supply of men capable of earning $10,000, $15,000 and $20,000 a year is never equal to the demand. Yet here you are applying for a job that pays only $12 a week."

Nervous Trouble

The nerve system is the governing system of the whole body, controlling the heart, lungs, digestion and brain; so it is not surprising that nervous disturbances should cause acute distress. The first stages of nervous debility are noted by irritability and restlessness, in which the victims seem to be oppressed by their nerves. The matter requires immediate attention, for nothing but suitable treatment will prevent a complete breakdown. The victim, however, need not dispair for even severe nervous disorders may be cured by improving the condition of the blood. It is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich blood that this medicine has cured extreme nervous disorders after all other treatment had failed. The nerves thrive on the new blood made by these pills; the appetite improves, digestion is better, sleeplessness no longer troubles the former nerve shattered victim, and life generally takes on a cheerful aspect. Every sufferer from nerve troubles, no matter how slight, should lose no time in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, thus regaining their old-time health and comfort.

You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHEN BRAVE MEN TREMBLE

"I went to see Jim Smilax get married yesterday," said Loper, "and he was a pitiable spectacle. He was all wilted, and the sweat ran off him in streams. Had he been in the hands of the ecutioner he couldn't have been scared worse. It's a queer thing. Smilax has more cool courage than any man I know and he'd face a polar bear without displaying cold feet, but a little thing like getting married was too much for him."

"It certainly is a queer thing," admitted Gembogee, "and doubtless we'd have to go back to the stone age to find an explanation.

"Man is afraid of many things which shouldn't scare him for a minute. People who know me well must admit that I am no poltroon. Produce your Hyrcan tiger, your rugged Russian bear, and my firm nerves never tremble. I have officiated as judge at a baby show and had a dozen disappointed mothers seething around me reaching for handfuls of my whiskers, and I was as calm as I am at this hour of going to press. I don't know what fear is in the ordinary sense; yet I can't face an audience and make a speech to save myself.

"I'd give a farm if I could rise easily and gracefully and take a fall out of the welkin when I am called upon for a few timely remarks. But when I get to my feet and look around upon a sea of expectant faces, my insides seem to give way and I feel faint and sick, and the next thing I know, somebody is stooping over me with a palm leaf fan, and somebody else is pouring ice water on me.

"Why should a man be afraid to stand up before his fellow citizens and turn loose his sentiments? Probably some ancestor of mine, back in the interglacial times, was swatted over the head with a spiked club while [illegible] the living issues of the day [illegible] schoolhouse, [illegible] generations.

"It is but a little while since dentistry was in the same class with blacksmithing. Men who are waxing old can remember when a visit to the dentist's office was something that appalled the stoutest heart. It was the last resort. A victim of toothache would suffer until the last limit was reached before he'd consent to have any dental work done, and no reasonable person can blame him.

"When I was young the village dentist man handled me two or three times, extracting teeth with a hammer and cold chisel. My own boys have such a dread of the dentist that I have to get the police to help me when it is necessary to take them to his office. There is no apparent reason for [illegible]. The modern dentist makes tooth pulling a luxury. It is better than an outing in the woods.

"I suppose it will take several thousand years to educate the fear of dentistry out of the human race.

"About a million years ago a dog threw itself down in the grass and was bitten by a snake. Ever since then dogs have turned around several times before lying down. This fact may explain, in some measure, why Jim Smilax was scared at his wedding."

Toronto Man Has Gained 12 Pounds

DOESN'T BELIEVE THERE IS A MEDICINE ON EARTH THAT EQALS TANLAC.

"I have just finished my second bottle of Tanlac and have actually gained twelve pounds," was the remarkable statement made a few days ago by Peter Bosthwick of 156 Lappan avenue, Toronto. Mr. Bosthwick has been a resident of Toronto for thirty years and has been employed for the past ten years by the Gunn Packing Co.

"I never liked the idea much of having my name in the papers," he continued, "but Tanlac has helped me so much that I feel it my duty to make this statement. Up to the time I began taking Tanlac I had been suffering for about two years with an aggravated case of stomach trouble, and one time I was told I couldn't live six months longer without an operation. My appetite was entirely gone, and everything I ate, no matter what, disagreed with me. Before I would get up from the table I would turn sick and could seldom retain anything I had eaten. My food would sour, sharp pains filled my chest, and all day long at my work I had a gnawing sensation in my stomach, and the pain at times would almost draw me double. I have spent days of misery at the plant, when I would almost collapse, my suffering was so great, and I could hardly do my work. I had fallen off from one hundred and fifty pounds to one hundred and twenty-eight, and was so weak I really don't see how I managed to keep going.

"About a year ago I spent some time in the hospitals; and during the past two years it seems to me I tried everything and spent I don't know how much money, but everything failed me until I began taking Tanlac. I had been reading the Tanlac testimonials, and finally I told my wife I believed it would help me. It certainly has. The results of the two bottles I have already taken have been nothing less than remarkable; my appetite has improved and my stomach is strengthened until I can eat and retain most anything I want. Potatoes, pork chops and many other such things that I couldn't eat before agree with me now, and that gnawing sensation and the pain has about all left my stomach and chest. I now weigh one hundred and forty pounds—have picked up twelve pounds already—and am still gaining in weight and getting stronger every day. I don't believe there's another medicine equal to Tanlac, and I appreciate what it has done for me too much to not tell others about it."

Federal Expense of War.

Canada's expenditures on account of the war now exceed $623,000,000. An announcement to this effect was made in the House of Commons by Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, in response to an inquiry made by Mr. E. M. Macdonald, Liberal member for Pictou, as to the daily expenditure of the country on account of the war. The figure includes only Dominion expenditure of cash, no mention being made of money spent by the provinces.

"Our war expenditure is very heavy, and is growing from day to day," said the Finance Minister. "I have had a statement prepared by the Assistant Deputy Minister of Finance, showing the outlay since April 1 of the present year. The statement I have received as to the period from April 1, 1917, to July 20, 1917, shows that our total revenue was $78,276,000 and our total expenditure (ordinary, capital, and special) $40,800,000, leaving a balance of $37,000,000 for war expenditure. In other words, since April 1 of the present fiscal year we have paid our way in respect to ordinary, capital, and special expenditures, and we have thirty-seven million dollars to the good. The figures may not be mathematically accurate, but they represent a close estimate.

"The total war expenditure of Canada to July 20 this year in Canada was $388,827,000, and the total war expenditure elsewhere than in Canada, including maintenance of troops in France, from September, 1916, to July 20, 1917, based on 117,000 troops, was $234,000,000, or a grand total on account of war expenditure of $623,000,000."

The Finance Minister added that war expenditure in Canada from April 1 to July 20, 1917, amounted to $39,702,[illegible] That was the expenditure since the beginning of the present fiscal year.

The Expeditionary Force.

Sir Edward Kemp, replying to a question in the Commons recently, said that the number of enlistments in the Canadian expeditionary force to June 30 last was 424,456. Of this number 329,943 had gone overseas. Of them 142,779 were in France, 756 at other theatres of war, and 124,399 in England. Of the men in England 23,265 were in hospitals and convalescent camps on May 31. There were 3,944 troops en route from Canada and 18,475 under arms in the Dominion. The total number killed, died, missing, and prisoners of war was 31,955; discharged abroad or returned for discharge at once, about 26,000; discharged, etc., in Canada 76,058. The Minister of Militia told J. H. Sinclair of Guysboro, N.S., that the number of recruits enlisted in July was 4,257 and the number of casualties in the Canadian expeditionary force in the same month was 3,637.

While in charge of two U. S. immigration officers at Newport, Vt., prior to deportation to Canada, R. J. Priddy, of Quebec, drew a revolver, killed one and seriously wounded the other.

"Over the Top" How Tommie Feels

THERE are certain critical moments in human life in which the demand for emotional reaction is so tremendous that the mind cannot respond to it. The effect ordinarily is to numb those sections of the brain which have to do with feeling, leaving only the mind's recording faculties at work. Something like that evidently happens when a man is about to go into battle, to judge by the following description written by an American who joined the Allied forces and went into the front line trenches in France. The description is from "Over the Top," and Arthur Guy Empey, who wrote it, lived in Jersey City until six months after the Lusitania was sent to the bottom, when he decided to go to war. Storming a trench is like gambling with death with the odds against you. And just before the signal to go Tommy's companions whisper to him, "Over the Top with the Best o' Luck and Give Them Hell."

"Then the nerve-racking wait commenced. Every now and then I would glance at the dial of my wristwatch and was surprised to see how fast the minutes passed by. About five minutes to 2 I got nervous waiting for our guns to open up. I could not take my eyes from my watch. I crouched against the parapet and strained my muscles in a death-like grip upon my rifle. As the hands of my watch showed 2 o'clock a blinding red flare lighted up the sky in our rear, then thunder, intermixed with a sharp, whistling sound in the air over our heads. The shells from our guns were speeding on their way toward the German lines. . . .

"In about twenty minutes a generous rum issue was doled out. After drinking the rum, which tasted like varnish and sent a shudder through your frame, you wondered why they made you wait until the lifting of the barrage before going over. At ten minutes to 4 word was passed down, 'Ten minutes to go!' Ten minutes to live! We were shivering all over. My legs felt as if they were asleep. Then word was passed down: 'First wave get on and near the scaling ladders.' . . .

"Sharp whistle blasts rang out along the trench, and with a cheer the men scrambled up the ladders. The bullets were cracking overhead, and occasionally a machine gun would rip and tear the top of the sandbag parapet. How I got up that ladder I will never know. The first ten feet out in front was agony. Then we passed through the lanes in our barbed wire. I knew I was running, but could feel no motion below the waist. Patches on the ground seemed to float to the rear as if I were on a treadmill and scenery was rushing past me. The Germans had put a barrage of shrapnel across No Man's Land, and you could hear the pieces slap the ground about you.

"After I had passed our barbed wire and gotten into No Man's Land a Tommy about fifteen feet to my right front turned around and, looking in my direction, put his hand to his mouth and yelled something which I could not make out on account of the noise of the bursting shells. Then he coughed, stumbled, pitched forward, and lay still. His body seemed to float to the rear of me. I could hear sharp cracks in the air about me. These were caused by passing rifle bullets. Frequently, to my right and left, little spurts of dirt would rise into the air, and a ricochet bullet would whine on its way. If a Tommy should see one of these little spurts in front of him, he would tell the nurse about it later. The crossing of No Man's Land remains a blank to me. . . .

"About twenty feet to my left front was a huge Prussian nearly six feet four inches in height, a fine specimen of physical manhood. The bayonet from his rifle was missing, but he clutched the barrel in both hands and was swinging the butt around his head. I could almost hear the swish of the butt passing through the air. Three little Tommies were engaged with him. They looked like pygmies alongside of the Prussian. The Tommy on the left was gradually circling to the rear of his opponent. It was a funny sight to see them duck the swinging butt and try to jab him at the same time. The Tommy nearest to me received the butt of the German's rifle in a smashing blow below the right temple. He pitched forward on his side and a convulsive shudder ran through his body. Meanwhile, the other Tommy had gained the rear of the Prussian. Suddenly about four inches of bayonet protruded from the throat of the Prussian soldier, who staggered forward and fell. I will never forget the look of blank astonishment that came over his face.

"Then something hit me in the left shoulder and my left side went numb. It felt as if a hot poker were being driven through me. I felt no pain—just a sort of nervous shock. A bayonet had pierced me from the rear. I fell backward on the ground, but was not unconscious, because I could see dim objects moving around me. Then a flash of light in front of my eyes and unconsciousness. Something had hit me on the head. I have never found out what it was."

Empey was sent to a base hospital and six weeks later rejoined his company for service on the front line. It was in a raid on a German trench, supposedly silenced by an eight-day bombardment, that he received the wounds which incapacitated him for further service. Out of twenty who went out on the party three came back. Empey spent a day and a half, wounded in three places, in a shell hole in No Man's Land, was found there after a charge from the Allied bands and was sent back of the lines, where he managed to fight a winning fight against death.

WOMEN SAVED BERRY CROP

Two Thousand Volunteers Came Forward in British Columbia.

Saving the tremendous berry crop, two-thirds of which otherwise would have been lost through shortage of labor caused by the war, 2,000 women, clad in trousers and workmen's smocks, are laboring in the berry fields of British Columbia.

The army is drawn from all walks of life, the most recent addition being in the form of hundreds of girls from the schools and colleges.

Early in the season, the small fruit growers of the Province were faced with a serious situation. While they could muster sufficient workers to handle the crops up to the time of ripening, they were faced with the possibility of a full two-thirds loss of crop, through shortage of labor. Finally, the association made application to the Government to be allowed special permission to import several thousand Chinese coolies for the season. The Government received the plea and were in a serious position. From the Federal Allied Governments came repeated urgings to produce, a cry that was being repeated by those near at hand. On the other hand, the bringing in of alien labor made more mouths to feed, while at the same time the money was sure to go largely out of the country with the Chinese coolies.

While the Government was still pondering, the women of the Province took a hand. Here for some time the movement for equal rights has been making great headway. Before the Government could make a decision in the fruit-growing situation, several women leaders got busy, and after some quick work made a decision. "Don't import any foreign labor," was the message they delivered to the Government, "We will supply an army of women to do this work."

The result of their efforts is that to-day an army of 2,000 women—a number that will be increased before the raspberry season closes—has been marshaled from the principal cities.

The work is not hard, it begins on most ranches at 8 and goes on till 6, with an hour off for lunch. Each picker carries a tray containing eight boxes. In some of the boxes go the still green berries; in others the firm ripe ones and the over-ripe fruit is tossed into a pail. At the sorting sheds the green boxes are all gathered together and sent away by fast express from the nearest railway, to feed the populations of the prairie Provinces, the fruit ripening on or after arrival. The principal shipping points are Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, and Winnipeg. The girls receive thirty cents a tray for strawberries and forty for raspberries, with an added ten cents a crate bonus for staying the season. In addition they are furnished with comfortable bunk houses and oil stoves to cook on. Some of the experts can pick nine crates a day.

Though begun purely as a patriotic work, the services of the women have been so satisfactory that it has now Government attention, and these women in the future are bound to be a valuable aid to the industry.

Teachers' Surprises.

A little nine-year-old boy was laboriously looking up his spelling words in the dictionary when he came upon one whose meaning was perfectly apparent to him. He dashed off a sentence containing the word "capsize" and passed to the next. Imagine the teacher's amusement when he recited glibly, "My cap size is No. 6."—Delineator.

RALPH CONNOR

An announcement of interest to the play-going public and to readers of popular books relates to the appearance of "The Sky Pilot," which will be seen in this city for two performances on Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 8. The play is founded on material taken from Ralph Connor's two best known novels, "The Sky Pilot" and "Black Rock." The work of dramatization has been done by Frank Mandel and George H. Brennan. Although Connor's stories have been in constant vogue for seventeen years—their joint circulation being estimated at two million copies—they have never appeared in dramatic form. It is said that the most stirring episodes in both books have been welded into one consistent story and that the adapters have retained the favorite characters in the stories, including Gwen, Mrs. Mavor, Bill, H, The Old Timer, The Duke, Ponka, and The Sky Pilot, who has been described as "tender as a woman with the heart of a hero."

Symbolically, the drama following the theme of the books is stated to be a war between good and evil. Previous to the advent of the young clergyman in the little Rocky Mountain settlement, where the scene is laid, the inhabitants are racked by their besetting sins, their wrangles and their jealousies. With his coming life begins to assume a brighter hue. There are many gripping sensational incidents in which he demonstrates courage of the real sort. One by one the characters come under his influence, until the only one remaining in rebellion is Gwen. Her final surrender is said to furnish one of the most thrilling and spectacular situations in the play.

The cast of players who will appear includes Brandon Tynan, Regina Wallace, Ernest Anderson, Harry D. Southard, Eddie Heron, Louis Leon Hall, Else Frederic, Annette Andre, Edwin Caldwell, Joseph Lawrence, Burr Carruth, and Edward Broadley.

Additional interest is lent to the play at this time by Ralph Connor himself. In private life he is the Rev. Charles W. Gordon of Winnipeg, Manitoba. When the war broke out he promptly volunteered and was accepted as Chaplain of the Canadian Highlanders. He has seen much service in France and is now Major Gordon.

W. F. O'Connor Completes Investigation of Banking Trade

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The results of an investigation of the baking industry will be made known by W. F. O'Connor, Cost of Living Commissioner, shortly. The report will show, it is believed, that when flour was selling in the neighborhood of $16 a barrel, the larger baking companies were using flour obtained under contract at from $8 to $10 a barrel.

Proprietors of smaller bakeries, however, were compelled to pay the higher price of flour and some of them were selling their bread at a loss for a time.

FRENCH BEGIN REPRISALS IN AIR RAIDS ON GERMANS

Hundred Tons of Bombs Are Dropped on Stuttgart, a City of 200,000 Inhabitants in Retaliation for Raiding of French Towns.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Oct. 1.—The Germans attacked last night on the Verdun front, on both banks of the Meuse. Violent artillery fighting is in progress in the Verdun sector. Aviators dropped a hundred tons of projectiles on the German city of Stuttgart in reprisal for the bombardment by Germans of Barleduc. Ctuttgart, capital of kingdom of Wurttemberg, is city of nearly 200,000, about 100 miles from the French border.

In Mesopotamia

London, Sept. 30.—A British official report concerning the operations in Mesopotamia announces the capture Friday of Mushaid Ridge in the region of Bagdad.

The British attacked the Turkish main position in the region of Ramadie fro mthe south, east and west, and continued the attack Saturday, the enemy everywhere surrendering.

The captures by the British include guns, ammunition and several thousands of prisoners, including Ahmed Bey and his staff.

Enemy is Surrounded

The report of Major-General Frederick S. Maude, Commander of the expedition, says:

"After an advance Thursday night we attacked the enemy's advanced position at Mushaid, four miles east of Ramadie, early Friday morning. Mushaid Ridge was occupied with little difficulty. A column, continuing to advance, manouvered away from the river, attacking the Turks' main positions about Ramadie, to the southeast, while our cavalry moved wide around to the west of Ramadie.

"A severe battle ensued, lasting throughout Friday. By nightfall our troops had carried the main positions and were encircling Ramadie from the east, southeast and south, at a distance under two miles from the town. Our cavalry completed the land cordon west of Ramadie, while the Euphrates runs on the north side of the town. Then enemy during the night attempted to break out westward, but was headed back by our cavalry."

Turk Commander Taken

"Our troops resumed the attack vigorously Saturday at daybreak, with the result that at nine o'clock in the morning the enemy was surrendering everywhere.

"Included in our capture are guns, arms, ammunition, stores and equipment, and also much other booty, several thousand prisoners. Ahmed Bey, the Turkish Commander and his Staff.

"The enemy was taken entirely by surprise, and practically the whole garrison of Ramadie fell into our hands. Our troops displayed great gallantry, determination and endurance under the most difficult conditions.

"During Thursday night, another column moved out northeast of Bagdad, after a sharp skirmish with a Turkish cavalry detachment, inflicting casualties and capturing four prisoners and three hundred Turkian supply camels."

FIGHTING STAMINA OF HUNS GROWING STEADILY WEAKER

That is the Way American War Office Sizes up Situation on Western Front—Air Raid on London Noisest Yet Recorded on Account of Defence Gun Fire.

London, Otc. 1.—British naval air patrols destroyed two enemy machines and brought down another. A Gotha also was brought down and is believed to have been damaged. All British machines are safe.

The enemy artillery has shown pronounced activity in the night time in the Nieuport sector and east and north of Ypres says today's official report. Otherwise there is nothing to report.

The French Reprisal

The statement says French bombing squadrons sprayed with projectiles the railroad station and barracks at Fresnoy Le Grande where fierce fires were observed and also dropped bombs on railway stations of Thionville, Mezieres and Dieuze and on the factories of Hagondange, as a measure of reprisal for German bombardment of open town of Bar Leduc, two French aviators on the night of Sept. 30, October 1, threw down 300 kilogram of projectiles on the fortified town of Stuttgart. In Belgium we bombarded aviation grounds.

Germans Losing Grip

Washington, Oct. 1.—Still powerful is the estimate of Germany's Defensive strength on the western front given in this week's official statement issued by the War Department here. The superiority of the British over their enemies, the statement says, has conclusively been proved by last week's fighting while it has demonstrated that the fighting stamina of Germany is deteriorating. Of activities of the American force in Europe the report says absolutely nothing.

Russians Advance

Petrograd, Oct. 1.—Russian troops have made another advance in the Riga Region, according to today's war official announcement. German posts were pressed back south of the railway in the Spitsfa Farm sector, the Russians advancing between eight hundred and one thousand yds.

Noisiest Raid Yet

London, Ost. 1.—The week end air raids established a record as the noisiest that London has experienced. This was due entirely to the increased number of anti-air craft guns and the continuity of the firing. In discussing the raids Londoners now find little to say except that the gun fire was greater or less than on former nights. Last night the only unusual incident of the raid was the cheering which was heard from different parts of the Metropolis due to the belief that some of the raiders had been brought down.

The public which has been looking forward to the darker nights that are approaching for a cessation of the raids has been warned that although recent raids occurred on moonlight nights there is no reason to assume that as more experience is gained they may not be attempted on any night when atmosphere conditions are favorable. Taking of necessary precautions to provide shelter is urged.

More Were Killed

Nine were killed and forty-two injured in last night's air raid, it is announced officially this afternoon. It is also stated one German's plane was brought down off Dover which makes four in all Germans have lost in raid last night.

TEN EXAMINED BY MEDICAL BOARD THIS MORNING NOT ONE AMONG THEM REJECTED

Six of the Bunch Were Found Fit for Actual Duty in the Trenches, One Was Placed in Class B. and Three in Class C.

The Board of Medical Examiners consisting of Drs. Garvin, Eastwood and Greer got down to business at the Armouries at 10 o'clock this morning. It was expected that a batch of eligible men would come from the C. G. E. works for examination, but they did not appear, and the work was begun with general applicants as subjects.

At the morning session which lasted for two hours, ten applicants were examined and of these there was not a single out-and-out rejection. Only six of them were, however, found physically fit for service in the trenches and they were grouped in Class A.

Of the others one was placed in Class A which means that he is qualified for lighter military duties and the remaining three were placed in the third class which includes all those fit only for still lighter duties than those required of men in Class B.

The Staff

Sergeant Coppock, late of the 39th battalion, is acting as orderly for the Medicine Board, and Miss A. Pollard is stenographer.

The board resumed their work at three o'clock this afternoon, after adjournment for lunch at noon.

Sharp on the stroke of three, five applicants presented themselves for examination, three of whom were C. G. E. employees. At three-twenty the first man had been examined, and rejected in Class E, unfit for any military activities. Up to that hour he was the first candidate to be rejected, and he takes the rejection somewhat hard, as he has made every effort to enlist voluntarily, and has at least on two occasions endeavored to pass examination at Ottawa.

Subscription orders came in a veritable avalanche, so anxious were the wise contestants to secure the maximum first period votes. The candidates knew that the second period provides for twenty per cent. less votes than the first period schedule, and all of them turned in subscriptions Saturday.

The standing of the contestants does not appear today, as it was impossible for the contest staff to get the standing ready before press time. It is expected, however, that the standing will be completed in time for tomorrow's issue.

GRAND EXTRA PRIZE.

Here is something that will meet with the instant approval of candidates and their friends. The Review is so pleased with the splendid results obtained up to the present, that an extra prize is added to the list. Here is the proposition:

It is understood, of course, that all votes turned in on the special prize will count on the awarding of the regular prizes to be given at the close of the contest. Win this extra prize—show your friends that you are a dead-in-earnest contestant for the Capital Prize Car. It will not only make them more interested in your campaign, but will show you that you are making great progress towards winning the chief honors of the contest.

Britain Tightens German Blockade

London, Oct. 1.—A still more vigorous blockade of Germany is to be enforced by the Entente Allies as a result of the conference of Lord Robert Cecil, British Minister of Blockade, with the French Minister of Blockade. Yesterday the King signed a proclamation prohibiting the exportation of certain articles to Sweden and Holland. The King's approval also was given to other measures to make it more difficult for the enemy to obtain supplies through neutral countries.

FAILS TO WIN CONVICTION LIQUOR CHARGE DISMISSED

Police Authorities Investigating Source of Liquor Supply to Blacklisters—Defendant, Charged With Selling Liquor, Satisties Court He and Wife Drank it.

A Charlotte street resident faced Police Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Inspector Stuart laid the information. Crown Attorney Hatton prosecuted, and Mr. G. N. Gordon defended the accused.

The presumption taken was that defendant received more liquor, between Sept. 14th and 21st than he could use himself, and consequently was selling it. A. F. Skinner, a clerk in the Dominion Express Co., testified that a box of liquor passed through his hands to defendent personally on September 14th. The package was shipped from Montreal, its weight was 17 lbs.

License Inspector Stuart swore that on Friday, 21st Sept., he went to defendant's house, on Charlotte street to search for the case of liquor delivered on the 14th. Defendent was not at home, but his wife asserted that the liquor in question was the property of her father-in-law of Otonabee, in whose possession it then was. He (witness) then motored to latter's home and asked to see the liquor delivered him on the 14th. He denied ever having had any liquor in his home in his life. I took his word for it and made no search. Inspector Stuart again called at defendant's home after tea. Latter was not at home, but had gone to his father's. On Saturday morning, the 22nd, Inspector Stuart searched accused's house, and found no trace of the liquor in question, but discovered another case there containing three pint bottles of whiskey, weighing 14 lbs.

To Mr. Gordon, witness conceded that the first shipment of liquor was addressed to defendant and the second to his wife, against whom there is no charge.

Inspector Stuart submitted that defendant denied having received on the 14th Sept. more than one bottle of liquor, which he used himself. The Express Co.'s books give the weight of this package delivered accused as 17 lbs.

Defendant's father testified that he never kept whiskey on his premises in his life. To Mr. Gordon he replied that he had a couple of drinks of liquor in his son's home, between Sept 14 and 21st. Latter has to use liquor, his trade not agreeing with him. He has always been delicate and was raised to a considerable extent on whiskey and port wine.

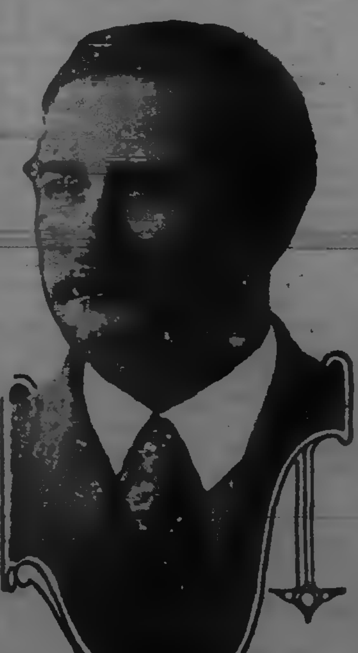
Mr. A. F. Skinner, after examining the express money order stubs for Sept. 14th found none for the shipment. Neither could any record of this shipment be found in the post office.

Defendant, in the box, swore that all he received from Montreal on Sept. 14th was one Imperial quart bottle of whiskey, for which he sent by registered letter. It reached him in a box same size as that containing three bottles. This liquor was used by his own family. He is not healthy and uses liquor as a medicine.

The magistrate dismissed the case, ruling that no evidence was to hand to show that defendant had sold liquor, and that he had a right to keep whiskey in his home for family consumption.

This case has arisen out of the authorities' attempt to prove the source from which some well known black-listers secure their liquor.

CAPT. J. H. BURNHAM JOINS RANKS OF THE BENEDICTS



CAPT. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P.,
Who was married at Ottawa on Saturday.

Peterborough's M. P. Married to Miss Christine McGilchrist at Ottawa.

One of the social surprises of the season came this morning in the announcement that Capt. J. H. Burnham, M.P., had been married at Ottawa. The surprise was due to the general impression that has prevailed for years that the Captain was a confirmed and hopeless bachelor. He has, however, succumbed at last, and joined the ranks of the benedicts. The approaching campaign is evidently regarded with little concern by the Captain, and the vacation of which he recently spoke in his public statement is really to be a honeymoon trip.

Like Premier Kerensky of Russia, Capt. Burnham does not permit the cares of statesmanship to interfere entirely with the tenor of his private life.

Capt. Burnham, bachelor though he may have been all these years, has always been a champion of women's rights, and the cause of equal suffrage never had a more ardent supporter than he.

Here is a case in which party differences will be forgotten, as political friends and opponents with one accord join in extending heartiest congratulations to Capt. Burnham and his bride.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."
PETERBOROUGH MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1917

NOT PROVEN.

"WIN-THE-WAR LIBERAL," who is writing those letters in The Examiner, raking Capt. Burnham and the Conservative party, is lawyer enough to know that it is easier to bring general charges than it is to make them stick.

THE C. N. R. DEAL.

"The Borden Government, by taking over the Canadian Northern, seems to value the excellent principle of public ownership very highly, judging by the price it pays for its stock and liabilities — very similar as assets — without the country actually coming into possession and management of the road. In this view all the jibes and charges against the late Laurier Government in respect of the extravagant cost of the Transcontinental from Moncton to Winnipeg, lose a good deal of point. The cost, considering the permanent character of the construction of the Transcontinental and the fact of real and not political ownership involved is a mere bagatelle compared with what the country is committed to by the Canadian Northern 'deal'."—The Examiner.

ACQUIRING the Transcontinental was a matter of Hobson's choice with the Government. It had either to take over and operate the road or allow it to remain idle.

The Laurier Administration built the Transcontinental and a commission appointed by their successors found that $40,000,000 had been wasted in the construction.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had an agreement with the G. T. R. to operate the new line at a rental which would be a percentage on the cost of building. This cost was so high that the Grand Trunk, finding it could not afford to pay the rental, refused to take over the line. The Government was, accordingly, obliged to operate it.

This appears to be The Examiner's idea of a fair and ideal form of acquiring public ownership of a utility, ownership that it terms real and not political.

When our contemporary alludes to the C. N. R. deal it speaks of the high price that is to be paid for that line. This is an assumption on its part. The country may not be called upon to pay another dollar for the Canadian Northern. It is in exactly the same position as the man who has a mortgage on a house. If that mortgage is equal to the cost, the mortgagee receives nothing in addition to what has already been paid him. If there is anything to his credit he gets it.

The arbitrators who will fix the value of the common stock cannot go beyond twelve million dollars, although the nominal value of the stock is five times that amount. The chances are that they will find it worthless. Sir Thomas White is of that opinion. The road, the express and the telegraph companies pass under state control, and the country is not required to assume one cent of the outstanding obligations. That will appeal to all fairminded people as a businesslike transaction.

The Examiner finds it impossible to regard the C. N. R. deal in the same light as The Toronto Star, The Globe, The Winnipeg Free Press and other leading Liberal organs that support the policy of the Government in this matter. The reason for this appears to be that our neighbor's conclusions are based on misinformation.

THE ONE THING NEEDFUL.

ONE of the charges that "Win-the-war Liberal" brings against the Borden Government is that it "stubbornly and wilfully refused to take the very measures necessary to procure the enlistment of men in Quebec.

The Borden Government did try out to the limit the voluntary system to which the Liberal party as a whole still stands committed through its leader. When the system was proved a failure the Laurierites blocked the way for more drastic action. There is only one method left for securing men in Quebec for the military service and that is the draft. If the Borden Government erred through delay in the adoption of this measure, the Liberals refuse to be converted, but insist on persevering in the error.

ANOTHER LIBERAL KNIFED.

HUGH GUTHRIE, M.P. for South Wellington, one of the outstanding figures in the Liberal parliamentary party, voted for conscription, for the Franchise Bill required to make it effective, and supported other war measures of the Government. For this he has been knifed by his constituents. At a meeting held in his riding he was censured for what was termed the deserting of the party, and he was given to understand that he need not look for a re-nomination.

Mr. Guthrie had no apologies to offer for what he had done. He expressed no regret, but declared that he would rather be defeated if success was conditional upon accepting Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a leader.

"Which policy would please the Kaiser," asked Mr. Guthrie, "that of the Borden Government or Sir Wilfrid Laurier?"

There was no answer forthcoming. All of which shows that the Liberal party—that is the partisan element—in Ontario is hopelessly committed to Laurierism, and that the men who bolted the leader at the recent session may expect scant consideration.

DR. MICHAEL CLARK.

THE LIBERALS in Peterborough who dream of inviting Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, Sask., to accept the party nomination for this riding are barking up the wrong tree. The game they are after is lodged in another.

If Michael Clark accepts a nomination in an Ontario constituency—and the chances are that he will, out of the many that are likely to be offered him—it will not be in a place where his opponent has the parliamentary war record that has been made by Capt. Burnham. Dr. Clark is a true win-the-war patriot, not the political schemer certain local Liberals appear to credit him with being.

NO SACRIFICE REQUIRED.

THE LIBERALS are not called upon to make any sacrifice, even if they support for Parliament a man whose single purpose is the winning of the war. All that is required of them is to take the opposite side from Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There is no sacrifice involved in forsaking a leader who has left his party stranded and without a policy. The captain deserted the ship at the first sign of adverse winds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

WHAT would Russia do with a Sir Wilfrid Laurier if it had him?

* * *

IT IS NOT the fault but the mistune of so many perfectly well-behaved Canadian residents that they were born in an enemy country.

* * *

"WIN-THE-WAR Liberal," if he could succeed in getting Capt. Burnham backed off the stage, would have a shy at the Liberal nomination himself.

* * *

UNFORTUNATELY the candidate who has developed the art of elaboration is not likely to accept his opponent's suggestion for a speechless campaign.

* * *

WHY cannot the "Liberal" who is writing those letters in The Examiner be frank and admit that the retirement of Capt. Burnham would make it easier for his own party?

* * *

WE ARE asked to save sugar in order to help out the French. Well, this community will be sweet enough when the Liberal candidate for Parliament hands out those honeyed phrases to the voters.

* * *

THE EXAMINER demands the disfranchisement of Bourassa and men of his cult. A brave show of political virtue this, knowing as our contemporary does that Sir Wilfrid Laurier could easily spare the votes of that section of his compatriots.

A COMMUNITY OF INTEREST

"Excuse me," began the woman from next door who had lived in the neighborhood only a very little while, "I don't want to appear inquisitive, but what in the world is going on?

"First the postman arrives with a letter that causes great excitement, then a messenger boy arrives with a telegram for the same party, whereupon an excited lady rushes into your house and out again, and then over to Mrs. Hutchins; then the Hutchins automobile comes out of the garage, you and the excited lady and Mrs. Hutchins all pile into the machine and then along come Mr. and Mrs. Tubblestone and they all pile in. Then everybody piles out again and the auto is returned to the garage, the excited lady returns to her home, you go back to your home and the Tubblestones amble back to their own place!

"Now, please tell me what on earth it is all about! Why did the Hutchinses get into their machine in such mad haste only to put it back in the garage again? And the Tubblestones!"

"Well", explained the woman thus put upon the witness stand, "the excited lady came to me because I am the official telephoner for the neighborhood and she wanted me to phone down to the depot and see whether a little girl had fot off the train there last night with no one to meet her. She was to have met a little girl there last night, but didn't know she was coming until this morning. The letter and telegram this morning announced the girl's arrival last night.

"Mrs. Hutchins was pressed into service because she is the official automobile service and the only emergency service in the neighborhood."

"But what did the Tubblestones have to do with it?"

"The Tubblestones," explained the lady on the witness stand, "are the official riders in the Hutchins automobile. They kney the Hutchins family first, they gave them some Siberian crabapples and swapped some patterns with them and watered their lawn for them when they were away and then the Hutchinses took the Tubblestones to church a few times and now the Tubblestones are the official riders in the Hutchins machine. At first Mrs. Hutchins said, 'I'll take you for a ride,' and then it got so that every time there was any riding to be done at all the Tubblestones did it.

"It just got to be a custom, you know, and being the official riders in the Hutchins machine, what was more natural than that they should pile in when the machine stopped at my door this morning? It is altogether irregular when they are not in it, and this morning they were about the first ones in and the last ones out.

"Somebody phoned that the girl was safe just as we were on the point of going to look her up, so there was no occasion for any mad dash. I returned to my station, where I could tend the phone in case some neighbor got a call, and the excited lady went home, and as soon as the Tubblestones learned that there was to be no ride they reluctantly went home, too."

Cyclone Snider Predicts the Coldest Winter in Years

Prof. A. L. Snider an American weather prophet and maker of Almanacs and who is popularly known as Cyclone Snider, warns the American continent to prepare now for the coming winter which he says will be one of the severest ever experienced. He says:

"Get out your muffs and bearskin wraps, for the coming winter will be the coldest one we have had for many years. It will be so cold that somebody will think that Robert E. Peary has left open the door to the north pole.

"The coming winter will be a long hard, cold one, for driving sleet storms and heavy snowstorms will occur over various sections of the country, followed by great cold waves turning into severe blizzards that will reach far into the South. December will be a cold, wet stormy month. December will be known as the sharpshooter month, for the cold waves will be so piercing. The coming Christmas will be a white one, for many snowstorms will occur, all to be followed by a sweeping cold wave that will make man and beast take notice.

O Canada

A supplementary verse to "O Canada!" that may be sung during these war-times:

O Canada, thy sons and daughters, we
Would join, as one, to rescue liberty
 From the tyrant's sway that dares betray
 Thy service blessed of God—
 From the rampant Might that fain would blight
 The gifts of nationhood!
 O realm benign, be it our and thine
To bless our brave ones of the battlefield,
While we uphold the Right, till the foe 's forced to yield!

COLLEGE STAFF KILLED BY AX

RETURNED TEACHER TELLS OF BRUTAL SLAUGHTER OF ARMENIANS.

New York, Oct. 1 The slaughter with axes of all the Armenian faculty members of Anatolia College, Marsovan, Northern Asia Minor, together with 1,200 others by Turkish peasants whose pay for the work was the privilege of stripping the clothing off their victims' bodies, was described here last night by Rev. George E. White, President of the college, recently returned to this country. The massacres were committed at night by order of the Turkish Government, he said, the Armenians being sent out in lots of 100 and 200 to their doom, and their bodies rolled into prepared burial trenches.

"One group of our college boys asked permission to sing before they died, and sang 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.' Then they were struck down," Mr. White said.

"On the pretext of searching for deserting soldiers, concealed bombs, weapons, seditious literature or revolutionists, the Turkish officers arrested about 1,200 Armenian men at Marsovan, accompanying their investigations by horrible brutalities. There was no revolutionary activity in our region whatever.

Of eight new magistrates appointed for Dudley, Worcestershire, three of them represent Labor.

Hudson Maxim Has Plan

By Which to Make Ships Proof Against Torpedoes

HUDSON MAXIM asserts that he can make ships torpedo-proof by protective walls, not of heavy armor, but of a combination of metallic rods and cylinders filled with water. The rods are to impede and slow down the velocity of the high-pressure gases from the torpedo, which are the destructive agent of its explosion, while the water, shattered into spray, is to cool them, contract them, and reduce their pressure. Thus it will be possible, Mr. Maxim believes, that a torpedo should explode in direct contact with a ship's hull without inflicting serious damage upon her. He communicates the details of his device to The Scientific American, remarking somewhat dryly that as the Germans are in no present need of protection devices against torpedoes, this publication can not be considered as giving "aid and comfort" to the enemy. Mr. Maxim remarks that the principle of his device is none other than that of the celebrated "silencer" that bears the name of another member of his family. He writes:

"When a gun provided with a Maxim silencer is fired, the silencer acts to dissipate and absorb the energy of the escaping gases, thereby lessening the intensity and suddenness of the shock upon the atmosphere.

"I propose to employ a principle similar to that of the silencer for dissipating the energy of the explosive blast of a torepdo against and into the hull of a ship. In addition to this, the gases of the explosive blast are made to take up spray, and [illegible] water; instantly to reduce their temperature and volume about tenfold.

"When a mass of high explosive, like the contents of a torpedo warhead, is exploded against a ship's hull at the usual depth of, say, from nine to eighteen feet below the water-line, the mass of water surrounding the explosives serves to tamp it, that is to say, it serves as an anvil to resist the blast in all other directions except toward the interior of the ship; and as the ship's hull is the line of least resistance, the great mass of gases under high temperature and pressure passes into and through the hull of the ship with such destructive violence as to cause the immediate sinking of a large vessel of ordinary construction. . . . "If we can succeed, by means of water, in abstracting the excess heat of the gases of the explosive blast of a German torpedo as they enter the ship's hull, we shall decrease their volume from 40,000 cubic feet to 4,000 cubic feet. Not only this, but also if we can succeed in making the gases do work upon certain obstructions placed in their path, they will be cooled just in proportion to the amount of work that they thus do. . . .

"A strong steel wire or round rod, drawn taut and interposed in the path of the blast of a high explosive, offers very great powers of resistance, and it is very difficult to break such a wire or rod by the explosive blast. Consequently, if a screen composed of strong, steel wires or rods be placed in the wall of a ship's hull in such position that it will receive the initial impact of the gases, it will place work upon the gases, and, by wire drawing and impeding them, dissipate a portion of their heat or energy and slow their velocity."

Jamless England.

No sugar for home-made jam is a situation the women of England are facing, according to information received at the office of Herbert Hoover. The royal committee on sugar supply had hoped to complete arrangements to take care of those who desired to purchase fruits for domestic jam making, but has been compelled to announce that the sinking of sugar cargoes and the overwhelming necessity for economizing tonnage has rendered it impossible to take care of the woman's jam.

Gold Production.

The world's gold production in the last quarter of a century equals that of the preceding 400 years and the silver output since 1878 equals that of the preceding 400 years. But, whereas the gold money of the world has doubled in the last 20 years, the silver money has decreased just one-half in the same period.

THE FIANCES OF PRUE.

SHE promised Sid, she promised Ned,
She promised Sam and Jim,
She promised Harry, Tom and Ted,
Each one she'd marry him.
She promised Marmaduke and Bill,
She promised George and Paul,
She'd wed him with a right good will
When came the days of fall.

The happy swains in ecstasy,
When each the truth he knew,
Got up a Prudence company
To see the matter through,
And 'aired of an engagement ring
These heroes of my rimes
Gave her of whom my verses sing
A set of golden chimes—

Which rung for each and rung for all
Against the coming of the fall.

The Wallop.

The west wind howled in the branches, but they heard it not, for they were in the Swiffleworth parlor and plate glass windows were down.

"I admit there is a certain fascination about your stickpins," she said, "but I cannot marry you. There are reasons."

"Name them!" he cried, and it was beautiful to see the way his square jaw set and his No. 40 chest expanded.

"Father hates you."

"I'll ruin his business and bring him to terms."

"Mother despises you."

"I'll come out for woman suffrage."

"You have a terribly shady past."

"We'll surround the house with shade trees."

"And, besides, I was married to Jack Billencoo last Wednesday."

For a moment he was quite at a loss for a reply.—Detroit Free Press.

Experiment Was Tried

In Temperance Reform

By Russian Autocracy

THE Russian Provisional Government is about to issue a decree transferring to the Zemstvos County Councils the "Guardianships of Public Sobriety;" and it is expected that institutions will be abolished or radically reformed. Thereby perishes perhaps the only social reform experiment in which autocratic Russia claimed to lead the world.

The Sobriety Guardianships are a creation of the late Count Sergius Witte, Russia's daring Minister of Finance. When Witte in 1895 expropriated to the State without compensation all private vodka saloons, and proclaimed the State to be sole refiner, rectifier, and retail seller of spirits, he declared that his ultimate aim was to reduce the consumption of vodka. He reasoned that the State, if it lost revenue through decline of consumption, would gain revenue from other sources owing to the increase in the population's economic productiveness.

In order to diminish intemperance, the State, he declared, must provide rational amusements and recreations for the workman and peasant. This was all the more necessary because the State liquor monopoly law forbade drinking in saloons and thereby destroyed the workingman's only social club. The State, which even early in the monopoly's history was making a net profit of $250,000,000 (in addition to excise duty), was to subsidize the new amusements and recreations.

On these lines Count Witte created the guardianships of Public Sobriety and gave them such subsidies as State financial exigencies allowed. Every province had a supreme guardianship and every district of a province had a subordinate guardianship. Petrograd, Moscow, and a few other large cities had independent guardianships. The guardianships organised people's theatres, reading rooms, concerts, lectures, and holiday fetes, and later arranged for a "temperance" railroad train in which in different districts lectures against drink were delivered and diagrams and other exhibits to show the hygienic and social evils of drink were displayed. The president of the guardianships was Emperor Nicholas' kinsman, Prince Peter of Oldenburg.

No State except Russia ever conceived such a comprehensive scheme of temperance propaganda. But the guardianships had only a qualified [illegible]. In accord with the old bureaucratic system, the members were recruited mainly from official circles, backed by the church and the army. Independent social workers and experts, especially those with liberal political ideas, were excluded. At the same time, the monopoly failed from every standpoint except that of State finance. Count Witte had passed a local option law giving the peasant communes the right to petition in favor of the closing of the local State drink saloon, but in practice the State ignored the petition.

Though hampered by this, the guardianships did some good work. They created many scores of people's theatres, established libraries, disseminated anti-drink literature, and organized thousands of concerts and lectures. But Russian society held suspiciously aloof and demanded reform of the guardianships on democratic lines. The guardianships never took deep root as a social institution. Under the new regime they are likely to be abolished, and replaced by a temperance propaganda and by working class recreation work on democratic lines.

The Wrong Kind.

"There is a lot of human interest in my play, sir. A poor girl, madly in love, is forced to give up her lover to marry a rich man so she can pay back a loan made her father at 50 per cent."

"What are you talking about? That's inhuman interest."—Baltimore American.

Greatness.

"What is your idea of greatness?"

"Greatness," replied Senator Sorghum, "is the distinction a man enjoys when he gets himself so securely established that people have to tolerate him whether they like him or not."—Washington Star.

Tom—I wasn't. But how could I refuse? She sent me a bunch of forget-menots the day before.—Judge.

Comparisons.

"A man does nothing else but give up after he gets married," replied Mr. Gabb.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cupid's Advertisement.

Cupid is a busy elf.
You can see for yourself.
Yet perhaps he'll find it wise
Presently to advertise,
Somewhat in this style maybe,
"Hearts extracted painlessly."
He'll of course omit to state
That the after pain is great,
And when heart is gone, 'tis said,
Man is apt to lose his head.
Gladly would he bear some pain
If his heart he could regain.

More Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a bad case of female ills. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and I took about six bottles. It fixed me up all right. HUGH GUTHRIE GETS THE GAFF FROM ELECTORS

Member for South Wellington Roasted by Constituents for Defending War Policies of Government---Defends His Course.

Guelph, Oct. 1.— At a meeting of Wellington Liberals held at Elora the attitude of Hugh Guthrie, M.P. for South Wellington, in supporting the Government in the C.N.R. purchase came in for strong rebuke.

Dr. Angus McKinnon of Guelph, president of the South Wellington Liberal Association critized severely the policy and lack of policy of the Borden Government in its prosecution of the war. He was glad that an election was apparently in order, that the people of Canada might express the indignation which they felt regarding the stand the member for South Wellington, Mr. Hugh Guthrie, had taken in supporting such a Government and voting for the C.N.R. purchase, the Franchise bill and the closure. On the latter he had nothing but condemnation.

Mr. Hastings of Guelph, whose name has been very freely mentioned as a possible opponent to Mr. Guthrie for the nomination in South Wellington, followed Dr. McKinnon and in a few words declared his disapproval of the Borden Government, and especially of those latter acts of legislation referred to by the previous speaker and for which the member for South Wellington had voted.

Mr. Guthrie Speaks

Mr. Guthrie addressed the meeting for a period of one and a half hours, defending in that time the course he had pursued in voting with the Government on the occasions referred to by Dr. McKinnon and Mr Hastings. He had, he said done that he believed was his duty, and would stand by his convictions whether the Liberal Association of South Wellington supported him or not. He abstained from any criticism of the Borden Government, and stated that Sir Robert Borden was the only competent man in Canada to form a union Government.

The Kaiser's Policy

Speaking of his former leader, Mr. Guthrie said that he had behind him all the pro-Germans, all the slackers and dynamiters. "Laying down the policies of the two political leaders side by side, which do you think." the speaker asked, "would the Kaiser choose?"

Mr. R. L. McKinnon of Guelph, owing to the lateness of the hour, made only a brief reply to some of Mr Guthrie's assertions. He accused him of unfairness, and of making statements that were not true, also of indulging in the wretched csutom of taking refuge from fair criticism by waving the flag, and accusing all those who did not agree with him of being disloyal.

S.S. RALLY DAY AT ST. ANDREWS

SPECIAL SERVICE HELD YESTERDAY WITH CHOIR OF CHILDREN.

Yesterday was Rally Day at St. Andrew's church and the Sunday school met with the congregation at the morning service. Special addresses were given by the pastor to the children on "The Flag" and to the adults on "Parental Duties." In the evening the Rev. Dr. Lee of Millbrook spoke on "The Odor of the Ointment that filled the room," and gave an address that was much appreciated.

Rev. W. Rowand conducted annivesary services in the evening at Garden Hill. A large gathering greeted him there, the people coming from far and near. There were about twenty automobiles and over a hundred buggies around the church buildings. The choir had prepared special music. Every available seat in the church was filled and chairs were placed in the aisles. The services proved interesting and inspiring. There is no rural church problem at Garden Hill.

A number of meetings will be held in St. Andrew's this week.

On Monday at 4.15 p.m. the Willing Workers' Mission Band will hold a Rally meeting.

On Tuesday at 8 p.m. the Young Ladies' Mission Band will meet for sewing. An important meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be held at the same hour.

Prayer Service will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

On Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m. the Red Cross Society will meet for receiving and giving out work. The Managing Board will meet on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will be held in the Ladies' Parlor at 3.30 p.m. on Friday.

At the Rally Day services in St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning one of the most pleasing features was a choir of over thirty of the younger boys and girls in the school who had been trained by Choirmaster Treneer. The little people occupied the places of the regular choir and acquitted themselves admirably both in their singing and deportment. Miss Mamie Benor, a promising young vocalist, rendered a solo in excellent voice during the offertory.

The sermon of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Rowand, to the children was of especial and timely interest. He explained by means of illustrations the origin and development of the Union Jack and held up as an example worthy of emulation the saint whose memories are perpetuated on the crosses of the banner.

Addressing the parents, Mr. Rowand urged them to co-operate with the Sunday school workers by seeing to it that their children were regular in their attendance.

Election is Likely Early in November

THAT IS THE LATEST IN OTTAWA FOLLOWING RETURN OF PREMIER.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 1.— An election early in November is the expectation here, following return to city of Sir Robert Borden today

Cabinet sessions will commence immediately and it is confidently expected here that the whole country will be in the throes of an election campaign, although it is pointed out that fifteen enumerators must first be appointed to revise the lists.

MAY UPSET THE PRICE OF FLOUR

ACTION OF MILLERS IN WEST DOES NOT PLEASE MR. HANNA.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1. —The prices fixed for flour by Western Canadian millers, it is stated, may be upset by the Food Controller's Department.

Following the fixing of wheat prices for the coming year, the chief millers set standard wholesale flour quotations, with best patents at $11.20 per barrel in Winnipeg, and other prices graduated in conformity with freight rates on grain haulage.

J. B. Reynolds, chairman of the Manitoba Food Committee, sent the information to Ottawa. He received from the Food Controller's Department advice that the question of flour and mill feed prices is under consideration and that the prices set by the millers will have no effect upon whatever action it is deemed expedient to take in setting prices.

HUN SOLDIERS LONG FOR PEACE

SEND MESSAGE INTO CANADIAN LINES THAT SHOWS THEIR SENTIMENTS.

Canadian Headquarters in France (via London), Oct. 1.—A Lieutenant and patrol of nine men of a Quebec battalion gave an object lesson on the front, showing the value of careful scouting. The party went out into a haze lying in the low land between the enemy lines and our own, and at a point about 300 yards from a German trench discovered six Germans on outpost duty under the shade of some trees. The Quebecers stalked the party as carefully as if the enemy had been deep in the northern woods. The captured three and killed the others. After bringing in the prisoners the Lieutenant, feeling certain that the enemy, having heard the sound of firing, would investigate, took out the patrol again and concealed his men near the outpost. A second party of Germans appeared shortly afterwards, and in the fight that followed three of them were captured, one after sustaining severe wounds. Not one of our men was hit in this admirable bit of outpost warfare.

Anxious Note to "Dear Tommy."

The enemy has, at times, called Canadians hard names, but it is "dear Tommy" now.

German soldiers at Lens fired the following message into our lines by the use of an aerial dart:

"Dear Tommy, the German Tommy sends you hearty greetings from Lens. When will there be peace? Please reply."

That the rank and file of the enemy troops have a great longing for peace is confirmed by every prisoner captured. One of their chief grievances is the failure of their higher officers to take risks.

Even company commanders frequently depute to under officers their duties while in the trenches, and remain well back from the front.

This is so different from the relations between our own officers and men that it is freshly impressed on the minds of the Germans on every occasion when there is hand-to-hand fighting, in which our officers invariably lead their men, while the German officers seldom do so. They are not actuated by fear, and it must be assumed that they are obeying orders in thus hanging back. Very great losses of the German officer class earlier in the war may have made it necessary to conserve the enemy's leaders. Whatever is the reason for their failure to take risks as great as those to which their men are subjected the latter are deeply discontented. Hence the hearty greetings from Lens.

G.N.W. STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

OPERATORS AND LINEMEN RETURN TO WORK THIS EVENING.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 1.—After a conference with George D. Perry, Gen. Mgr. of G.N.W. Telegraph Company, this morning, representatives of strike telegraphers and linemen notified their men that strike was called off from five o'clock tonight. As stated earlier the Co. has decided to accept award of the Board of Conciliation. Mr. Perry promised there should be no discrimination when the men came back to work.

RALLY SUNDAY AT GEORGE ST.

LARGE ATTENDANCE OF PUPILS AND INTERESTING SPECIAL SERVICES.

The annual rally of the George street Sunday school was held yesterday at three o'clock. In spite of the inclement weather there was a splendid attendance of scholars, officers, teachers and ministers, numbering 627, which makes a new record in the history of the school. The programme, which was in charge of the Superintendent, Mr. C. C. Parsons, was of such an interesting character that the attention of the children was gained and held throughout.

Rev. A. J. Thomas gave a delightful and instructive object talk on the lead pencils, from which he drew some very helpful suggestions for the moulding of the young lives. To the two youngest members of the beginners' department, Mr. Thomas presented two of the many pencils which he had used in his talk.

The splendid music of the orchestra under the direction of Mr. W. H. Cunningham, added greatly to the service and the solo by Miss Fern Johnston, a younger member of the school, was also much enjoyed.

During the session the members of Miss McKay's class presented a cheque for one hundred dollars towards the building fund. This is a most encouraging evidence of the interest of the scholars in the erection of a new Sunday school.

The management committee hopes that this record attendance may continue, and as the present facilities are inadequate, a new and an up-to-date school will be the result.

Loyal Irishmen Attack Plotters

New York, Oct. 1.—The Irish-American League of which Dr. Joseph P. Brennan is president, and which numbers among its members some of the best known American citizens of Irish birth or ancestry, gave out last night the report of a meeting at which resolutions were adopted condemning the efforts of certain individuals to appeal to Irish sentiment "by clothing their insidious activities with the green flag."

Dr. Brennan said last night that the meeting was called to "protest against the misleading activities of the 'professional' Irishmen in the United States, who are comparatively few in number but very noisy."

Labor Party Names its Candidates

Toronto, Oct. 1. — The Greater Toronto Labor Party held an enthusiastic meeting in the Labor Temple yesterday afternoon, when candidates were nominated for the forthcoming Federal election, seven candidates being named. The meeting was of a strictly private nature, the press being rigidly excluded, but, according to a statement handed out following the meeting the following were the candidates nominated to represent labor at the elections: J. H. Ballantyne, the newly appointed secretary, for East York; D. A. Carey, South Toronto; J. Watt, Parkdale; J. T. Gunn, Centre Toronto; James Richards, North Toronto; John Vick, 3rd vice-president, East Toronto, and Walter Brown, first vice-president of the party and president of the trades and labor council, West Toronto.

Beirut Harbor Raided By British Aircraft

London, Oct. 1.—A British official statement on aerial operations says:

"Naval aircraft made a bombing raid Thursday on storehouses, etc., on the southwestern side of Beirut harbor (Syria). Many direct hits were observed and fires were started. It was observed that the damage caused to a shed as the result of the August raid was in the course of repair. All our machines returned in safety. The storehouses on the mole were afterwards shelled by a cruiser and set afire."

GERMAN WOMEN CRY FOR PEACE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 1. - A demonstration against the German Government on Saturday at Essen, the home of the Krupp works, in consequence of the decision of Chancellor Michaelis not to state Germany's peace terms, is reported in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam. Women formed the majority of the demonstrators breaking the windows of the town hall and shouting demands for more food, peace and for the return of their men folk. The police and military were called out to quell the riot. The women were injured and several were arrested. The whole of Essen is reported to be in a state of ferment.

Teaching French to English Teachers

WORK OF PROTEST COMMITTEE PROGRESSING WITH GOOD RESULTS.

Quebec, Oct. 1.— Interesting data on what the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction is doing to promote the better training of teachers, and also the knowledge of French in English schools throughout the Province were given at the regular meeting of the committee sitting at the Parliament Buildings.

It was demonstrated that the special summer course given aspirant teachers graduating had proved successful.

An interesting report on teaching of French to teachers in English schools was also submitted. It showed that the school for French established in Montreal by the Protestant Committee has had twenty-six teachers attending. The report also said that, in all, 160 pupils attended the school in Montreal where teachers are prepared and examined to teach in English schools.

RAISES PAY OF HER DEFENDERS

BRITAIN INCREASES WAGES OF HER SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

London, Oct. 1. The Cabinet has increased the army and navy pay, although the increases are small compared with the American and colonial standards. Proficiency pay at the rate of from three to six pence a day will be payable after six months of service, instead of two years, as under the present army rule. There is also an increase of a penny a day for each year of war service. The present compulsory allotment of six pence daily for privates and ten pence for sergeants is abolished.

The navy increase is about the same rate of pay, and the allowances to the army and navy now amount to £225,000,000 yearly. The increases involve £50,000,000 for the first year.

Miss Adele Pankhurst Married at Melbourne

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Oct 1.—The marriage yesterday of Adele Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English suffragette leader to a seaman named Walsh, is reported in a Reuter despath from Melbourn. Miss Pankhurst has been in Australia for several months and has taken a prominent part in agitation against conscription having figured in a number of riots which resulted.

HEAVY RUSH TO MEDICAL BOARD

YOUNG MEN IN MONTREAL ARE ANXIOUS FOR PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—So great is the rush of men of military age here to be examined by the medical board for the army that the headquarters on Union avenue have been found quite insufficient to accommodate the crowds, and a second board will begin in the Craig street armories to lieve the pressure. Other boards will be established when the Government sends out the awaited proclamation with reference to the examinations.

The percentage of French-Canadians applying for medical examination is increasing from day to day, and it is expected that when there is an examining board in the east end of the city there will be a steady stream of French-speaking citizens to be examined.

"Hurry up and Send Drafted Men Over"

Windsor, Oct. 1.—"Hurry up and send some drafted men over; we need them badly," is the substance of a letter received here by Detective Sergeant Wm. Reid from Sergeant Duncan McNabb, a former member of the Windsor police force, now serving in France. The writer, who served in the South African war, declares confidently that "Fritz is getting weaker, and I believe this old war is surely coming to a close. Deserters are coming into our lines every day."

THOMAS ASHE IS LAID AT REST

THOUSANDS FOLLOW REMAINS OF SINN FEIN LEADER TO CEMETERY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, Oct. 1.—The funeral procession which followed the body of Thomas Ashe, the Sinn Fein leader who died in prison, from the City Hall to Glasnevin cemetery yesterday was extremely large exceeding in number even that of the Parnel funeral in 1891. The Irish volunteers were there in uniform, and carried hurley sticks, although these were offenses against the recent military regulations. There was also a firing party at the grave side.

The Government authorities did not interfere with the demonstration which was most impressive. The embittered feeling over the death of Ashe was much allayed by a change in the policy of the treatment of prisoners under the defence of the Realm Act. The prisoners are now allowed to associate together and are separate from the ordinary criminals. They are also allowed to receive food from the outside. The hunger strike was abandoned when the Lord Mayor carried the decision of the Government to the prisoners.

Dr. Lee is Heard At St. Andrews

MILLBROOK PASTOR PREACHED ELOQUENT SERMON ON RELIGIOUS DUTY.

Rev. Dr. W. D. Lee of Millbrook, one of the leading clergymen of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and one of the most energetic advocates of church union, preached in St. Andrew's Church last night, as Rev. Mr. Rowand was preaching the anniversary services at Garden Hill. Dr. Lee chose as his text that incident in the life of the Saviour when he was entertained by the Bethany family and one of the sisters, Mary, poured upon His feet precious ointment, the odor of which filled the whole house. It was an eloquent sermon, beautiful thoughts being gracefully expressed.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Lee referred to the present campaign for the conservation of food, to the women who never practise economy, themselves urging it upon others, women who, in silks and finery, preach thrift while they themselves are the exponents of waste. Such people he described as so busy interfering in the business of others that they have no time to attend to their own business.

The boys and girls of Alexandra school, Lindsay, are to be commended for a very thoughtful and commendable act. KITCHENER STILL ALIVE?

Lloyds Underwrite a £10,000 Risk at Premium of 5s. Per Cent.

The "Lord-Kitchener-is-still alive" idea had a remarkable development in London a fortnight ago.

Messrs. A. Lettin, Percival and Co., marine and general insurance agents, of Liverpool, received an inquiry for rate from Lloyd's underwriters to cover the following:

"That Lord Kitchener was alive on August 31, 1917, the onus of proof to be on the assured and to be furnished within three months of peace being signed."

Messrs. Percival state that they have sent an order to their London brokers to place £10,000 at 5s. per cent., the rate which had been quoted them.

Mrs. Parker, Lord Kitchener's sister, it will be remembered, recently expressed her opinion that Lord Kitchener is alive.—

CITY'S ASSESSMENT SHOWS TOTAL INCREASE OF $402,000

Population is 20,426 Against 19,816 Last Year, an Advance of 613—593 Dogs in Town, an Increase of 72 Over the Number Last Year.

Assessment Commissioner Henry has completed his assessment for this year and the following is a tabulated statement of the property values in this city:

ASSESSMENT RECAPITULATIONS

	1916	1917
Number of taxable persons	5,881	5,941
Aggregate number of acres showing extent of property	26,212	[illegible]

This Year and Last.

The figures furnished by City Assessor Henry show that there has been an increase of $398,215 in the assessed value of property over that of last year. The Court of Revision reduced last year's figure to a sum $402,000 less than the asspasor's this year's figures. These, too, are likely to be reduced by the Court of Revision.

Last year the $45,000 business assessment on the hotels was included in the assessment last year, although this tax was not collected.

This year the Quaker Oats Company's assessment is $245.740 less than it was in 1916 on account of the fire. In spite of these reductions the assessed value of property in the city has materially increased, so that a rise in values all along the line is indicated.

House property has been raised, although perhaps in a lesser proportion than rents have been boosted. Even at that, the man who lives in rented premises seems to be in better case than the owners, as no rented property is yielding anything like an adequate return on the investment. House owners would welcome the opportunity to sell out and put their money in war bonds.

The necessity for more houses to accommodate the growing population of the city is still felt, but no capitalist is disposed to put up residences for renting purposes. The Board of Trade and the Greater Peterborough Association still have that serious problem on their hands.

The various increases over the figures of last year are as follows:

Last year the assessed value of taxable property was $10,457,760. This year it is $10,704,995, an increase of $247,235.

In 1916 the business tax was $878,295. This year it is $911,550, an increase of $33,255.

The total amount of incomes taxed last year was $232,400. This year it is $350,125, an increase of $117,725.

This makes the total increase $398,215 over the assessor's figures of last year, or $402,000, after the Court of Revision had passed on them. Reductions in the aggregate are likely this year, too.

EAT MUSHROOMS AND SAVE FOOD

FUNGI SAID TO BE AS NUTRITIOUS AS ANY KIND OF VEGETABLE.

The controversy over the high cost of living still wages fast and furious. The recent manifesto of the Food Controller makes it clear that his idea of food control does not include the fixing of prices for the necessities of life. Conservation is the watchword of his department. Conservation means the elimination of waste. And in no particular line of foodstuffs is there so much waste as at present exists in regard to mushrooms.

It is claimed on behalf of the mushroom enthusiasts that edible fungi are as nutritious as other vegetables and as simple to cook. They are attractive to the taste of most people and can be dried or packed for winter use. Every pound of wild mushrooms used saves a pound of other foodstuffs. They grow rapidly and crop after crop can be picked from the same spot. They are available from May to November. They can be found in the city or country, gardn, field or forest. Gathering them gives pleasure to young and old. Even aged- invalids able to walk can gather them and add to their health and entertainment by so doing.

But it is necessary before setting out on a quest for specimens to become familiar with the deadly Amanita with its cup at the base, white gills and pendulous veil.

RACES IN CANADIAN WEST

Census Figures Tell of Aliens, French and British Origin

Ottawa, Oct. 1.— The race origin of the people of the three Prairie Provinces is dealt with in a bulletin issued by the Census of June 1, 1916, when persons of British origin constituted 57.76 per cent. in Manitoba, 54.5 per cent. in Saskatchewan, and 60.1 per cent. in Alberta.

The French race possessed 6.1 per cent. of the population of Manitoba and about 5 per cent. of that of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

	German.	Austro-Hungary.
Manitoba	4.67	8.19
Saskatchewan	11.9	9.15
Alberta	6.85	6.37

REAL INDIANS IN "THE SKY PILOT"

There are real Indians in "The Sky Pilot," the dramatization of Ralph Connor's popular stories, "Black Rock' and "The Sky Pilot," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Monday, Oct. 8, for two performances. The part of the Indian man is played by a full-breed Iroquois, Chief Deer, that of the Indian maiden Ponka is taken by a girl who has Indian antecedents.

Inasmuch as Ralph Connor himself was born in the Indian lands of Canada, in the wilderness settlement of Glengarry, and was brought up among the Ottawas, it is right in line with the spirit and local color of the play that a full-blooded aborgine should interpret this character.

The part of the Indian maid is portrayed by Annette Andre' and other players in the cast are Brandon Tynan as The Pilot, Regina Wallace as Gwen, Ernest Anderson as Broncho Bill, Harry D. Southard as Idaho Jack, Eddie Heran as Hi Kendall, Louis Leon Hall as The Duke, Eliza Frederic as Mrs. Mavor and Edwin Caldwell as Latour.

COAL AT $12.50 IN WINNIPEG.

Price Will Likely Remain Where It Is, Says Fuel Controller.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—The price of hard coal in Winnipeg is likely to remain at $12.50 per ton, according to a statement made by C. A. Magrath, Federal fuel controller. Mr. Magrath says that the dealers have presented statements to him which appear to bear out their contention that the $12.50 price is justifiable. However, Mr. Magrath has not come to a final decision and he expects to receive some further statements which he has asked for before leaving for Ottawa.

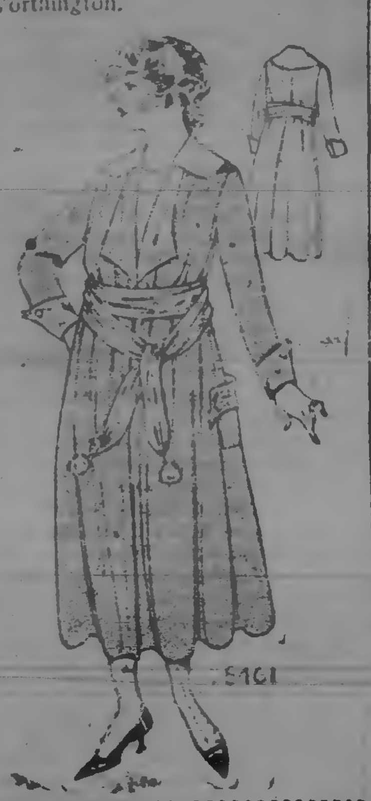
MISSES' DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.



If you are undecided as to what style will be correct for some time to come you may rest assured that you will not go far wrong in selecting model No. 8161. It has the long revers which are a new style feature and an inset vest of material to match the rounded collar. The waist is gathered at the shoulders and gathered at the waist line. A three gored skirt is gathered at the regulation waist line, and a soft sash of silk covers the join, giving the appearance of a one piece dress. The long, close fitting sleeves are finished with link cuffs, which flare at the top.

The pattern is cut in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Width at the lower edge of skirt is 2⅝ yards. The 16 year size requires 4¼ yards of 36 inch material, with ⅝ yard 27 inch crepe for collar and vest and 3 yards 18 inch silk.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

Paris Restaurant in Wartime.

We might have dined better and more cheaply elsewhere. But there was an air of vanished splendor, of faded magnificence, about the place, which, in the capital of a warring nation, appealed to both of us. Every evening the tables were laid with spotless linen and shining silver. The wine-glasses caught the light from the tarnished chandeliers in little points of color. At the dinner-hour, a half-dozen ancient serving-men silently took their places about the room. There was not a sound to be heard except the occasional far-off honk of a motor or the subdued clatter of dishes from the kitchens. The serving-men, even the tables and empty chairs, seemed to be listening, to be waiting for the guests who never came. Rarely were there more than a dozen dinersout during the course of an evening. There was something mysterious in these elaborate preparations, and something rather fine about them as well; but one thought, not without a touch of sadness, of the old days when there had been laughter and lights and music, sparkling wines, and brilliant talk, and how those merrymakers had gone, many of them, long ago to the wars.—James N. Hall, in The Atlantic.

Magnetic Kerensky.

All those who have seen Kerensky with the armies declare that it is wonderful what he is able to do with the men by his own strong faith in Russia and the revolution. A Finnish soldier tells of an experience he had on the eve of the battle between Brzezany and Pinsk. "The Minister of War," he says, "came into our trench the evening before the battle. He shook hands with us, and exhorted us to do our duty. He had on the same uniform as ourselves, with nothing to distinguish him, except a red silk scarf, which he wore over the shoulder. The next morning, at 5 o'clock, the first infantry attack was made, and Kerensky was one of the first to leave the shelter of the trench, armed with a revolver. It was a marvel that he escaped scatheless. We would follow that man to the end of the world."

Expert Poultry Opinion.

Senator Money of Mississippi asked an old negro what breed of chickens he considered best, and he replied:

"All kinds has merits. De w'ite ones is de easiest to find, but de black ones is de easiest to hide after you gits 'em."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Happened to Have Them.

A young wife being 2 pence short in paying a bill called downstairs to the cook:

"Maggie, have you got a couple of coppers downstairs?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied Maggie. "They are cousins of mine."—London Tit-Bits.

Strangers.

"Are you able to make both ends meet?"

"I should say not. It's been so long since the cost of living has met my salary that if they should come together now they'd meet as strangers."—Detroit Free Press.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations

The sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be, a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section as pre-emption. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Reside six months in each of three years after earning homestead patent and cultivate 50 acres extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homestead patent on certain conditions.

A settler after obtaining homestead patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Holders of entries may count time of employment as farm laborers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at Local Agent's Office (but not Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

There is little to choose between Felsch of the Sox and Kauff of the Giants. They have batted within half a dozen points of each other all season. Each is good for many extra-base hits over a season's play. Felsch is probably the better fielder, but Kauff outclasses him on the bases.

Owing to the shortage of paper the new London telephone directory will not be published before January next.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism, like Charity, should begin at home. The man who is willing at any time to protect his country against foreign foes, should be willing AT ALL TIMES to protect his Family against such common foes as Poverty, Privation and Suffering.

A Life Insurance Company cannot take the place of a Husband

BUT——

It can preserve the family from want.
It can lighten their load of care.
It can build a barrier against adversity.
It can strengthen the foundation of the home.
It can certify to a man's affectionate regard for his family.
It can place his widow beyond the need of marrying for support.
It can add to a man's years by freeing him from anxiety.
It can enhance the respect and esteem of the public and of his wife and children for him.

Complete and absolute Family protection can be had by your taking a policy in THE SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, THE LEADING CANADIAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

MAPPING A PLAN OF ATTACK

The Haigs' Hindenburgs, Petains and Cadornas of the baseball world are holding their war councils tonight. Both "Napoleon" McGraw of the National army and General Rowland, leader of the American forces, are conferring with their lieutenants, mapping out the strategic plan of campaign.

Somewhere in the United States "Napoleon" and his henchmen were discussing the offensive which they much launch nine days hence.

"Hark ye, my men," said the Giants' leader. "What must be done to combat this 'shine' ball of the enemy?"

"Ha, easy!" chirped one of the minions. "Just throw a smoke screen over the field. Dost thou not know nothing can shine through this?"

"Silence knave," thundered the mighty one. "This is no time for frivolity. Knowest thou not that this world's series guy is some tough nut to crack? Once I led my gallant men to a glorious victory and throttled him. Thrice he came back and launched terrific counter-attacks. And thrice he hurled my forces back to an inglorious retreat."

McGraw's "Blood and Iron"

The call of the sentry silenced further discussion. "Hawkshaw," the mysterious friend of the great National leader, was brought into the conclave.

"Hawkshaw," commanded the veteran general, "see that the gum shoe aritists make their way into the enemy territory, learn his plans and report to me one week hence. I command you not to fail. On your way!"

Somewhere else in the United States General Rowland and his chiefs of staff are making their plans to repel the invading host. The leader had before him a mass of reports from his famous "Sherlocker" troop. They told him of the famous port-side rapid-fire delivery of the National bomb heavers. They told him of the famous artillerists of the enemy.

"Fellow cohorts," said the leader, "canse anyone tell me how we can smother this combined assault—?"

"Use liquid fire," interrupted one of the "colorless hose brigade."

The stern leader with a frappe glance silenced the Mark Twain of the staff.

"We must devise some plan to repeal this band," the leader continued. "Already they are at our breastworks. We are strongly entrenched, but the enemy must not gain a foothold in our first line."

The general and his strategic board then drew up their plans for the defensive campaign. The general summoned Harold Highflyer.

"Go thee hence," he commanded "and high up in the clouds in the skyoplane make extended observations of the enemy forces. Let nothing escape thy keen eyes, lest the enemy in a surprise attack catch us napping. Above all observe the method of those port flingers—Ferdie, Slim and Rube."

And the sentinels outside the conclaves made the silent night ring with their cries:

"All is well."

A traveller who believed himself to be the sole survivor of a shipwreck upon a cannibal isle, hid for three days in terror of his life. Driven out by hunger, he discovered a thin whisp of smoke rising from a clump of bushes inland, and crawled carefully to study the type of savages about it. Just as he reached the clump he heard a voice say:

"Why in thunder did you play that card?"

He dropped on his knees and devoutly raising his hands, cried:

"Thank God, they are Christians."

DECIDE HOCKEY QUESTION.

Annual Meeting Will Consider Whether Professional Games Will Be Held.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—The annual meeting of the National Hockey Association was begun Saturday at the Windsor Hotel, when the question of whether professional hockey will be played this season or not will be decided. The directors of the N.H.A. have a problem to face and may put it off until a later date through an adjournment of the meeting, which is not unlikely.

What will be done with the Toronto franchise is also to be considered at the meeting. The majority of the directors are not anxious to have Toronto in again under the same management, and it is a question if a new promoter can be found to take over the club with such obstacles in the way as appear to be.

The financial statement will not be as good this season as a year ago, only one or two the clubs making anything more than expenses. It is hardly likely that a schedule the same as a year ago divided into two sections will be tried out again, as it was found to be a failure and detracted greatly from the interest in the game.

MAURICE D. LYNCH

Maurice D. Lynch, a Belleville Old Boy, well-known author and business man, and brother of Mrs. A. O'Loughlin, Lindsay, has passed away. Deceased's sister is in receipt of a brief message from Brooklyn, N.Y., conveying the sad information.

Maurice D. Lynch was the son of the late P. P. Lynch, a Dublin University man of fine arts, who came to this city and for a term of years taught classes in the Separate School Five sisters, three of them resident in this city, survive. Four brothers preceded him to the tomb.—William, Philip, John and Thomas.

After graduating from the High School in Belleville, Mr. Lynch, then a bright, active boy in his teens, took a position in the local offices of the Grand Trunk and for a considerable time discharged the duties of ticket seller at the station.

He resigned his position with the Grand Trunk to follow the call of ambition to Chicago, where so many of Belleville's boys had preceded him. Here he served for a time in the department store of the John M. Smyth Co., but later associated himself with the world's greatest mail order house Sears, Roebuch & Co. He rapidly rose in the estimation of this company and was made manager of the Claims Department. Later he became a member of the board of managers.

About five years ago, he showed symptoms of nervous breakdown and his company induced hi mto take a trip to Europe at their expense in the hope that his health would be restored. This hope to some extent was realized and he continued in his work until last fall when he was compelled to take another holiday from his arduous duties.

Quite recently he severed his connection with Sears Roebuch & Co., to take an even more important position with the Charles William Storrs Company, of New York. He left Chicago to reside in Brooklyn on August 15th last and here his death occurred.

JUDGE HUYCKE PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE LATE C. R. D. BOOTH

Mourns the Loss of a Friend Who Will be Missed Throughout the County Generally—Always Stood for Law and Order.

His Honor Judge Huycke immediately after the opening of the County Court sittings this morning made the following reference to the death of the late Mr. Booth:

Before taking up this case Gentlemen there is a matter that I desire to speak of, and I think I should speak of. I have reference to the death of a very prominent and well known gentleman in the County of Peterborough. Had it not been for this sittings of the Court I think I would have tried to go to the funeral. I refer to the late Mr. Charles R. D. Booth, a police magistrate for the northern part of this County, the Clerk of the Division Court of that district at Apsley end the Municipal Clerk of the Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther.

His death follows very closely upon the death of another old gentleman out there, Mr. William Gallon, and these two gentlemen ever since I came to the County of Peterborough have stood out very prominently in their devotion to their duty, their country and their locality. Mr. Booth's death will create a vacancy that I anticipate will be very hard to fill. He always stood for law and order and loyalty, civilization and Christianity. He was the English gentleman in the best sense of the word. I mourn his death very much. I mourn his loss as a friend because to me he has been a friend ever since I came to this County. I found him always ready to do his duty in every way in connection with his public offices.

He has, too, been an outstanding member of the County Council in past years. Their deaths, particularly this one, reminds us not only are the youngest and best laying down their lives for their country, but the older ones are departing as well. Mr. Booth must have been very near the Scriptural limit of four score years. Not only will he be missed throughout his locality, but throughout the County generally. I mourn his loss as a friend and desire to pay my sincere tribute of respect to his splendid character, his ever constant devotion to duty and his loyalty to friends.

CATTLE THEFT AT BUCKHORN

TWO ANIMALS SHOT, ONE FOUND DEAD IN A BUSH—HIDE OF ANOTHER FOUND.

In regard to reports of cattle stealing in the neighborhood of Buckhorn two weeks ago, it appears that but one animal only was got away with.

Mr. Thomas Brown, the drover, who lives in South City, has a ranch north of Buckhorn and at the time in question he missed two steers. He immediately began search for the animals, one of which he found dead in a bush, where it had, after having been shot, sought cover and died. The hide of the other animal he subsequently discovered buried in a nearby field. It had also evidently been shot, and the carcass made away with.

A week ago a provincial detective from Toronto was detailed to investigate the matter, but without effect. He has returned home.

CANDIDATES ALL TOGETHER AT CLOSE OF FIRST PERIOD

Rush of Subscriptions May Cause Delays---Fifty Dollars in Gold to be Given as Special Prize Will be Keenly Contested For---The Second Period Ends Week From Saturday Night.

The votes to the credit of the different contestants in The Review's great voting contest appeared yesterday and again today and contains many surprises. Many of those who were not considered dangerons a week ago now prove to be real contenders.

It is a safe assumption that none of the ladies or gentlemen in the contest are holding back subscriptions at this time. There was some "holding back" previous to Saturday night but any subscriptions carried over Sept. 29 will, of course, earn votes according to the second period schedule.

Success of the Campaign.

The staff of the contest department has been so busy preparing the vote standing and adding new subscribers to the lists that time will not admit of mentioning the candidates. But it is not necessary to go into details. The votes to the credit of the various contestants speaks volumes for them. These votes, taken together, also prove the success of the contest from The Review's viewpoint. It was impossible to determine, before the close of the first period, just where the best work was being done, or what it would amount to in the aggregate. The campaign has progressed far enough now, however, to make certain that the public and the candidates appreciate the magnitude of the undertaking and the enterprize which devised it.

Rush May Cause Delays.

The rush of subscriptions on the closing days of the first period was much greater than anticipated and a little delay will necessarily occur in starting the new subscriptions. However, the new orders will be added just as fast as possible and in the meantime, the candidates are requested to ask subscribers to be patient and not to imagine subscriptions have not been received just because the paper is not started immediately. Candidates will please notify the office of any subscribers whose papers have not been started by Thursday of this week.

The Special Prize.

Have you made up your mind to win the special Fifty Dollar prize. Someone will win it. And it might as well be YOU. How about it. In winning it you will show your friends that you deserve their support and it will also be satisfying to you to know that you are making such splendid progress towards winning the capital prize car.

REJECTIONS BY MEDICAL BOARD NUMBER 13 OUT OF 85 EXAMINED

Work of Doctors Proceeding Briskly at Armories and Applicants Are Not Lacking at Every Session---C.G.E. Men Present Themselves in Squads of Ten---Percentage of Rejections Less Than 16.

Last night the number of men presenting themselves for examination by the Medical Board at the Armouries fell below the average, but seven tests being made, which resulted as follows: A categary three, B. one, C. two, E. one. Thus at this session, but one rejection from seven applicants was made.

Fourteen This Morning

Fourteen men passed through the doctors' hands this morning—mostly C.G.E. men—into the following categaries: A. seven, B. one, C. four and E. two. This examination, with two rejections out of 14 applicants, shows the same percentage of rejections as at last night's session when one out of seven was turned down as totally unfit for any service.

Men From C. G. E.

Men from the C. G. E. are presenting themselves regularly at each morning and afternoon sitting, and they take precedence over others, to enable an early return to work. The company is not allowing their absence for examination to affect the men's bonus.

85 Examined, 13 Rejected

The total number examined at the armouries from Monday morning at 10 o'clock till today at noon is 85 from which 13 will not come under the military act in any capacity whatever.

Yesterday's Session

Yesterday afternoon, between the hours of three and five, 13 men passed through the hands of Drs. Cameron, Eastwood and Greer at the Armouries, of these nine were C. G. E. men. The rating of the men, however, as a unit was not as high as that of the 38 examined on Monday, when, but five were rejected, for five of yesterday afternoon's 13 applicants were classed as unfit. The medical certificates for the latter reads as follows: Categary A. 6, B. 1, C. 1, E. 5

Military Officers

Nothing has yet been heard from Ottawa in regard to the standing of militia officers under the Military Service Act. Consequently in the absence of notification to the contrary they must consider themselves ranked as civilians, and subject to a similar medical examination.

No Private Examination

Many doctors through the country, especially in rural districts, having enquired at Ottawa if their certificate of unfitness for service would be taken at face value, the authorities have passed the final word that all must face a Medical Board. This will be a relief to many family physicians, who would not care to be embarrassed by responsibility under the act for the standing of their patients' sons. It should now be thoroughly understood that the official medical board and that organization only can offer an acceptable certificate of unfitness.

HIS SERVICES APPRECIATED

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education last night the following resolution was moved by Mr. John Crane, seconded by Mr. W. H. Hill, and adopted unanimously by a standing vote:

"Since the last meeting of this Board, Peterborough has lost a valued citizen and this Board its oldest member in the person of Dr. George Burnham.

"For over thirty-seven years Dr. Burnham sat continuously on our School Board. He was constant in attendance at its meetings, occupying for many years the chairmanship, and always he rendered his best and most faithful service. Unassuming and modest, pleasant in intercourse, and faithful in the discharge of duty, he secured the respect of all, and continued to work with his colleagues for the maintenance of the high standing that our Collegiate Institute and the six splendid public schools of the city have attained.

"We thoroughly appreciate the long and valued service Dr. Burnham rendered to our city, and, in testimony thereof, direct that this resolution be inscribed in the minutes of the Board of Education, to be forever a lasting memorial of our appreciation and expression of our sorrow at losing so good a man, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to his relatives.'

London, Oct. 3.—Artillery activity continued on both sides during the night in the region east of Ypres, says today's war office statement. Otherwise there is nothing to report.

On the Verdun Front.

Paris, Oct. 3. — Violent artillery fighting continues on the Verdun front. No important infantry operations occurred in the night. The official statement follows:

East of Rheims our artillery effectively shelled the German batteries and broke up preparations in enemy trenches for an attack. West of Navarine the French detachment penetrated the enemy lines and blew up several shelters, bringing back prisoners. On the Verdun front the night was marked by violent artillery fighting on both banks of the Meuse, particularly in the region north of Hill 344 where spirited patrol engagements also occurred. An incursion into the enemy lines in the region of Casque gave us good results. Everywhere else the night was quiet.

TO RETALIATE WITH INTEREST FOR AIR RAIDS

Premier George Promises Londoners That Germany Will Be Bombed.

"WE'LL GIVE IT TO THEM SOON"

French Continue Reprisals in Air And Drop Explosives on Baden.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 3.—A crowd of poor people in the southwest district of London yesterday appealed to Premier Lloyd George, says the Daily Mail, for reprisals against Germany for the air raids on London. The Premier shouted to the crowd: "We will give it all back to them and we will give it to them soon. We shall bomb Germany with compound interest."

The crowd cheered the promise of the Premier widely. Lloyd George had just completed a tour of the area damaged in the raids with the French commander of the home forces.

French Bomb Baden

Paris, Oct. 3.—Continuing their reprisals for the attacks of German airmen on French cities, French aviators last night dropped bombs on German town of Baden, the war office announces. The official statement follows in reprisal for the bombardment of Bar Le Duc, two of our aviators dropped several bombs on the town of Baden. On the night of October 1-2 and during the day of October 2 our aviators bombarded the railway station at Fribourg, factories at Volkelgen and Hoftenbach and railway stations, at Brieulles, Longuyon, Metz-Moippy, Arnava, Mezieres Les Metz, Thionville and Sarrebourg. In the course of these various expeditions projectil to the amount of 15,400 pounds were dropped.

SIR WILFRID'S RETIREMENT IS THOUGHT CERTAIN AT OTTAWA

Ill Health Will be Given as Reason for Giving up the Leadership—Graham, Carvell and Sifton Spoken of as his Successors.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Although Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Private Secretary as well as leading Liberals today deny the rumors of the retirement of the venerable Liberal leader at an early date the impression is growing here that he must shortly step out owing to ill health. Leading members of the oppositions, from nearly all provinces of the Dominion are here today and there were several conferences regarding which nothing was given out for publication. This afternoon Sir Wilfrid with some of his close political friends, leaves for Montreal where more conferences will take place.

Hon. George Graham, F. D. Carvell and Hon. Arthur Sifton are named prominently as successor to Sir Wilfrid.

The Cabinet Council meets this afternoon and it is expected formal notice of dissolution will be given tonight or tomorrow morning.

KERENSKY WINS OUT IN CONGRESS

RADICAL ELEMENT ARE OUT-VOTED IN TEST OF STRENGTH TODAY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Petrograd, Oct. 3.—It was officially announced today by the Provisional Government that the revolt which broke out on Saturday at Tambov, three hundred miles southeast of Moscow, has been suppressed.

The Democratic congress was called at the instance of Petrograd soldiers' and workmen's council in which the extremists had gained predominence and the expressed expectations of Bolsheviki were that this body as representative of the proletariat of all Russia would set up a government in which representatives of the propertied classes would be excluded. Premier Kerensky while not recognising Congress as a truly representative body appeared before it and made a declaration of policy defending the Provisional Government's course/and virtually throwing a challenge to the radicals.

Reports of the recent proceedings of Congress have been rather meagre but the vote today indicates that the more conservative elements have the upper hand. It implies a triumph, for the government which desires the formation of a coalition cabinet and is a blow to radicals whose control of the Congress was at one time thought to be almost foregone conclusions.

HEAR THE NEW PIANO.

Mr. B. H. Britton, the genial manager of Heintsman Hall, extends a cordial invitation to the candidates in The Review's great contest and their friends to a musical demonstration of the splendid Heintsman & Co. Piano to be given to some very fortunate person on October 27. Mr. Britton will give a demonstration of the prize piano, also a demonstration of his splendid player pianos, on Thursday and Friday evenings. Everyone is invited. Hear the world-famed instruments, hear the newest in music — then help your favorite win.

MR. B. F. ACKERMAN GOES BACK TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Unanimously Elected by His Former Colleagues to Fill Vacancy Caused by Death of Dr. Burnham.

The members of the Board of Education last night in regular session unanimously elected Mr. B. F. Ackerman to fill the vacancy on the Board caused by the death of Dr. George Burnham. The following was the resolution, moved by John Carne and seconded by Mr. Fowler.

Whereas, owing to the death of Dr. George Burnham, it is necessary that some other duly qualified person should be elected by this Board in his place.

Therefore be it resolved that Mr. B. F. Ackerman be hereby elected a member of this Board in place of the late Dr. Geo. Burnham and to hold office for the remainder of the term for which the said, the late Dr. Geo. Burnham, was elected.

COLLECTIONS FOR BRITISH RED CROSS MADE ON OCTOBER 18th

At Least $5000 Should be Raised in This City—Municipal Grant Next Winter.

October 18th is Trafalgar Day, when collections are to be taken up in Canada generally for the British Red Cross, an institution which calls for generous support from all classes of citizens within the red belt of the British Empire. The noble, self-sacrificing work of this humane organization is well-known and beyond praise, and Peterborough should fall in line with other Ontario communities, and organize for the campaign, which is already under way in Toronto.

Dr. A. H. Abbat, secretary of the Toronto organization of resources committee, has undertaken to manage the campaign in Ontario, and is undoubtedly expecting to hear from Peterborough again this year. Were the different patriotic societies, clubs, and Board of Trade in this city to actively engage in a British Red Cross funds campaign, a substantial sum should be collected on Trafalgar Day. But no time is to be lost in this connection.

The City Council's sympathies are with the British Red Cross, and while they have no appropriation for contribution to its needs this year, assurance will be forwarded that a substantial municipal grant may be expected early in 1918.

Last year Toronto gave to the British Red Cross $700,000, Hamilton has promised to reach the $100,000 goal this year. It is too much to expect $5000 in voluntary subscriptions with another $5000 from next year's council, voted at the January session.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1917

A BASELESS CHARGE.

According to the Liberal Monthly, published at Ottawa under the supervision of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, "the unpalatable truth is forced upon the Conservative party throughout the country that their leaders have been only hoaxing them respecting the desire of the party to assist the boys in the trenches, and that the dominant though hidden motive has been the retention of power under false pretences." Is not this a rather cruel reflection upon the twenty-six Liberals who voted for the Military Service Bill? Were they also trying to hoax the boys in the trenches? If not, what reason is there to charge that the Conservatives were influenced by so unworthy a motive for their war measures?—Hamilton Herald.

TO PREVENT FIRES.

FIRE CHIEF GRANGE has asked all householders to clean up their premises and help to prevent fires by removing all combustible rubbish. It should hardly be necessary for the Fire Chief to do this. Property owners and tenants alike should be sufficiently interested in this matter to co-operate without official urging. But the necessity for the appeal does exist, and Chief Grange is simply discharging his duty when he issues it.

All fires, except those caused by lightning can be directly traced to unadulterated carelessness. Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern that had been stupidly left in her stall, and Chicago was laid in ashes. A young man, irresponsible as he is careless, throws the lighted stub of his cigarette in a pile of papers and rubbish, and the record reads: "Loss will amount to thousands of dollars, partially covered by insurance." Matches left exposed on a shelf tempt the predatory mouse and the result is a conflagration. Moral: Keep all matches in a metal box.

These are only a few of the causes of "accidental" fires. There is no excuse for any of them. There may be such a thing as spontaneous combustion, but that is a moot question that has not yet been satisfactorily settled, any more than is the tragic death of Dickens' rag and bottle dealer conceded by the scientists.

MR. ACKERMAN SELECTED.

MR. B. F. ACKERMAN has been elected by his former colleagues on the Board of Education to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Burnham. His election is a compliment to Mr. Ackerman and a recognition of the faithful and efficient service that he rendered as a member of the Board for so many years. He was defeated, it is true, at the last election, but it was by a narrow margin, and his election would have been assured if he had made any effort. All that he did was to barely announce his candidacy and leave it to the people. Other candidates in the field worked for success and carried the day.

Mr. Acekrman has helped to build up the school system in Peterborough. His services have been invaluable, especially in the location and erection of new schools. The King Edward School was one of his favorite plans. When it was built he and other members of the Board were censured by those who believed that the building was too large and would not be required in its present capacity for years.

It is already too small to accommodate the pupils, so that he judgment of the Board in this matter has been vindicated.

Mr. Ackerman more than a year ago was in favor of remodelling and enlarging the South Central School building, but in this he was overruled. The lack of accommodation is acutely felt at that school now.

Inspector Mowat told the members of the Board last night that there is a congestion of school population in the southwestern part of the city. Everything possible has been done to relieve the South Central School. The boundaries of the Queen Mary and the King Edward have been enlarged. It may be possible to manage until Easter. After that it will probably be necessary to run some half-day classes to accommodate the children. Next summer, however, the Board must face the inevitable and build another school.

The members of the Board who have planned and builded so wisely in the past can be trusted to repeat their good work when the time comes. Some of the members of the "Old Guard" are talking of retiring at the end of the present year. It is to be hoped in the interests of the educational system of the city that they may be induced to remain in harness. Their service was never more valuable, their experience of so much moment to the city as at present. They will be called upon to meet heavy public responsibilities next year, and the people should endeavor to keep them where they are, even if every member whose term is up this year is returned by acclamation.

Peterborough's schools are conducted on true business principles. Their reputation is firmly established and the system has been wisely kept free from fads,

THE LETTER CARRIERS.

ONE OF THE NEW Testament writers declares that the men who fails to provide for the members of his own family has denied the faith and is worse than an infidel. The letter carriers, apparently, have no wish to be so classed, as they have asked the government for an increase in wages in order that they may be able to properly provide for their families.

It will be claimed by some lip loyalists that the government employe who in war time agitates for a raise in wages is lacking in patriotic devotion to his country. Against this assertion the high authority above referred to can be quoted. The best of all patriots is the man who faithfully does his duty as a private citizen and as the head of a family. A man's first service should be rendered those who are dependent upon him.

The Government has an excellent opportunity to demonstrate to the country the exemplary working of the Industrial Disputes Act, in which they must still have confidence, as they refuse either to repeal or amend it. The men ask for a board of conciliation. Let them have it. In private labor disputes there is often a clash, the employers refusing to consent to arbitration. Then when the award is made there is often further trouble about accepting it.

If the question of the letter carriers' pay is referred to arbitration and the decision goes against the government, the latter will gracefully submit, we have no doubt. At least they can prevent a strike. The letter carriers serve the public, and they would have the moral support of the public if they decided to walk out of a service so poorly paid as theirs.

In civil life wages have gone up. Why, then, not raise the pay of men who work for the State?

The letter carriers asked for a raise of $20 a month. The government responded with an increase of $1.68 a week, and even that increase has not yet materialized. All the men have in the way of a raise is the promise.

The duties of the letter carriers are onerous. Responsible men are required for the positions. They are exposed to all kinds of weather. To keep such men working for a lifetime for $2.85 a day, and that paid them only after four years of apprenticeship, is hardly just when compared with wages that prevail in other lines.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THE WISE Win-the-war Liberal will provide himself with an alibi for instant use when the battle is over.

• • •

A FIRELESS DAY once a week is now suggested as a war economy. Leave it to the janitor in the apartment house.

• • •

"WIN-THE-WAR Liberal" is out after reinforcements, but they are for his party candidate, not for the soldiers in the trenches.

• • •

THE DISCUSSION is ended so far as we are concerned. There is nothing exciting about debating with a man who talks from under the barn.

Wit and Wisdom

Acid Test.

Edith—Josephine sings a lot when Mr. Spooner is calling on her.

Marie—Trying to test his love, I suppose.

Obsolete Word.

"Do you think the word 'obey' ought to be dropped from the marriage ceremony?"

"No; let it stay. It doesn't make any more difference to the actual test than the electoral college."

His Extravagance.

Ethel—Oh, Jack, you are so extravagant.

Jack—The dinner check was but $10.

Ethel—But you gave the waiter a quarter; I saw you.

Slight Miscue.

Visitor to Country Churchyard (seeing elderly gentleman listening hard, presumably to the choir singing in the church)—It's very beautiful, isn't it?

Elderly Gentleman (naturalist, listening to the grasshoppers)—And the wonderful thing is that they do it by rubbing their legs together.

The Old Quarrel.

She—What is the trouble between Millie and Arthur? Have they had a new quarrel?

He—No. The patch came off their old one.

He Knew.

"Do you know," said the amateur etymologist, "that the only word in which 's-u' has the value of 'shu' is 'sugar'?"

"Sure."

Not Wanted.

Clerk—These goods are strictly hand-made, madam.

Customer—Oh, I don't want anything that's been pawed over. It's so unsanitary.

Wife Knows Everything.

Nodd—Are you sure your wife knows I'm going home to dinner with you?

Todd — Knows! Well, rather! Why, my dear fellow, I argued with her about it this morning for nearly half an hour.

Not Caught Napping.

"William," snapped the dear lady, viciously, "didn't I hear the clock strike two as you came in?"

"You did, my dear. It started to strike ten, but I stopped it to keep from waking you up."

BILLY SUNDAY MARKED.

Plot to Kill Him Unearthed at Los Angeles.

A Los Angeles dispatch says: Billy Sunday is the latest public character in the country to become more popular than is desirable by the discovary of a plot to kill him, or, to use the more expressive language of the plotters, "to rid the world of a nuisance." The plot was unearthed in Los Angeles, where the evangelist gave great offence to the disloyal elements by comparing them to the children of a traitor who figured in the first century. "Some would sell their grandmother," he is reported to have said, "for the price of a flagon of hell-fire beer, and your country for sport." Billy Sunday's congregations have to be inspected before they enter the auditorium, and the local paper asserts that the process is as trying as striking the trail.

ROBT. K. LOVELL DIES.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Robert K. Lovell of the well-known publishing house of John Lovell & Son, this city, died at his residence on St. Catherine road, Outremont, aged 67 years. He was the eldest son of the founder of the printing firm, the late John Lovell, and was born in Montreal.

WHEN PRISONERS WORK ON ROADS

A bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture relates to the now rather prevalent plan of working prisoners on public highways

The advantages and disadvantages of so utilizing the efforts of prisoners are discussed. Among the former are noted the facts that such work is undoubtedly more healthful than indoor work; that, based on reports from twentytwo states, 65.5 per cent. were skilled or unskilled outdoor laborers before imprisonment, as against 23.09 per cent who were shop workers and indoor laborers; that work on the roads has no degenerative mental effect as has shop work; that it removes the convicts as far as possible from competition with free labor; that it is extremely productive to the public and is a benefit to the prisoner; that progression from restraint to the greater freedom of outdoor life, with self-restraint and proper guidance in the camps, tends to fit him to conduct himself properly after discharge, and that it is a very useful factor in the discipline of penal institutions.

Disadvantages urged by opponents of the plan are thus noted: That it exposes the convict to the public gaze and not only advertises his shame, but has a tendency to harden the public feeling by permitting it to grow accustomed to spectacles which constantly suggest crime, that the congregate life of the road camps exposes the better convicts to the physical, mental and moral contamination of their more depraved associates; that road labor is not suitable to the ability or physical strength of all prisoners; that public work affords opportunity for escape; that road work is impracticable in winter; that outdoor work entails greater expense than indoor work; that this use of prisoners is economically undesirable because the same work can sometimes be done at less expense by free labor because of the comparative inefficiency of prisoners.

The first four of these objections were found to lose their serious aspect if the selection of convicts for road work is based on their conduct in institutions, and if they are then classified and graded according to character, ability and habits. As to the relative efficiency of convict and free labor on roads, difficulty was experienced in reaching definite conclusions, but ways of rendering such prisoners' labor economically sound are suggested.

Two systems of discipline are noted the guard system, under which the convicts wear striped suits, are chained, are punished by whipping, and are restrained by armed guards; and the honor system, involving none of these practices but under which the security of the prisoner is placed largely in his own hands.

Help the Children's Shelter

When Saturday next comes, do not let the reflection that there are too many of these tag days interfere with your doing what is a plain duty.

Standing before all other objects is the one call by means of a Tag Day, and that is to support the objects of the local branch of the Children's Aid Society. No other organization that makes use of Tag Day as a means of raising money has the same claim on your consideration. For other objects have other sources and other means of working.

THIS TAG DAY is OUR Tag Day. By precedence, usage, association and gift from the people we have the first right and claim. Our work and effort were here before the war. And will be with us when the war has ceased, as it eventually must. So be so good as to be liberal, in small lots of liberality, by exchanging coin for tags.

Do we need to preach to you of the object—the care and comfort of defenceless children? The care of a forlorn child is anybody's business and hence is the business of nobody. That is the way the thing had worked out until the Children's Aid came and took up the work and filled the field of effort so far as it can be filled. What it accomplishes is only bounded by the need for funds. The children to be helped are galore, many, and more coming on.

As our population increases the percentage of cases develops. That is a rule of progress that must not be ignored. It is inexorable. So help us to skate around the want and privation for children by cordially and cheerfully buying the tags.

Outside of some aid from the Provincial authorities the raising of the funds depends on you. Never mind if the price of coal is wobbling between ten dollars and the other extreme—let it wobble. The cost of a few tags will never be felt in the general plan of the high cost of living. A tag will cost one admission to a picture show. Let the show go for one or more nights and help the fund for the Children's Aid.

Tag Day—Saturday, October 6th. The city can, and should, make the collection memorable by its size and value.

MR. ANDERSON IS A LOYAL SUBJECT

RECENT STATEMENT IN LETTER IN REVIEW DID HIM INJUSTICE.

A short time ago there was published in the Review, a statement which reflected upon Mr. Anderson, who is employed at the Henry Hope Company of this city. It was stated that Mr. Anderson was in receipt of as much as $10.00 a night. It was further suggested that he was not in sympathy with the cause of Britain and her Allies.

An investigation of the facts of the case has brought it to our certain knowledge, that Mr. Anderson did not earn anything like $10.00 a night, that he is a good, loyal British subject, with three brothers in the trenches at the present time fighting for their Country. One of these brothers has been wounded three times, and that in addition to that, Mr. Anderson was anxious to enlist but on account of reasons over which he had no control, was unable to do so.

The statements published in The Review concerning Mr. Anderson, were brought to us in the usual course of the operation of a newspaper, and we had no reason to doubt the statements at the time, but subsequently, upon investigation, it has been shown that the article was incorrect in the above particulars.

The statement appeared in the form of a letter delivered at this office in person by the writer who assumed all responsibility for what was said and professed ability to back up the charges with proof. This case convinces us of the necessity for a more careful censorship of communications and from this date no letters involving personal charges will be published in The Review whether signed by the real name of the writer or appearing over an assumed signature. There will be no relaxing of this rule in the future.

If a man is suspected of disloyalty Chief Thompson, not the newspapers, is the proper party to deal with his case.—Ed. Review.

If you want help of any kind a "Want Ad." in The Review will bring you good applicants.

Dangerous Icy Sidewalks

The Capacious Cow

To be capacious the dairy cow must be long from shoulder to hip bones, have well-sprung and deep ribs, giving sufficient space for the storage of much food. In addition the body should be covered with hide that is soft and pliable, which in turn is covered with hair that is soft and silky. This texture indicates power of digestion, and, coupled with size of barrel, insures great capacity.

PRINTERS BUY LIBERTY BONDS

THROUGH ITS EXECUTIVE THE UNION INVESTED $1,215,000 IN WAR LOAN.

Through its Executive Council, the International Union was one of the first trade unions to subscribe for the first issue of Liberty bonds. In the allotment of these bonds the International Typographical Union's subscription was cut from $50,000 to $30,000. Subordinate local typographical unions subscribed to the amount of $54,850, while the subscriptions of individual members and the purchases made through chapel organizations amounted to $1,130,300, bringing the total subscriptions made by members of the International Typographical Union up to $1,215,000. In order that the organization may obtain bonds to the full extent of its subscriptions on the second Liberty Loan, the Executive Council of the International Typographical Union contemplates dividing its second subscription between a number of cities.

FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Will Money Be Raised by Subscription or Taxation?

Toronto, Oct. 3.—At a special meeting of the Council of the Toronto and York Patriotic Fund Association there was discussion as to whether the income required for the work of the association in 1918 should be riased as in the past by voluntary subscriptions, or whether the Government should be asked to raise the money by taxation.

Opinions were expressed on both sides and a motion was submitted favoring the continuance of the voluntary system. While it seemed that a majority of those present favored such a course, no vote was taken on the motion. Sir William Mullock, president of the association, and associate representatives, who will leave for Ottawa to attend a meeting of the executive of the Canadian association, were, on motion of Mr. J. J. Gibbons and Mr. Justice Lennox, instructed to use their own best judgment upon the question to be determined.

Mr .Hanna's Figure of $1.25 Will Be Cost to Consumer

Ottawa. Oct. 3.—That the price of $1.25 per bag for potatoes, when fixed by the food controller, means the retail figure, was the information secured from the Food Controller's Department today. This clears up the doubt that existed as to whether the price was to mean the farmers' or wholesalers' selling price.

TORONTO WANTS MORE WOMEN ON THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Best Possible Public Service Has Been Rendered by the Two Ladies Who Are Now Members—The New Campaign Opens.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—The initial meeting of the season of home and school council was held in the social service building, Queen's Park. Professor R. M. MacIvor, of Toronto University, touched upon the importance of education in adult life. So far, he said, there had been no real attempt upon this side to provide, as has been done in England by the formation of a "workers' educational association," for the need of education in adult life or after school age.

A letter received from Mrs. L. A. Hamilton asking for the support of members of the council at the coming elections of members of the Board of Education, that a number of women might be put up for office, was read before the meeting.

In asking for a list of the presidents and secretaries of the home and school council, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton said: "We could get no better women than these to stand for the Board of Education .. . . It will be good to see some other women stand with Mrs. Courtice for the board."

It was decided to help the movement in every possible way.

Mrs. Irvine, who spoke upon the ideal of fitness for office upon the Board of Education, said that a candidate, whether man or woman, should be possessed of good morals and of fearless and unselfish character, in full sympathy with children and in education, a person of affairs and of good standing in the community.

This was the platform decided upon at a meeting of representative members who were considering the presentation of women officers at the next election.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES UP DEFICIT OF PLAYGROUNDS

Pay $119.36, Amount of Outstanding Accounts, Equipment to Become Property of the Board---Other Matters Disposed of.

Trustees Miller, Fowler, Denne, [illegible]ene, Neal and Hall attended the meeting of the Board of Education last night, Col. Miller presiding in the absence of Chairman Eastwood.

A number of matters that were raised at the meeting a month ago were cleared up by the adoption of the following report submitted by the Committee on Appointments and adopted:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Your Committee on Appointments beg to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the resignation of Miss [illegible]na M. Ferguson, household instructor, be accepted, to take effect September 30th.

2. That Miss Elizabeth MacVannel of Guelph be appointed to succeed Miss Ferguson, salary to be according to schedule and duties to commence October 1st. The appointment of Miss MacVannel has already been approved by the Department of Education, Toronto.

2. That in view of the 24 years of faithful service of Miss Minnie [illegible]. Warner, as kindergarten directress, who resigned sometime ago, on account of ill health, she be granted an honorarium of $400.00 payable in monthly instalments, commencing 1st of October, 1917.

4. Rgarding the request from the Peterborough Playgrounds Association which was referred to this Committee for consideration we recommend that they be granted the sum of $119.36, which represents the amount of their outstanding accounts. This recommendation is made on the understanding that all of the equipment becomes the property of the Board.

5. That in future the four special teachers of Manual Training, Household Science, Art and Music, employed jointly by this Board and the Department of Education, report for duty at the beginning of each term on th date set for the opening of the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute.

6. That Mr. A. D. Hone, Science master of the Collegiate Institute, who was granted leave of absence in order that he might enlist for active service, and who has since been released so that he might engage in research work with the Government in a semi military capacity, be allowed to continue in such work until the end of December on his undertaking to report for duty at that time, that he be paid the difference between the salary paid by the Government and the salary he would be entitled to under the present schedule and that his substitute be notified that his services will not be required after the end of the present year (Dec. 31st).

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. HILL.

It was decided to grant no rebate in fees of pupils who had left the Collegiate in order to take up farm work as their leaving did not decrease the cost of maintaining the institution in any degree.

Principal Clarke of the King Edward School asked that a skating rink be established there. The request was referred to the property committee.

A grant of $30 was made to help defray the cost of the Collegiate field day.

Inspector Mowat reported that there are 2588 pupils registered in the public schools, an increase of 185 over the number enrolled a year ago.

The Board decided to purchase seven nature study charts. One for each public school and one for the Collegiate Institute, from J.T. Bricknell of Toronto. A representative of that firm appeared before the Board and explained the charts.

These charts are regarded as an indispensable aid to nature study, being the assistance that is next best to stuffed specimens of birds and animals which it is impossible to obtain. Three explanatory text books go with each set.

CHEQUE ARTIST IN KINGSTON

RELIEVES MERCHANTS IN THE LIMESTONE CITY OF FOUR HUNDRED DOLLARS.

A score or more of Kingston's business men have been stung by the operations of a cheque artist, to the tune of $400 in all.

The bank cheque forms were evidently stolen from military offices, were filled out and presented at the stores by a man in khaki for some purchases made. The forgery was noticed when the cheques were presented to a local bank. The military authorities of M. D. No. 3 are making efforts to warn merchants that they should on no account cash cheques presented by soldiers. One merchant "bit" recently and cashed a cheque which had been raised somewhat cruedly from four to forty dollars.

EXPORTS OVER DOUBLE.

For three months ending September 30, the American Consulate at Kingston reports that exports from that district across the border amounted to $1,162,935, or more than double the exports for the same period last year.

Auto and Bicycle Collide; Boy Injured

A. B. SHADGETT AND ELMER PEARSON IN ACCIDENT—NARROW ESCAPE FOR LATTER.

Constable Lawrence reports that at about 7.55 a.m. on the second inst. A. V. Shadgett, when turning his auto around to proceed eastward on Charlotte street, collided with Elmer Pearson, a bicyclist, riding eastward. Pearson, in endeavoring to pass the auto before it turned, misjudged the distance, and his wheel struck the auto broadside. Pearson was thrown over the handle bars and alighted in front of the car. Shadgett stopped his machine immediately and backed up. While doing so, however, one of the front wheels passed over the boy, who was stunned by his fall. He was carried into Webber's drug store, and Dr. Amys summoned. Examination showed that the boy was not seriously hurt. Pearson's injuries consist of shock and skin wounds on the back. He admitted that the accident was the result of his own misjudgment.

Mr. Shadgett conveyed the boy home in his auto.

At the local cheese board this morning, held in the Bank of Montreal chambers, with President Robert Duff of Lakefield, presiding, the whole product boarded went to G. A. Gillespie at 215-16. The only other bidder was Cook of Belleville with 21¼.

Mr. Cook had complained that half a pound has heretofore been allowed some buyers and this means 10c a box.

SAVING CERTIFICATES

Receipt Up to Oct. 1 Are More Than Eleven Millions

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—The success of the issue of war savings certificates is shown in returns made to the Department of Finance. Up to the end of September 166,000 certificates had been issued, the total receipts being in excess of eleven million dollars.

Several thousand of the new $10 certificate, which sells for $8.60, and was recently issued, have already been taken up. Indications are that this small certificate will be popular with the younger folk for Christmas and birthday gifts.

The Hamilton branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund has purchased some 300 certificates (representing $5,700) for dependents of soldiers who, during the summer months, saved from their Patriotic Fund allowances a stated sum each month.

The Eskimo Language.

One of the tasks to which the explorer, Donald B. MacMillan, head of the Crocker Land expedition, has set his hand during his sojourn in the Arctic, is the compiling of an Eskimo-English dictionary. The work already comprises more than 3,000 words and is growing continually. This fact is revealed by Dr. Edmund Otis Hovey, curator of the Museum of Natural History at New York.

"Mr. MacMillan tells me," continues Dr. Hovey, "that he has secured a great series of skins, and other parts of land and sea mammals occurring in the regions visited, large numbers of bird skins and eggs, and a large amount of old and new Eskimo material. He has taken and developed from 2,000 to 3,000 photographs with fine success; has made extensive meteorological records and notes and has made many observations upon the natives. He has made the great, though disappointing trip to Crocker Land, which he has already briefly reported on, and last spring's exploratory trip to Findlay (King Christian) Land, which he is now reporting on."

Homemade Soda Water.

Boil together in a granite saucepan two pounds granulated sugar, three pints hot water and two ounces tartaric acid. At the end of five minutes put it where it will get cool. When cold stir in the beaten whites of three eggs and one ounce wintergreen or sarsaparilla. Bottle. When ready to use put a tablespoonful in a glass half full of water (cold), add a scant quarter teaspoonful soda, beat and drink while foaming. This is a staple product for children's lemonade, a delicious summer drink yielding a nickel harvest for some pet charity or small boy's private exchequer.

Almost a Closet.

Persons living in apartments or furnished rooms will find this a useful device for increasing closet capacity: Fasten one end of a heavy wire (picture wire works well) to a hook in the closet, thread the other end through the spring of a patent clothespin, wind the wire about the second hook, and so on around the closet until there is a clothespin between each pair of hooks. This is an excellent way of holding skirts or waists and can be removed easily.

One Egg Spice Cake.

Cream one-half cupful of butter and add one cupful of sugar and one egg. To two cupfuls of flour add one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg, one-quarter teaspoonful of cloves. Combine with sugar mixture alternately with one cupful of sour milk. Add one cupful of chopped raisins. Spread about the thickness of gingerbread in a large tin. Bake in a moderate oven. Good warm

"How Many of our Men are Liable to be Drafted ?"

The Canadian business man is asking this question often, now that the Military Service Act is the law of Canada. A simple means of answering it at once is being provided.

Medical Boards are in process of formation throughout the country for the free physical examination of all men who apply. The first class liable to call includes all single men and widowers without children between the ages of 20 and 34 inclusive, all men married after July 6, 1917, being classed as single for the purposes of the Act. In a very short time, the average employer may learn how many of his staff are liable for selection. Those adjudged physically unfit will be given a certificate which will secure them exemption from any Exemption Tribunal. Those found physically fit may still apply for exemption on any ground. The employer will be given a chance to decide if he should seek exemption for any employee whose physical condition renders him liable for selection.

This early medical examination, which quickly decides if a man is liable for selection or not, is a feature of the operation of the Military Service Act calculated to appeal strongly to the business community. It assists in definite planning for the future, enabling an employer of labor to learn at once what men will be left at their work and those who may be removed for military service. Haphazard withdrawals, the nightmare of business men of method and precision, are insured against by this timely arrangement.

Every employer of labor will find it to his advantage to note carefully the formation of Medical Boards in his locality and to be sure that his employees secure as early as possible this very important information as to their status under the Military Service Act.

The Military Service Council.

A PLAY FROM TWO BOOKS.

The play, "The Sky Pilot," is based on material taken from two of Ralph Connor's novels, "The Sky Pilot" and "Black Rock." The leading characters and incidents of both books are retained and welded together into one coherent story. This is not the first time in the history of American plays that a two-fold dramatization of this sort has been made. A similar example occurred eleven years ago when the play, "The Clansman," was taken from two of Mr. Dixon's novels, "The Clansman" and "The Leopard Spots." "The Clansman" which enjoyed a successful vogue for several seasons, and at the present time is seen in picture form as "The Birth of a Nation," was produced by Geo. H. Brennan under whose management "The Sky Pilot" is also exploited.

The play will be seen in this city at the Grand Opera House on Monday next, Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 8. The regular seat sale opens at the Box Office, Friday morning, Oct. 5.

A number have been declared physically unfit under the voluntary system, but are at sea as to whether they will be utilized in some form or other under the military service act. It is thought that the medical and science students of the second year standing will be relieved of serving at present, as they will be more urgently required later on.

PLENTY OF FISH.

Crop in Great Lakes Can Be Easily Harvested.

"There is one great food resource which we have that requires no tilling, seeding, or preliminary investment to harvest. That is our fisheries. God put the fish into the seas, rivers, and lakes. They are there yet, and can be easily harvested. With a food of this nature so easily within our reach, it should be the patriotic duty of every citizen of the Province to take advantage of this more frequently than they have done in the past, remembering that every pound of fish consumed, a pound of meat or its equivalent is conserved, to be sent overseas to help feed our soldiers in the trenches, and the people of the British Isles."

The above plea for an increased consumption of fish was made by the Organization of Resources Committee of Ontario, and in this connection the following report has been issued by the Ontario Government:

"The commercial fishing in Lake Erie began a little later this year than last and from the reports received up to date, the catch would appear to be an average one. This affords much satisfaction to the Department in view of the high cost of food, and should be the means of relieving to some extent the distress which prevailed in some parts of the Province. The statistics for this year are not yet available. Last year, however, there were caught from the 15th of March to the 31st of May, in the waters of Lake Erie fronting the Province of Ontario, 401,234 lbs. of whitefish, 5,699 lbs. of trout, 141,282 lbs. of pickerel, 11,596 lbs. of sturgeon, 928 lbs. of caviare, 391,551 lbs. of herring, 99,633 lbs. of perch, 1,305,636 lbs. of blue pickerel, 24,708 lbs. of pike, 4,959 lbs. of catfish, 4,823 lbs. of carp, and 342,200 lbs. of coarse fish valued at $232,691.97. Fishing in the other lakes of the Province is not carried on to any extent until the month of May.

It is well known that a great portion of the fish caught are sold in the American market and frequent protests against this are lodged in the department. The fishermen, however, must be allowed the privilege of disposing of their fish in the market which will bring them the best returns, and fish of the coarser kind, which could find no buyer in Ontario, are quickly sold at good prices in the large cities of the United States. All licensed fishermen are required to furnish for home consumption such fish as are required for local consumption at their contract prices."

The Retort Courteous.

"It was mighty nice of you to give up your seat to that stout old lady, Mr. Blinks. It is pleasant to see that there are still some polite men left in the world."

"Sorry, Mrs. Jabbers, but it wasn't politeness at all. The man who sat next to me was quarrelsome because he said I crowded him too much, and all I did was to use that stout old lady as a sort of retort courteous."—Judge.

His Part.

"Let's make something good to eat," planned Robert's two little sisters in an undertone.

"All right," said Robert, overhearing. "We'll each make something. Lou can go ahead and make the candy and Flo the popcorn."

"And what'll you make?" they asked.

"Oh," said he, "I'll make away with it."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Coal Situation in Canada Better Than Year Ago

Montreal, Oct. .—Railway officials here state that, while the American embargo on the lake port coal supply came as a total surprise, the situation this year still remains better than it was last year. The Grand Trunk Railway Company has been utilizing every kind of car that will hold coal for carrying purposes, and has about 1,500 old cars now under repair, which will be available soon. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been turning out converted coal cars at the rate of twenty-four a day all summer, it is said. Local coal dealers were shocked by the news of the embargo, and expressed fears that the new burden placed upon the railways will result in further embargoes by the railways themselves owing to their inability to handle the increased traffic.

S.S. LUSITANIA MAY BE RAISED

DIVERS BELIEVE THAT ILL-FATED VESSEL CAN BE REACHED.

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 3.—Hope of saving cargoes of many of the ships sunk by German submarines is raised by the success marking the salvaging of the steamer Pewabic in Thunder Bay. Many torpedoed vessel lie less than 200 feet below the surface of the sea, and the equipment by the Leavitt Diving Armor Company, which is handling the Pewabic job, may be used at least to 400 feet depth. The Lusitania, sent down ten miles off the coast of Ireland, may be one of the first of the U-boat victims to be salvaged.

Among the article raised from the sunken Ptwabic was a strong box owned by the American Express Company. All that is left of the $50,000 in script which the box contained are a few fragments of paper. The ship's safe, supposed to have contained much money, has not been located.

The demonstration of the success of the invention is attracting worldwide interest. Letters and requests for information have been received from persons interested in pearl-shell diving and sponge-gathering.

Arrangements have been made to recover the cargoes of two "treasure" ships sunk in the Pacific, and this work will be started when the Pewabic undertaking has been completed.

If the Review is not being received regularly, kindly notify the office at once. Telephone 189.

GOLD MINE FOR THE PLAYERS

The biggest financial bonus of the baseball year is to be distributed soon in the form of a division of the gate receipts of the world series games of 1917. When the New York National and Chicago American league players receive their share of the money, paid in the form of admission charges by the thousands of spectators who will attend the contests, they will be able to deposit to the credit of their bank accounts sums larger than the yearly income of many of the fans who will witness the play.

The players will not be the only ones to profit, however, for the club owners and the National Commission also come in for a percentage of the receipts, which are expected to exceed a quarter of a million dollars this season. Under the rules of the latter body, which have governed the world series since 1905, the division is made in the following manner: The National Commission receives ten per cent. of the receipts of each and every game played by the contending clubs; the remaining ninety per cent. of the first four games is divided upon a basis of two-thirds to the players of the contesting clubs and one-third to the club owners. With the playing of the fourth game the players cease to share in the receipts and the two clubs involved divide the receipts equally, after the National Commission has taken its ten per cent. The players' share of the world series funds are apportioned upon a basis of sixty per cent. to the winner and forty per cent. to the loser, while the two clubs as corporations are required to contribute a certain amount of their portions to the leagues of which they are members.

That these sums are not to be considered lightly, even in the present days of extraordinary financial operations, may be realized when it is stated that the receipts of the thirteen series played since 1903 have aggregated $2,874,224. Of this huge amount the players have received $1,180,823, the club owners, $1,411,156, and the National Commission $282,242. The rules governing the series specify that each club shall name in advance of the play the men who are eligible to participate in the games. These players each receive one share of the winning or losing team's percentage with certain arrangements for ground keepers, mascots and others connected with the teams in a minor capacity.

Some idea of the sums that fall to the share of palyers who engage in the world series may be gained from a glance of the records of preceding struggles. The largest amount went to the members of the Boston Americans, who played and won the eight-game series from the New York Nationals in 1912. That year each regular member of the Red Sox received $4024. The next highest amount was $3910, also captured by the Boston Americans of last season as a result of their defeat of the Brooklyn Nationals. The smallest sum received since 1903 by the individual members of a winning team was $1142, by the New York Nationals in the series against the Philadelphia Americans in 1905. The Chicago Nationals hold the minimum losers' record with $439 when the Chicago White Sox won the title in four out of six games in 1906.

Pugilistic Annals

Jem Belcher and Daniel Mendoza were matched for a bout for the British championship, in Scotland, October 1, 1800. The arrest of Mendoza the Jewish ex-champion, however, put the kibosh on the affair. Mendoza was served with a warrant in bed, and dragged off to the police court, where Sir Richard Ford, the magistrate, bound him over to keep the peace. Some of the foremost men of England came to his rescue, and the bail was quickly forthcoming, but the magistrate insisted that the money would be forfeited if Dan engaged in a prize-fight anywhere. Counsel for Mendoza pointed out that the mill was to take place in Scotland, beyond the magistrate's jurisdiction; but the judge remained firm and poor old Dan had to miss his chance to meet the Bristol boxer. A little later Belcher fought Andrew Gamble, an Irishman, and by his victory over the man from the Emerald Isle became the recognized champion.

CURLERS READY FOR THE WINTER

GROUPS IN WHICH PETERBOROUGH WILL PLAY COMING SEASON.

The approach of winter is already heralded by the preparations of the hockey players and the curlers. The latter, or those of them within the jurisdiction of the Ontario Curling Association, will foregather at the Granite Club on the 16th of this month for their annual business session. In accordance with the usual arrangement, a plan of grouping the clubs in the two chief competitions is to be presented then for approval, the membership having already been provided with a draft. The proposed arrangement in which Peterborough and other clubs in this vicinity will figure for the season is as follows:

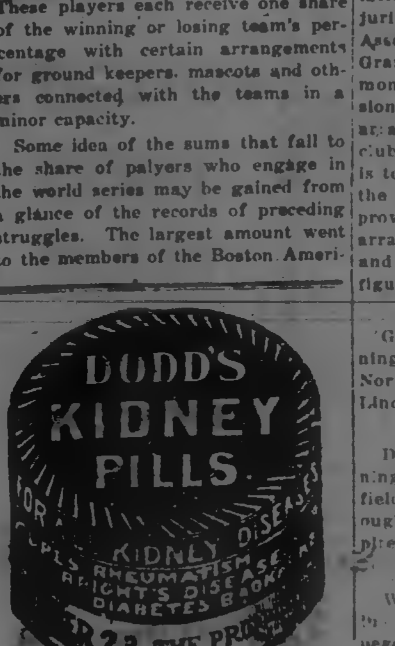
Ontario Tankard Group.

Group No. 3—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Norwood, Peterborough. Play at Lindsay. Umpire—J. D. Flavelle.

District Cup Grouping.

District No. 2.—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Keene, Lakefield, Lindsay, Norwood, Peterborough. Play at Peterborough. Umpire—Mr. R. M. Waddell.

Women are the largest taxpayers in Chicago. Mrs. Annie L. Sears pays on $11,000,000, and Mrs. Howard Spaulding on $9,000,000.



QUARTERING OF TROOPS IN PETERBOROUGH UNCERTAIN

General Hemming Writes That it is Impossible to Locate Company of Depot Battalion Here Unless Further Units Are Authorized.

In regard to the activities of Mayor Duffus toward securing the quartering of troops in Peterborough Armouries the coming winter, Brig.-General Hemming has written as follows:

"I beg to inform you that Militia Headquarters decided in view of the very excellent accommodation available at Kingston that all artillery units of this district training for overseas service would be quartered at Kingston. It was also born in mind when making this decision that Kingston possessed more immediate and available training facilities with reference to artillery than any other place, being as it were the home of the Royal School of Artillery and practically under the eye of the general staff officer who is at all times supervisor of training.

"With reference to a company of the depot battalion being quartered in Peterborough, I beg to state that it is the policy of the department to keep this unit intact, so far as is possible for the purpose of adequate training, and Peterboro, if a company were located there, would be very far removed from the officer commanding and would be unable to administer as efficiently as if he had the entire personnel under his eye.

However, should further units be authorized, Peterborough will be strongly considered for winter quarters."

RED-HEADED JENNINGS BREAKER-BOY FIGHTER

Off To Bad Star But Became Ball-Player, Lawyer, Manager—A Story Of Gameness

Back in 1871 Moolie was a tiny blackened village, living a dreary existence over the great fields of smutty coal in Northern Pennsylvania. Just as soon as the little boys of the town were old enough to care for themselves they entered the mines as breaker boys, and began a life of grubbing under the earth. In Hugh Jennings' appearance there was nothing to distinguish him from his mates. He had a keen freckled face, topped by a wild expanse of carroty red hair, bright blue eyes, and a pair of muscular bow legs. He was the son of a miner, and, in the natural order of things, he, too, became a breaker boy. Young Jennings was just as uncouth and uneducated as his friends, but he had the vital spark of ambition hidden in his bosom. A grimy home in a dirty little town and a steady job wielding a pick, didn't suit him. He worked hard and at lunchtime and in the evening played baseball as every healthy boy does.

Ambition Leads

Soon his adeptness became more than town talk. His fame spread, and he took stolen trips to Scranton and Wilkes-Barre with the Lehighton team. The sight of these towns bred in him a fiercer desire to emancipate himself from the mental and physical depression of Moolie. There is no need to tell of the fight he made to work his way through college—a fight that admitted him to the bar of Pennsylvania and made him one of the most respected and honored men in the Keystone State. Hughey Jennings was a catcher in those days, and so far did he excel his fellow-players of Lehighton in manual dexterity and mental alertness that he attracted the attention of more than one major league manager. It was Jack Chapman, of Louisville, who offered him his first engagement. There was nothing backward about the red-haired coalminer. He asked for $250 a month, and $100 advance. That did not suit Chapman, who telegraphed: "Two hundred dollars a month and $50 advance is the best I can do."

"Send on the fifty," Hughey wired back, and when the answer came his heart beat with a joy almost too poignant. When Jennings left for Louisville the town gave him a send-off of which a President might be proud. It was in 1891 that the gawky, red-haired kid came to Louisville for a try out. Ball players were a rough and ready lot, but physical humorists, who enjoyed "roughing up" the recruits. The average boy would have been unable to do himself justice, but not Hughey. The first baseman was ill and Chapman told the recruit he would have to play that corner.

A Scarecrow

As there was no uniform ready for him he had to wear a make-shift of "Monk" Cline's, who was just about [illegible] Consequently the suit fitted him like a Charley Chaplin outfit. Jennings looked "like a scarecrow eloped from a cornfield." To make it worse, the boy realized that he looked like a fool, and that everyone in the park—including his own team-mates—were laughing at him. But he gritted his teeth. It would have taxed the ingenious daring of a Cobb to star in such an outfit, but Hughey did play a first class game, and Manager Chapman knew that he had corralled a star.

Jennings was not safe yet. There was no place for him back of the bat, and when the regular first baseman recovered from his injury it looked as though the breaker boy was doomed for an indefinite stay on the bench. But a quick-witted nimble youth, who can hit, is hard to keep out of any line up. Chapman tried the youngster out at shortstop—and Jennings found himself. There was never any question then of his back-sliding to the minors. He played that position until 1898, when his arm weakened, and he found himself back at the initial cushion once again.

CY YOUNG THE KING

Won 508 Games in Big Leagues—Mathewson's Chance

Cy Young's sterling pitching record may endure for all time. Only one pitcher in the game—Christy Mathewson—had a chance to eclipse it. But Matty's major league pitching life cannot compare with that of the old "war horse." Young survived the terrific pace of 22 campaigns. He quit the game along in 1910 or 1911 and retired to his farm after having taken part in 819 combats. Of these he won 508, giving him a grand pitching average around .620 for the entire period.

At the end of the 1915 season Mathewson's record showed that over a stretch of 16 years under the big canvass, he had worked in 614 games—205 less than Young figured in. Mathewson has won 268 and lost [illegible] of his games. The others did not figure in his won or lost columns. Matty's grand average to date is .665. Even should he by some miracle remain in the major league spotlight until he has pitched more games than Young, it is beyond the range of probability that he can win 60 per cent. of the remaining games. And that is just about what the weakening arm must accomplish to beat out the record of Young. When one compares Young's record with that of Mathewson and the other great pitchers of to-day, there comes the full knowledge of what an amazing twirler was "old Cy"—a hurler whose like may never again illuminate—and glorify—the baseball world.

Speaking at Harrisburg, Pa., Otto Vahn, of New York, suggested the formation of a federal board to guard U. S. after-war trade.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, "Princess" of the Industrial Workers of the World, has been rounded up by the New York police.

Grocers Won Two From West Enders

Last night in the opening game of the Peterboro Five-Pin League, the Grocers took two games from the former champions, the West Ends. The games were fast and much excitement prevailed. The Grocers led a good pace all the way, winning the first two games by a good margin the West Ends coming back and winning the third game. Outram, for the Grocers, had high three games with a 479 total, while Cocks, for the West Ends came in for high single with a 196 count. The scores were as follows:

GERMAN SPIES HERE.

Believed in Canada Looking For War Material.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—German spies and agents, harassed out of the United States, are coming to Canada, it is believed by the police here. A detective attached to the Belgian Consulate in New York, W. J. Genot, has been in consultation with local police and will confer with the Dominion police on their suspicions. It is understood that Germany is very short of certain materials for making high explosives, and i straining every nerve to get ther imported secretly via Holland. A the watch on out-going goods is s keen now in the United States, it is hoped by Hun agents to get the material shipped through Canadian ports.

Twenty-five million train miles have been cut off American train services as a war economy.

The total of dry Connecticut towns has been increased by seven as the result of yesterday's elections.

Frank Dean and Ned Simmons, having recovered from their wounds are on duty again, and Driver Devey also met Bill Simmons, Ernest Tucker and Frank Roberts. Private Dean sends along a dried spray of blue and white wild flowers picked in a famous wood he does not name, but says it will be famous in history. All the boys are well and getting lots of mail, the writer's share from the last mail being seven letters and a newspaper dated Sept. 10th. The letter concludes. LADY'S APRON.

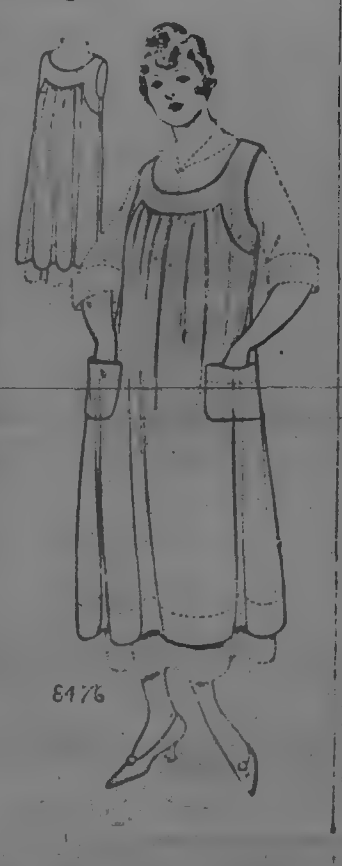
By Anabel Worthington.



For the sake of efficiency every housewife ought to have one of these handy aprons, like No. 8476. It is very easy to put on and will not crush the dress underneath, because it has no sleeves. There is a shaped yoke, which fits smoothly over the shoulders, and it is so cut that it fits under the arms. The yoke has no opening, so that the apron must be slipped on over the head. The lower part is in two pieces and is gathered to the yoke at the front and back curves.

The lady's apron pattern, No. 8476, is cut in three sizes 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size requires 4 yards 36 inch material, or 3 yards 36 inch material, with ⅝ yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication

ORGANIZED LABOR LOOKING FOR SUITABLE CANDIDATE

Trades Council Appoints Committee to Interview Political Aspirants to Ascertain Their Views on the Workingman's Problems—Warm Campaign in Sight.

The members of the Trades and Labor Council have decided to take an active interest in the coming election, and at the regular meeting last night a committee was named to get the views of prospective candidates so that organized labor may find one whom they can endorse and support. The members feel that the old party lines have been pretty well obliterated and that the present is the psychological moment for independent political action. Several names of likely men have already been announced. The labor committee will interview each of these and report to a later meeting of workinmen.

The idea is to find a man, an independent, if possible, who will support the cause of labor in Parliament. An out-and-out labor men may be selected to run on the platform of the Independent Labor Party that has been organized in the Dominion. One prominent man in this city was mentioned last night with favorable comment. He is a Liberal, but it is understood that he might be acceptable to the working classes and that he would consent to run as an independent. However, nothing definite can be known until he is interviewed by the committee. The various prospective candidates will probably be invited to address meetings of the workingmen, expressing just where they stand.

If Labor finally agrees on a candidate, the campaign to assure his election promises to be a warm one. Labor leaders from all over the Dominion will deliver addresse in the riding. Miss Laura Hughes, the well known suffragist of Toronto, has promised to stump the riding on behalf of any candidate to whom Labor pledges its support. Another speaker will be D. J. O'Donoghue, the well known lawyer of Toronto, who holds the position of legal adviser to the Dominion Trades Congress. He is a candidate himself in a Toronto riding on the Independent Labor Party platform, and is labor's choice for the position of Minister of Labor in the Federal cabinet.

One of the delegates at last night's meeting suggested that the church societies and kindred organizations in the city be asked to affiliate with the Trades Council in order to strengthen the Independent Labor party. No definite action was taken on this proposition.

"Fifty Dollars in gold for the candidate who does the best work this week. YOU can do it.

Twenty more working days of the contest left. The time is getting short candidates.

System and energy are good contest slogans. Earnest work is a sure road to success. Don't be over-confident. Over-confident often beats a person.

Many of the candidates are running a neck and neck race for first place. Very few subscriptions to the credit of any candidate would make a material change in the standing.

The special prize of fifty dollars will be given to the candidate who turns in the most subscription money.

The winner of this prize will show her friends that she is making splendid progress towards winning the Capital prize. Everybody loves a winner. Be the winner of the extra prize.

Old subscriptions as well as new count votes.

Every minute counts from now until the close. A big $1235 Touring car will be ready on the closing night of the contest for someone. Will YOU drive it home? You can if you will.

6,400 votes for a yearly subscription—16,000 for a two year sub and 32,000 for a three year subscription. Twenty per cent off this after Saturday, Oct. 13.

Don't rest up a minute candidates. The time is very short. "The constant gnaw of Tiger wears away the hardest bone."

Buster Brown said "The slow man who keeps going will beat the fast man who quits." Just like the Hare and the Tortoise."

Steady, earnest and consistent work will achieve wonders. Try it and see. You can't be beat if you convince yourself that you can win.

Hear the Columbia Grafondla at J. M. Greene's music store. It is a beauty and the management will be pleased to demonstrate it for you.

Only a few days more than three weeks from now and someone will own a Five passenger touring car. Can you imagine the joys and pleasures of owning your own automobile?

Or would a beautiful new $475 Piano look good in your home. The piano to be given is a Heintzman and Co. Anyone who knows anything about pianos will say that the Review decided on an instrument which is one of the world's very best.

Don't forget Saturday night. The contest for the special prize will be over at 10 p.m. Candidates living in the towns outside Peterboro will have the usual mailing privilege.

Don't forget the motto. HUSTLE. HUSTLE, HUSTLE. Then HUSTLE SOME MORE.

ON 9 MILE FRONT BRITISH MAKE STEADY GAINS

First and Second Objectives Reached After Desperate Fighting.

VILLAGE IS TAKEN AND HELD

Prisoners Are Now Being Brought to lines in Greater Numbers Than Ever.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Oct. 4.—The British already have penetrated well beyond the hamlet of Broodseinde in which lie the cross roads formed by the high ways between Zonnbeck and Moorsled and Passchendaele and Beclara.

VILLAGE CAPTURED

General Maurice, Chief Director of the military operations, announced this afternoon that the British forces in their offensive this morning to the east of Ypres had captured the village of Broodseinde and holding it in face of heavy counter attacks.

Further to the south of Cameron Covert, where there had been much hard fighting, today's battle was along strongholds which comprised a cruically important system of German defenses along the passchendaele-Cheluvelt ridge.

OBJECTIVES REACHED

"Both first and second objectives on the ridges have been captured by the British. General Maurice said. The British gained all their objectives on a front of 16,000 yards and to depth of 2,500 yards. Prisoners are coming in much more rapidly and in greater number than in the last push.

CITIZENS AND SERVICE

Ever meet a man on a train who has said to you that "Peterborough is a mighty fine and progressive city." You felt that you and yours, meaning the city, were appreciated, and that in fact it was deserved appreciation. Did it ever strike you that that encomium was drawn from the speaker, not by one impulsive municipal effort made in furtherance of some local project, but as the aggregate impresion gained by years of successful effort. That's Peterborough, if you want to know it. "Sees it through" in all it undertakes. Just now we are seeing the coal emergency through, for example.

So we want you to loyally help to make and register another success. Your individual help, only trifling, will ensure. It means the transferrence of coin from your pocket to another. And you are doing a Christian act while performing. THE CHILDREN'S AID ANNUAL TAG DAY is on. Saturday 6th. Next Saturday. Day-after-tomorrow. This Tag Day is ours. We own it. Be liberal. Buy one or more tags. If Greater Production has blessed you with a fair garden crop, show it by your small, but we hope, frequent gifts. So much can be spared, and well spared, too.

No use to advise you of the object. The very fact that you do not hear of cases of privation and hardship among defenceless children is proof that such cases are looked after. But the work is there to be done, and done it is.

The sources of revenue are limited, too limited. The whole thing has in some way been shouldered out of sight — the claims of the work, we mean— by the many and serious war obligations and calls. But none the less we are here and needy.

Put some change handy. The rattle of the coins as they drop into the cash box is as grateful to the collector as was the "tinkle of the ice in the pitcher as the boy comes down the hall" to the thirsty man with last night's reflections.

Be liberal. Be frequent in liberality in a mighty good cause. We can build dreadnoughts from the avails of five-cent pieces, if we get enough of them. And the Children's Aid can work on in confidence and prosperity if you will be so good.

COST FRACTION OVER SIX CENTS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—It cost 6.60 cents for bakers to produce one pound of bread in Toronto, 6.64 cents in Ottawa and from these prices the cost of production runs up in various cities to as high as 7.88 cents per pound in Vancouver and New Westminster which is the maximum. This is the finding of High Cost of Living Commissioner, W. F. O'Connor, K. C., as stated in an interim report given out here today after six months' investigation into the milling and bread manufacturing industries in Canada. The Toronto and Ottawa figures may be assumed to generally represent cost in most Ontario cities.

FIRST CALL FOR RECRUITS TO BE ISSUED OCTOBER 13TH

Date is Definitely Fixed by Department—Twenty-eight Applicants Rejected by Medical Board Out of Hundred and Twenty Nine Offering—An Increase in Percentage—Fit Men Given Chance to Enlist at Once.

The total number of men passing through the Examining Medical Board's hands at the Armories, up to noon today is 129, of which 101 have passed into categories A., B. and C., 28 rejected as totally unfit for military service of any nature. One man held over for further examination.

Nine Last Night.

Last night, between 7.30 and 9.30 nine applicants presented themselves. Of these five were passed into category A. and four into E. None of them were C. G. E. men.

Fourteen Yesterday Afternoon.

The doctors were kept very busy, yesterday afternoon, when they handled 17 men, nine of whom are employees of the C.G.E. The examination resulted as follows: Category A ten, C one, and E six. It will be noticed that the percentage of rejections is increasing.

Seventeen This Morning.

This morning's session of the Medical Board found 17 men, mostly from the C. G. E. taking advantage of early examination. Of this number 11 were graded in category A. and 5 in E for rejection. None were passed into either B or C category, and the certificate in one case is held over.

A Choice Now.

Capt. G. H. Potts of the railway construction and forestry branch of military service, was at the Armories this morning arranging for accommodation in attesting men now. A sergeant from Ottawa will reach Peterborough tonight and locate in an office near the medical examining rooms, where men graded as "fit" may be attested at once. Men signing up before proclamation for the first draft will have a choice of joining any branch of the service outside of artillery. After proclamation is posted attested men will have no choice but that of the infantry service and must go to the branch to which they are allotted.

Capt. Potts and his sergeant will accept applicants for any branch of the service except artillery.

Mobilization Centre.

In connection with the Medical Board appointment in Lindsay rumors are rife that a mobilization centre may be located there. Lindsay military men, however, say this is hardly possible as only two thousand men are required from that military district. They are of the opinion that should a mobilisation centre be selected for this section it will be located at Peterborough.

First Call Oct. 13.

It is now definitely decided at Ottawa that the first call of recruits under the Military Service Act will be made Saturday, October 13th.

A proclamation will be issued on that date notifying men in class 1 that within a specified time they are either to report for military duty or to file a claim for exemption. Class 1 comprises: "Those who have attained the age of twenty years and were born not earlier than the year 1883, and are unmarried or are widowers but have no child."

Various Categories.

From the medical point of view, men who have submitted themselves for physical examination, are divided into various categories. Only "A" men—those fit for general service overseas—will actually be called to the colors. All within class one should, however, send in either a report for service or a claim for exemption. The certificate of the medical board is to be attached. Men in class one, placed in any medical category, other than category "A," will then be granted exemption till men within their category are called to the colors. When "B" and "C" are so called any other ground they may have for claiming exemption will be considered.

BRITISH RESUME OFFENSIVE AT YPRES AND REPORT SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

Operations Begin After Lull of Eight Days and Greater Objectives Than Ever Before Are Aimed at---Germans Fight Desperately to Retain Aerial and Submarine Bases on Belgian Coast --- England Prepares For Air Raid Reprisals.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, October 4.—Field Marshal Haig has begun a new offensive east of Ypres. The official statement from British headquarters in France, issued today says that the British attacked at six o'clock this morning on a wide front and are making satisfactory progress, and a number of prisoners already have been taken.

The renewal of the Flanders drive comes after an eight-day interval. On Wednesday of last week the British swept forward over the ground on both sides of the Ypres-Menin road, advancing from half a mile to a mile at various points along the line. Some of the heaviest fighting in the war on the Western front followed, the Germans making assault after assault in desperate attempts to regain the valuable high ground they had lost.

With today's renewal of the drive, the battle of Flanders is growing more and more to resemble last year's battle of the Somme, which was followed by the memorable Hindenburg "strategic retreat." The same general tactics now being pursued of persistent driving at the same point in in the line, are evidently expected by the British to achieve a similar result. This time, however, the ground which would have to be abandoned would be far more valuable to the Allies and its loss a correspondingly heavy blow to the Germans, for the German-held Belgian coast line, with its submarine and aerial bases, is at stake, together with the great French manufacturing city of Lille and wide stretches of territory in northern France and Flanders.

Today's attack followed sharply the last despairing effort of the Germans to stave it off. Crown Prince Rupprecht struck at the British line yesterday at its most vital points, but made no impression.

THE NIGHT WAS CALM.

Paris, October 4.—"The night was calm on the right bank of the Meuse, where artillery on both sides was very active," says the official statement.

Another aerial raid over Germany was made last night by French aviators. The cities of Frankfort and Rastatt were bombed. Rastatt is a city of fourteen thousand people, in Baden. This is the second attack on Frankfort in the last week.

AUSTRIA MAY BREAK AWAY.

London, October 4.—The Daily Express correspondent at Amsterdam writes that there is an increase of signs indicating that if Germany continues her present attitude on the question of peace, popular feeling in Austria wil lforce the Vienna and Budapest cabinets to denounce the alliance with Germany and to try to secure as good peace terms for Austria alone as may be possible.

READY FOR REPRISALS.

London, October 4.—According to The Standard, the policy of the British reprisals for the German air raids has been decided upon, as intimated by Lloyd George yesterday.

BOMBS DROPPED ON FOE'S CAMPS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 4.—A successful raid by British airplanes on hostile positions on the Macedonian front is reported in an official statement from the war office today. The statement says: "Our airplanes made a most successful raid on an extensive scale, bombing the enemys camps and dumps on BelaschitsaPlanina. Hostile troops were scattered by machine gun fire and one of several enemy airplanes which attacked our formation was brougut down. All our machines returned safely.

The romance of a spinster is apt to be one-sided.

PUBLIC MEETING TO-NIGHT

Called by Mayor to Discuss Ways and Means For Securing Permanent Head-Quarters For War Veterans.

Members of the Great War Veterans' Association are banded together in fraternal intercourse which will maintain and perpetuate the spirit of good comradeship quickened under peril and suffering at the front. Their club has both its social and business features, and its object is to have and to hold those privileges and advantages promised and coming to these gallant volunteers to the call to repel a rapacious and monstrous foe. The name of the club itself—Great War Veterans' Association—should be a living memento of the glorious defence by Peterborough soldiers of those traditions which have made our Empire respected and loved by all nations except the Huns and their ignoble allies. Each member of this association is a splendid type of that British manhood which so readily responded to Nelson's memorable signal, "England expects every man to do his duty," and as such commands united support and encouragement.

The membership of the Veterans' Association has grown and is growing to such an extent that commodious and permanent headquarters of their own is imperative, and the boys hope that the citizens' campaign promised them last spring with this end in view will now be started.

His Worship Mayor Duffus, recognizing the veterans' claim to public support in this connection, has called a citizens' meeting in the Council chamber tonight to discuss ways and means for securing the premises needed. It is hoped that citizens will readily respond to his call, and that proceedings will eventuate in a campaign being started to assure the Great War Veterans Association of the permanent and suitable equipped headquarters they so well deserve. Let there be a bumper meeting at which enthusiasm in a worthy cause dominates.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1917

CAPT. BURNHAM AND LABOR.

THE MEMBERS of the Trades and Labor Council have appointed a committee to interview the prospective candidates for Parliament and to get from each a statement as to what he is willing to do for the cause of labor if elected. The candidate whose sympathies are with the cause will receive the support of organized labor, and some of the best labor speakers in the Dominion will be brought here to address meetings in his interests.

Every class in the community is naturally disposed to look after its own interests, and to support the candidate who is most in accord with its views. Labor is certainly entitled to the same privilege. The cause is strong enough in the community to warrant the members taking a prominent part in public affairs.

When the Trades Council committee interview the men who are ambitious to go to Parliament there is not a doubt that they will receive almost any kind of a pledge. The workingmen of this city know by experience just how much confidence is to be placed in pre-election pledges. Union labor men in Peterborough are now in the act of crossing a stream, and they should recall the maxim of the inadvisability of trading horses under such conditions.

Labor has in Capt. Burnham a man who is in accord with their chief aims. His record in Parliament is before them. Do they propose now to ignore that record and be led away by any pledge that a finished politician will give them?

One of the chief planks in the platform of organized labor is a demand for old age pensions. Capt. Burnham is recognized in the House as one of the leaders in this movement, and now holds the position of chairman of the special parliamentary committee appointed to investigate the matter and prepare legislation dealing with it. It was the breaking out of the war that has prevented definite action. Capt. Burnham's committee three years ago held sessions and examined witnesses. In Parliament in March, 1914, he presented his report and urged the adoption of a system of old age pensions. His speech on that occasion can be found in Hansard. His argument was that, even under the best conditions, with the wages paid, it is impossible for working people to lay by money for old age. When they are unable to pursue their vocations, something, he maintained, should be done for them, something better than sending them to the poor-house or doling charity out to them.

In a speech in Parliament on April 16th, 1914, Capt. Burnham said:

> "The great bulk of labor unrest is genuine and is caused by the fact that labor has aspired to a higher civilization than labor is able to maintain. Those people who are not prepared to assist labor in maintaining that civilization condemn it to degeneration and to a degradation to which labor will never submit. Whatever else happens, there must be a living wage. I emphasize the words, 'a living wage.'"

The above is merely an indication of Capt. Burnham's sentiments on the labor situation. His public record speaks for him at every turn. President Watters of the Dominion Trades Congress stated openly in Peterborough some time ago that Capt. Burnham was the best representative labor men had in Parliament with the possible exception of Mr. A. Verville, an out-and-out labor man who represents a Quebec constituency.

Will labor in Peterborough accept a pledge from an untried men rather than be guided by what Capt. Burnham has already done? Such a course is highly improbable. Let Capt. Burnham finish his work. It has been interrupted, not through lack of enthusiasm on his part, but by the breaking out of the war, which has upset all normal conditions in this country. He is not only one with labor on the wage question, on securing better living conditions and a higher civilization for the workers, and on securing pensions for them when they have become disabled in the industrial world, but is also opposed to unrestricted immigration as one of the most serious of all national menaces. He favors higher wages and pensions for the soldiers, and declared himself on this subject months before the recent Trades Congress took the same stand.

Capt. Burnham has proved himself where others can only promise.

BOCHE.

The burglar who has broken into a house, murdered the owner and passed the valuables out of the window to a confederate would be willing to compromise with the officers of the law on the terms that he be permitted to depart, that the doors and windows of the house should never again be locked, and that the burglar alarm which menaced him on his first entrance should be removed. Substantially this is the proposal of the German government with reference to Belgium. The murderer and the robber is willing to get out if the way back is left open and the right of self-defence denied Belgium. This is pure Boche. This is the way the German thinks, and this is why all peace discussion with the Germans is today folly. — New York Tribune.

HELPING THE CHILDREN.

MR. JOSEPH WEARING has in another column a letter appealing for aid for the Children's Aid Society, the members of which will hold a tag day next Saturday. Mr. Wearing has covered the ground so thoroughly that he leaves little to be said. In one particular only is he incomplete, and that for a personal reason. When he praises the personnel of the Society, with special reference to the matron and the agent, he could have said with equal justification that the present secretary of the society is one of the most enthusiastic workers in the worthy cause. As Mr. Wearing has held that position himself for nearly a year, the fact is here stated in all justice to his devotion to this public service.

The Society certainly is in better shape today than it has ever been. The management of the home where the unfortunate wards are cared for is perfection itself. The inmates are fortunate indeed when the Society takes up their cause. Not only are they given food and shelter, but they receive a home training in which the majority would remain strangers if left in the situations in life in which they were placed by circumstances over which they had no control. The Shelter as at present conducted is a home for the unfortunate in every sense of the term.

Mr. G. W. Powell, the new executive officer of the Society, is devoted to his work, but is always ready to work in harmony with the other members. His record as a citizen is in his favor, as he has been for years identified with all of the forward and uplift movements in the city.

One need not go far if in search of a case that can be cited to show what Mr. Powell is doing for the unfortunate members of the rising generation. When a ward of the Society is adopted or placed in a home, the Society's supervision over the child's welfare is not relaxed. No boy or girl will be the victim of harsh treatment, be overworked or denied educational advantages. One of these girls was regarded as stupid and "queer" by her associates and foster parents. Mr. Powell suspected the truth and had her eyes examined by an expert. It was found that the girl was on the verge of blindness. The unfortunate child was replaced in the Shelter, her eyes are being treated and her vision will be saved. Instead of being permitted to grow up to eventually become a charge on the public, this girl will be given a fair chance to develop into a useful member of the community. Taking the most prosaic view of the matter, any child rescued from such a fate is another addition to the assets of the nation.
